DARTMOUTH COLLEGE STARS IN JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIPS

Wallace C. Maxfield and Derrill Trenholm, two of the best athletes on the Dartmouth College track team, yesterday applied to the Metropolitan Association Registration Committee requesting that their registration be transferred to the New England Association of the A. A. U. so that they might represent their college in the Junior National Indoor Championships which are to be held at the 13th Regiment Armory, Brooklyn, on Saturday evening, January 3. Maxfield is the phenomenal young all-around athlete of whom Harry Hillman, the Dartmouth College coach, expects so much during the coming year. In the junior championships he will compete in the 12-lb. shot put and the standing broad jump.

Trenholm prepared for college at DeWitt Clinton High School and won many hurdle championships for that school. For the past couple of years he has represented the New York Athletic Club in open competition and won the Junior Metropolitan 120 Yard High Hurdle Championship for that organization in 1912. Maxfield also represented the New York Athletic Club last summer and won the Junior Metropolitan 12-lb. Hammer Throwing Championship. From past performances Dartmouth has two sure point winners in these two men.

Judging from the great interest taken in these championships in all sections of the East, they will prove to be the finest ever held and will be worth going miles to see.

ELIZABETH RUNNER WILL COMPETE FOR COLBY COLLEGE

Harvey Cohn, the former mile champion of the Irish-American Athletic Club of New York, who is coaching the athletes of Colby College up in Maine, sent word yesterday that he is going to send a strong team down for the Junior National Indoor Track and Field Championships which are to be held at the 13th Regiment Armory in Brooklyn on Saturday evening, January 3. He says he will have at least eight men who he expects to make a very good showing in this titular meet. Among them will be Ezra Wenz, who formerly competed successfully in the distance races for Roselle High School; Nathaniel Weg, the former DeWitt Clinton High School star; Mark Thompson, Peter Masters, Matthew Golden and Thomas Joyce. He says all these boys have shown great improvement in their respective events since entering college and the experience they will get in this championship meet will be of great benefit to them.

Chairman James E. Sullivan, has received applications for entry blanks from Amherst College, Harvard, Syracuse University, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Cleveland, and in all probability these different colleges and cities will have representatives in this National Championship Meet.

Entries close with Chairman James E. Sullivan, 21 Warren street, New York, on December 27.

New Brunswick bowlers, by capturing three games in a row on their own alleys from the Elizabeth team, went into a tie with the Hobokens for fourth place in the Elks' League. The match was a decidedly interesting one, marked by a lot of classy pinning. Elizabeth only started with 841 and the New Brunswicks, with 954, were far ahead. In the next game there was a real battle and New Brunswick, with 999, won by only one pin. It was another interesting setto in the final contest, the home five, which accounted for 969, being fourteen pins ahead. Joe Nolte distinguished himself by turning in 244 and 202. He had an average of 207 1. Bock rolled 216 and Clauss 202. Greenwald had 203 and 200 for New Brunswick. Burton rolled 215 and 205, Boyle 213, McCormick 204 and Harkins 200.

KILLIFER THE BEST THROWING CATCHER

He Thwarted 130 Attempts to Steal During the Season.

Will Killifer, of the Phillies, who might still be on the St. Louis American League Club were it not for the fact that Jim McAleer fired him from that team in 1909, was the best throwing backstop in the National League last season. He thwarted 130 attempts to steal and was one of three men who averaged one or more men thrown out per game. The other backstops who had a record like Killifer were Mike Simon, of Pittsburg, and Jimmy Archer, of Chicago, the last named, like Killifer, being an American League discard. Hugh Jennings was the manager in the Johnson organization who shipped Archer back to the minors. Killifer and Archer both got votes from the Chalmers Commission of newspaper experts as being the players most valuable to their teams, in last season's competition for the car, but Simon was passed up by the scribes.

Simon averaged 1.04 victims to the game and Archer 1.02, the Pittsburger flagging 96 men in 92 contests and the Chicagoan 105 in 103. Johnny Kling, of Cincinnati, ranked fourth among the windpaddists when it came to pegging out men who tried to steal, Ivy Wingo, of St. Louis fifth, Otto Miller of the Superbas sixth, "Chief" Myers of the Giants seventh, Bill Rariden of the Braves eighth, Bert Whaling of the Braves ninth and Tom Clarke of the Reds tenth.

In every instance save one the catcher who was most active in heading off baserunners when they tried to do the Raffles act was the men who was most often called on by the manager to don the windpad. The lone exception cropped up in Cincinnati, Johnny Kling, who caught 37 less games than Tommy Clarke, having an average as a thrower that was 0.16 better than that amassed by his young teammate.

All told, there were 1240 National League players thrown out in attempting to steal second, third or home last season. The Philadelphia backstops turned back 179 men, Chicago's 169, St. Louis' 165, Boston's 151, Pittsburgh's 151, Brooklyn's 146, Cincinnati's 146 and New York's 133. TENTATIVE PLANS FOR SCHOOL LEAGUE

Tri-cornered Organization to Get Underway December Twentieth.

Basketball Managers Cottrell and Van Mater, of Plainfield and North Plainfield, High Schools, respectively, met at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon and completed arrangements for the Interscholastic League that starts December 20, when the two High Schools meet. The toss up which decided where the third game is to be played was won by the city manager and this game will be played on the Y. M. C. A. court. As the league is a three-cornered organization it was decided that each team must play all of the scheduled games regardless of the standings of the school.

Ten dollars was appropriated from each school for the medals for the winners and it is hoped that a cup can be secured from some local concern. North Plainfield plays Plainfield one week from next Saturday at the Y. M. C. A. and the city boys cross the brook on Lincoln's Birthday.

No date has been set for the third date. Leal's visit Saengerbund Hall twice while they play all of their games with Plainfield on the Y. M. C. A. court. Independent officials will be used in all games. Coach Ralph Patch, of Plainfield High, attended the meeting yesterday.

HERE GOES THE RECORD.

William H. Schooley among others, will attempt to shatter the figures for the 46-yard swim record in the Y. M. C. A. Number League competition in the association tank tonight. Schooley has been training for the event during the past week and those interested in aquatics expect to see the old number smashed to smithereens.

NAUGHTY FRESHIES EXCITE A THRONG

Manage to Keep Score Tied and Spectators Are Continually on Their Feet.

The Plainfield High School Freshman basketball team, under the name of the Necco Club, retaliated last evening and defeated the North Plainfield High School "Freshies" in Saengerbund Hall by the score of 29 to 24. This was the second meeting of these two teams, the first being won by the borough boys. The game was interesting and exciting, especially in the second half, when the score was tied most of the time.

At the beginning of the second half the boroughites tied the score and from then on it was nip and tuck during the remainder of the game. Twice the visitors obtained a three-point lead and each time the "Canadians" tied it up but could never forge ahead. With the score tied, Brownlee, who replaced Pollock at the beginning of the half, came across with two baskets, which took the ginger out of the home team. Carson then made his only basket but a foul by Brown and a basket by McDowell increased the gap that was not overcome. Nash and Force each made four baskets for their repective teams while the latter made good five out of seven times from the foul line.

N. P. H. S. MANAGER'S BOOK OF TROUBLES

Feminine Basketball Pilot is Kept Constantly on the Warpath.

Although Manager Lillian Spencer, of the North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team, is having some difficulty with her schedule she has arranged for two week-end games this week. The team was supposed to go to Bernardsville tomorrow afternoon and after making complete arrangements for the trip, Miss Spencer received word that there was a mixup in her rival's schedule and North Plainfield could not be played.

After booking a contest with Woodbridge High School it was found that those maidens insisted on playing boys' rules the entire game and the contest was called off.

Miss Spencer scouted around and secured a game with the Scotch Plains Parish House girls for tonight at that place. Nutley High School will appear at Saengerbund Hall tomorrow afternoon. This is the first time that this team has ever played the borough girls and they have a fine reputation.

GRIDIRON HONORS GO TO SKILLED BASKETBALLERS.

During the football season it was a notable fact that many of those on elevens that were successful in throwing and receiving the forward pass, had made previously some reputation as basketball players. The Notre Dame team possessed several experts at the forward flings and without exception they had previously proved themselves adepts at the work of tossing the basketball about the gymnasium floor. In many cases, particularly in the West, coaches at the start of the season searched the college ranks for men expert in this department of gridiron work and those that succeeded in finding the men generally produced successful teams from the passing stand-point.

There is no doubt that the forward pass will continue its development, and in a few years those players that can throw the ball forward with accuracy and receive without errors from difficult positions will be in the majority. Such work is, of course, a matter of practice. The fact that forward passing is in the game and that coaches favor it will naturally bring out more men capable of handling the ball, but there would be a greater development should those that have not followed basketball and are familiar with the gridiron practice the indoor sport in the off season. At this time, when the colleges are turning to athletics of the gymnasium and court, there should be a splendid opportunity for those that have played football to get to work inside and learn the game of basketball. It is fairly certain that in the following fall they would find themselves greatly improved in the open style of gridiron play. It is practice that brings success. Here is a chance to improve the game and at the same time keep up exercise that is not so strenuous that it is likely to produce over-development.

SLIPPERY GOING FOR WATCHUNG HUNT RIDERS

Many riders turned out yesterday for the mid-week run of the Watchung hounds. The riders experienced considerable difficulty on account of the slippery going, but all were well up throughout the entire run, even though the hounds set a lively pace and there was considerable fencing.

The meeting place was at the club's grounds, the hounds being cast in nearby and going in the direction of and checking for the first time at Oak Tree. Here they were again taken up and cast in on the Hamilton farm, crossing numerous farms and finishing at Samptown.

The following were in the field. R. C. Finch, M. F. H., L. B. Smith, R. H. Towner, H. S. Hollis, J. S. Casey, H. L. Finch, Fred Alpers, Miss Marjorie Dana, Huntsman Harrison and a number of grooms on hunters.

During the holidays the club members remember each and every farmer over whose land they hunt during the year and they and their families will receive Christmas presents in partial return for the courtesies extended.

ALBIN CARLSTOM WILL JOIN MONTREAL OUTFIT

Albin Carlstrom, the former Lawrence player and Plainfield third baseman, who was sold to the Boston Red Sox last season, will be with Montreal in the International League, if the negotiations go through without a hitch. It will be remembered that some time ago it was announced that Montreal had secured him and he was to be with that team this coming season. Carlstrom had heard nothing of such a deal and there was nothing in any of the bulletins to show that it had gone through.

The deal has not gone through, as yet. The Boston and Montreal clubs have agreed upon a certain sum for Carlstrom and all is satisfactory so far as the clubs are concerned. Boston, however, has not yet secured waivers and while Carlstrom did not play with Boston last season, still under a new rule, disposition of players purchased or drafted, the consent of the other clubs must be secured. The clubs will know definitely by December 15 if the deal is to be allowed. If, in the meantime, any club refuses to waiver, Montreal will find it a hard problem to get him.

HACKETT, CARHART & CO. GET EXTENSION OF TIME

At a meeting of the creditors of Hackett, Carhart & Co. (Inc.), retail clothiers, called to take place yesterday at 10 A. M. at their 841 Broadway store, the creditors agreed to grant an extension of forty-four days. The unseasonable weather last spring, together with the large tailor strike, was responsible for tying them up. This firm made large contracts for fall clothing and furnishings prior to their decision to retire. It seems as if their assets amount to in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million, which exceeds their liabilities. They are apparently solvent as a going business, but being pressed for the payment of their bills some of which have matured and are maturing daily, and in order to avoid bankruptcy proceeding, this meeting was called to decide what was the best course to pursue.

They operate four stores, 265 Broadway, 841 Broadway, 119 West Forty-second street, 154 East 125th street, Manhattan.

Hackett, Carhart & Co. Get 44-Day Extension

At a meeting of creditors of Hackett, Carhart & Co. Inc. Retail, held at their Thirteenth street and Broadway store yesterday, an extension was granted the company of forty-four actual selling days in which to sell out and pay its debts.

The unseasonable weather last Spring, together with the large tailor strike, handicapped the company. Assets amount to near a quarter of a million, and exceed the liabilities. The company apparently is solvent, but is being pressed for payment of bills, which are maturing daily, and in order to avoid bankruptcy proceedings officers of the corporation asked for time to turn their stock into cash. The company operates four stores, No. 265 Broadway, No. 841 Broadway, No. 119 West Forty-second street and No. 154 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

TAX BOARD MADE FEW REDUCTIONS

County Body for Equalization of Taxes Heard 20 Local Appeals Yesterday.

$136,500 TAKEN OFF

Plainfield Union Water Company Allowed Reduction of $20,000 in Addition to the $100,000 Caused by Error by Assessor LaRue.

Mulford Scudder and Lloyd Thompson, members of the Union County Board for Equalization of Taxes, met in the District Court in the city building on North avenue yesterday afternoon for the purpose of hearing twenty appeals filed by local property owners who claimed that they had been subjected to excessive assessments on property, real and personal. The principal petition acted upon was one presented by the Plainfield Union Water Company, represented by the general manager, William J. Whelan. The Board, after hearing Mr. Whelan's claims, granted a reduction of $120,000, of which $100,000 was allowed on a discrepancy in the assessor's figures.

Clarence LaRue, who fixed the valuation for the Water Company's holdings, explained that he had erroneously placed an itemized account which in reality amounted to only $100,000 to the credit of the Water Company but in his total he had placed the correct amount, $200,000. He further claimed that in verifying the accounts someone in the tax collector's office had noticed the discrepancy and had corrected the total to agree with the figures therein, thereby changing the assessed valuation from $200,000 to $100,000.

In closing, Mr. LaRue, taking advantage of an opportunity that suddenly presented itself to "enlighten" the newspapermen present, asked the Board if his error reduced the assessment and was informed by Mr. Thompson that the assessment will have to stand as filed in the county clerk's office.

Van Zandt & Voorhees were granted a reduction of $1,000 on their building on Park avenue; Emma P. Wills was given a reduction of $1,600; Harry Dreier a reduction of $600, and Grace H. Squiers and Ella G. Voorhees were each given a reduction of $500.

PUBLISHERS HONOR JAMES O'FLAHERTY

Dinner for Representative to Commemorate Anniversary of Arrival in America.

R. F. R. Huntsman, of East Front street; Charles H. Frost and George A. Ballentine, of the Courier-News, and Leslie R. Fort and Corra Ryno, of the Daily Press, were present at a dinner given last night in Newark by the publishers of a number of the suburban newspapers in cities near New York in honor of James O'Flaherty, who represents the publications in New York city. The dinner was given at the Washington Hotel to properly commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of Mr. O'Flaherty's arrival in America.

During the evening the guest of honor was presented with a handsome scarf pin, containing a large pearl, surrounded by twelve diamonds set in platinum, the presentation being made on behalf of the publishers by Leslie R. Fort, of the Plainfield Press. Frank E. Xavier, publisher of the Yonkers Herald, acted as toastmaster, and among those who spoke were Mr. O'Flaherty, Mr. Huntsman, William R. Hotchkin, formerly advertising manager of Gimbel Brothers, and now with the Cheltenham Advertising Service in New York; former Governor J. Franklin Fort, Augustus S. Crane, publisher of the Elizabeth Journal, and a number of others. About forty attended the dinner.

HIGH SCHOOL'S HEAD GIVES SOUND ADVICE

Lindsey Best Offers Suggestions at Meeting of a Parent-Teacher Association.

In a talk before the Parent-Teacher Association of the Plainfield High School last night, Lindsey Best, principal of the school, urged the co-operation of the parents with the High School faculty in order that the pupil entering the institution may be enabled to specialize in the subjects which will be of the most benefit. He outlined the predicament in which a number of graduates of High Schools find themselves after completing a course not adapted to their needs and suggested a number of remedies for the elimination of these conditions.

The speaker announced that the home arts and industrial arts courses would be introduced in the curriculum shortly. Mr. Best declared that the choice of education should be based on the characteristics of the pupil, the first division of these being those who are wisely directed in the courses best fitted for their characteristics; the second are pupils directed in taking the wrong courses in fitting themselves for their life's work, and the third are classed as "drifters" and fall into one course or another by chance.

Prior to Mr. Best's remarks reports of the Mothers Congress held in New Brunswick recently were read by the local delegates, Mrs. S. St. John Fitch and Mrs. E. J. Berrien. The members of the High School faculty were present and a short consultation was held between the parents and teachers previous to the regular meeting. Mrs. G. Stuart Simons presided.

LAST DAYS OF POMPEII AT PLAINFIELD'S THEATRE

"The Last Days of Pompeii," produced by George Klein, and considered one of the most marvelous motion pictures of the times, will be shown at The Plainfield Theatre this afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Cup Bearers Circle of The King's Daughters. This picture has shown in New York for several months and has been attracting capacity audiences. The scenes of the pictures are laid in Pompeii and an army of people were employed to make the films, there being six reels in all.

The picture is said to be more magnificent and stupendous than "Quo Vadis," which ran for a full three days at the theatre earlier in the season.

SCOTCH SOIREE.

Daughters of Scotia, Craigalea Lodge, No. 43, auxiliary to Clan McKenzie, will conduct a Scotch soiree in the Coward Hall on Park avenue tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The affair will be conducted in the real Scotch style. There will be excellent talent from New York, Newark and Plainfield. Refreshments will be served.

FRIEND OF ACCUSED TELLS OF THIEVERY

Mrs. Edna Senn Appears Against "Star Boarder" Accused of Taking $500.

Edward O'Connor, arraigned before City Judge William G. DeMeza this morning on a charge of larceny lodged against him by the United States Express Company, through his counsel, John P. Owens, demanded examination and considerable testimony was taken. Mrs. Edna H. Senn, formerly of Westervelt avenue, who has been the chief witness against the accused, testified this morning that it was the fear in which she held O'Connor that kept her from asserting her belief that he was the one who took the missing $500 from the express company's offices, although she knew the money to be missing long before the alleged thief was apprehended.

She reviewed her relations with the accused from the time he was a "star boarder" in her home on Westervelt avenue until the morning of the theft when he paid her a visit in the express company's offices and is alleged by her to have demanded money to "make good" several worthless checks that he had given out.

The money was taken on November 1 and the witness claimed that on November 11 she had dined with him in a North avenue restaurant, when he made inquiries of her concerning the missing money. Two days later an investigation was started by the express company's men and she was suspended pending further developments. She claimed that on November 22, when she thought there was a chance of an innocent person being charged with the theft, she voluntarily told that she suspected O'Connor.

MISS COMPTON BRIDE OF ABRAM HOLCOMBE

Ceremony at Home of the Bride's Parents Witnessed by 100 Guests.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Compton, at Pluckemin, was the scene of a brilliant wedding at 6 o'clock last night, when their daughter, Miss Mary Inez Compton, was made the wife of Abram Holcombe, of Somerville. The ceremony was performed in the presence of 100 guests by Rev. Mr. Hoyt, pastor of the Pluckemin Presbyterian church.

Miss Compton was attired in a gown of cream satin, veiled with silk shadow lace en train. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Nellie Compton, sister of the bride, who carried pink carnations. Mrs. Burroughs Van Fleet, of Somerville, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. Mr. Holcombe was attended by his brother, Charles Holcombe, as best man, and Burroughs Van Fleet, Wilbur Garretson, of Somerville, and Fred Compton, of Pluckemin, acted as ushers. The wedding march was played by Miss Elsie Compton, sister of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony and at 9 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Holcombe left by auto with the intention of going to Atlantic City for two weeks. The trip was interrupted by the fatal accident on the Somerville road as told in another column. Mr. Holcombe is in the employ of Sargeant Brothers at Somerville and has many friends in Plainfield. The bride is also well known here and several people from this city were included among the guests.

ELECT DE FOREST YALE CLUB HEAD

Local Alumni Association Decides to Discontinue Offer of Cash Prizes.

PRESENT THREE CUPS

Anxious to Increase Membership and Scope of Club's Usefulness—Officers Are Selected—Glee Club May Appear Here.

Plans for enlarging the scope of its usefulness, the election of officers and other important business were features of the annual meeting of the Plainfield Yale Club held last night at the home of Frederick W. Yates on East Seventh street. There were about twenty members present and there was considerable enthusiasm in the discussion of plans.

It was decided to drop the two annual prizes of $25 for academic and Sheffield, given each year to the Plainfield boy passing the best examination, because of a lack of interest. It was learned that one winner of the prize bought a gun with his $25, while other boys had even failed to acknowledge the receipt of the money.

The club, however, will continue to present what is known as the Yale cup to the boy in the city and borough high school and John Leal's school having the best standing in scholarship and athletics. This has always been a popular feature.

Mr. Leal and Henry L. DeForest were appointed a committee to suggest plans for enlarging the scope of the club's usefulness, which would include the helping of worthy students from Plainfield. The club appropriated $50 for the Yale mission in China, and efforts will be made to bring the university glee and musical clubs to Plainfield this winter. The clubs are to appear at Montclair and it may be possible to arrange for a concert here. The executive committee will arrange for the annual dinner, the date of which will be fixed later.

At present the club has a membership of seventy, but it is the desire to increase it to one hundred so that it may have one representative on the Yale Alumni Advisory Board. Inasmuch as this is the only Yale association in Union county, graduates from all parts of the county will be invited to join and thus help to increase the membership and usefulness of the organization.

These officers were elected for the coming year: President, Henry L. DeForest; vice president, Clifford McGee; secretary-treasurer, Lewis A Williams, Jr.; executive committee, Arthur M. Collens, Joseph Baker and Harry Hawes.

COMMUNITY XMAS PLAINFIELD'S PLAN

Religious Bodies Arranging to Provide Gifts for all the Poor Kiddies.

Further plans were made last night by the joint committee appointed by the Church Federation of Men's Clubs and the Federation of Bible Classes for the "Community Christmas" for the poor kiddies. Reports showed that the people are as much interested as they were in the "Good Fellow" plan conducted by the Daily Press in conjunction with the Charity Organization Society and the prospects are that all of the 700 poor little ones will receive toys, candy and useful articles.

The committee desires not only gifts but also volunteers to take these presents to the homes of the ones to be made happy. A request for cash is also made.

Those willing to make donations and also to personally convey their gifts are requested to communicate with Charles A. Rice, 836 West Seventh street; Miss Mabelle Phillips, agent of the C. O. S. and Miss Ethel Millar, 918 Madison avenue. Those who will lend their automobiles on Christmas eve for the distribution of gifts are asked to communicate with Samuel T. Carter, Jr.

At last night's meeting, Councilman-elect Richard A. Claybrook presiding, some names were added to the committees. Mrs. David H. Rowland was a member of the purchasing committee, and Mrs. Allan Cowparthwait a member of the committee for Bonnie Burn.

The Daily Press will be glad to furnish any information regarding the "Community Christmas" as it heartily endorses the plan and will do what little it can to help make the undertaking a huge success.

PUT DONATIONS IN BRASS KETTLE

How Holy Cross Guild Raised Money at an Entertainment.

Under the auspices of the vestry and Women's Guild of the Church of the Holy Cross, a "Brass Kettle Social," was held in the parish house last night, and proved to be a great success. It was decided to hold these affairs once a month during the winter for the purpose of meeting the floating expenses of the parish.

Herbert Langford presented the church with a large brass kettle and this was placed on a table in the centre of the room, and those present were invited to contribute whatever they desired. At the close of the affair about $20 was found in the kettle. Sociability played an important part, the socials being intended to promote acquaintance among the members of the parish.

During the evening there was an informal entertainment, there being vocal solos by Mrs. Bayard Hawthorne and Frank Ball, and humorous recitations by George O. Stevens, whose talent in this direction is selling solo, "The Mocking Bird," acknown. Mr. Langford gave a whistle accompanied by Mrs. Langford. Afterward there was dancing and the guild served refreshments.

Mrs. J. O. Stevens was chairman of the committee in charge and she was assisted by Mrs. Charles Eddy, Miss Cynthia Davis, Mrs. Frank Ball, and they in turn were assisted by the young people in serving refreshments.

VEHICLES CRASH, CHAUFFEUR DEAD

Slassett, Driving Bridal Couple to Station, Meets With Fatal Injuries.

THREE OTHERS HURT

Honeymoon Trip of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Holcomb Interrupted by Serious Mishap—Plainfielders Aid in Rescue Work.

Speeding along the main road between Pluckemin and Somerville at 9 o'clock last night, an automobile carrying a bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Holcombe, the owner of the car, George Bogart, and the chauffeur, crashed head-on into a hay wagon returning from Plainfield. As a result, the chauffeur, George Slassett, 24 years old, of Clinton, died at noon today in the Somerset Hospital. The other three victims are confined to their beds with severe cuts and bruises. The driver of the rig, Asher Smith, of Pluckemin, was hurled thirty feet over a fence and into a field but escaped with few abrasions. One of the horses was so badly hurt it had to be killed while the other was unharmed.

Mr. and Mrs. Holcombe were married at 6 o'clock last night, the latter being Miss Mary I. Compton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Compton, of Pluckemin. The ceremony took place at her home and following the customary reception, the happy couple left amid the well wishes of 100 guests to board a train at Somerville for New York. Mr. Bogart, who is superintendent of the Superior Yarn Mill at Pluckemin, proffered his big touring car for the trip to the station and accepted Mr. and Mrs. Holcombe's invitation to accompany him. He seated himself beside the chauffeur, the newly married couple occupying the rear.

The auto had proceeded about two miles when it reached a point in front of the George Smith place, where there is a slight curve at the foot of a grade. The team was approaching in the opposite direction and neither driver saw the other until too late to avoid the crash. A terrific impact followed, piling persons, horses and vehicles in a confused heap. Bogart was able to extricate himself and knowing that other cars were following, ran back to give the alarm.

The first auto coming up bore six persons, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Van Arsdale, of West Front street, this city. Both men and women sprang to the work of rescue, restoring order out of chaos. The bride and groom were gotten out to one side but it was found that Slassett was pinned fast. When finally extricated, he was found to be completely disemboweled, although conscious. He was conveyed by auto to the hospital where he died.

Mr. and Mrs. Holcombe were removed to the home of the bride's parents, where physicians attended them. The former is the worse hurt of the two, having one gash in his right leg requiring ten stitches. Bogart was also removed to his home.

The automobile was a complete wreck as was also the hay wagon. The latter was owned by William Moore, a well known Pluckemin contractor. After assisting in the rescue work, Mr. Van Arsdale secured a pistol and put the injured horse out of its misery. The animal was valued at $300.

Slassett was employed by C. A. Speer, of Somerville.

PARVIN TELLS ABOUT THE OCEAN'S LINERS

Heavenly Rest Church Men's Club Enjoys His Fine Illustrated Lecture.

The Men's Club of the Church of the Heavenly Rest had as its guest last night, Emerson E. Parvin, of this city, who spoke on "The Building of the Ocean Liner." He illustrated the lecture by lantern slides. One showing the "Victoria," in which Magellan made the first voyage around the world, was followed by a picture of the "Half-Moon," the "Savannah," which was the first steamer to cross the ocean; and then slides illustrating the progress in marine construction up to the "Olympic."

Several particularly interesting pictures were those exhibiting the comfortable arrangements of the public rooms on the great "Olympic," and the variety of the staterooms was clearly shown by a number of pictures which in many cases displayed the interior decorations in the original colors.

Pictures of the "Imperator" were also given, which afforded the opportunity to see how large this steamer is, and what some of her interior attractions are.

The audience was then taken on a short trip to sea in the "Olympic," and how the passengers amuse themselves was graphically shown. On the journey home, the great steamer was seen in the harbor, river, and being swung into her dock by the aid of nine tugboats.

DR. HERRING TALKS ON 'DIVINE COMEDY'

First of Series of Addresses on Dante's "Inferno" Heard by Women.

"The Soul of Dante's Divine Comedy," "The Inferno," was the subject of an intensely interesting lecture given by Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring yesterday afternoon in Vincent chapel of the First M. E. church, under the auspices of the "Current Event Circle" of the Ladies' Aid Society. This was the first of three lectures to be given by Dr. Herring on Dante's work, and his complete knowledge of the subject made his talk yesterday one of real pleasure. He held the close attention of his audience and at the close of the lecture, he was complimented for the masterly way in which he presented this part of the divine comedy. Dr. Herring said in part:

"Why should we be interested in a man whose conceptions of life are so hideous and fearful? Such lurid pictures of suffering belong really to the nightmare of the dark ages. Such criticism comes from a lack of knowledge of the real spirit and purpose of the great Italian poet. This criticism of Dante is more fitting, 'He was the greatest prophet of the Christian centuries because he has given uterance to the largest aggregate of truth in terms of Christian experience.'

"The heaven and hell of Dante are in a man's soul. The forest in which he was lost is the forest of this life. The three beasts that met him on the way were the beasts of sensualism, ambition and avarice. Dante's purpose is to show how a man lost in the mazes of this life and conquered by the intensity of his own passions may learn of the power of temptation and escape from it. Punishment comes not from the arbitrary will of God, for a man is punished by his sins and not for them. A man makes his own hell.

"A man whose whole ambition is to make money wears away the individual stamp on his own soul, as a man wears the stamp on the coin he continually handles. Dante teaches that all unbelief is not perfectly honest. The river that passes through the circle where are the sensualists passes down to the city of Unbelief and forms the marsh about the city. Dante did not believe that faith was a mere luxury of soul which he could dispense with, but a force by which a man lives. So many men imagine that Dante's inferno is filled with demons from beginning to end, but devils do not appear until the lowest circles of the Inferno.

"You read of them as the ministers of justice for the crime of devils, and the crime of devils is when fraud and sensuality are combined. Dante had in his mind the white slaver. 'The man who can betray innocence and trust is in Dante's mind a kind of demon.' The hypocrite loved to hide his real seal under a painted face and a cloak of insincerity. He still wears it but it has become leaden. It represents the fearful burden of a false life.

"Last of all we reach Lucifer, the incarnation of all treachery, for treachery is the deepest sin. He is not an archangel ruined as Milton conceives him, but a loathsome, reptilian, grotesque thing of slime, encased in a frozen pool, which are the ears of the world gone back to their source. Sin to Dante is not some soft infirmity of blood, but something that so horrified him that he had to hide behind Virgil in his terror. Is this not the true conception?"

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Whether the amount you care to spend is small or large, you can find something that is suitable as well as useful here. Although most of us enjoy a spirit of liberality during this gift period, would it not be well to exercise a little caution in selecting that gift? Millions of dollars are spent for things that are of no benefit to the recipients, aside from the fact that they were remembered by this friend or that. TEPPER'S offer gift things that are just as appropriate and their usefulness will be in evidence long after the "other gifts" might have been forgotten. Nor is it of less importance to the thinking man or woman that at Tepper's you get a hundred cents on the dollar values, even during this, the most extravagant period of the year. We do not exaggerate values, no, not even the keenest competition can force us to do that.

WESTFIELD SOPHS EASY FOR BOROUGH

N. P. H. S. Second Year Basketball Men Shatter Hopes of Rivals.

The North Plainfield High School Sophomore basketball team took the Westfield Sophomores into camp yesterday afternoon on Saengerbund Hall court by a score of 40 to 19.

In the first half the visitors were completely lost and only succeeded in making five points while the home lads piled up twenty. "Marty" McDonough made a fine sensation shot in the first half and made three more baskets before the game ended. The first half ended 20 to 5 in favor of North Plainfield.

The second half was the best for the visitors and at times they displayed excellent teamwork and by fast and accurate passing made a better showing than in the first. They tallied up fourteen in this half. Davies and Griffiths doing the bulk of the work.

BELLEVILLE Y. M. C. A. WILL OPPOSE LOCALS

Speedy Newarkers Coming Here to Break Plainfield's String of Victories.

Basketball representatives from the Belleville Y. M. C. A. (Newark) will appear on the local association court tomorrow night in a contest with the undefeated local association quintet. With a string of seven victories hung up at the expense of a few of the best teams that have invaded this district, the Plainfielders are out to maintain their unblemished chain and the contest in all probability will be a hummer from start to finish.

The Belleville outfit has been playing some of the best aggregations in the State and has victories to its credit hung up at the expense of a number of fast Newark combinations this season. The best players that Belleville can turn make up the squad, according to a letter received from the manager of the rival combine and the locals will without doubt be extended more than they were last week in annexing a win.

Although no definite lineup has been announced by Captain Brynairski it is certain that Farmer will not be able to play and it is not known definitely whether or not the locals will have the services of Myrton Glover, who is suffering from the effects of an operation on his nose. In the event of neither one of these men being able to get into the game Andrew Hetfield, an old Ajax player and at present a member of the Plainfield High School aggregation, will be pressed into service.

The lineups:

PLAINFIELD.		BELLEVILLE.
Moulton	forward	Burnsick
McNamee	forward	Faush
Gavett	centre	Dipue
Brynairski	guard	Girard
Glover-Hetfield	guard	Smith-Ward

"COLD FEET" IS THE CHARGE ENTERED BY CHURCH MANAGER

Elliott Burr, manager of the Grace church basketball team, has submitted the following communication to this paper for publication:

"Although Grace Church cancelled their game with the Scotch Plains Parish House team for the second time, E. L. Burr, the manager, wishes it to be known that it was through no fault of his that this was done. He scheduled the game in good faith relying upon the team to stand by him, but two days before the game the entire team developed an extremely bad case of "cold feet" and positively refused to go down, evidently being afraid of being badly beaten.

"After this last failure of the team to stand by him, Mr. Burr resigned as manager of Grace Church and in the future all games are to be arranged by W. Edwin Williams, 137 Crescent avenue, Plainfield, N. J., telephone 1351-W."

TWO GOOD MATCHES IN COLLEGE LEAGUE

Harvard and Columbia Defeated Princeton and Yale Yesterday Afternoon.

Harvard defeated Princeton by a score of 34 to 20 in a scheduled College League basketball match in the Y. M. C. A. boys' department yesterday afternoon, superior shooting on the part of Force and Krausse being responsible for the one-sided verdict. Marsh did the best work for the losing side.

SWIMMER SMASHED Y. M. C. A. RECORD

25-Yard Water Mark Broken by Schooley in Number League Contest.

Swimming 46 yards in 26 3-5 seconds, William H. Schooley, of Team No. 5, last night broke the Y. M. C. A. record for that distance held jointly by Alfred Manley and Cedric Ostrom, by 2 3-5 seconds, in a Number League contest. In 1911, Manley established the record for 46 yards by hanging up a mark of 29 seconds, and in 1912 Ostrom crawled through the water at the same rate. Last night he performed the same feat, winning second place for Team No. 1. L. Sharp, of Team No. 4, was a close third with a mark of 29 3-5 seconds. Poor time was made by the other contestants.

The results were as follows:

Schooley (5)	26 3-5 sec.
Ostrom (1)	29 sec.
Sharp (4)	29 3-5 sec.
Carlberg (5)	39 sec.
Hildersleeve (1)	41 sec.

SHOULD CARRY LIGHTS.

By direction of the Police Board, Chief Kiely has instructed his men to see that the ordinance providing that lights be carried on all bicycles at night be strictly enforced. It is high time that this was done for violations have been very frequent of late and it is surprising that no serious accidents have happened.

It would be well if the provision that all horse-drawn vehicles carry lights be enforced as strictly. At times it is next to impossible for automobilists to observe these vehicles in the darkness and when a mishap does occur the blame is generally placed on the autoists and unjustly so.

One of the cleverest bits of advertising done by a local merchant in a long time was that of Rothberg's in yesterday's issue of this newspaper. In his regular daily display space beneath the symbol of the house appeared a catchy worded announcement of the moving picture show at the Plainfield theatre under the auspices of the Cup Bearers' Circle of the City Union of The King's Daughters. The donation was unsolicited and originated with Mr. Rothberg himself.

Plainfield's incoming Common Council has started in right by agreeing upon retaining the services of George S. Clay as president of the local governing body. Mr. Clay has made an excellent presiding officer and has shown no partiality in making appointments and administering his office generally. The people of Plainfield are to be congratulated in being able to command the services of so able a man.

The Newark Evening News applauds Congressman William E. Tuttle for his manly and courageous reply to those who made a threat to kill him politically if he did not recommend their choice for the postmastership. Tuttle did the right thing at the right time and has proven that he believes in the maxim that he serves his party best who serves his country best.

Red Cross seals are on sale at many local shops and can be had at the Daily Press office. They are offered by the Plainfield Tuberculosis Society and that organization will profit by the sales. And the best of it all is that the net receipts will be spent in our own community in the fight against the Great White Plague.

Many of us will argee with the descendants of Rare Ben Jonson that poets should be allowed to ride without charge—provided we are permitted to name the destination of their journeyings.—New York Herald.

And that they be allowed no return ticket.

The Christmas and Trade edition of the Somerville Unionist-Gazette, issued yesterday, gives every evidence that Somerville's merchants are a live wire lot and that the Unionist-Gazette is right up to the minute as a progressive weekly newspaper.

The Community Christmas plan inaugurated by the Federation of Church Men's Clubs and the Federatio nof Men's Bible Classes furnishes an opportunity where you can "Do It For Plainfield" in helping provide a happy Christmas for some 700 poor youngsters.

In the course of an address on the Monroe Doctrine last night, William Howard Taft had some kind things to say of Theodore Roosevelt. What's going to happen?

Charley Murphy says he won't give up golf to listen to Governor Fielder speak tomorrow afternoon. Fielder should feel highly honored by his absence.

William L. Saunders, doctor of science, will be the contributing editor for tomorrow's issue.

SIX-DAY RECORDS FALL BY WAYSIDE

Big Scrap Results When 'Bugs' Are Ejected From the Garden.

Returns from the scene of the six-day bike grind that is rapidly nearing a close in Madison Square Garden at 2 o'clock this afternoon show that the leading riders are 21.2 miles ahead of the old record and despite the fact that the gruelling stride is beginning to tell on several teams a good pace is being maintained by all contestants and it now looks as though all of the teams would get into the prize money at the finish, barring accidents that are always bound to occur in the final day of such a test.

The Garden was the scene of great disorder last night with a gang of east side hoodlums who have been camping at the ringside since the event opened last Sunday night refused to get out when the management started its cleaning out work. No one was safe while the scrap lasted and when the 4,000 "bugs" had been cleaned out of the structure many of the spectators found that their scarf pins and wallets were missing.

The regaining of laps lost by the Walthour-Collins and Applehaus-Packenbush teams, and the capture of a lap by the Walker-Corry combination, which had lost one in a "jam" featured the fourth day of the race. Records are still falling by the wayside and despite the fact that the test is nearing its end the fast men are still launching their periodical sprints with the same regularity that has made itself prominent all week.

STEEL BEAM FELL ON WORKMAN'S BACK

Michael DeVita is Seriously Hurt While at Work at Local Plant.

Michael DeVita, aged 36 years, of Hunter avenue, Scotch Plains, and employed at the Levering & Garrigues plant at Dunellen, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning, suffering from what is believed to be severe internal injuries caused at the plant by a heavy steel beam falling on his back. While the man's condition is serious, it is believed that he will recover. An X-ray examination will be made later in the day.

DeVita was assisting other workmen in lifting the heavy piece of steel, when it slipped from its position and in falling struck the workman on the back. That the man was not killed is considered remarkable.

T. A. KENNNEDY'S ILLNESS.

Thomas A. Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Kennedy, of 981 West Fourth street, has been seriously ill at his home in Canastota, N. Y., for the past week. He is suffering from pneumonia and his condition for three days up to yesterday was critical. His father went to Canastota, Monday, and with the young man's wife, who was formerly Miss Bertha Mantz, of Jackson avenue, has been constantly at his bedside. As soon as his condition warrants it, the patient will be brought to Plainfield.

HURT BY A FALL.

While working on the Gethsemane Swedish Lutheran church late yesterday afternoon, Gustave Meissner, Jr., of 145 East Fifth street, fell thirty feet to the ground from a scaffold, breaking his right leg below the knee. He was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital.

LOST BIKE RECOVERED.

Robert Cortwright, of 209 Jackson avenue, last night reported the theft of his wheel. At 2 o'clock this morning, the mount was found by a patrolman in West Front street and was returned to the owner.

DEATH OF GRANDSON IN FAR AWAY CHINA

Mrs. I. W. Cochran Gets Sad News From Her Son at Hwai Yuan.

Mrs. I. W. Cochran, of 1235 Watchung avenue, has received word of the death of her four-year-old grandson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Cochran, which occured at Hwai Yuan, China, on November 12. The parents are missionaries in China, having been there for several years. Mrs. Cochran is the daughter of Lieutenant William Watts, of Morristown, and Dr. Cochran's mother resides on Watchung avenue.

The wife of Rev. James Cochran, another son of Mrs. Cochran, who is also stationed at Hwai Yuan as a Presbyterian missionary, died last spring at the home of her parents in Boonton. Mr. Cochran was home for a time on leave of absence owing to illness, but returned to China later. His four children, the youngest three years and the oldest eleven years, returned to China reaching there on December 11, according to a cable received by Mrs. Cochran. They were escorted on the trip by missionaries, one of whom, Mrs. Ward, will live in Mr. Cochran's home.

BATTLESHIP IS DISABLED; SISTER SHIPS TO THE RESCUE

Washington, Dec. 12.—With several of her compartments flooded as the result of an accident at sea, the Battleship Vermont is limping toward Hampton Roads today under convoy of the Battleship Delaware and two colliers.

This announcement was made at th Nnavy Department this afternoon in the following statement: A radiogram received from the Commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, reports that at 3:45 a. m., Dec. 11, the starboard main shaft of the Vermont was broken and that in consequence several of her compartments were flooded. The skin of the ship and the propeller crust appeared uninjured. After an examination by a diver. The shafting and propellor were not lost.

DIRECT PRIMARY ACT PASSED BY SENATE

Four of Governor Glynn's Bills Go Through.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 12.—The senate cleared the calendar for action on the workmen's compensation bill, passing the entire program proposed by Governor Glynn for electoral reform, a series of financial deficiency bills and some routine measures. The bills passed included:

A direct primary measure, eliminating the state convention, similar to the bill twice rejected by the same senate while Sulzer was governor.

A bill providing for the Massachusetts form of ballot for elections, with the retention of the party emblem to identify the nominees.

A bill providing for a special election next April to determine whether there shall be a constitutional convention in April, 1915.

A bill to provide the state machinery for the direct election of United States senators.

The direct primary bill was passed without a vote in opposition. Elon R Brown, the minority leader, was excused from voting, and Senator Safe of Albany, who is close to Republican State Chairman William Barnes, was absent.

The Massachusetts ballot bill was passed by a party vote. The measure is not entirely the same as the Massachusetts law. There is no educational qualification for voters in this state, and for that reason the party emblem is permitted. The judiciary committee amended the bill to provide for fusion. In case a candidate is indorsed, his name appears only once upon the ballot, but the emblems of each party indorsing him is provided for with a voting space under each emblem. By this plan the vote of each party may be kept intact in the returns.

The constitutional convention bill was passed by the party vote. The Republicans blamed the Democrats for failing to provide for holding the convention early in the year, so as to avoid the expense of a special election.

There was no opposition to the bill providing machinery for the election of United States senators.

DENNIS O'BRIEN ESCAPES FROM A HIGHWAY ROBBER

Stopped by a would-be highway robber on a lonely road between this city and South Plainfield last night, Dennis O'Brien, the aged hackman, spurred his horse forward with a sting of the whip and the miscreant sprang to the side of the road to avoid being run over. As he passed the man, O'Brien tried to hit him with the butt of his whip but failed. As the hackman sent his equine galloping down the road at a swift pace, the foiled hold-up man drew a revolver from his pocket and sent a shot in the direction of the disappearing hack.

Arriving at his stand at the North Avenue station, O'Brien reported the incident to Patrolman Kelley. From his meagre description the man who attempted to rob him was an Italian, and Kelley thinks it is the same person who earlier in the evening asked him the route to South Plainfield.

ARCHIE HACQUER MAY RETURN FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Theodore F. Shirley, of the firm of Shirley & Johnston, received a letter today from Archibald Hacquer formerly of this city, but who has been working on the El Paso, Texas Times. He gave up his position three weeks ago, and his future plans are undecided. Mr. Hacquer says that since giving up his position he has gained in weight, tipping the scales at 155. He speaks as though he might come home for the holidays, but adds, "there is nothing definite in my plans."

Mrs. William Kirch, Miss Dampman, Mrs. Leonard Van Camp and Mrs. Jessie Miller were at the cake table, while Mrs. Virginia Chickering, Mrs. Elmer D. AUTO AND AUTO-BUS COLLIDE.

Cheese was scattered in many directions yesterday afternoon at Park avenue and West Fourth street, when the auto-bus plying between here and South Plainfield, driven by Ralph Seals, of North avenue, and the auto-delivery truck of the Braun & Engst Cheese Co., of Newark, collided. The Newark concern's vehicle was being driven east on West Fourth street, by Harry Kirk, colored, of Newark. As Kirk drove the truck across the avenue, the bus, going north, jammed it with great force, despite Seal's efforts to stop the machine. Cheese was scattered about the street, and the car needed repairing before it could continue. The bus was not damaged.

OFFERS SETTLEMENT FOR LIABILITY AS EMPLOYER

Elizabeth, Dec. 12.—What is thought to be the first petition for settlement ever submitted by an employer in Union county under the Employers' Liability Act, came before Judge Connolly this morning, when William C. Smith, a contractor and builder of Plainfield, petitioned to be allowed to make a settlement of $212.50 to William F. Peel, Jr., one of his mechanics, who on September 12 had his fingers crushed to such an extent that three of them had to be amputated.

Peel is a mason, and a laborer allowed a heavy piece of marble to fall on his hand. Since then he has been incapacitated to a certain extent. Peel has entered no objection to the terms of the settlement.

The International Alliance of Chorus People—a trade union for chorus girls and men—has been organized in New York city under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor.

The 120 international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor will unite in making an elaborate exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition to be held in San Francisco.

The trades unions of France are reported to have split upon the Syndicalist issue. One faction is advocating the general strike for political purposes, while the other is advocating a more conservative policy. General strikes for political purposes have occurred in the past in Sweden and Belgium and have been considered in Germany and France. The strikes in Sweden and Belgium were failures. In Sweden the general strike was followed by a disruption of the unions.

A new labor organization, bound by its constitution to oppose strikes and uphold the arbitration method of settling disputes and also to favor a graded rather than a uniform wage scale, has been chartered in Kansas City. Founders of the organization, which is to be known as the National Association of United Building Labor, say it is their idea to form branches in all of the States.

MANY CUSTOMERS FOR RURAL STORE

"Bargain Counter" at Proctor's Theatre Last Night Was a Great Success.

Although there were no "Do your shopping early" signs displayed outside of "The Country Store" at Proctor's theatre on West Front street, last night, the spacious "Department Store" was crowded to a record capacity during both of the performances and the large crowd was treated to a program of genuine old-fashioned amusement, the innovation introduced by the management last night reaching a degree of popularity that surpassed the highest anticipations of those in charge. Each patron of the house was supplied with a check as he entered the turnstiles and a duplicate of this pasteboard was thrown into a waste basket for that purpose. Immediately following the fifth vaudeville show at each performance the stage was transformed into a bargain counter with toys, household utensils, food products and other wares known only to the keeper of a country store.

The checks in the basket were then drawn out by a uninterested party and the holder of the number selected by the blindfolded "picker" was relegated to the stage, where he or she was presented with the token corresponding with the check number in possession of the lucky holder. Considerable amusement was afforded the audience as the checks were redeemed and the fact that each of the prize winners was required to step before the footlights and receive his or her prize and then give his pedigree to the clerk of the store, Leonce Texier, who has had some previous experience in this line of work in the rural districts of Watchung, added considerable interest to the affair.

Conspicuous among the laugh producers was a traveling salesman who happened to "drop-in" to the show house between train time last night. The traveler held the ticket that called for a strip of bacon and after giving his name as John McLean departed for Buffalo, N. Y., with the meat under his wing. The ton or coal went to a ten-year-old boy and the handsome mission hall clock standing over seven feet in heighth, went to C. P. Carpentier, of West Second street.

Malcolm Krewson, of North Plainfield, received a large doll and a large ham went to Miss Marsh, of Westervelt avenue. A nine-year-old boy, who won the chicken, attempted to make a hasty getaway with the fowl but a slight peck on the hand caused him to release his hold and drop the feathered trophy to the floor, at the same time uttering a loud scream that caused much merriment.

All of the acts on this week's bill are exceptional bookings as laugh producers and the audience entertained last night was one of the merriest in the history of the local house. "The Country Store" idea proved such a success that the management has decided to hold one every Monday and Thursday night in the future.

WHAT MR. DICKINSON SAID.

Through a typographical error in the account of the meeting arranged by Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde, at which speakers told of recreation work, Walter B. Dickinson, assistant secretary of the Playground and Recreation Association was made to say something which he did not say. The quotation as printed made Mr. Dickinson say "thoughtful plans for recreation is distinctly and decidedly the city's job. It goes with the normal, individual, educational and moral training." The quotation should have been "thoughtful planned for recreation is distinctly and decidedly the city's job. It gives to the normal individual educational and moral training."

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 39.

"WHO is writing those Want Ad. Talks? They're bully. I read every one of them, and get a great many ideas from them that are applicable to my own business."

That was the combined question and comment fired the other day at the Business Manager of one of the newspapers in which these Talks are appearing by a gentleman who conducts the advertising of one of the largest retail establishments in his city.

Thank you, Mr. Advertising Man, for the compliment. For a busy advertiser to take time to compliment the work of another advertiser is indeed exceptional.

But it is not you whom I am trying to reach in these Little Talks, Mr. Advertising Man. Oh, no; you know all about the "pulling power" of advertising. You know, from personal, practical experience, the value of newspaper publicity, because newspaper publicity has been one of the most important factors in the growth of your own business.

It is the man or woman who looks upon advertising as a rather uncertain form of gambling that I am desirous of talking to. And I want to say that advertising isn't any more of a gamble than is any other straight-forward, legitimate way of doing business. Not every man or every woman can afford to be a big display advertiser. Newspaper display space costs money.

But every man and every woman has occasion, at some time or other, to use a newspaper's CLASSIFIED columns. WANT AD. advertising is inexpensive. It is the most "human" advertising a newspaper carries. It consists, in effect, of nothing but the messages of thousands of the "plain people" to other thousands. That is why the CLASSIFIED columns of a good newspaper are called "the natural market-place for human wants."

If you want something—want to buy, sell, rent, exchange—want a position—want help—want board—want a horse, a typewriter, a piano, a gas engine, anything—try a little WANT AD. and discover for yourself its tremendous power.

The Want-Ad Man

A hurry call was sent to the Elizabeth General Hospital for an ambulance. The man died shortly after 10 o'clock. The body was taken to Martin's morgue.

MISS MARY E. MILLER.

Earned the Largest Fee of Any Woman Lawyer in Single Case.

Miss Mary E. Miller of Chicago has the distinction of having earned what is said to be the largest fee ever earned by a woman lawyer for a single case. She aided the four grandsons of William Brass, the "war governor of Illinois," to gain their rights under his will. Her bill for $42,500 was ignored, so she brought suit and was awarded $32,500.

SCHMIDT IGNORES FATHER'S PRESENCE

He Hysterically Greets His Sister, However.

New York, Dec. 12.—Hans Schmidt, on trial for the murder of Anna Aumuller, refused to speak to his father, Heinrich, who had come from Germany to testify in his son's behalf. The prisoner, however, had a hysterical interview with his sister, Elizabeth, who accompanied her father. The family reunion took place in District Attorney Whitman's office.

Schmidt's greeting to his sister was most affectionate. She threw her arms about his neck and cried:

"Oh, Hans, how could you do it?" He made no answer.

Schmidt was waiting in the room with a detective when his sister entered. He began to weep when he saw her. Then his father came in. The murderer dropped on his knees in front of his aged parent and begged his forgiveness for the shame and suffering that has come upon the family.

Consternation was shown among the counsel for the prosecution when Judge Olcott, for the defense, got in evidence in the Schmidt trial before Judge Warren Foster the fact that the accused had insane ideas concerning a "new religion" he was to found long before the slaying of Anna Aumuller.

Joseph Eigler, cousin of the dead girl, declared that she had often spoken of this new religion and had said that the founder to be had told her that he, like Abraham, must slay as Abraham had prepared to slay his dearly beloved son Isaac.

Joseph Eigler of 331 East Seventy-seventh street, Anna's cousin, said he told Schmidt that Mrs. Eigler had written him from Germany that Anna Aumuller was associating freely with army officers in Germany. Schmidt said he didn't believe such stories.

"Did Anna Aumuller ever tell you," asked Mr. Olcott suddenly, "that Schmidt told her that God had commanded him to sacrifice her as Abraham sacrificed his best beloved son, Isaac?"

Eigler said that Anna had often told him of such sayings of Schmidt.

MANY ASPIRE TO PARIS POST

"Original Wilson Men" Tumbling Over Each Other For the Job.

Washington, Dec. 12.—A bitter political fight over the selection of an ambassador to France seems to be brewing. At least a dozen "original Wilson men" are aspirants for the posts, and politicians agreed that the president would probably make a number of enemies before the question was settled.

It was reported that Frederick R. Coudert, the New York lawyer, had been scheduled for the place and that plans had been made to send his nomination in without preliminary notice, when certain Democratic senators objected to him on the ground that he was a "corporation attorney."

Other men mentioned for the job are William Bayard Hale, John Lind and James D. Phelan, former mayor of San Francisco.

BRIAND ASSAILS DOUMERGUE.

Criminal to Reject Three Year Army Bill, He Tells Premier.

Paris, Dec. 12.—When Gaston Doumergue, the new French premier, read his platform to the chamber of deputies announcing the temporary abandonment of the big army loan project Aristide Briand bitterly attacked him, winning an ovation with a speech that concluded:

"If you believe that the three year military law is useless you are guilty of being nearly a criminal."

BURTIS-SPENCER DUO VICTORIOUS

North Plainfield High School Girls Assert Their Superiority.

TEAM STRENGTHENED

Return of Last Year's Captain Boosts Stock Considerably—Miss Lewis Scores All of Scotch Plains' Points.

An uninteresting game of basketball was played at the Scotch Plains Parish House, last night, when the North Plainfield High School girls' team defeated the Scotch Plains maidens by the score of 48 to 10. In the first half the High School forwards caged baskets galore while the home team succeeded in making three points. The presence of Clara Smith, captain of last years team, was a big help to the boroughites and she played her usual great game at guard.

During the first half the visitors were the whole show and Miss Burtis was again the individual star, making seven field goals and two fouls in this period. Much credit must also be given to "Lil" Spencer, who, despite her big guard, shot six goals and played the ball right into her teammates' hands. In the first half Miss Lewis made three fouls, which was the only score made by Scotch Plains. However, Miss Lewis had hard luck throughout the game and hit the basket many times but the ball refused to drop in. The half ended 30 to 3.

The second half was played without lines and the teamwork of the borough girls kept the ball at their end of the court most of the time. "Blonde" Burtis tallied up eleven more points in this half, while Lucy Douglas caged two goals and Captain Debele dropped one. Miss Spencer failed to score in this period but was responsible for many of the passes that allowed the others to shoot. Miss Lewis secured a lone basket in this half and also took advantage of five free shots. She made every point for her team. The local girls were accompanied by a large delegation of rooters.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:
Query—What is the length of the local Y. M. C. A. pool?—J. T.
Answer—Approximately thirty-six feet.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Please publish the parcel post rates?—L. C.
Answer—Apply at the post office for a copy of the rates; you can secure all the information you desire at that place.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Why is not the mile walk included in athletic programs in meets in this vicinity?—H. S.
Answer—Because of the peculiar nature of the event. In the first place there are very few meets in this vicinity and in the second place the event requires an unusual amount of stamina which the ordinary athlete does not have. The walking event is the most strenuous known to athletes.

Sporting Editor:
Query—A says that if a man is arrested for murder and pleads guilty to murder of the first degree without going to trial he can be sent to jail for life or can be put to death. Is this right?—M. C.
Answer—A defendant can plead guilty only to murder. If done without a trial the judge before whom the plea is taken can hear the testimony of as many witnesses as the court sees fit, and then fix the degree of murder. It is within the jurisdiction of a judge in such a case to say whether or not the plea shall be one of murder in the first degree.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Who is the most practical business man in Plainfield?—N. C.
Answer—We do not wish to get mixed up in any controversy such as a query of this nature is bound to create. Draw your own conclusions.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Is there a place in this city where a young man could get a common schooling by just going mornings?—C. B.
Answer—The local business college teaches the regular English branches and you could probably arrange with them for a morning course.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Is the silver dollar of 1795 of any special value?—J. S.

When the Jersey City team dropped two games out of three on their own alleys last night to the Hoboken team the first-place tie in the Elks' League was broken, and the Newark team, which had been even with the Jersey City five on a percentage basis, is now alone in the lead. The Jersey City five, in spite of the fact that it lost the game, turned in a mark of 1,019 in the final contest, its best total of the season. Hoboken started with 968, winning by forty-nine pins, and came back with 995, showing the way by 123 pins. In the final contest Hoboken only accounted for 840. Russell rolled 236 for Jersey City. Corydon had 213. Wasserman the same, and Delehanty 204. Miller tallied 208 and 203 for Hoboken, Duffy was there for 228, Eppel had 210, and Steinbruck an even 200.

ANOTHER NEW OPPONENT WILL FACE BOROUGHITES.

Tomorrow afternoon in Saengerbund Hall, the North Plainfield High School basketball team will play the representative team from Rutgers "Prep" School. This team has never played the borough school before and the initial battle is bound to be an interesting one as the "Canadians" are going out for their eighth straight victory. Because of the hard game on Wednesday practice was called off yesterday but the squad will limber up today.

Although the New Brunswick team has never played here before it is known to be fast and will put up a good article of ball. The game will commence at 3:30 p. m. Between the halves the Juniors and Sophomores will play a league game.

With a record of seven victories, two defeats, one forfeiture and one tie the Holy Cross football eleven has closed an unusually auspicious season on the football gridiron, having engaged in many notable contests and having captured several coveted scalps. As a scoring machine the team was little short of phenomenal having totaled up 239 points during the season against its opponents' 39. This record is remarkable when the fact that eleven teams have been played is taken into consideration.

The game scheduled to be played tomorrow afternoon with the Franklin A. A., of Newark, has been called off because of climatic conditions and thus one series is left undecided. Both of these rivals have won a contest at the expense of the other and one game resulted in a tie. The only series lost by Holy Cross was the Dexter one, and this consisted of but a solitary struggle, the Perth Amboy team having refused to come here for another battle with the red and white crew.

Financially the team has been a great success, a neat balance remaining in the treasury after the payment of all debts. "Doc" Doyle, who managed the team last year, was again at the helm and the great success of the team during the past season reflects credit on his managerial ability. Despite many disappointments and seemingly unnecessary cancellations at the eleventh hour, Doyle has fulfilled his promise made at the beginning of the season to give the local public a contest on Cricket field every week-end and as a rule the games have been close and interesting.

Twenty-five players have been used by Coach P. V. Martin during the season, seven of which took part in every game on the schedule. Jack Wilson captained the team again during the past season and he was largely responsible for the showing of the regiment on the gridiron, taking part in every game and being one of the most consistent workers.

While no plans have as yet been announced for the closing of the club season, it is understood that the management is making preparations to reward those who worked for the welfare of the outfit on the playing field and in all probability some event will be held in the near future at which plans will be made for another season on the gridiron. It has been suggested that the name of the eleven be changed but this also is left in an unsettled state.

PLAINFIELD ELKS HANG UP A RECORD

Local Bills Dropped Two to New York, But Pinned 1029 First.

Plainfield bowlers accounted for a total of 1029 last night in an Elks' League match on the local alleys with the New York five, this mark being the best this season in the competition. The Plainfields, however, only succeeded in winning one game in three from their guests. The big mark came in the initial contest, Stout turning in 245, Blatz having 214, Nash 213 and Kiely 199. Johnny Campbell stopped at 158. In the next game there was lively competition, but Plainfield, with 868, finished twenty pins to the bad.

In the final and deciding contest there was some classy pinning, New York, with 954, finishing twenty-seven pins ahead. Charles Starr rolled 207 and 200 for New York. A. Westphal had 215 and 210 and L. Westphal had 202. Kiely rolled 213 for Plainfield in the last game, averaging 203-1.

The scores:

HOLY CROSS--FRANKLIN A. A. GAME HAS BEEN CANCELLED

Owing to the condition of the playing field in the borough and the crippled state of several of the locals' players, it has been deemed wise by the management to call off the scheduled football game between Holy Cross and the Franklin A. A., of Newark, originally booked for tomorrow afternoon and as a result local enthusiasts will witness no more contests this season.

The notable record established by the red and white crew appears in another column of this issue and the Franklin A. A. series is the only one left undecided.

P. H. S. BASKETBALL SQUAD OFF ON LONG TRIP TODAY

Eight of those interested in Plainfield High School basketball left on the 12:58 train this afternoon for Yonkers, N. Y., where the locals will try conclusions with the High School quintet of that place. The Yonkers trip is one of the longest on the P. H. S. schedule and requires much time spent in transportation.

The court on which the Plainfielders are scheduled to appear is nearly three times as long as the Queen City school's "gym" and the school itself has a male roster of 1,100 pupils. While the odds greatly favor the home five, the Plainfielder's expect to put up a good fight and Coach Ralph Patch took along the following players: Hetfleid, Rosenson, Sminck, Snyder, Gavett, Peacock and Cottrell.

PRINCETONIANS PAY FINAL RESPECTS TO "JACK, THE COP"

Princeton, Dec. 12.—The funeral of John Amberg, known familiarly to a generation of Princeton students as "Jack, the Cop," was attended by nearly a hundred students Wednesday. "Jack" had been a policeman on the campus for seven years, and previous to that he was connected with the Matthews' Construction Company at Princeton. He knew more students at Princeton intimately than any man in the university.

The students made up a purse for his family by popular subscription, which will be used in the education of his oldest son, who is attending the Princeton Graded School.

LACKS CASH TO INVESTIGATE WIDOWS WHO ASK PENSIONS

Newton, Dec. 12.—According to Miss Frances Day, general agent of the State Board of Children's Guardians, by the failure of the Legislature to make sufficient appropriation to carry out properly the provisions of the widows' pension act, her board will be unable to investigate the merit of petitions for relief under the law.

Miss Day, who sent an official letter to County Clerk Harvey S. Hopkins, states that investigations in Sussex county will have to cease until the Legislature can convene again and make the necessary appropriation. In view of this all hearings of applicants for pensions will be postponed indefinitely in the Sussex Common Pleas Court.

NORTH BRANCH MAN KILLS HIMSELF BECAUSE WIFE DIED

Whitehouse, Dec. 12.—David Newton Welch, sixty-one years old, committed suicide at his home in North Branch by shooting himself in the right temple with a .32 caliber revolver. He is said to have been despondent since the death of his wife eleven weeks ago.

During the forenoon Welch informed his housekeeper that he was going upstairs to lie down and rest for a while. When he did not appear at noon for dinner she called him. Receiving no response, she went to his room and found him unconscious on the bed. A physician was summoned, but Welch died shortly after without regaining consciousness. The housekeeper is deaf and did not hear the shot.

Welch for many years was engaged in the flour and feed mill business at Burnt Mills, near North Branch. He leaves a brother, Aaron Welch, of Newark, and a sister, Mrs. Eugene Hoffman, of Whitehouse Station. He was at one time overseer of the poor in Branchburg township.

The funeral will be held from the house tomorrow afternoon. Rev. Charles E. Corwin, pastor of the Reformed church, will officiate. Burial will be in the cemetery in Somerville.

BACK TO FIRST LOVE.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 12—George Ade, John T. McCutcheon, Meredith Nicholson and other notable sons of the Hoosier State who did newspaper work before they leaped into fame as authors are again to grind out copy—for one day. At the annual banquet of the Indiana Society of Chicago to be held in the Congress Hotel tomorrow night each of the stars of the literary field of Indiana will be given a newspaper "assignment." Governor Ralston, of Indiana, former Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, former Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, and George Randolph Chester, the playwright, will be among the speakers at the banquet.

TO RETURN XMAS GIFTS.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—President Wilson, it is understood, intends to follow the example of the most of his predecessors in declining to accept Christmas gifts from strangers. Every year hundreds of gifts are received at the White House from persons unknown to the President or his family. Those of any considerable value are to be returned to the sender, with a note explaining the President's attitude in regard to receiving gifts. The presents of small value, including large quantities of eatables, are usually turned over to the hospitals, orphans' homes and similar institutions in the capital.

FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 12.—Armed with enthusiasm and equipped with subscription books, several hundred teams of ten men each today started out on a seven-day campaign to raise $100,000, with which to finance the work and convention of the International Sunday-school Association the coming year. The convention of the organization will be held in this city next June.

SWIMMING CANAL.

Colon, Dec. 12.—Miss Elaine Golding, of New York, who hopes to swim the Panama Canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific, started yesterday morning from the Five Mile Buoy opposite Cristobal, and reached the lower lock at Gatun early in the afternoon. She will continue her swim across Gatun Lake to Gamboa today.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE, THEN KILLS SELF

Quarrel Leads to Attempted Murder on Street.

HER CONDITION CRITICAL

Money Matters Said to Have Been the Cause of Tragedy In Newark—People Who Knew Couple Slightly Said Finances Had Led to Their Separation. Married Five Years.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 12.—In a sudden quarrel on the street Mrs. Rose Wacker of this city was shot, probably fatally, by her husband, Joseph A. Wacker, from whom she was reported to have been estranged.

Then he turned the revolver on himself and fired a bullet into his left temple.

The husband dropped in his tracks. His wife reeled against a stoop and then fell. She was unconscious when aid reached her some moments later. At the City hospital, where she was taken, it was said she would probably die. She was unconscious when brought in, but later recovered, but could not utter a word as to the crime.

Money matters are declared to have been the cause of the sudden quarrel. People who knew the couple slightly said finances had led to the separation.

Since the estrangement Wacker is reported to have been living here with his mother.

Wacker's body was removed to a morgue on the order of County Physician McKenzie. He found that a bullet had penetrated the brain.

It was learned that the couple had been married five years, and Wacker went to his mother's home only a week ago. Their home had been closed up. She had been working in a department store since Nov. 24, where she is given the highest praise. Just the opposite is said of her husband, who, it is declared, had choked and beaten her not infrequently.

Mrs. Wacker was a cripple. When she was taken to the hospital a draft on a Christmas fund was found in her purse.

EGG BOYCOTT IN HACKENSACK

Take Steps to Form a Housewives' League—War to Be Made Extensive.

Hackensack, N. J., Dec. 12.—The members of the Hackensack Woman club after being urged to assist in the egg boycott at once took steps to form a housewives' league in order to make the war as extensive as possible. The speaker who created the enthusiasm was Mrs. W. E. Osler, secretary to President Mrs. Julian Heath of New York.

Mrs. Osler is state chairman of the New Jersey branch and president of the Leonia Woman's club. A large number filled the woman's exchange at the meeting under the auspices of the home economics department.

"If you can't make custards or cakes without eggs don't make any at all," said Mrs. Osler.

FREED IN CRIMINAL CASE.

Defendant Escapes Punishment—Justice of Peace Sent to Prison.

Mount Holly, N. J., Dec. 12.—Departing from precedent, Judge Horner punished everybody concerned in a criminal case except the defendant. James J. Grogan of Riverside, justice of the peace, was given eighteen months to three years in state prison; Hugh Jones, constable, was fined $300; John A. Myers, constable, $200, and William Worl, $150.

Samuel Painter, bartender, Riverside, was charged with attacking Worl's young daughter and was being moved on through Grogan's court toward the grand jury when suddenly the case stopped.

BANK DEPOSITORS TO MEET.

Those Who Had Money In Bayonne Institution Get Together Saturday.

Bayonne, N. J., Dec. 12.—Alarmed at the possibility of losing all their money, depositors of the defunct First National bank, this city, have called a meeting for Saturday night in this city. Congressman E. F. Kinkead has been invited to attend.

Receiver Charles H. Chapman is said to have received $25,000 on loans and notes.

AROUND THE STATE.

All owners of pigeons and cows in Bayonne will be compelled to pay a tax of $1 each, according to a resolution of the board of health. Squab raising is extensive in Bayonne.

Walking up behind John Taylor of Detroit, Mich., two men in Paterson asked him if he had lost his pocketbook. He produced it, and they grabbed it and ran. Taylor lost $60 and has no ticket home.

For becoming too strenuous when hugging his wife, Gilbert Little of Trenton, an expressman, was fined $10 in the police court. Little is not little, and his strength, together with the fact that he had been drinking, terrified his wife when he began to caress her. She summoned the police.

With the capture of Louis Rohr, twenty-two; Richard Van Sanders, twenty, and Joseph Fuchs, nineteen years old, all of Little Ferry, West Shore railroad detectives and the police of Little Ferry and Ridgefield Park believe that part of a gang of river pirates and coal and freight thieves have been rounded up.

—No one will contend that a woman who does not read the ads is as well prepared to buy wisely and economically as one who does.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

CHINATOWN NOW SCENE OF SEARCH

Believe Missing McCann Girl Is Held There.

EVERY CLEW IS FRUITLESS

Hunt Shifted to Philadelphia Without Avail—Detectives Deduct Every Theory, but Disappearance Becomes More Mystifying—Was Reported Seen In New York.

New York, Dec. 12. — The whereabouts of Miss Jessie McCann, who mysteriously disappeared from her home last Thursday, is still unknown, although scores of detectives have worked down every clew and theory advanced. The trail has led through Brooklyn, Coney Island, Philadelphia and now Chinatown. The police believe she may be held there, and they are ransacking every resort in that section.

Upon receiving a clew that the girl was being held in Philadelphia the search was directed to that city.

One tip was that the girl had been seen by the woman proprietor of a restaurant on the outskirts of Philadelphia. Another rumor was that Miss McCann had been found by private detectives in a house in Hamilton street, Philadelphia. Furthermore, as an aunt and uncle of the girl live in the Quaker City, although the aunt is now in this city, it was hoped that the uncle had learned of the girl's whereabouts.

Searching Chinatown.

Meantime Jessie McCann has been reported seen on two different occasions in the neighborhood of the Chatham square elevated station. The fact that she might be hidden away in the mazes of Chinatown also was strengthened when it was learned that Miss Rose Livingston, known as the "angel of Chinatown," had paid a visit to the girl's mother at their home in Flatbush.

Although the search at Coney Island, during which every byway of the closed summer resort was thoroughly searched, has practically been abandoned, a close watch still is being kept along the beach, as fear still is felt that the girl in a fit of despondency may have thrown herself into the ocean.

Over the long distance telephone to Philadelphia it was learned that a New York private detective had found a girl answering to the description of Miss McCann in a house on Hamilton street, that city. The information came from Mrs. M. G. Steube, with whom the girl's aunt, Mrs Anderson, makes her home in Philadelphia. Mr. Anderson is a clerk in the Philadelphia office of the New Jersey Central railroad.

Mrs. Steube said that a private detective from New York, who was searching for Miss McCann, came to her home and said he was sure that he had traced the missing girl to Philadelphia. The girl in the Hamilton street house, he said, answered in almost every way the description of Miss McCann.

According to Mrs. Steube, Mrs. Anderson, the girl's aunt, went to New York several days ago. Mr. Anderson, however, was asked by the detective to accompany him to the house where Miss McCann was thought to be. Mr. Anderson left at once with the detective.

It was learned authoritatively that the visit of Mr. Anderson and the private detective to the Hamilton street house proved unsuccessful. The girl found there was not Miss McCann.

ALL GROCERIES MUST CLOSE IN PERTH AMBOY SUNDAYS

Perth Amboy, Dec. 12.—The policy of the local authorities in handling violations of the law which forbids the sale of groceries on Sunday has been announced. All violators will be proceeded against under the State law for the suppression of vice and immorality. The penalty is $2 for each offense. A city ordinance provides for a $30 fine, but those who hold Saturday to be the Sabbath are exempt from its provisions.

A majority of the small merchants of Perth Amboy are Hebrews, and many of them are of the Orthodox branch of the faith. They observe Saturday as the Sabbath and could not be punished under the city ordinance. Three offenders were arraigned in police court. All were released under a suspension of sentence. W. M. Hollahan, president of the Retail Clerks' Union, announced that hereafter he will have counsel and insist upon all offenders being fined.

NOSTRILS AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD? TRY MY CATARRH BALM

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely; Dull Headache Goes; Nasty Catarrhal Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed, nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Adv.

Plainfield, N. J., October 15, 1913

New York Telephone Company,
Plainfield, N. J.

Dear Sir:--I thought you might be interested to know of the importance of the telephone to us in our business.

Formerly, when an out of town contractor, who was bidding on a job, wished to get a figure on some lumber, he did it by letter, taking at least two days from the time the letter was written before he got our answer quoting the price. Now the contractor calls us direct by telephone, secures a quotation immediately, and without delay. The telephone is one of the most important factors in our business, saving, as it does, so many out of town trips.

Yours very truly,
J. D. LOIZEAUX LUMBER COMPANY,
C. E. Loizeaux, Secretary.

IF you will work your telephone hard and let it take you on quick little business trips in and out of town, you can save travel, time and expense and devote more time to other result-producing work at your desk.

Oftentimes a few words by telephone means a saving of a day or two, and in nearly every case your telephone trip will be as satisfactory and as productive of results as a trip in person would be.

Why not save the out-of-town trips—travel by telephone.

DENIES BUYING INFLUENCE IN RAHWAY SCHOOL JOB

Rahway, Dec. 12.—Testifying in the Common Council investigation of the rumors that there was graft and other irregularities in the purchase of the site and erection of the Rahway High School building, J. Benjamin Beatty, architect of the building, denied he had bought any one's influence in getting the commission as architect.

Mr. Beatty said School Commissioner George B. Cladek and Councilman Clifford B. Gehring had visited him at his office in Elizabeth and asked him if City Treasurer George B. Kirchgasner had not received money in connection with the architect's plans. He declared he refused to discuss the assertion.

Later, Mr. Beatty said, Kirchgasner reported to him that Cladek and Gehring were saying he had declared Kirchgasner got money from the Board of Education. He said he went to the offices of the two men and told them he knew nothing of what they were talking about.

T. H. Girtanner, clerk of the Board of Education, gave the history of the purchase of the site and the erection of the building. Kirchgasner presented a statement signed by Mr. Beatty, which said: "I hereby acknowledge that I know of no action that involves Mr. Kirchgasner in receiving any money for influence, etc., in purchase of site or building of school."

Kirchgasner is seeking the Rahway postmastership, for which Cladek is also a candidate.

REVISING EMPLOYE RATES.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 12.—Further readjustment of transportation charges for employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad was forecasted here yesterday, when passenger officials let it be known that tickets for shopmen would expire December 31 next. Heretofore such tickets, 100 trips for $5, have been sold to workmen in the company's shops, good for one year from the date of issue. It is also stated that no application blanks for clergymen's tickets for next year have been received at the Pittsburgh offices. As a rule these blanks are available for the signatures of clergymen December 1, and the fact that none have been given out caused passenger men to believe that the low rates heretofore available for clergymen would be discontinued.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Setting the Table.

Is there anything more unappetizing than a carelessly set table. All of us, presumably, should have a soul so far above buttons that we would not notice our food overmuch But few of us have reached the happy state where we eat only to be nourished. Most of us are quite susceptible to dainty food and dainty service.

This being so, the economical housewife should appreciate the value of serving every meal daintily. For food that is enjoyed will be better assimilated and therefore will do its full duty of giving nourishment to those who eat it.

A nicely set table is the first requisite for the dainty service of a meal.

Spotlessness and Neatness.

Spotlessness and neatness are essential to a nicely set table. No matter how simple the meal or how simple the table appointments, they should and can always be clean and neatly arranged.

At breakfast and luncheon doilies or runners can be used, and they are far easier to launder than heavy cloths. In some houses runners are used even at dinner. If they are used—or if doilies are used—the table must be perfectly clean. Wipe it with a damp cloth after each meal to remove anything that may have been spilled on it and then rub it with a dry cloth.

When a cloth is used first spread a felt or asbestos covering to protect the table and hush the sound of plates and silver. Then spread a cloth with the fold that marks the middle of it laid evenly from end to end of the table. Always fold the cloth in the same creases, and lay it neatly in a drawer until it is wanted again. Or else fold it only once lengthwise and then roll it on a wooden or pasteboard cylinder.

When a spot of coffee or jelly or any other sort of food is found on the cloth after a meal, take it out immediately with water and press the damp place smooth. In this way the cloth can be kept clean for several days.

After the cloth is neatly laid, put on the silver. At the right of each place put the knives and spoons and at the left put the forks. At the end of the knives place a glass for water and at the end of the forks place a butter plate.

For an informal home dinner there should be a large knife next to the plate on the right for cutting meat, next to that a spoon for dessert and next to that a soup spoon. On the left there should be as many forks as will be needed—one for the meat, one for the salad and one for the dessert, or, if none is needed for dessert and there is no salal, only one fork should be placed. If oysters are served to begin with the oyster fork is placed at the right of the soup spoon. The butter spreader, unless it is large, is placed on the butter plate; if the spreader is large, is placed next, on the right, to the knife for meat.

A centrepiece of some sort should be placed in the center of the table. Growing ferns or cut flowers can be used, or a little bowl full of evergreen leaves or foliage. A dish of fresh and beautiful fruit can also be used.

The napkin should either be placed at the right of the silver or else it should be folded and placed on the plate in front of each person. Of course, when clean napkins are not used every meal and the napkins are kept in rings, they should be placed at the right, or else in front of the plate, between the water glass and the butter plate.

Some Cookery Suggestions

WAYS WITH DRIED BEEF.

IN most households dried beef is an emergency food. It is so convenient to have it in the pantry for luncheon or tea in case there is a shortage of other food or an unexpected guest drops in.

Cold dried beef with slices of hard boiled egg and some sprigs of parsley makes a nice filling for sandwiches.

Served on Toast.

Shaved Dried Beef.—Slice the dried beef very finely into a dish on the back of the stove. Cover with cold water and let it soak until the meat has swelled to its normal size. The water should then be allowed to heat very gradually. Before it boils pour off and substitute a cupful of cream. Instead of cream a cupful of milk boiled with a teaspoonful of butter and a pinch of pepper and thickened with a tablespoonful of flour may be used.

Creamed Dried Beef.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a small saucepan and when bubbling hot add a tablespoonful of flour. Let the flour cook and then slowly add a cupful of rich milk. Stir and cook this roux until it is smooth and creamy. Then add a cupful of dried beef which has been shredded and freed from gristle. Season with celery salt and black pepper. Heat the beef thoroughly in the sauce. Have ready half a dozen small slices of thin, crisp, buttered toast, well browned. Put the beef in spoonfuls on the toast and garnish with parsley.

Cooked With Eggs.

Breakfast Beef.—Take butter the size of an egg, put it into the frying pan and let it brown. Then add the sliced dried beef, which should have been pulled into small pieces. Let the meat fry for a few minutes, then add a cupful of water and let boil a few minutes. Drain and add a quart of milk. When this begins to boil add three tablespoonfuls of flour which has been reduced to a paste with milk. Serve with slices of hard boiled egg and parsley.

Dried Beef and Tomatoes.—If you can get fresh tomatoes slice five and dust them with flour. Take a tablespoonful of butter, put it into a pan, and when melted add the tomatoes, stirring until smooth. Cook for five minutes. Then take half a pound of dried beef which has been chipped very thin and add to the tomatoes. Let them simmer for a few minutes and then serve.

Daily Christmas Hint

Here's a Useful Gift For Dainty Girls

The little pincushions that are made out of tiny baskets are most attractive. Buy a little basket in any shop—it costs about 25 cents—stuff it with bran, cover the top with any color silk, then paint the basket with white enamel paint or gild it with liquid gilding which comes for this purpose. Be sure to let this paint dry thoroughly.

Next take a yard of tiny rosebud trimming and drape it around the handle of the basket like a garland. Sew another garland of the rosebud trimming around the inside of the basket, and when a few gilt hairpins have been stuck in the pincushion you have the cutest little gift to send to the girl with golden hair.

BASKET HAIR PIN HOLDER

Mrs. Peacock Got the Most Elaborate Dress.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — A Very Jolly Christmas In The Barnyard.

"IT was Christmas in the barnyard, children," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn, "and all the fowls came out in their new clothes that old Barnyard Santa had left them, for they have a Santa, too, you know.

"Old Mrs. Pea Fowl strutted around in a beautiful new dress that Santa had brought her and a nice red hat, but she was awfully sad because Santa had not brought her any shoes.

"You know that if Mrs. Pea Fowl looks at her own feet she drops her beautiful feathers, for she has the ugliest feet of any of the barnyard creatures.

"Mrs. Hen had a fine speckled gown of gray and white and also a red hat with high feathers standing up on it. Red is the barnyard Santa's favorite color, for he brought them all red hats, and well, too, that it is his favorite, for everybody agrees that it is the nicest color for Christmas. Mrs. Hen's children got beautiful little soft white fuzzy dresses. Of course Mrs. Peacock got the most elaborate dress of all, for she is so vain that Santa knew he could never leave her a simple dress.

"What did he leave them to eat?" asked Evelyn, who was very fond of goodies herself.

"Well, let me see," said daddy. "He left them great big bags of corn and meal, apple cores and vegetables for special occasions."

"I don't think they eat very good things," said Evelyn. "Don't they ever eat candy?"

"No," replied daddy; "they never eat any because they know they will spoil their plumage.

"Well, as it was Christmas day, all the barnyard fowls thought they should play some games, so all joined in. There were the turkey hens, turkey gobblers, pea fowls, guinea hens, roosters, chickens, Mr. and Mrs. Duck and all the little ducks.

"They played leapfrog, tag, fox and goose and ran races. And who do you suppose won the race? Old Turkey Gobbler. And wasn't he proud of himself. He made fun of old Mrs. Duck, whose short, little legs wouldn't go at all fast. Mrs. Peacock won the booby prize, as, of course, it was beneath her dignity to run very fast, for she didn't want to muss her fine feathers. The prize did not mean nearly so much to her as her beauty.

"So Mr. Turkey Gobbler was king of the day, and he was indeed a proud turkey, for health and strength and excellence in sports mean a great deal to a turkey. For a prize he won a great big juicy apple, and all the other barnyard animals rejoiced, too, for old Mr. Turkey Gobbler was the favorite of all."

Acceptable Christmas Gifts.

As embroidered stockings have become quite the fad of the season, what more acceptable gift could you give to your girl friend than a pair of silk hose embroidered by hand in one of these attractive designs? They are very easy to embroider Order a yellow pattern for stamping black silk, or a blue pattern for stamping white or light colored fabrics. Slip a piece of blotting paper inside the stockings so that the stamping will not go through the mesh of the fabric to the other side.

Pattern 14109 contains four different designs which may be used for embroidering stockings, blouses and underwear These sprays may be developed in solid work and eyelets in one or more colors or novelties, but when used on stockings the color of the embroidery should match that of the fabric. Rope silk should be used when embroidering on silk and mercerized cotton on wash materials. Six transfers of each design are given in the pattern for ten cents.

The attractive little wreaths are taken from pattern number 14089, which contains a sheet of wreaths and sprays 12 inches square, for ten cents. These may be developed in solid work or outline and seed-stitch on stockings, negligees, underwear, waists, aprons and neckwear as well as baby pillows, bureau scarfs and many fancy articles. An initial or monogram may be placed within the wreath, if desired.

These patterns will be supplied to readers of the Daily Press upon receipt of the price, ten cents each.

TAMPICO TAKEN BY THE REBELS

They Succeed In Forcing Federal Army.

AMERICAN VESSELS CLOSE

No Foreigners Are Hurt—Fierce Engagement Is Watched by Admiral Fletcher—He Warns Forces Not to Molest Americans, Who Finally Sought Refuge.

BULLETIN.

Mexico City, Dec. 12.—The city of Tampico was captured by the rebels.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Reports of a fierce battle between federals and revolutionists at Tampico, Mexico, were confirmed in an official dispatch received at the navy department from Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the American squadron on the east coast.

Admiral Fletcher stated that the battle for the chief city of the oil district began early Wednesday morning, continued through the day and night and was still in progress. The situation is admittedly critical for all foreigners in the city.

No Americans or other foreigners have been injured thus far, and no foreign property has been destroyed. Many Americans have taken refuge on board the gunboat Tacoma and the cruiser Chester. German residents of the city have taken refuge on board the Hamburg-American liner Kronprinzessin Cecile, while many British refugees are on board the steamship Logician.

As long as there is no menace to American property by the combatants on either side it is felt that the necessity of landing American marines or bluejackets for the protection of American interests will be avoided. An effort will be made to have all Americans who may be endangered take refuge on one of the American warships in order to avoid complications. It is expected that similar precautions will be taken on behalf of the British and Germans.

There is no expectation that armed forces of either nationality will be landed in any event.

Rebels Fire on Gunboats.

Vera Cruz, Dec. 12.—While 700 American and European residents, who had fled to the consulates for safety, excitedly awaited the issue, and while the battleships of four nations watched in the offing, desperate fighting for the possession of Tampico between Mexican federals and rebels continued.

The battle, which was suspended by darkness, was resumed when two Mexican gunboats in the river were fired on by rebels from the bank opposite the city. Hot fighting continued there throughout the morning, the rebels concealed in the bush trying to pick off the federals on the gunboats and the latter replying with both small arms and quick firers, which did much damage.

But the heaviest fighting was along the line of an embankment of the railway, the only means of ingress by land to Tampico, as the town is entirely surrounded by treacherous swamps.

BATTLE RAGING AT TORREON.

Reports of Federal Victory Are Discounted in Mexico City.

Mexico City, Dec. 12.—A second desperate and bloody battle is raging at Torreon, according to dispatches received here.

The war office reports that the federals have taken the city, killing 800 rebels, but private advices do not confirm this assertion.

R. R. HEAD KNEELS BY MOTHER

President Smith of New York Central Visits Invalid Parent.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 12.—Alfred H. Smith, new president of the New York Central lines, came to Cleveland to see his invalid mother, aged eighty-five, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Rogers.

She was his first thought, and this was his first trip undertaken as president. Without waiting to remove his overcoat he ran upstairs and knelt at the side of his mother's bed.

Smith's mother was made an invalid a year ago by injuries sustained in a fall. Recently complications developed. A trained nurse is with her continually. She was better today, her son's presence serving as a stimulus.

GEN. WOOD WILL BE RELIEVED

Secretary Garrison Will Order Retirement of Chief of Staff.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Secretary of War Garrison was emphatic in making it clear that he intended to comply with the spirit of the law and relieve Major General Leonard Wood as chief of staff next April, when his four year term expires. The secretary has no idea of construing the Mexican situation as an "emergency" which under the law would permit him to hold General Wood in his present position.

Secretary Garrison also said that any evidence of campaigning for the position upon the part of any officer would be regarded by him as sufficient proof of that officer's unfitness for the post.

Reville Claims Congressman Suggested He Be a Candidate for Postmastership.

RECALLS DISCUSSION

Councilman Asserts G. O. P. "Machine" Got Him Out of Postoffice Because He Was a Bryanite—Believed He Would Get the Office.

Responding to the reply made by Congressman William E. Tuttle to a telegram addressed by Wm. Strapp as president of the Jefferson Democratic Club, wherein a threat was made that unless the congressman championed Patrick J. Reville for the postmastership nomination, Democrats here would oppose him should he be a candidate for renomination, Mr. Reville has sent this letter to the Fifth District representative:

"I think your letter addressed to Edward Strapp, president of the Jefferson Democratic Club, and published in the Plainfield Daily Press of December 10, calls for notice from me because it contains several inaccuracies. You say, 'as a party man, believing in party organization, I fully appreciate Patrick J. Reville's political activities. I have frankly discussed with him and his friends the reason why he is not favorably considered for the position which he seeks. It is a condition that he himself has created and which he should have frankly disclosed to the organized Democrats of Plainfield.' Until I saw you in Washington on Thursday, the 11th inst., I had reason to believe from letters received from you and Senator Martine by my friends and me that I was being considered for appointment to the postmastership of Plainfield. These letters plainly stated that I would be considered and you personally encouraged me to seek the appointment. Your advised me in person some months ago to start a petition and get the signatures of some first-class business men and suggested that the endorsement of the City Committee would be valuable.

"At an earlier date you closed a letter to me in the following language, 'I shall never forget your steadfast and true adherence to the party when we were in the dark days, and I hope that occasion may arise when I may be of service to you in the future.' I think, this coming from the Congressman, whose privilege it is to recommend such appointment, warranted encouragement enough to justify me in seeking the appointment. I took your advice and obtained the signatures of a number of the leading business men of the city and of the leading Democrats of the city, including seventeen of the eighteen members of the City Committee and fifteen of the eighteen members of the County Committee from Plainfield. A number of others who had not signed the petition wrote you personally advocating my appointment.

"You say that you have frankly discussed with me and my friends the reason why I am not favorably considered. You are entirely mistaken. The only time I ever discussed this matter was when by appointment I called on you at your residence about a year ago and it was at that time you advised me to start a petition. I left you feeling confident of your support, and not a word was said by you then or since by letter or in person to me suggesting any possible reason why I was not an available candidate, except in my interview with you in Washington on Thursday of last week. For the first time I was then told that my record in the postoffice in Plainfield was the stumbling block. This must be what you refer to when you say in your letter, 'a condition which he himself has created,' or is it the reason that you gave the men who met you by appointment at your office in Westfield two weeks ago to urge upon you my qualifications for the appointment as postmaster? Were you afraid to state that reason in your letter? Well did I create the condition you speak of. Don't you and every one else who knows the circumstances of this incident, appreciate that that condition was created by the local Republican machine because of my lonely championship of William Jennings Bryan? Senator Martine on Thursday last said to you in the presence of several others that the charges against me were ridiculously untrue and that he and every one in Plainfield who knew me knew that they were at the time. I feel that if any Democrat is entitled to have his name considered as Mr. Bird's successor I am. Whether or not the appointing powers select me is another question. All I ask is a fair hearing. This I am told is denied me because of the postoffice incident.

"Now, I think the declared friendship of you and Senator Martine, our spokesman in this matter, entitles me to look to you to see that justice

INTERESTING PAPERS AT AFTERNOON CLUB

Art Section of Women's Organization Hears Several Instructive Talks.

The art department of the Monday Afternoon Club, at its meeting at the Hartridge Auditorium, yesterday afternoon, enjoyed a delightful program, following a quarter of an hour's discussion of work for next year. While no decision was reached as to what program will be taken up, that being left to the board of officers, there seemed to be a strong preference for Russian painting and music and possibly this may be considered.

Mrs. Charles W. Rosan's interesting paper on "Rossini's Reforms in Italian Opera," was read by Miss Ethel Titsworth, and proved most instructive. Mrs. Nelson A. Miller then read a delightful paper on "Mozart and His Influence on Subsequent Composers," treating of the life of the composer, and telling how his genius was wholly unappreciated until after his death. She described how he was often obliged to beg for something to eat and was finally buried in a pauper's grave. This paper was illustrated by Miss Hope Miller, who sang two charming numbers by Mozart, "The Cradle Song," and a selection from the opera, "Sigaro."

Another delightful feature of the program was a paper by Mrs. Leonard Waldo on "Weber and the Romantic School," and this was illustrated by Dr. Leonard Waldo with about six numbers, given in a charming manner. The interpretation and expression combined to make this part of the afternoon entertainment one of real pleasure. Mrs. Duncan W. Taylor, who is chairman of the committee of the art department, was in charge.

The literature department of the club met at the Plainfield Public Library, the members devoting their time to a discussion of the program for 1913-1914. As in the case of the art department, no decision was reached. Mrs. Edmund J. Lee, chairman of the department, presided.

$50,000 IN CASH FOR XMAS MONEY

Members of Savings Club Yesterday Received it From Plainfield Trust Co.

The number of Christmas Savings Club members who called at The Plainfield Trust Company yesterday to receive their checks exceeded even the expectations of those who had predicted a large crowd and in that single day one third of the seven thousand checks were distributed and $50,000 was paid out. In spite of the unprecedented rush, however, the crowd was handled without the slightest confusion. The busiest hour of the day was between nine and ten o'clock in the morning when nearly 150 people stood in line. Those who witnessed the dispatch with which this line was reduced had many favorable comments to make in regard field Trust Company deals with difficult situations. The local business houses felt the effect of the releasing of this large amount of cash immediately and yesterday was a busy day in Plainfield for many beside the Trust Company. One of the merchants remarked this morning: "The Christmas Savings Club is certainly a good thing and we hope it has come to stay," and that sentiment seems to prevail everywhere.

The 1914 club will open on December 29th and judging from the many inquiries that have already been received regarding it, its success is assured.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR JOHN HERON

Twenty-five of His Friends Greeted Him at His Home Last Night.

John Heron, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Heron, of Monroe avenue, was pleasantly surprised at his home last night by a group of twenty-five of his friends who "dropped in" unexpectedly. The affair, which was previously arranged by James Doig, took the guest of honor completely unawares, the guests meeting at the home of Russell Cratsley and going from there in a group to the Heron home.

The program of entertainment included games, dancing and vocal and instrumental selections. Those present were the Misses Josephine Snyder, Margaret Mortimer, Eunice Eckert, Elizabeth Doig, Jessie Duncan, Mary Duncan, Hazel Clark, Mabel Hunter, Agnes Leighs, Eva Seldon, Jennie Grieber, Anna Bremmer and Jennie Kruetzfeldt, and John Heron, Thomas Heron, Richard Schott, George Leighs, Harry Moulton, Arthur Thorne, Frank Clark, Russell Cratsley, James Heron, Jack Frett, Gustav Bremmer, Naps Luthman and Thomas Heron.

QUICK RESPONSE TO AN URGENT APPEAL

Help Sorely Needed by Four Poverty-stricken Families.

The plan to provide a substantial Christmas for a few families in dire need has already awakened much interest. Within a few hours of the appearance of the Daily Press yesterday, containing the announcement, the first subscription to the Special Christmas Fund was received by Miss Mabelle Phillips, secretary of the Charity Organiation Society, and it is earnestly hoped that within the time set, enough will be raised to help permanently the four desperately needy cases which have been selected. Surely there could be no better Christmas offering by the people of Plainfield than the rescue of these four families from the misery into which they have fallen.

The first of the four cases chosen for this special help is a family of five. The mother, a widow, has been trying to keep the home on $5 a week earned by general housework. Up to a short time ago, the oldest son has been able to earn $10 a week. He is now ill at home and probably will be for months, so that instead of a mainstay, he has become an added burden. After January 1, the city will help this family, but up to then the appropriation is exhausted. In the meantime they need clothes and food and they must pay rent. Could you do it on $5 a week? About $30 will tide them over. Could that amount be put to better use?

Some of the other cases need more than this, of course; much more. The next will be described tomorrow. There has been no time to tabulate the responses already received, but they will be announced tomorrow. What you give may be applied to any one of the four cases which appeals especially to you, or simply included in the general fund. But please send it in at once and make your selection afterward.

Address, The Special Christmas Fund, Charity Organization Society, 323 Babcock building, telephone 103.

Checks should be drawn to the society.

QUICKLY DISMISS JENSEN PETITION

Judge Parker Throws Out Application for Again Licensing Borough Hotel.

NO NEW ONES GRANTED

Court States It is Fully Acquainted With Conditions in North Plainfield—Grand Jury to Investigate Election Law Offenses.

Somerville, Dec. 16—Plainly showing his displeasure over the continued renewal of applications for liquor licenses that had been refused, especially in North Plainfield, Judge Charles W. Parker, at the opening of the Somerset County Court, this morning, made it understood that he was fully acquainted with conditions in that borough and that it would be useless for such persons to renew their applications from time to time.

Judge Parker's remarks followed the renewal of the application of Charles Jensen for a license at Mountainview Inn, North Plainfield, and he promptly refused it without even entertaining a motion for granting the petition. He declared the he would not grant any more applications in the borough. Morris Latzko, who now holds a wholesale license in North Plainfield, made application for a hotel license, and this also was promptly refused. The applications of William Feaster and Hilliare Blatz, both hotels, were granted. There was a strong remonstrance against granting Mr. Jensen's application.

Charles Newhouse of Bound Brook, made application for a hotel license at that place. It was laid over until Friday, but Judge Parker intimated that it would not be granted. Several applications for liquor licenses from Manville section were presented, but all were flatly refused, the court again declaring that it did not intend to grant any licenses there.

Judge Parker in his charge to the grand jury, called particular attention to the many reports of alleged violations of the election laws, adding that he wanted that body to make a full investigation of the same. That was the most important feature of the charge, aside from his remarks on the license question.

Leo Slonim is the only representative from North Plainfield borough on the grand jury, while Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton and Louis K. Hyde represent North Plainfield Township. They both tried to have the court excuse them from serving, but to no purpose. William H. Rogers, who was drawn on the petit jury from Warren township, was excused, when he explained that he had served in that capacity last April.

RETAIL LICENSES TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER

But Opinion is There Will Be No More Licenses Granted Next Year.

Under the new law applicants for retail liquor licenses whose petitions are original, must file notice of their application on January 1 and thereafter the Common Council may advertise for bids. If a new retail license should be granted it will be disposed of to the highest bidder, but it is extremely unlikely, it is generally believed, that any more retail licenses will be granted. As to the original wholesale license applications they may be filed as in former years. As to these also, it is considered quite unlikely that any change will be made. The public opinion seems to be that there will be no change whatever. As most understand it, the incoming Common Council will follow precedent and renew licenses only.

All applications for renewals must be filed on January 1 and the Common Council will act on them later.

It is reported that there are at least three who desire to obtain wholesale licenses and there are some others that wish retail licenses. These are all in addition to the present licenses. That there will be no tampering with the Tyler Zone ordinance is generally conceded, despite reports to the contrary.

In order not to collide with the vehicle he threw himself from his wheel and landed in a heap alongside the road. He received a number of wounds about the face and head and also dislocated his shoulder.

ARE ELKS' LODGES EXEMPT FROM TAXE

State Wide Movement Planned by Reason of New Law's Provisions.

An amendment to the law of 1909, passed last April, relative to the exemption of certain institutions from taxes, providing that "benevolent" organizations shall be exempt, has started a state-wide movement among various lodges of the B. P. O. Elks to show cause why the real and personal properties of said lodges should not be tax free. The movement was first instituted by Edwin Fitzgeorge, secretary of Trenton Lodge of Elks, who mailed copies of the amendment to the law to secretaries of all the lodges of the State shortly after its enactment last April. Since that time the movement has gained rapid headway, although up to the present time nothing definite has been ascertained.

The matter has been taken up by committees of the various lodges throughout the State with the County Boards of Taxation of their respective counties, and will eventually become an issue with the State Board of Taxation. The proposition will not, however, be taken before the State Board until all County Boards have been conferred with.

A number of the lodes of Elks in different parts of the State were exempted by county boards from paying taxes under the old law, and it is cited that under the new law all lodges should come in for the same consideration. In instituting the movement, however, according to Mr. Fitzgeorge, the lodge does not want to be exempted unless by the letter of the law it is entitled to it. The one object now is to definitely ascertain whether or not the organization is eligible to the exemption and the lodges all over the State are taking up the matter with the various county boards for that reason.

It is expected that a committee from Trenton Lodge, composed of Assistant Prosecutor Charles H. English, Nicholas Snyder and Secretary Fitzgeorge, will meet the Mercer County Board some time this week.

It seems an established fact that the Elk organization is one of the most benevolent in the United States nearly half a million dollars having been donated to charitable institutions during the past year.

There will be no further meeting of the Plainfield Graded Union Sunday-school Teachers until Monday afternoon, January 5.

Elizabeth, Dec. 16.—That Roundsmen Sergeant Herbert Kurtz and Patrolman Kennedy, the heroic members of the Elizabeth police department who were seriously injured by bullets fired by three Newark gunmen Saturday night, will receive full pay while they are confined in the hospital was unanimously decided last night by the Elizabeth Common Council. This was decided following the reading of a communication from Mayor Victor Moravian in which he recommended this action.

CLERGY MAY ASK SWAYZE TO CLOSE JERSEY CITY SALOONS

Jersey City, Dec. 16.—A meeting of the Church Federation of Hudson County will be held today in the Summit Avenue Baptist church, to discuss the Sunday closing of saloons and the opinion expressed by the recent grand jury that the majority of the people do not desire it.

Rev. James Boyd Hunter, pastor of Faith Reformed church and secretary of the federation, said yesterday that the churches had determined to appeal for action to Supreme Court Justice Swayze if the police fail to enforce the Sunday closing laws.

Rev. James Parker, president of the federation and pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, declared the federation would insist not only that Commissioner Hague, director of public safety, cause the arrest of violators of the excise law, but would demand that the grand jury indict those arrested.

The Sunday closing situation was the subject of a number of sermons in Jersey City churches Sunday.

MME. MONTESSORI IN AMERICA; HER UNIQUE EDUCATIONAL IDEA

Method That Makes a Child Direct Its Own Education. Claims Big Results.

Comes From Rome to Note Progress In "Houses of Childhood" Here.

MME. MARIA MONTESSORI of Rome, founder of the Montessori system of education, has arrived in this country to study our systems of education, to see the work done by her own students in different parts of the country and especially to give the people of America who have expressed an interest in her system a broader view of the work.

It is said that there are between sixty-five and seventy teachers in the United States who have studied under her and have received certificates authorizing them to teach her method.

Rhode Island is the only state in this country which has taken up officially the Montessori system of education, and there it is to be introduced into the State Normal school. Miss Clara Craig, supervisor of observation and training schools in Rhode Island, was sent by her state to take a four months' course at the Montessori school, and upon her return the state officially accepted her report advising the adoption of the method of instruction. The only other countries represented at the school with her, she said, were India and England.

First Experiment Here.

The first "house of childhood," as the Montessori schools are called, in the United States was started in 1911 at Tarrytown, N. Y., by Miss Anne E. George, who now has a similar school in Washington. Miss George was Dr. Montessori's first American pupil. This Montessori school is still in operation and is in charge of a former assistant of Miss George.

Superintendent of Schools Maxwell and the New York board of education have also caught the Montessori fever, and a "house of childhood" was recently established in Brooklyn for the purpose of trying out the system.

American educators first had their attention focussed on Dr. Montessori's method of teaching young children by the leading article in McClure's Magazine for May, 1911. It was named "An Educational Wonder Worker," with "The Methods of Maria Montessori" as a subhead, and was written by Miss Josephine Tozier.

Thanks to the publicity given to her educational message, Mme. Montessori's name is better known in America today than that of Froebel and Pestalozzi. Her most enthusiastic supporters contend that she is even greater than these two kindergartners, as they had a metaphysical and philosophical standpoint, while she is primarily a scientist and a psychologist.

Dr. Montessori says that she was the first woman in Rome to take up the study of medicine and that it attracted a great deal of attention and criticism. Finally it was carried to the ears of Pope Leo XIII. He, however, gave his approval, saying he could see no harm in it. She was graduated in 1896 from the College of Medicine in Rome.

Mme. Montessori has brought to the United States motion picture films which will show exactly how the work is carried on in the Houses of Childhood in Rome. After her series of lectures she will return to Rome early in January.

The Montessori Method.

Dr. Montessori hopes to start in Rome a school in which she may take young children and carry them through a term of ten years or more. It will be a laboratory school where the children may be studied carefully and where they will live constantly under the supervision of the instructor. In this school Mme. Montessori hopes to have children of different nationalities. Her method of instruction is so fundamental, she says, that it applies to the children of any nationality.

The children under her supervision now are from two and a half to five years old. "Auto-education" is the basis of her system. She places a child in an environment of which it is the master. The furniture of the room is small. The child is not confined to a desk and follows its own inclination as to position. To insure its physical well being and for plenty of fresh air there are gardens connected with the school.

Even babies are perfectly good if they are treated properly, says Mme. Montessori. "In a hospital in Rome there are in one ward sixty babies, and there is not a sound. If they desire anything they ask for it. They are separated from their mothers, who are poor and ignorant women and would not understand that they must be left tranquil. They are fed every two hours, and when that time comes they make a slight noise with their lips, but they do not cry."

A child, she says, will recognize a ray of light when it is seven days old, and then its psychological life begins.

Guiding Young Mentality.

A passive, not an active guidance of the eagerness of young mentality is Dr. Montessori's principle, as has been indicated. From three years old up the child is irrepressibly anxious to learn. It need never be driven, the streams of its ever active intelligence require only channels to lead it from the things it already touches, sees and hears, to an association with things, names and ideas that make up the stock of knowledge of mankind. Rough and smooth detected in the different surfaces of cards played with; hot and cold [illegible] high and low, thick and thin, round, oval—all abstract ideas gained directly from concrete experiences in games with blocks, cylinders, disks, stones, colors and the familiar furniture of the home lead the expanding mind to the knowledge that may be gained from books. Games of identifying words with their objects lead to reading; counting games to arithmetic.

It was during the vacation of July, 1907, that Montessori considered the instruction of children in reading and writing. She had an inspiration one day when handing out the cards used by the children in distinguishing rough and smooth. That night, with the help of the teachers, she cut out letters in clear, round script. The vowels were of pink and the consonants all of blue. A little strip of white cardboard pasted at the back of each of the letters precisely at the point where a guiding line would be drawn on writing paper enabled the little ones to correct themselves if they were tempted to put the bottom of a [illegible] on a level with the base of an o[illegible]

All children love to scribble, and she placed this passion to good account. She placed paper under one of the tablets with the removable insets of geometric figures, and having first removed the figure from its frame she showed the children how to fill in the figure with a crayon. The children flattered themselves that they had made wonderful circles, ovals and triangles.

The children choose the letters they wish to learn. "I" and "o" are the most popular. When a child brings to the teacher the letter which he takes out of a box, he receives its duplicate in black sandboard on a white card. The little one's finger is then drawn over the letter from the starting point to the finish, while the teacher says "touch it." The name of the letter is then repeated distinctly and slowly.

Teaching the Letters.

The child is encouraged to look well at the letters. Then the lesson pursues its usual course. "Give me an 'i,'" says the teacher; "then give me 'o.'" Then she asks the name first of one of them, then the other. They are not taught the capital letters until they have finished the small ones. Nor do they learn letters according to their regular succession in the alphabet. The child will peer into the various compartments of the letter box, and its lips can be seen to move as it tries to hear with its inward ear the name of the letter desired.

Although the ten fingers are trained by filling in the geometric outlines and their eyes have become accustomed to some, the children do not know what they can write. They have, in fact, learned to write without writing.

The usual interval between the first preparation and the accomplishment of writing is in children of four years a month and a half; in children of five years only a month. After three months most of them write well, and those who have been writing six months are equal in their calligraphy to children of the third elementary class in the public schools.

Would Trade Greenland to Us.

The London Daily Mail's Berlin correspondent says the suggestion has been made that the United States exchange the island of Mindanao, in the Philippines, for Greenland, now belonging to Denmark, and that the latter power then transfer Mindanao to Germany in exchange for Schleswig, which belonged to Denmark up to fifty years ago.

DUTCH ARMS CLUB HEARD ADDRESSES

Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson and A. M. Harris Spoke at Trinity Church.

Speaking before the members of the Dutch Arms Club of Trinity Reformed church at its regular monthly meeting last night, Arthur M. Harris, of this city, described the civic proceedure in the issuance of bonds and outlined the best methods for the conducting of a municipality's financial dealings.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, talked on "A Man's Best Asset," which he classed as "character." He declared that every man's point in life should be to work for the development of a true Christian character.

Four new members were received into the organization last night and a program of musical selections was rendered by the band of forty pieces. Following the business meeting refreshments were served by the social committee.

COLUMBUS CLUB MEMBERS PLAN FOR MASQUERADE

The first masquerade ball to be held in the new Columbus Club auditorium on West Front street is being arranged for New Year's eve and the House Committee, which has charge of the affair is completing arrangements for one of the most elaborate social functions held by the organization's members.

Those who are arranging the masquerade details are T. F. Carty, chairman, C. A. Shannon, Fred Hillman, George Howe, M. J. McCarty, Harry J. Pasch and James Hurley.

PROCTOR'S POPULAR SHOW.

Mme. Mary's Greatest Show on Earth and Mammouth Circuses Combined delighted the hearts of the big and little folks yesterday at Proctor's Theatre. There are fourteen people and twenty-five animals with these great shows and they give a most remarkable performance. The ponies are clever and wonderfully trained. The trick mules are very quick and funny. The clowns are immense. Some are tall and some are short and they all make the laughs come. J. J. Morrison and Co., in the wonderfully acted protean sketch, "The Call of Justice," is one of the best acted playlets that has been here for many moons. Morrison plays six characters and is clever as each. Conroy & Wilson, clever comedians, appear in the comedy nonsensical skit, "The Parcel Post Man," a black and white face oddity. There jokes and songs are up to the minute and they are a sure fire hit. The Three Boyds, in a novelty musical act, are excellent, and the Dancing Christies are remarkable dancers. The photo plays are as great as usual.

PERSONAL.

Joel N. Pennington, of Monroe avenue, has gone to Asbury Park, in the capacity of foreman for the Western Electric Company, which is completing a large contract in that city.

The annual Christmas offering will be taken at the First M. E. church on Sunday for the current expense fund.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Schnieper, of Dunellen.

EVANGELIST TO SPEAK.

L. L. Kendrick, an evangelist, who has spent over fifteen years among the Mountain Whites of Virginia and South Carolina, will deliver an address tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the hall at 118 Liberty street. His subject will be "Salvation—Past Present and Future." He will also lecture at the Rescue Mission on Thursday and Friday night.

WEBER'S SKIT POPULAR.

Harry W. Weber, of Chatham street, has been playing a return engagement in Arthur Flag's Westfield theatre, presenting his "Dr. Bunion" act before capacity houses. The local vaudeville performer appeared there earlier in the season in his musical act and was requested to return.

FOR DEPARTED SISTER.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated by Father Miller in St. Joseph's church, this morning at 10 o'clock, for Sister Mary Antonio, who died Sunday morning of heart disease after a short illness. Interment was made in a cemetery in Jersey City.

VIOLATED AN ORDINANCE.

Arrested last night for hunting within the borough limits, John Schmeyer, was fined $5, when arraigned this morning before Recorder Gano. Halsey Compton, of West Front street, who owns considerable property in the borough, was the complainant.

MILITANT ARSON BUGS.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Liverpool, Dec. 16.—St. Anne's Episcopal church at Aigburth was totally destroyed by an incendiary fire set by suffragettes. A number of suffrage leaflets were found among the ruins.

BAD SIGNS.

That noble member of the priesthood, Bernard M. Bogan, on Sunday was fearless and direct in his denunciation of the evils of modern paganism. The rotten drama, the baneful moving picture show, the licenscious dress of women, the vile fiction story, the bestial dance, and other degrading things came in for condemnation. Others whose office it is to blaze the way for Christian living have said the same thing here but so far as we have observed none has gone so far and has been so pointed in his remarks as the scholarly rector of St. Mary's. Intelligent people are fully acquainted with the conditions of the time of Nero—is this grand free Republic approaching the same situation? Are we approaching another, a modern, period of paganism? If not, what are we coming to?

MR. HOWE TO LEAVE.

In educational circles in Plainfield, Samuel B. Howe, Jr., who has tendered his resignation as a member of the High School faculty, will be missed. He has been one of the best members of the teaching corps and one of the most popular, too. Broad gauged, able and progressive he has won a place among the populace of this community—a community of unusual intelligence—and on behalf of Plainfield the Daily Press expresses its regret over his departure though appreciating the fact that ability deserves its just reward.

USE OF AN ARMORY.

The Elizabeth Journal yesterday told of disgusting scenes at a dance held at the Second Regiment Armory in that city on Saturday night under the auspices of the First Battalion Athletic Association. Characterizing the dances indulged in as highly improper and immoral, a detailed description was given of most immodest dresses and sensual scenes. If half what the Journal says is true, and there is no reason to doubt it, the National Guard authorities should institute a rigid investigation and punish those responsible for the affair.

Each succeeding Saturday, the Daily Press prints a page of real estate news showing the progress of this city. It also prints a contributed editorial written by some distinguished citizen whose opinions are well worth while considering. The fact is that this paper is consecrated to public service not only one day but every day in the week. If you, kind reader, have any suggestion to make as how we can continue to help in the uplift and upbuilding of this ideal suburban community pray tell us. That is our mission and we welcome advice and suggestion.

Do you believe you will fully realize the joys of Christmas unless you are a partner in the Plainfield Community Christmas Fund?

Winston Churchill may depend upon it that many will jump from "Inside the Cup." "Truth is Mighty and Will Prevail."

For the benefit of the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis League, Red Cross Seals are on sale at the Daily Press office.

President Wilson can sit up—Newspaper headline.
And take notice, too.

John W. Westcott is being boomed for attorney-general. Well, that's a harmless diversion.

There are some of us who realize that there is something "Inside the Cup."

Are you doing your Christmas shopping now? If not, why not?

What are you doing for the Community Christmas?

Why don't you "Do It For Plainfield?"

ANOTHER BIG NIGHT BEHIND THE COUNTER

"Country Store" in Proctor's Theatre Swamped by Many Early Shoppers.

A collection of "shoppers" including men, women and children to the number of 2,500 packed every available inch of space in the lobby of Proctor's Theatre and the portion of West Front street in the immediate vicinity of the popular playhouse last night where the second of the "Country Store" nights was scheduled to be held. The old edict of "Shop Early and Avoid the Rush" had little bearing on last night's feature event in the amusement line for some who arrived as early as 6 o'clock were still clamoring for admittance when the clock tolled seven.

The great success of the opening night a week previous brought out a crowd of pleasure seekers that outnumbered by far the inaugural gathering. Seven bluecoats and twice as many employes of the Proctor company were required to hold the mob in check and the best of order was maintained at all times.

Vying with the first night's display of mirth and genuine nerve-racking amusement, the affair last night was thoroughly enjoyed by two capacity audiences and the attendance figures even eclipsed those of the initial try-out. As was the case the previous week, each orchestra and box-seat holder held the stub of one of the tickets in a large basket on the stage and as each slip was drawn from the pile by a blind-folded individual the person possessing the lucky number was ushered to the stage and while posed before the footlights was presented with the award for which he held credentials.

Groceries, furniture, meat (live and prepared), kitchen utensils and sweetmeats constituted the array of prizes behind the "Country Store's Counter" on the Proctor stage last night and every check holder carried away the award for which his pasteboard called and was given a big hand by the mirthful crowd as he strutted through the aisle with his trophy.

Mrs. Jack Horner, of Linden avenue, was the center of attraction last night when she turned in the lucky number calling for a live pig. The lively little porker put up a big fight when Mrs. Horner attempted to carry it away and after considerable trouble the new owner managed to get it off the stage and out into the street. Even when in the fresh air the snorter continued his squealing and kicking and the owner was compelled to send in a hurry call for aid in getting the piggie safely home.

The prize winners:

THEY ALL WANTED TO LEAVE EARLY

Somerset School Pedagogues Are Divided Into Factions Over Petty Matter.

HOW BOARD DECIDES

Why, of Course, It Gets Out of Trouble by Putting All On Same Basis—Supervising Principal Denied Necessary Text Books.

The teachers of the Somerset School are divided into two factions as the result of a dispute arising over the closing time on Friday afternoon, when, after the final sessions, the faculty members can depart for their distant homes to enjoy the Yuletide vacation until Tuesday, January 6, 1914. On one side stand the teachers of the kindergarten and first to six grades, inclusive, whose classes are held both morning and afternoon. The instructors of the seventh and eighth grades and in the high school, where single sessions are held from 8:30 o'clock in the morning until 12:30, applied to the Board of Education last night for permission to leave for their homes directly following this session. They form the opposing force.

Evidently displeased that some teachers should be able to begin their vacation sooner than themselves, the teachers of the first to sixth grades asked for the same favor and protested that if it was not granted to them, the privilege should not be given to the rest of the teachers.

It was stated that if the lower grade teachers were allowed to depart shortly after noon on Friday thus eliminating the afternoon session, that the borough would lose money appropriated by the State on a registration basis.

It was finally decided that because one faction protested a favor being granted to other members of the faculty because it was impossible for themselves to have the same privilege, that all should return to the school following the noon recess on Friday.

The Board, however, granted the request of Miss Grace Williams, of the supply room to leave for home on Friday as soon as her day's duties are completed.

Supervisor Vossler reported to the Board that many new text books should be purchased and he was informed that the account for "supplies and text books" had been exhausted. It was also stated that the "light and power account" was depleted. The finance committee was authorized to make an inventory of the borough school buildings and their contents, to find out the amount of insurance necessary to cover the value of the property if destroyed by fire. Opinion varies on the Board as to the amount of insurance that should be carried on the building, some saying that a policy for a larger amount should be taken out and others asserting that the buildings are at the present time over-insured.

Bills aggregating the following amounts were ordered paid: $4,143.06 charged to general expense; $399.52 charged to manual training expense; $1,025.87 charged to toilet account, and $75 heating and ventilating account. Notes aggregating about $8,000 were ordered drawn for various purposes.

BILL SCHORB LOSES TWO VALUABLE DOGS

William Schorb, of East Front street, has asked the local police to aid him in locating the person or persons who poisoned his two blue-ribbon fox terriers, "Teddy" and "Beauty." The former was found dead in the yard of Mr. Schorb's home last Thursday, and yesterday "Beauty's" lifeless body was discovered in the same manner. Both animals were known to hundreds of people, attracting attention wherever they went. They were valued at $100 each and Mr. Schorb offers a reward of $50 for information leading to the arrest of the miscreants who administered the poison.

OVER 100,000,000 SEALS OF RED CROSS DISRIBUTED

Few people have any idea of the magnitude of the Red Cross Christmas Seal Campaign. This year over 100,000,000 seals have been printed and distributed. If placed end-to-end these seals would extend nearly 2,400 miles, or practically from New York to Salt Lake City. They have been sent to over 25,000 different agents and will be sold and handled by an army of not less than 100,000 volunteers, including men, women and children. Millions of advertising circulars have been scattered throughout the country, and so thoroughly has the advertising campaign been organized that it is doubtful if many people in the more populous States of the country will not have heard of the Red Cross Seal and its mission in the prevention of tuberculosis. It is hoped that at least 50,000,000 seals may be sold this year. The principle upon which the sale of seals is based is that every cent except what little is needed to cover the actual cost of printing and handling shall be spent for tuberculosis work in the community where the seals are sold.

BUSINESS MEN PLAN FOR NEW PROTECTIVE SYSTEM

Members of the Business Men's Credit Association met in their rooms in the Frost building last night to devise some method by which debtors of local business men affiliated with the organization can be brought to account for their delinquency. Numerous accounts owed to local storekeepers and business men generally were discussed and the sentiment expressed at the meeting favored the drawing up of some definite proceedure which will protect the dealers.

There is a system in use at the present time but it is not considered adequate and a new plan will probably be adopted at the next session.

Our Government Are Prepared

The Work of the Army and Navy Institutions.

War Colleges For Emergencies

Plans of Secretary Daniels For a Closer Co-ordination.

THERE are two government institutions which are busily at work planning for any possible contingency at this time and yet about which the public hears little and in general knows little. These institutions are the Naval War college at Newport, R. I., and the United States War college at Washington. These are important aids in many ways to both army and navy.

The Naval War college was the first to be established, and its final success paved the way for a like college for the army. The establishment of the navy college was recommended by a board consisting of Rear Admiral Luce, Commander Sampson and Lieutenant Commander Goodrich. This board was convened in June, 1884, and in the following October the college began its career on Coasters' Harbor island, near Newport. Rear Admiral Luce was the first president, and the first class of eight officers assembled in September, 1887. Another distinguished president of this institution was Captain Mahan, who held the office for several years. The admirable books on sea power by Captain Mahan, which have brought so much honor to him and through him to the service to which he belongs, owe their origin to lectures delivered by him at the war college.

With each succeeding session this school, which, like many other valuable institutions, began in a small way and has attained its present position through steady progress and development, commends itself more definitely to the confidence and support of naval officers.

It is not in any sense a technical establishment. It has no laboratories or workshops, nor does it touch upon the details of professional acquirement and knowledge. These are previously obtained elsewhere—at the Naval academy in the first instance, later at sea in cruising ships, in actual contact with men, guns, torpedoes and machinery, and on shore at navy yards and manufacturing stations.

The officers who form the classes at the war college are therefore by no means novices. They have all had considerable naval service and an experience more or less varied. Some of them have grown gray in the service and have commanded ships, for the classes include captains and commanders as well as lieutenants and ensigns. And the course of the college has the same relation and value for the captain that it has for the ensign. It is not in any sense a post graduate course, merely supplementing, broadening and confirming an education elsewhere commenced. It is the application of both knowledge and experience previously gained to the solution of problems of warfare. To this task the college staff brings its preparation and studies for the benefit of the class, and the class contributes by its investigation, discussion and suggestions to the solution of the questions proposed. Joint effort of this character has been held by no less an authority than Von Moltke to be the most effective and thorough method of teaching in time of peace the art of war.

The Army War college, which is officially known as the War College and Engineer School of Application, was formally dedicated on Nov. 8, 1908. To Elihu Root is given the main credit for the establishment of this institution, because it was due to his interest and energy while secretary of war that this addition was made to the institutions of the government. Congress made an initial appropriation of $1,260,000 for the building and equipment of the college. The college buildings and grounds occupy a point on the Potomac about a mile from the capital city.

In addition to being a place where campaigns are planned and provisions made for the future, the Army War college is also one of the most exclusive educational institutions in the world. It is a culmination of the educational system of the army and is a training school for candidates for the general staff. There officers receive their final training in the duties of higher command. No young lieutenants imbibe at this fount of military wisdom. Only seasoned veterans and those who have proved themselves the brainiest of their fellows are bidden to enter its walls and drink deep of the knowledge that flows there like a perennial spring.

Its students are selected by a process of elimination. All graduates of West Point go to the garrison school and then to the service school as they progress in rank. But none but the brightest go to the War college.

For years the army officers of the college have been working away quietly and without publicity, storing away in vaults and chart rooms maps and plans that may never see the light of day, but which, if needed, may prove of inestimable value. There will be found planned out any future conflict in which the United States may find itself embroiled. There are being planned campaigns which will probably never be executed, campaigns which are but a remote possibility, and yet the plans are necessary, for Uncle Sam is taking no chances.

A CONFERENCE ON THE GROUNDS OF ARMY WAR COLLEGE.

At present one room of the Washington War college contains a large topographical map of Mexico. On this map there are flags of different colors, which represent the different forces now in the field in Mexico. Each day those flags are moved to correspond with the exact position of the armies in the field, and the officers at the War college each day work out plans in the same manner as if they were in the field against the armies that occupy the positions of the flags on the map.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels has in mind a plan to bring about a much closer co-operation between the army and navy colleges. Accompanied by Rear Admiral Victor Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation, he recently visited the Army War college in Washington. It is more than large enough for the uses of the army, and before long a proposal will be forthcoming to move the Naval War college to Washington and to merge its work with that of the Army War college. Progress already has been made in this direction by the assignment to the Naval War college first of marine officers to give information and to supply the keen appreciation of purely army problems and subsequently by the assignment of army officers to the naval course. The mild winter climate of Washington is favorable to this scheme, and the idea is to have the winter sessions of both institutions held at Washington and the summer sessions at Newport. Washington's summer climate is unconducive to effective mental work.

WATCHUNGS ANNEX TWO OUT OF THREE

Belleville Managed to Slip Over the Final Game of the Series Last Night.

Watchung Council bowlers rolled three victories in the Knights of Columbus League with Belleville last night. Good pinning on the part of the team as a whole resulted in a top heavy decision in favor of the Plainfielders in all three.

The Queen Cityites won the second by a slim advantage of five pins. C. Shannon led the attack in the final test and the Belleville quintet was beaten handily.

C. Shannon, of the Plainfield team, set the high score for the evening with a mark of 223 in the final game and Devine was the runner-up for this honor with 199.

is done me and I now ask you to have the record in Washington corrected so that I may have an open road to press on my application. Let me add that I was not at the meeting of the Jefferson Club at which the resolution was passed. I was at a meeting of the Common Council, of which I am a member, and did not inspire this resolution as you would imply. Senator Martine did not feel as though any threat was implied, for he wrote the club a very nice letter acknowledging the same and said he was glad to know that they were interested in the matter. I think you are quite right in feeling resentment at the threat you think was implied. You are quite wrong in your published letter in saying that 'I answer the threat of your communication because you say it represents the organized Democrats of Plainfield.' The telegram sent you says nothing of the kind, directly or indirectly, and your reference is unjust to the Democrats of Plainfield."

FLAINFIELD BILLS COPPED THE TRIO

Rahway Pinners Were Easy for Captain Blatz's Little Ones on Local Alleys.

Plainfield Elk bowlers crawled up a couple of places in the team standing last night by taking a trio of matches from the Rahway antlered pinners on the local alleys by good sized margins in every case.

Captain Blatz did some consistent pinning for the Plainfield crew, while Johnny Campbell set the high score mark of the evening with a 195 in the second contest.

SOMERVILLE LODGE HUNG UP VICTORY

Plainfielders Defeated by Somerset County Societies by Score of 12 to 8.

The return game between teams representing the Somerville and Plainfield lodges of Sons of St. George was played at the baseball grounds, at Somerville, yesterday. The game was remarkable for its prolific crop of goals, 12 in number, Somerville 8, Plainfield 4. The playing pitch was a veritable quigmire, the majority of the players being well covered with mud before the game had progressed very far.

In the first period each side scored three goals, the teams being pretty evenly matched, although Plainfield going off with a rush scored the first two goals. The second portion was an eye-opener for the way in which the Somerville team played, mostly through the machine-like passing of the right wing, Hunt and Lakin, ably assisted by Bolton and Fletcher on the left. They tore down the field like an avalanche, piling on the goals until their total reached eight, Plainfield, through Brockley, who had played an excellent game, scoring once.

The teams were:

Railway Development In South America Making Rapid Strides

THE Roosevelt tour of South America finds the countries of the neighboring continent at an important stage of their development in many ways, most of all perhaps in respect to their systems of communication. The past half dozen years have seen not only the creation of thousands of miles of transportation lines, but, far more significant, the coupling up of incomplete loose ends so as to create a series of trunk lines upon which as an outline will be carried out the circulatory system of the continent's future.

When the first direct train ran through from Buenos Aires to the Paraguayan capital of Asuncion, only a few weeks before the arrival of Colonel Roosevelt, the event marked the termination of years of preliminary effort. A far greater effort was successfully terminated when the through line between Buenos Aires and Valparaiso was opened up in 1910. The transandean tunnel, carrying the line through the great mountain chain that forms the backbone of the continent, required years to bore and was an engineering enterprise of the first moment. Valparaiso was placed in touch with the Atlantic and with the great Argentine capital by a three day trip. Oddly enough, the all rail line between Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro was later to be completed than that over the Andes by a few months. Though construction was far less difficult than that of the most troublesome bits of the transandean, it was costly in the aggregate, owing to much rough surface, and, moreover, the through line cut across the grain, as it were, of earlier local lines, which, far from paralleling the Brazilian coast, ran inward from coast points to tap the inland.

Today it is possible to ride by steam from a point some 200 miles north of Rio de Janeiro down to Buenos Aires, thence west to Valparaiso, and from there 500 miles and more southward along the Chilean coast. The capitals of the five southernmost republics are in regular rail communication.

But this is not to be all. Soon to be completed, the last link of a few score miles in southern Bolivia will ere long open up a through rail route from Buenos Aires to La Paz, the isolated state which was despoiled of its strip of seacoast a generation ago. Bolivia will then have an all rail outlet to the Atlantic, even as she already possesses a river outlet down the Madeira and Amazon, supplemented by the recently completed bit of Brazilian railroad around the falls and rapids of the upper Madeira. Still a little further in the future the line westward from Rio de Janeiro, now halted at Coimbra on the Bolivian border, will be prolonged to the center of that no longer inaccessible country, so as to give it a third eastern outlet.

Greater things yet moreover are to be accomplished. With the completion of some hundreds of miles of projected line the railroad will be continuous from Rio de Janeiro northward to Pernambuco, Brazil's nearest port to Europe. There, in days to come, it is safe to foretell, the South American on his way to Europe will take a swift French packet ship to the African port of Dakar or that of Konakry, the nearest port of Guinea. The projected French Transsaharian line will bear him to a port on the Mediterranean coast, and he will land in Latin Europe after a journey of some nine days from South American soil. The journey will be cut in less than half, and the whole continent will be placed in a relationship with Europe little less close than our own.

Important changes in the relations of the South American countries may well be one of the expectations in the mind of Colonel Roosevelt and play a part in shaping his motives in the present visit. So extensive an upbuilding of communications as is taking place is bound to place the nations occupying that continent into new relations with one another.

It is notable that of all the improvements mentioned few give promise of coming into relations, whether of alliance or of competition, with the lines of communication to be established through the Panama canal.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 41.

A FRIEND of mine inserted not so long ago a little "Lost and Found" ad. in the Classified columns of one of the newspapers in his home city.

The ad. read as follows:

LOST—On Govanstown car, between City Hall and 25th st., a HAND SATCHEL containing Camera. Reward. 427 WHITRIDGE AVE.

Within four hours after the paper came from the presses, the hand satchel was returned to the address given in the advertisement.

Mr. William C. Freeman advertising director of the New York Tribune, had this to say in one of his Advertising Talks:

"Newspapers are the quickest and generally the safest carriers of messages from advertisers to homes everywhere, every day. I admit to partiality in my judgment of newspapers. To my mind they are the greatest power in the world. They print the spoken word almost as soon as it is spoken. They reproduce everything except the human voice, and do it quickly and intelligently."

Well, in the case of the lost hand satchel it certainly did happen that a newspaper carried the message of this loss quickly and intelligently.. And the advertiser got results. Next time YOU lose something, suppose you try a little CLASSIFIED ad. in the columns of this newspaper—one of "the safest carriers of messages from advertisers to homes everywhere, every day."

AND YOU, TOO, WILL GET RESULTS.

INITIAL VICTORY FOR LEAL'S TEAM

Cartaret Academy Outfit no Match for Local Private School Players.

CONTEST A CLOSE ONE

Final Score Was 20 to 13—Good Passing and Poor Shooting Figure Prominently in the Plainfielders' Victory.

Putting up an article of basketball directly the reverse of that exhibited in the two previous contests and showing flashes of real ability at times, the Leal School basketball warriors trimmed the representatives of Carteret Academy by a score of 20 to 13 on the Y. M. C. A. court yesterday afternoon, the game being a close and interesting scoring fight from start to finish. Both teams missed numerous opportunities to cage field goals and the home players appeared woefully weak on seemingly easy tries on a court that was familiar to them as a team.

Close guarding featured the East Orange team's style of play and the local players were continually followed by a "sticking" guards of the rival crew. The visiting goal preventers clung to their men like leeches and the few shots made were of the sensational variety, despite the fact that many easy attempts were tossed to the winds.

The Plainfielders made up in passing for what they lacked in shooting and this feature of their work was the only factor that made a victory possible. Although continually "dogged" by a husky guard little "Peanut" Stewart put up a superb article of the court game for the locals and his passing resulted in the scoring of a majority of the goals. For the winners Captain Dickerson was the main point tallier, getting a trio of each species, while Krom bagged three two point tallies. For the visitors the work of Lane and Marsh was conspicuous.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—With what kind of a bat and ball is the game of Squash tennis played? Is there a court in or near Plainfield?—C. S. L.

SIX-DAY RIDERS GET PRIZE MONEY

Bonuses and Winnings Mount up to About $26,000 for Race at the Garden.

A good round sum was paid to the riders who competed in the international six-day race at Madison Square Garden last week. The riders gathered at the office of Pat Powers, in the Flatiron Building, and received their checks yesterday afternoon, and declared that for the same consideration they would start in riding the race all over again. It is estimated that about $26,000 was paid out in prizes and bonuses. Of this sum $5,200 was paid to the first eight teams to finish.

Alfred Goullet and Joe Fogler, the winners, divided $1,600 between them and received an additional sum of $1,000. Percy Lawrence and Jake Magin, the second team to cross the line, received $1,000 to divide between them.

Eddie Root and Reginald McNamara, who were third to finish, cut $750 in half, while Halstead and Drobach, Verri and Brocco, Hill and Ryan, Mitten and Thomas and Corry and Walker received $600, $500, $300, $250 and $200 respectively.

None of the riders would declare how much money they received as a bonus for competing, but it is generally known that the prizes ranged from $50 to $300 a day. Jackie Clarke, Joe Fogler, the popular Maurice Brocco and Eddie Root received about $250 a day.

Although great crowds witnessed the race this year, the receipts fell below those of last year and 1906, which were the most profitable in the history of six-day cycle racing.

INTERSCHOLASTIC GAME TIME SET

Initial Contest Will Be Played Saturday Night on the Y. M. C. A. Court.

North Plainfield and Plainfield High Schools will play the opening game in the Interscholastic Basketball League on the Y. M. C. A. court next Saturday night, according to an agreement reached between the managers of the Y. M. C. A. and High School teams yesterday afternoon. The interscholastic contest will be preceded by a game between the Y. M. C. A. team and the Concord A. C., of Newark.

Both teams interested in the scholastic game are putting on the finishing touches for the contest, the winning of which will prove a big help in the race for the cup offered for the title, and although North Plainfield rules a favorite, the local schoolboys will probably put up a stiff fight for superior honors.

SPORT INNOVATION FOR AMERICAN COLLEGIANS

Philadelphia, Dec. 16.—An innovation in intercollegiate sport will be introduced this year. The allied sports committee of the University of Pennsylvania has accepted a proposition to enter the University of Pennsylvania cricket team in a tournament against Haverford College and the Universities of McGill and Toronto, both the latter being Canadian institutions.

The winner of this tournament will be proclaimed the international intercollegiate cricket champions of America and probably will make a tour of European countries after the regular season on this side is brought to a close.

THREE GAMES GIVE NEWARK BIG LEAD

Top Liners Captured all Three Games on Own Alleys From Hoboken Bowlers.

With a triple victory on their own alleys over the Hoboken team the Newark bowlers increased their lead last night in the Elks' League. It was decidedly easy for the local pinknights to clean up. They started with a total of 905, turned in 1,009 in the second encounter, and wound up with 902. Fred Clark was there with counts of 223 and 218, and Billy Weingarth rolled 224. Steinbruck had 208 for the visitors. The Newark team has arranged dates for two postponed matches.

It will visit Paterson, Thursday night, to roll a match there with the Silk City team postponed from December 8, and will roll at home against the Elizabeths, Friday night, December 28, in another postponed affair.

MANAGER VANMATER DECIDED TO HAND N. P. H. S. A PLUM

After taking considerable evidence and searching pre-historic records known to be as old as three days, Manager Duclos VanMater, of the North Plainfield High School basketball team, has decided that his team is entitled to a victory over the Rutgers Preparatory School crew that played here Saturday afternoon and in a lengthy epistle issued this morning the manager awards his team the game and all the glory and fault-finding that may go with it.

Van Mater finds no grounds on which the Rutgers' School pilot can have his decision reversed and the statement which resembles in many respects a last will and testament, sets forth all his claims for the victory.

MANY POINTS WENT TO THE OMAHA WARRIORS

Contestants in Indian League Battled for Honors in the Two Standing Jumps.

A big field of contestants turned out for the weekly event in the Y. M. C. A. boys' department Indian League race yesterday afternoon, the programmed number being the two standing broad jumps, a contest always popular with the youthful leaper. When the third trials were run off yesterday it was found that Snyder, of the Wawayanda team, and Jim Brownlee of the Omaha tribe, were tied for first place with fourteen long feet to their credit.

A tie also existed for second place, Doane, of Omaha, and Miller, of Wawayanda, each getting thirteen feet, eight inches. Fullerton, of the Omaha team, was third with thirteen feet, four inches. All of the teams were well represented in yesterday's event and the marks hung up were unusually creditable ones for the class of athletes that competed.

"MAC" SAYS

One might be led to enthuse over the inaugural game in the Interscholastic Basketball League but for memories of the past. During the last couple of years this race has been such a narrow monopoly on the part of two of the entrants that the third contender has not been even recognized.

We are led to suspect, however, that the private school youths will put up a good fight with the Plainfield High School quintet for second honors in the title race this year. North Plainfield High School is flirting with the title and appears to be a pretty good suitor.

If you are inclined to kick upon the price of coal just at the present time stop and think about the scarcity of fuel of the Hot Stove League. Jack Martin could find nothing better to occupy his spare moments during the off season than to place one of his digits in a dog's mouth and the canine immediately proceeded to amputate the end.

Had Martin been a pitcher, we might have been led to worry about his baseball career but as it now stands there is "Much Ado About Nothing." The dog died and Jack is in a fair way to recovery.

Things have become so dull in the sporting world these days that some of us are even showing a passing interest in the cancellation record being run up by the Scotch Plains Parish House quintet. It's great to be an undisputed champion of something, anyway.

Now that the experts have finished their task of picking All-American football teams they will probably turn their attention to selecting an all-star basketball quintet. Should two experts ever select the same men to constitute their all-star casts the sporting world would rise in righteous indignation and accuse them of a "frame-up." Have you noticed how opinion differs in various territories?

Hercules, who once cleaned out a livery stable or garage or something like that, has nothing on one Joe Gavett, according to a few midgets who have opposed the big fellow this season on the Y. M. C. A. court. When placed alongside the normal individual Gavett completely hides the other fellow and in some cases hides the ball also, even to the view of his own players.

Gavett is a successful basketball player aside from the fact that he has a deplorable tendency toward the annexation of points.

Paul Collier was the donor of that Interscholastic Baseball Cup of last year which was won by P. H. S. and North Plainfield High School got back at him by appointing him coach of its basketball team. Yagottahandit to them fellows.

With his salary hovering around the $25,000 mark, Paul will probably be willing to run the whole league as a side issue. If he can do for P. H. S. and Leals what he has done for N. P. H. S. we will have some real basketball this year.

Holy Cross players meet to deal out the earnings of the gridiron season tonight in Scotch Plains. Is there any significance attached to the selection of the meeting place to wind up the season's affairs, Doc?

Wonder if the players will be forced to divide the purse, or if "Doc" Doyle will announce his intention of fulfilling that condition placed upon him by his fellow trouble-makers?

Enter some bugs who are planning to organize a hockey league. Why place a stain on local sportdom?

Field hockey would be more appropriate for Plainfield. Ice is as rare as a day in June at the present time. How can we hope to have ice when there is no water lurking around these parts?

HIT BY AUTO, TEACHER SUES PASSAIC DOCTOR FOR $10,000

Passaic, Dec. 16.—Dr. Ralph J. Vreeland, of Clifton, has been served with papers in a suit for $10,000 damages brought against him by Miss Jessie M. Curie, a teacher in one of the Paterson public schools and a resident of that city.

The suit is the outcome of an accident which occurred in Paterson several weeks ago when Miss Curie was struck by Dr. Vreeland's automobile and badly injured.

Miss Curie had alighted from a car in Broadway and crossed in front of it to reach the other side of the street. Dr. Vreeland was going up the thoroughfare. When Miss Curie's skirts caught in one of the front wheels she was hurled to the gutter. Her head and arms were badly cut and her right ankle was broken.

STATE AID IS ASKED FOR MONUMENT FOR HAMILTON

Jersey City, Dec. 16.—Assemblyman Harry Kuhlke, of Hudson county will introduce a bill in the Legislature this winter providing for an appropriation of $5,000 to aid in the construction on the Palisades of a monument costing $25,000, to Alexander Hamilton. It is proposed by the New Jersey Daughters of the Revolution to erect the monument at the point where Hamilton fought his duel with Aaron Burr. There is now a small bust at the top of the Palisades at Hudson place, Weehawken.

Mrs. John J. Weller, regent of Molly Pitcher Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, yesterday sent to Assemblyman Kuhlke a resolution passed by that organization urging that the Legislature make the appropriation and asking him to introduce the bill.

FARMERS' WEEK TO BEGIN DEC. 26 IN NEW BRUNSWICK

New Brunswick, Dec. 16.—Farmers' week at New Brunswick, beginning December 26 and closing December 31 will, it is expected, be the most important agricultural meeting ever held in New Jersey. The lectures will be given in the audience rooms of Rutgers College on the campus near the railway station. The list of speakers will include Dr. C. G. Hopkins, Illinois soil expert; J. H. Hale, of Connecticut, an expert peach orchardist; Dr. Carl W. Gay, livestock authority of the University of Pennsylvania; Edward Van Alstyne, of New York, an expert in dairy matters; Fred B. Skinner, of New York, and J. C. Graham, of Massachusetts, authorities on poultry, and the New Jersey Experiment Station scientists who will give the results of research in their departments.

Horticultural day will be Friday, December 26, and Saturday will be poultry day. A special program is arranged also for nurserymen on Saturday.

Monday, December 29, will be livestock day. While the series of lectures on livestock subjects is being given there will be lectures in other rooms on farm crops. The annual meeting of the E. B. Voorhees Society will be held Monday.

A special program for prize-winners in county corn contests will begin Monday afternoon and continue until Tuesday noon. Several counties will send groups of young people for these lectures.

Tuesday will be devoted largely to soils and crops. Doctor Hopkins will deliver two lectures.

Wednesday will be co-operation day. The forenoon will be given to three practical and successful experiences in co-operation. In the afternoon it is hoped that thousands of New Jersey farmers will meet representatives of the railroads in a conference on shipping farm products to market. General Freight Agent Ogden, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and third Vice-President Koons, of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, will speak, and the farmers in attendance will be urged to take part in the conference.

The location of the lecture rooms on the college campus near the railway station, trolley station, hotels and boarding houses will, it is explained, insure personal comfort to all visitors.

TO INTENDING BUYERS OF CHRISTMAS JEWELRY

There are three kinds of Christmas jewelry stores.

I.

The old-time exclusive store, with its fine, extravagant stocks, courtly manners and unnecessarily high cost of doing business—a place of traditions—a store mainly for the extremely wealthy and their followers.

II.

The pop-up-over-night jewelry counters in some stores, where quality and selection are often sacrificed to price—a temporary bazaar, without traditions, without manners, without competent service, without much reliability—a shopping place for the thoughtless.

III.

THE WANAMAKER JEWELRY STORE

A careful, reliable, dignified, all the year round jewelry store that has grown slowly but surely, until today it takes its rank with the old-time exclusive jewelry stores, except in these two particulars—

No Extravagant Pieces
No Extravagant Prices

A highly-specialized Jewelry Store, with complete collections of all classes of high grade jewelry, precious stones, watches, clocks, silverware and novelties, all progressively priced, from the inexpensive reliable article up to the intrinsically and artistically fine—priced at fair and reasonable figures, because the Jewelry Store here shares in all the economies of this general co-operative, concentrated business.

A store for people of culture, for people of taste, for people of discernment and fine feeling—for people who love the fine, the beautiful, the exquisite, but who cannot or do not wish to be extravagant with their means.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the elminative tissues clog and the result is kidney troubles, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

Economical Bacon.

Bacon could be made an economical asset to our daily diet, if we would have it. To be sure, it is not especially cheap. It is extravagant when it is cooked as many cook it—carelessly, so that half of it is burned to a crisp and has to be thrown away. And it is unpalatable and unhealthful when it is soggily fried. But is is appetizing and palatable when it is properly cooked, and if it is carefully cooked and carefully cut there is little waste and so no undue expense connected with it.

How To Cut and Cook It.

To begin with, always order and see that you get lean bacon. There is much less waste to this. Buy it by the pound, uncut. This way of buying it is cheaper. Then cut it, with a very sharp knife. Place the rind side flat on a board and cut in thin strips to the rind. When the needed number of slices have been cut, cut off the rind with the same sharp knife, by holding the strips securely with the left hand and cutting under them along the rind with a knife in the right hand.

There are many ways of combining bacon with other foods that make it economical. One is to cook it with cabbage in this way: Soak the cabbage in cold water and then cut it in quarters. Remove the hard core. Boil the rest of the cabbage without breaking it for half an hour. Boil a pound of bacon, in a solid piece, for half an hour. Then drain both the bacon and the cabbage and boil them together in fresh water for half an hour. Serve together, like corned beef and cabbage.

Bacon and macaroni make a nourishing dish. Simmer two ounces of macaroni, broken in short lengths, in two cupfuls of well seasoned stock for about an hour, or until the macaroni is tender. Boil two ounces of lean bacon cut into small squares until it is tender and drain it. Drain the tender macaroni and mix it with the bacon. Season well with salt and pepper and serve very hot.

Bacon biscuit are a true economy. Make a good biscuit dough. Broil or fry bacon until it is just crisp and chop it in small pieces. Add it to the biscuit dough and form the biscuit. Bake them brown and serve hot. The bacon takes the place of butter and thereby proves its worth.

Bacon fat—the fat that escapes from the bacon during frying—is useful for many things. It should be carefully strained and kept in a dish by itself. It can be used to fry sweet potatoes or white potatoes in or for any recipe that calls for drippings. If you do not object to fried food on principle, you can make a very good and very inexpensive breakfast dish by frying strips of bread in bacon fat, garnishing them with parsley and serving them very hot.

Some Cookery Suggestions

TARTS AND TURNOVERS.

INDIVIDUAL tarts or turnovers make charming surprises for the children's Christmas dinner. Any fruit may be used. The tarts may be covered with a crust like an ordinary pie, crossed strips of puff paste or finished off with meringue.

Tempting Turnovers.

Lemon Turnovers.—Mix together a cupful of sugar, half a tablespoonful of butter, the yolks of two eggs, the juice and grated rind of a lemon. Stir in a large cupful of hot milk and set aside to cool. Then add the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Make flaky pie crust and bake in muffin pans.

Jelly Tarts.—Make good puff paste and cut into four-inch squares. Fold the four corners of each square toward the center, not pressing flat or even allowing them to meet. The cases should be filled with uncooked rice and baked in a sharp oven for ten minutes. When cold, shake out the rice and fill with jelly, ornament with a little sugar icing. Decorate each with a spray of holly.

Jam Turnovers.—Take two pounds of flour, a half pound of ground blanched almonds, a pound each of sugar and butter, milk and apple jam as required. Mix together the flour, ground almonds, sugar and butter. Stir in milk to make a soft dough and knead well. Roll into a thin sheet and cut into two and one-half inch squares. Spread a layer of apple jam on one half of each square, turn the other half over it, pinch the edges together and prick a hole in the top of each, dust with sugar and bake in buttered tins.

Fruit Tarts.

Orange Tarts.—Line pattypans with puff paste, fill them with uncooked rice and bake to a pale brown. The filling for the tarts should be prepared before it is to be used. To make it place a handful of loaf sugar in a saucepan and add a gill of water. When it boils up add the rind of three oranges, peeled very thin and cut into narrow strips. Let all boil for five minutes, add a tablespoonful of sherry or grape juice. Peel six oranges, divide them into quarters. Pour the boiling sirup over and leave till cold. The tartlets should be filled with this fruit just before serving and have white sugar sifted over them.

Pineapple Tarts.—Take the yolks of two eggs, beat them and add one-third cupful of sugar, the juice and grated rind of half a lemon, a dash of salt and one cupful of grated pineapple. Turn into small pans lined with paste and bake in a moderate oven. When cool cover with the whites of the eggs beaten until stiff and sweetened with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Return to the oven to brown. Serve cold.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

An extremely dainty one piece night gown is shown in No. 7267. The design is simple enough to be made in an hour.

One of the most practical materials for lingerie is the washable cotton crape, which has come into favor for so many things during the past season. This crape requires no ironing—in fact, would be spoiled by ironing. It washes easily and wears better than nainsook or thin lawn. Quite an attractive fad just now is to have one's lingerie in some delicate shade—pink, blue or lavender. This crape comes in all of these shades as well as in white.

With a material such as this, which is apt to pull when being stitched, an excellent way of finishing the seams is to bind with a narrow bias strip of thin muslin. It saves time, stitch it in with the seam on one side, then fold it over and run a second line of stitching along the outer edge.

Size 36 in this gown may be made with 3½ yards of 40 inch material.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes, 32 to 44.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and inclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Shy Little Doodle Bugs And the Ants.

The Doodle Bugs Went to the Ants' Party.

"DADDY," said Evelyn in a pleading tone, "tell us a story about some new bug."

"Well," answered daddy, "how about the spider?"

"Oh, dear, no," laughed the children together; "we know all about spiders."

Daddy smiled and said, "I'm sure now that you've never heard about the doodle bugs, for they are very shy bugs, and very few people ever see them."

"Do tell us about them!" said Evelyn. "I've never even heard of a doodle bug."

"The doodle bug," continued daddy, "is a little gray bug with sharp, beady black eyes. He is so gray that his back almost looks fuzzy. The doodle bugs always have their homes in the ground—usually in as sandy a place as they can find. I suppose they have their homes in the ground because they are afraid that the storms may blow over their homes or that people might walk over them as they do over the homes of the ants.

"The doodle bugs like to be alone most of the time; neither do they like to come out of their homes, for they're so used to the underground world that the light above hurts their eyes.

"Sometimes, however, the little ants give a party and invite the doodle bugs to it. Now, the ants are the only playmates the doodle bugs ever care for, but the ants have to beg hard before the doodle bugs will come out of their holes, and they always have to call, 'Doodle bug, doodle bug, come out of your hole!' The doodle bugs were so frightened, though, at the ants' parties that they decided they'd give up ever going out of their holes. They thought the ants were very reckless to play out of doors, where any moment they might be trodden over, but the ants were brave and didn't think of such things happening, and, besides, they liked the fresh air. They were very fond of the doodle bugs and enjoyed playing with them.

"So, again, they tried to get the doodle bugs to play with them, but the doodle bugs would not budge from their hole. The doodle bugs' mother called out that all the little doodle bugs were sick from having eaten so much at the last party of the ants and could not possibly go.

"The ants didn't like it at all that the doodle bugs wouldn't play with them, so they thought up a way to trick them.

"They called, 'Doodle bugs, doodle bugs, come out of your hole! Your house is on fire, your chimneys will fall, and your children will burn!' So out scampered all the doodle bugs as fast as they could, to the huge amusement of the ants."

Rose Design In Cross-Stitch.

Cross-stitch is very effective when developed in colors with heavy rope silk, mercerized cotton or wool.

These rose corners each five and three-quarter inches square are suitable for embroidering table-covers, runners, sofa-pillows, bags and centerpieces. They may be worked in two or three shades of one color, as blue or brown, or they may be carried out in several colors, using three shades of pink or yellow for the roses, two shades of green for the leaves and brown for the stems.

Cross-stitch, which is simple and easy to work, is done by taking two stitches of even length crossing each other. The work should first all be gone over in one direction then cross each stitch in the opposite direction to give the same appearance on the wrong side as on the right.

Patern number 14452 contains four corners and will be supplied to readers for 15 cents.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Adv.

Holy Cross Decides to Retain Handle at Final Meeting Held Last Night.

DOYLE MANAGER AGAIN

Popular Leader Unanimously Elected to Fill Position He Has So Successfully Held For the Past Two Years—Social Time Followed.

Forty members and friends of the Holy Cross football club gathered at the home of "Billy" Lee, in Scotch Plains, last night, as a grand finale to a most successful season on the gridiron and heard the final reports for the season of competition. Previous to a social hour which had been arranged for by the management of the club, the members of the team met with Manager "Doc" Doyle to complete the business for the year and dispose of a few outstanding matters that remained after the playing of the final game. Manager Doyle in his reports stated that the team had won eight out of the eleven games played and the averages of the team in every department outclassed the totals credited to the rival aggregations preceptibly.

"Doc" Doyle was reelected manager for another year. Under his direction the team has had two successful seasons of gridiron work and the prominence which the team has gained throughout the state reflects with credit on his ability and is largely due to his work as pilot.

A big balance was turned over to the club by the retiring manager and will be used in the purchase of new paraphenalia for next season. The players will be provided with coat sweaters and other equipment for their efforts during the year just closed.

Despite rumors to the contrary, the same name will be retained next season and the games will be booked as heretofore on the North Plainfield playing field. Although several of the members of the team agitated the change in name the consensus of opinion favored the retention of the title "Holy Cross" and the club will sport the same colors and same handle next season.

The team has been playing under the name of Holy Cross for the past six years and the management has made every effort possible to eliminate any cause for confliction with the Holy Cross choir boys' team which sports the same title. The members thought that their efforts and playing which have been the cause for establishing this name as a slogan throughout the State for a representative Plainfield team should be respected to the extent of the retainment of the name which they now use.

CORIELL IS MASTER OF JERUSALEM LODGE

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M., at a regular communication last night, elected these officers for the coming year: Worship master, William McDowell Coriell; senior warden, Fred Soper; junior warden, Samuel Hollingsworth; secretary, Clarence Goss; treasurer, Robert Kenney; trustees, L. B. Woolston and Robert A. Meeker; representative to Masonic Hall Association, William G. Hutchcroft.

After the election a banquet was enjoyed by the members. The installation will take place Tuesday night, January 6, at which time the worshipful master will announce a list of the appointive officers.

CHANCE FOR FREE CRULLERS.

A free demonstration of Priscilla Prepared Cruller Flour is being held all this week at the store of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, under the direction of Mrs. Mead. This flour is said to be one of the finest for the purpose that has ever been offered the local market, and Manager Vanderhoef extends an invitation to all who are interested to drop into the store and try the delicious crullers which are being made continuously.

DUNELLENITES WILL PRESENT PLAYLET

Other Activities in Borough M. E. Church—Christmas Entertainment to be Held.

Meeting last night in the Dunellen M. E. church, the members of the Sunday-school accorded a welcome to the recently elected officers and made final arrangements for the staging of the comedy playet, "Uncle Ephriam's Summer Boarders," which will be presented tomorrow and Friday nights in that edifice. The pastor, Rev. Dr. William A. Knox announced that on Sunday exercises appropriate to Christmas will be held at both the morning and evening services. The Christmas entertainment for the Sunday-school will be held Friday, December 26, and the committee in charge is arranging an elaborate program for the occasion.

Many tickets have been sold for the initial performance tomorrow night of "Uncle Ephriam's Summer Boarders." Over twenty-seven members of the Sunday-school will be in the cast, and the principal parts will be taken by the Misses Lulu Adams, Lillian Kennedy, Ethel Lindsey and Jessie Stites; William Markle, A. F. Naugle, Berle Stites, Ruliffe Fisher and Howard Van Fleet.

The officers of the Sunday-school, who were elected last Sunday, are: Superintendent, R. J. Stites; assistant superintendent, T. T. Schenck; secretary, A. G. Naugle; treasurer, P. M. Apgar, and librarian, Leroy F. Smith.

DETECTIVE TELLS CONCERN ITS STORE WAS LOOTED

Ignorant that their store had been entered Sunday afternoon, Messrs. DeMeza & Blimm, East Front street haberdashers, received a surprise when Detective-Sergeant John J. Flynn told them yesterday afternoon that he had caught the thief and that a majority of the stolen goods had been recovered.

Edward Irby, colored, 14 years old, of 224 West Fourth street, was arrested by Flynn on Sunday on a charge of truancy. While making a tour of West Fourth street for the incorrigible colored lad, the detective learned of the looting of the store. He got his information from eight-year-old Clarence Biggs, of North avenue, who said he saw Irby break into the rear of the store and take three pairs of gloves, twenty shirts and four sweaters from the establishment. He also helped Flynn trace the stolen goods, all of which has been recovered but one grey sweater.

Irby is being held at headquarters for a hearing tomorrow morning. It is not improbable that he will be sent to a reformatory as he has been arrested several times before and has caused the police of the city considerable trouble.

Young Biggs said to the Judge this morning, "I saw Irby break into the place and told him that he was stealing and breaking the law and that he would be arrested, but he only laughed at me."

MISS BLAUVELT TALKS ON ITALIAN MISSIONS

Mss Bessie Blauvelt, a worker in Rev. Dr. Edward Judson's Memorial Baptist church, New York, and who is associated with Miss Grace Deland in the work among the Italians of New York, addressed the Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon. She asserted that the Italians have no church, declaring that they are not Roman Catholics, and are subject to the influence of the Christian church

Miss Blauvelt said that there are both English and Italian classes at Dr. Judson's church, and the Italians are very anxious to learn English. The church is located in that part of New York where there is a large foreign population and Miss Blauvelt said that the work among these people is most encouraging. Mrs. B. J. Shreve led the devotions and Mrs. Reuben Knox, president of the society, presided.

The chapter has also arranged to give a Martha Washington Ball at the Middlebrook Country Club early in February, to which a large number of people will receive invitations. The chapter now numbers eighty-five and is constantly growing. Thirty-five members attended yesterday's meeting and joined in the general discussion of chapter affairs.

TURKISH EMPIRE THEME OF SCOTT'S DISCOURSE

Before a large gathering of members of the Men's Club of Hope Chapel, last night, George T. Scott, of New York city, who returned recently from a three years' stay in Turkey, spoke on "The Turkish Empire," illustrating his discourse with views he photographed while in that country. The speaker's account of the Balkan War was exceptionally interesting and his description of the country was novel and instructive.

After reviewing the war, Mr. Scott told of the diplomatic relations existing at the present time and of the claims of Greece, Bulgaria, Servia, Montenegro and other small domains allied against the Turks. He also explained the motive which prompted the large powers of Europe to intervene. Concluding his address, the speaker turned to more peaceful topics and told of the characteristics of the country, its enterprise and position in the business world. He also touched slightly on the ancient history of the empire.

Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's R. C. church, delivered the eulogy at the funeral service of Rev. Maurice P. O'Connor, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, Harrison, which was held at that place, yesterday. The address which was given at the conclusion of the mass moved scores in the church to tears. Father Bogan served as a curate under the dead priest. In his discourse, Father Bogan paid a tribute to the work accomplished by Father O'Connor.

More than 2,000 people filled the edifice which Father O'Connor had built and loved so dearly and outside all during the sacred ceremonies about 5,000 people stood with heads bared and minds dwelling upon the life of the friend and spiritual advisor who had departed.

EIGHT DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

DEC. 17

Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! Don't Put Off Your Christmas Shopping Another Day.

"ROASTS" FOR MANY BORO SCHOOL PUPILS

Fifty-eight N. P. H. S. Students Will Face the Music and Hear Their Faults.

The North Plainfield High School senior class will hold its annual Christmas entertainment tomorrow evening in Saengerbund Hall. The performance takes the form of a one-act sketch entitled, "The Triumph of Pauline," and the giving of the "knocks" to each member of the junior and senior class.

Fifty-eight pupils will be hit hard at that time, this being the largest number ever knocked at one time. The sketch is under the direction of Miss Helen Ray. The admission will be by complimentary ticket only and the Alumni may secure them by applying at the office of Superintendent Vossler. After the entertainment there will be dancing until midnight.

Y. W. C. A. SCHEDULE OF MUCH INTEREST

Entertainments as Arranged for the Benefit of the Members.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. are to have a treat when Mrs. Lowry will read Christmas stories to them on Friday evening around the open fire. The members of the association are invited to come, bringing their sewing and the gifts they are making for Christmas. Mrs. Lowry's delightful readings last year endeared her to the hearts of the association members, and many will want once more to hear her as she reads the Christmas stories.

On Friday night the members whose birthdays fall in November and December will have their birthday supper.

On Tuesday the Sigma Gamma Kappa will have a Christmas party in the association parlors.

The Christmas party for all senior members of the association will be held on Monday, December 29, and a short play is being prepared for the entertainment of the evening. Admission will be by membership ticket only. There will be a Christmas tree, for which each one is aked to bring a small gift, not to exceed ten cents in value, and these gifts will be distributed by a jolly Santa Claus.

The junior members of the association will have their Christmas jollification on Tuesday, December 30, from 3 to 5 in the afternoon.

Suppers are being served every evening from 5 to 7 o'clock, for the convenience of those employed evenings. These suppers will be continued until Christmas.

The last in the homemaker's series of lectures will be given Thursday evening, when Miss Rheese, physical director at Teachers' College, N. Y., will speak on "Health in the Home." To this lecture all of the members of the association gymnastium classes are invited. To others, single admission will be 25 cents. Miss Rheese deserves a large and enthusiastic audience.

The library of the association is in process of re-cataloguing, and new books are to be added.

SAVINGS FUND PROVES A BOON TO BUSINESS

Out of the $90,000 paid out this week by The Plainfield Trust Company in connection with the Christmas Saving Club plan, more than $6,000 went directly toward paying taxes. Tax Collector William R. Townsend, in speaking of the matter today, said that a large part of the $6,000 was received by him on Monday, indicating that the people who had made such provision for their savings had gone straight from the banking institution to the tax office.

The merchants throughout the city have also been feeling the benefits of the large amount of money paid out at The Trust Company, trade being stimulated accordingly. In many cases persons waited to draw their savings before making Christmas purchases.

CRUELTY TO HORSE.

William Tyler, colored, of 550 West Second street, who was arrested Monday, charged with being cruel to his horse, will be arraigned next Wednesday morning before City Judge DeMeza. Mrs. Stephen G. Van Hoesen, local agent of the S. P. C. A., is the complainant.

4 PER CENT. PLAN ONE HUGE SUCCESS

Bonds Offered by State Trust Company Are Eagerly Sought.

The opportunity offered by The State Trust Company to put aside a portion of one's income systematically by subscribing to the company's four per cent saving plan, is meeting with a generous response from the the public of Plainfield and nearby towns. Already a large portion of the current issue of these four per cent bonds has been subscribed for, and at the present rate, this issue will have been entirely absorbed befor January 1, the date of closing.

The number of monthly payments prescribed is thirty-eight, but the company states that if one desires to make only twelve monthly payments, this may be done, and at the end of the year all that has been paid in may be withdrawn together with four per cent interest. Eighty per cent of the amount paid may be borrowed at any time, so that if the depositor requires a little money for temporary use, it may be readily obtained, or, if the unexpected happens and it becomes necessary to use the accumulated fund, the plan provides that all the money paid in may be withdrawn.

A saving system of this character cannot be too highly commended, as it indicates habits of thrift in everyone who participates, and the self-denial that systematic saving involves, must have the effect of making men, women and children alike more self-reliant and better citizens as a result of the knowledge that they have a bank account and are not spending everything as they go.

Especially is this true in these days of extravagant living, when people are not only spending their entire income when they receive it, but, in many cases, before they receive it.

This plan is recommended to everyone who desires to prepare himself for the inevitable rainy day.

TICKETS NOW ON SALE FOR "COUNTRY STORE" SHOWS

Owing to the great demand for admission tickets for the "Country Store" in Proctor's theatres, Monday and Thursday nights, the management announces that tickets may be purchased at any time for the feature events.

Tickets are now on sale for the performance planned for tomorrow night and it is hoped that this preliminary sale will eliminate any confusion at the box office.

PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N HEARS MUSICAL PROGRAM

A social meeting of the Lincoln School Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school last night where a musical program was rendered by the pupils of the fourth and fifth grades.

Christmas songs and recitations by the boys and girls of these two divisions featured the evening's program. Miss Chadbourne read a Christmas story. A vocal solo was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. McKay. Following the social program refreshments were served by the members of the social committee of the association.

REV. DR. F. A. APGAR TO GIVE HOME MISSION TALK

An interesting service will be held tonight at the First Baptist church. Rev. Dr. F. A. Apgar, of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, one of the speakers at the recent United Missionary campaign held in this city, will speak on the "Pathos, Heroism and Humor of Home Missions." As Dr. Apgar has had wide experience both in the field and in the office and as he is a very interesting speaker the service will be most inspiring and enjoyable every way. Friends of the First Baptist church equally with those who are members are invited to attend.

LOCAL SOCIETY EVENTS PLANNED

Some Dances and Receptions to Take Place During the Holiday Season.

FUNCTIONS ARRANGED

Festivities at Private Homes and at Public Places to Be Held Before the New Year in the City and in the Borough.

Coincident with the festivities of the holiday season, Plainfield society will be unusually busy, a number of receptions, dances and other forms of entertainment being planned both in the city and borough. One of the early social functions will be a dance at The Seminary to be given by the junior and senior classes. This will take the place of the regular Seminary Christmas dance. Those who have issued invitations to the affair are Miss Dorothy Langford, chairman; Miss Dorothy MacClymont, Miss Theresa Sharretts, Miss Katharine Lee and Miss Margaret Eaton. A feature will be the music to be furnished by Van Eps Brothers, of this city.

Another dance of interest will be given at the Park Club, on Saturday evening, being one of the twice-a-month social affairs planned for the winter months. Mrs. George L. Babcock is the chairman of the committee in charge of the dance and Van Eps Brothers will play.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Gough, of Franklin place, have issued invitations to a dance to be given at the Park Club on Monday evening, December 22, the guests being from the city and borough, as well as out-of-town. The music will be furnished by Van Eps Brothers.

Still another interesting event of the holiday season will be a dance for children to be given at the Park Club, Friday afternoon, December 26, from 3 to 6, by Mrs. S. S. Carvalho, of West Eighth street. Several pleasing holiday features will be introduced.

Mrs. A. A. Tilney, of 966 Central avenue, has issued invitations for a reception to be given at her home, Monday afternoon, December 29, from 3 to 6 o'clock, while Miss E. H. Phillips, of Kensington avenue, will give a dance at the Park Club that evening, at both of which there will be music by Van Eps Brothers.

Instead of the annual Christmas lance which is usually held at the Hartridge Auditorium by the younger society set, it has been arranged to hold a masquerade dance on New Year's eve at the Park Club. J. Hartley Mellick is chairman of the committee of arrangements and it is expected that the affair will be largely attended.

FATHER BOGAN GUEST AT DEAN CODY DINNER

Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, of St. Mary's R. C. church, was among the guests who attended the dinner given to Very Rev. Patrick Cody, dean of the Roman Catholic diocese of Newark, and rector of the parish of St. James, at the parish hall, last night, marking the fiftieth year of the latter's pastorate. There were more than 250 guests and in the numbers were included many who are prominent in city and county affairs of Essex.

Mayor Haussling, of Newark, was one of the principal speakers, and he paid a glowing tribute to the life, character and work of Dean Cody, in fact the burden of every speech was his devotion to his parish and the position St. James' has attained among the Catholis parishes of Newark and the State.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT FOR CHILDREN OF CITY

The College Club has planned for the children of Plainfield an entertainment appropriate to the holiday season, to be given at the Plainfield theatre at 3:15 o'clock on Friday afternoon. The program will consist of conjuring fests by a professional magician and of two short plays in which members of the club will take part. These plays are adaptations from the old fairy story, "The Sleeping Beauty" and from the well known poem, "The Night Before Christmas." Those taking part will be the Misses Margaret Townsend, Helen Joy, Helen Besler, Margaret McCutchen, Evelyn Wells, Ellen Burke, Frederica Mead, Harriett Moodey, Ray Harris, Blanche Buttfield, Margaret Buttfield and Stella Butler.

The proceeds of the entertainment will go to the club's found to help girls to secure a college education.

Messrs. A. E. Force & Co.,
Plainfield, N. J.:

Gentlemen:

Your inquiry as to how I would get through if I should get into a big snow storm, I just want to say that my team of reindeers are the best anywhere and we always manage to get through. Except last Christmas, you remember the big snow storm we had and of course it kept me busy. After I was all through but one place it was early dawn and the boys and girls were peeping out of their beds and a little disappointed because I hadn't been there, but just then I came and certainly fixed up that tree in short order. And what do you think they made me stay all day and for the first time I had a Christmas party. This year I am going to have another party and it may be in Plainfield. There the telephone rings—yes, 2349, that's my number. Good bye.

Yours,

VOTES TO BUY FIRE ENGINE, COUNCILMAN-ELECT QUITS

New Brunswick, Dec. 17.—Because of the action of the Borough Council of Highland Park in voting to purchase an American La France automobile fire engine at a cost of $8,500, Edward A. Waldron, a Democratic councilman-elect, who would have taken his seat January 1, has placed his resignation on file with Borough Clerk James A. Earle.

Mr. Waldron appeared before the Borough Council at the meeting the award was made over the veto of Mayor Lorenz Volkert and urged that a standpipe be erected before the fire engine question was voted upon. At a fire in a small one-story frame dwelling Saturday night the firemen could not save the structure because of lack of water pressure.

JERSEY CITY MUNICIPAL TREE PLAN ABOUT COMPLETE

Jersey City, Dec. 17.—Final arrangements for the municipal Christmas tree to be erected in front of the City Hall were completed at a meeting of the Jersey City Women's Club called by the president, Mrs. Mary Currie Laterman, for yesterday afternoon. The cost of the tree is being borne by popular subscription. The first illumination of the tree will be on Christmas eve. More than 400 lights will be used.

The Schubert Glee Club, choirs from many of the churches and unattached volunteer singers will sing during the evening, and instrumental music will be furnished by the Jersey City Police Band. Motion pictures will be thrown upon an immense screen in front of the city hall.

The tree will be illuminated a second time and the concerts repeated on the evening of December 27, and the program will be again gone through on New Year's eve.

"DELIVERS WOMAN'S BODY" BY CARRYING HER IN ARMS

Elizabeth, Dec. 17.—Desiring to be released as her bondsman, but determined that no legal technicality should hold him responsible, John Watson carried Mrs. Emma Stansbury bodily into the courthouse Monday afternoon and delivered her to Warden Dodd.

Watson drove in a carriage to the home of Mrs. Stansbury, 1,162 Washington avenue, which had previously been raided as a disorderly house, bundled her into a carriage, had her driven to the courthouse, and then taking the woman in his arms, carried her across the walk, up the steps and into the warden's room.

"I don't want to continue as this woman's bondsman," Watson explained, "and I understand that to be released I must deliver her body. Here it is."

The warden told him he had carried out the law to the letter. Mrs. Stansbury made no demurrer to being carried in Watson's arms.

GAY TIMES TO BEGIN AT NATIONAL CAPITOL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—Everything in and around the White House has been put in the best possible order for the opening of the first social season under the Wilson administration. The season promises to be a brilliant and interesting one, despite the fact that the President has decided to omit the annual New Year reception, which from time immemorial has been the big social event of the winter in the national capital.

The opening event will be the Cabinet dinner tomorrow evening, and the season will close with the Army and Navy reception on February 15. During the intervening time there will be a round of diplomatic receptions, diplomatic dinners, judiciary receptions, the usual Supreme Court dinner, the Congressional reception, and a dinner to the Speaker of the House, all to be given on Thursday evenings. These will be interspersed with numerous less formal affairs of a social nature to which the intimate friends of the President's family will be invited.

THE CARABAO INCIDENT.

While it expresses emphatic disapproval of the absurd antics featuring dinners of the kind, the New York Times takes the view that President Wilson should have avoided so much notoriety to the Carabao club's program. That great newspaper believes that instead of ordering Cabinet members to take action, it would have been better had he quietly let it be known to the club that its tomfoolery was offensive to the administration and should not be repeated. The Times, it thus appears, loses the real point of the matter. The President undoubtedly desired to let the people in the Philippines, especially the Filipinos themselves, know that the insult to them, though only a vulgar joke, did not meet with the approval of the President and his administration. He did not wish them to think that it was a case where "many a true word is spoken in jest."

To command the respect of our wards in the insular possession we must respect them and it was highly disrespectful for military and naval officers of the United States government to gleefully sing such a coarse and brutal song as "Damn, Damn, Damn the Insurrectos." The President took the only proper course when he administered a public rebuke by resigning from honorary membership in the Carabao and ordering the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy to investigate and recommend such action to be taken as might be deemed best.

COLLINS ACTS PROMPTLY.

No time has been lost by General Collins in ordering an investigation of the alleged immoral scenes at a dance given at the Second Regiment armory in Elizabeth on Saturday. This duty he has delegated to Major Martin, who may be depended upon to sift the thing to the bottom and make a trustworthy and satisfactory report. As General Collins says the alleged disgraceful actions of the participants at the dance not only reflects on the National Guard but on the State itself.

The estate of the late Mr. Gahagan, who died February 10, this year, was valued at $75,000. Judge Connolly sustained a caveat to the will and this forms the basis for the appeal. Mr. Herrimann impressed the court for some time with his logic, after which decision was reserved.

NO REBATE FOR AMERICAN SHIPS

Tariff Discount Is Declared Void by McReynolds.

VIOLATION OF TREATIES.

Attorney General, In Opinion Sent to Secretary McAdoo, Holds That 5 Per Cent Duty Clause In Tariff Law Is Inoperative by Its Own Terms—Legal Test Probable.

The provision of the new tariff law authorizing a discount of 5 per cent on all goods imported in American vessels is made null and void by its own terms, qualifying its application. The qualifying language is that "nothing in this subsection shall be so construed as to abrogate or in any manner impair or affect the provisions of any treaty concluded between the United States and any other foreign nation." This is the opinion of Attorney General McReynolds, submitted in response to the inquiry of Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department and just made public in Washington by Mr. McAdoo.

At the same time Secretary McAdoo announced that in accordance with it collectors of customs would be directed to continue to disregard the subsection, as they were instructed to do Oct. 8. Entries held up pending the decision now will be liquidated, leaving importers who desire to insist upon getting the 5 per cent discount to protest, with the right of finally carrying the question to the court of customs appeals.

Ends Protracted Discussion.

This ends, for the present at least, the protracted discussion over the proposed differential duty provision, the subject of much debate in congress while the tariff was under consideration. The attorney general gave his opinion to Secretary McAdoo ten days ago, but it was withheld to allow consideration by the treasury officials.

Mr. McReynolds held:

"That the 5 per centum discount to American vessels only, which was the primary object of the subsection in question, cannot be given without impairing the stipulation of existing treaties between the United States and various other powers and that consequently the subsection by the expressed terms of the proviso is inoperative."

Twenty-three nations have treaties with the United States under which they claimed their ships had a right to the differential in common with American ships. These included Great Britain, Germany, France, Austria-Hungary, Italy, Japan, Belgium, Denmark, Greece, the Netherlands, Spain, Norway and Sweden.

Several foreign governments, including those of Germany, France and Spain, made strong protests to the state department against the proposed discrimination, and there were some indirect threats of a trade war if the preference duty was enforced.

Efforts were made by some of the administration leaders immediately after foreign protests were received to have congress repeal the provision. Representative Underwood, chairman of the house ways and means committee and the original champion of the clause, however, expressed himself as opposed to such action, and the president did not urge it.

$10,000,000 Loss In Duties.

Allowance of the discount to ships of those nations claiming equal rights with American bottoms would have resulted in an estimated loss of $10,000,000 annually in customs duties. This would have created a deficit instead of a surplus in the treasury, as has been estimated by the tariff framers.

Rehabilitation of the American merchant marine was the expressed purpose of those who had the provision inserted. They claimed it would operate as an incentive to the construction of ships in the United States, since shippers of goods in American built bottoms would get the 5 per cent reduction and the American shipowners would be assured of an increase of business.

Importers who are dissatisfied with the opinion of the attorney general may protest to the collector of customs at the port of entry, who will lay their objections before the board of general appraisers. In case the board's decision is unsatisfactory to the appellant the case may be carried to the court of customs appeals for final disposition.

ONE D. A. R. AGED 107 YEARS.

Twelve "Real Daughters" Still In Massachusetts to Be Pensioned.

There are only twelve "real daughters" of the American Revolution living in Massachusetts, according to a report just made by a special committee at the fall conference of the Massachusetts society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The committee recommended that the several chapters in whose vicinity these "real daughters" reside should see to it that they receive the pension of $8 a month given by the national society. Special reference was made to the case of Mrs. Louise Carpenter of Worcester, who was 107 years old on Aug. 26.

MONEY SPENT HERE.

To correct an impression, said to be in the minds of some people, that the greater part of the proceeds from the sale of Red Cross Seals goes out of the community where they are sold, the Anti-Tuberculosis League authorizes the statement that practically all the money raised here by the sale of seals will be spent in this community in the fight against tuberculosis.

DR. BERG TO RESIDE HERE.

Rev. Dr. Herman C. Berg, brother of Dr. Joseph F. Berg, of this city, resigned his pastorate of the Reformed church at Rosendale Plains, N. Y., last week, and on Sunday he united with Trinity Reformed church having decided to make his home in Plainfield in the future. Dr. Berg is a father of Prof. Berg, of Rutgers College.

DESOLATION IN MEXICO.

The Continued Civil Strife Is Ruining the Country Despite Its Resources.

Ruin and desolation is the order of the day in unhappy Mexico. In the country deserted plantations are everywhere in evidence, and often a small town will be found which has been completely deserted save perhaps for a few half starved cats. The fights in the streets of various towns between federals and rebels are adding to the universal desolation, and the scenes in the streets after these battles give evidence of the horrors that attend the civil strife in Mexico.

In many regions railway service is completely suspended, and gaunt famine is beginning to stalk through the land. The amount of foodstuffs produced in the country is steadily decreasing, and the industries big and little are gradually closing down. Mexico is a country wonderfully favored by nature, but there is a limit to its endurance of such conditions.

P. H. S. COACH CUTS SQUAD TO FIFTEEN MEN

Coach Ralph Patch, of the Plainfield High School basketball team, today announced a big cut in the squad of candidates that have been trying for the places open on the team and following the weeding out process the following are the ones that remain: Hetfield (captain), Peacock, Sminck, H. Peacock, Rosenson, Gavett, Snyder, Smith, Hitch, McNamee, Cottrell, Whelan, Coudray, Ryder and O'Leary.

The above list of men are considered the most likely candidates for positions as regulars and although all of them have not been tried in scholastic competition they will probably all be given an opportunity to shine at one time or another during the season.

More Than the Average.

Mrs. Wayupp—How much sleep do I need, doctor? Doctor—Well, the average person needs about seven hours. Mrs. Wayup—Then I shall take about fourteen. I consider that I am that much above the average.—Judge.

Both Waiting.

Mrs. Klubss (severely)—I've been lying awake three hours, waiting for you to come home. Mr. Klubss (ruefully)—And I've been staying away three hours waiting for you to go to sleep.—Exchange.

On Guard.

Plainfield High School Team Hung up Its First Victory by a One Point Margin.

ACADEMY TEAM BEATEN

Playing On Rival's Court the Local Boys Put Up an Excellent Uphill Battle and Final Spurt Gave Them a Victory.

The Plainfield High School boys' basketball team journeyed to Morristown yesterday afternoon and defeated Randolph Military Acedamy by the score of 24 to 23. The Plainfield boys played real basketball for the first time this year. The game was close until the final whistle blew. The local boys started the scoring and ran up four points before Randolph got any and Randolph tied the score and the ball seesawed back and forth, from one end of the long floor to the other, until the whistle blew ending the first half with the score tied at eleven points.

When the second half started the Academy boys had the score at 19 to 11 before Plainfield got going, but the Plainfield High School aggregation started playing and Captain Hetfield's basket put his team in the lead at 21 to 19. A field goal by Hebard tied the score. Snyder shot a basket and Hetfield a foul goal. Scott made a basket which put the score at 24 to 23 in Plainfield's favor, when time was called. Much credit for the victory is due to the guarding of Sminck and Rosenson. Sminck was up against a man of 180 pounds, while Rosenson's man was light but fast.

INVINCIBLES WILL NOW HAVE TO HUNT NEW NAME

The Invincible A. C., of the Y. M. C. A., was defeated by the Heavenly Rest church boys' basketball team on the latter's court last night by a score of 27 to 17. Despite the fact that the first half ended with the Y. M. C. A. junior team one point in the lead, the churchboys pulled up strong in the second half and chalked up fourteen counters against their opponent's trio.

Both teams put up good games and the contest was an exceedingly fast and interesting one throughout. In the first half the visiting clan was the stronger but the home team's consistent plugging and endurance qualities brought it a victory in the final session.

HOLY CROSS VICTIMS WERE BEATEN BUT THREE TIMES

The Holy Cross football team, of this city, was one of the three teams that succeeded in hauling down the colors of the Trojan A. C., of Elizabeth, during the season just closed, according to records published by the manager of that team yesterday. The Valley A. C. and All Stars, of Elizabeth, were the other two conquerors of the team that won five out of nine games and tied one.

The Holy Cross team registered the initial beating at the expense of the Union county seat team, trouncing the rival clan to the tune of 39 to 0 after the Elizabethians had hung up three consecutive victories by wide margins.

HOLY CROSS PLANS BASKETBALL TEAM

Many Promising Candidates Report to Coach Little for a Tryout.

The regular monthly meeting of the Holy Cross Club was held last night in the Parish House and the following men were out in uniform for the basketball team: Day, Lunger, Hebert brothers, Perry, Coudray, Denny, Doty, Carson, Patrick, Moraller, Hayser, Boylan and Stewart.

Coach Little has arranged a schedule for the team and a good brand of basketball is anticipated. Conroy and Coudray are ineligible because they play with N. P. H. S. and P. H. S. respectively.

At the regular meeting it was desired to postpone the annual banquet indefinitely. H. Gerald Lunger and Alymonte Doty were accepted as members of the club. Lunger, who played with Bayonne High School, is expected to make center on the team.

GODFREY CLAY RETAINS HIS JUMPING TITLE IN Y. M. C. A.

Defending his title as best broad jumper in the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Department College League yesterday afternoon, Godfrey Clay won the running broad jump with a leap of sixteen feet, four inches.

Marsh, of the Princeton team, was second with sixteen feet, two inches and Krausse was third with fourteen feet, eleven inches, to his credit. The winner is a member of the Yale squad.

HOLY CROSS CLUB WILL BE SNAPPED IN A GROUP.

Members of the Holy Cross football team and those interested in the management and coaching of the eleven will have their pictures taken in the studio of Stone & Luckey on East Front street, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

NEW RAILWAY PRESIDENT.

The Southern Railway Company Elects Fairfax Harrison as Its Head.

Fairfax Harrison, formerly vice president of the Southern Railway company and for the last three years president of the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville railway company, of which the Southern is part owner, has been elected president of the Southern Railway company to succeed the late William Wilson Finley.

Mr. Harrison is a Virginian, his home being at Belvoir, Va. He is peculiarly identified with the south, as his father was private secretary to Jefferson Davis while president of the Confederate States, and all his railroad experience has been with the Southern and its associated lines. Mr. Harrison was born in 1869 and was graduated from Yale with the A. B. degree in

PRESIDENT FAIRFAX HARRISON.

1890 and from Columbia with the A. M. degree in 1891. He was admitted to the bar in New York in 1892 and continued the practice of law in that city until 1896, when he entered the service of the Southern railway in the legal department as solicitor. In 1903 he was made assistant to the president and in 1906 became vice president, which position he held until 1910, when he resigned on being elected president of the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville. He, however, continued as a director of the Southern railway, so that his service with the parent company has been uninterrupted. At the time that he was elected president of the Southern Railway company Mr. Harrison was also elected president of the Alabama Great Southern railroad, the Mobile and Ohio railroad and the Virginia and Southwestern railway.

Mr. Harrison is a brother of Francis Burton Harrison, former congressman and now governor of the Philippines.

The slides in Culebra cut that have been holding up navigation in the big ditch are fast being removed by dredges. The illustration shows the appearance of the cut today. It will always be a monument to the faithful and efficient work of the late Lieutenant Colonel David Du Bose Gaillard, U. S. A., who recently died in Baltimore from illness brought on by his arduous labors.

Culebra cut, with its famous slides, has from the beginning of the construction of the canal been one of the big news centers of the isthmus. Gaillard's orders, issued by President Roosevelt, were, "Go to Panama and make the dirt in Culebra fly." And that is exactly what Gaillard did. He found when he arrived on the isthmus that the French had completed about 30 per cent of a work in Culebra which, when finished would make a canal 200 feet in width, which left for the American engineer 70 per cent of the French work in addition to the extra labor that was necessary to make a canal 300 feet wide, as had been decided upon by the government.

No sooner did Gaillard solve the problem of one slide than others occurred to distract him and to add to the worries that were to leave him a physical and mental wreck on the very eve of the completion of his great work. But Gaillard was of that type of American officer who never gives up, no matter what the odds, and he lived to see the conquering of Culebra, even though he missed the chance to witness the final triumph of the work.

LITTLE TALKS
BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 41.

A FRIEND of mine inserted not so long ago a little "Lost and Found" ad. in the Classified columns of one of the newspapers in his home city.

The ad. read as follows:

> LOST—On Govanstown car, between City Hall and 25th st., a HAND SATCHEL containing Camera. Reward. 427 WHITRIDGE AVE.

Within four hours after the paper came from the presses, the hand satchel was returned to the address given in the advertisement.

Mr. William C. Freeman advertising director of the New York Tribune, had this to say in one of his Advertising Talks:

"Newspapers are the quickest and generally the safest carriers of messages from advertisers to homes everywhere, every day. I admit to partiality in my judgment of newspapers. To my mind they are the greatest power in the world. They print the spoken word almost as soon as it is spoken. They reproduce everything except the human voice, and do it quickly and intelligently."

Well, in the case of the lost hand satchel it certainly did happen that a newspaper carried the message of this loss quickly and intelligently.. And the advertiser got results. Next time YOU lose something, suppose you try a little CLASSIFIED ad. in the columns of this newspaper—one of "the safest carriers of messages from advertisers to homes everywhere, every day."

AND YOU, TOO, WILL GET RESULTS.

TO-DAY MARKS THE TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE FIRST FLIGHT IN AN AEROPLANE

THE WRIGHT BROTHERS' AEROPLANE AT KILL DEVIL HILL, N. C.

MACHINE OF TODAY IN FLIGHT AGAINST SUNSET CLOUDS.

GLIDING—FIRST GLIDING MACHINE, AT KITTY HAWK 1902.

SAILING—FIRST AEROPLANE KITE USED BY WRIGHT BROTHERS AT KILL DEVIL HILL 1898.

December 17 marks the tenth anniversary of one of the greatest events in the history of the world. It was then that Messrs. Orville and Wilbur Wright, young mechanics of Dayton, Ohio, made their first flight above the yellow sand dunes of Kitty Hawk, N. C., in an aeroplane propelled by a motor. They had conquered the mysterious air.

Before that memorable 17th of December anyone suggesting a flight in a heavier-than air machine was laughed at. Now men are contemplating crossing the great Atlantic.

Back in 1898 the Wright brothers tried to solve the problem of flight. They built an aeroplane kite and their joy was unbounded when it flew to their expectations. They then went back to their little machine shop and toiled night and day making an enlarged model of their kite that would carry a man. They knew no such word as doubt. At last, in the year 1902, they constructed a gliding machine. This was a success.

They could carry it to the crest of a hill, one of the brothers would lie flat on the lower plane, with his hands on the controlling device, the helpers would run down the hill with the machine and suddenly let go—the motorless aeroplane would rise and then slowly glide to the ground with its human burden. They now became more ambitious. They wanted to fly without the power furnished by human hands, and on December 17, 1903, success was theirs. They equipped a gliding machine with a motor of their own construction, and after many disappointments they had the pleasure of seeing their machine of canvas and ash rise from the ground and fly. They had given the world a seventh wonder. From then on to the present time the improvement of the aeroplane is but a step.

The New York Herald played an important part in the aeroplane drama. It was the first paper to publish the photograph showing the Wright aeroplane at Kill Devil Hill, the first one ever taken by a newspaper correspondent or by any one outside of the Wright family. It was snapped by Mr. Byron Newton, then the New York Herald's special correspondent, but now the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. This photograph is reproduced above.

ACCUSE PATERSON DOCTOR OF FIRING HOME OF HIS SON

Paterson, Dec. 17.—Charged with setting his son's house on fire in six places about 10 o'clock last Thursday night, Dr. William S. Green, fifty-three years old, was yesterday held without bail by Magistrate James S. Carroll. Dr. Green is inspector of food and drugs of the Board of Health and has lived in Paterson most of his life. It is believed he is mentally deranged.

Fire was discovered in the house of the son, John V. Green, at 293 Seventeenth avenue, and an investigation by Fire Chief Thomas Coyle, showed that the fire had been set in six places. They were all extinguished before any material damage was done. Detective Mather D. Connell was assigned to the case and yesterday morning turned in the charge of arson against Dr. Green.

FARMING MADE TO PAY BY 1,200 KANSAS WOMEN.

Many Widows, and Some Taught School—Follow Scientific Methods.

Kansas has 1,200 women who are the active managers of farms, and there is scarcely one who has not made a success of her work. These women are scattered over fifty-four counties.

Most women owning farm lands rent the property, and generally they have an agent who looks after affairs for them. But the Kansas 1,200 direct matters for themselves.

The Kansas woman farmer is scientific. It is estimated by the state authorities that 98 per cent of the women in active management of farms are members of farmers' institutes.

Most of the Kansas women farmers are in central and western Kansas. Among them are about thirty women schoolteachers who abandoned school work because it was undermining their health. Some bought farm lands, and others took up homesteads on the government's lands or the state school lands.

Many women farmers are widows to whom were left good farms and families to support when the husband died. These seldom do any of the work, as they are able to hire men from their own neighborhood, but all the problems of management are solved by the women.

Probably the best known woman farmer in Kansas is Miss Mary Best of Barber county. Every bushel of her wheat is sold to millers and state experiment stations at double the usual wheat market figures, it being used for seed by men who want the best seed grown in the state. One year the Oklahoma Agricultural college bought the entire wheat crop of Miss Best's farm.

92,035 MEN UNDER ARMS.

December With Over 3,000 Recruits Sets an Enlistment High Water Mark.

The present strength of the United States army, including all branches, in addition to what is known as the regular service, is 92,035 men. Of these 63,220 are in the United States, 17,238 in the Philippines, 7,039 in Hawaii and the rest are scattered in smaller groups in Alaska, China, Porto Rico and the isthmian canal zone.

These facts are given in the report of General George Andrews, adjutant general of the army, just made public. Enlistments are increasing rapidly, according to his report, after a slump covering more than a year.

The slump began in the spring of 1912 and continued until July, 1913, when a rapid increase was noted. Latest reports from the recruiting officers of the army indicate that for the month of December the enlistments will pass the 3,000 mark, or more than any single month.

HOW MR. TAFT GOT RID OF SEVENTY POUNDS IN NINE MONTHS.

"I stopped eating potatoes and all starchy things. Potatoes for me have come to be a deadly sin. I cut from my bill of fare all fat meats, absolutely forbidding pork and other meats containing much fat.

"I am not allowed to eat fatty fish such as salmon. I don't touch pastry of any kind. I must be very careful about my allowance of sugar. I am permitted to eat lean roast beef and lean mutton. I have a wide range of vegetables which do not contain much starch or sugar. I am friendly with the salads provided there is but a little oil in the dressings.

"I weighed 340 pounds March 4 last. Now I weigh 270. I am more alert mentally and physically than ever before. It is a greater joy to live."

Mark Twain Memorial To Be Unveiled At Hannibal, Mo.

A MONUMENT to Mark Twain has been fittingly erected at the boyhood home of the great humorist and philosopher, Hannibal, Mo. The site selected is an impressive natural situation for a memorial, while the historic associations of the country the memorial overlooks are closely interwoven with the life of the great American commemorated and with the scenes of his works that make the Mississippi river a part of our national literature. The statue stands on a knoll in Riverside park, on the edge of a high bluff overlooking the Mississippi, and visible down the river are Tom Sawyer's island and Mark Twain's cave, the scenes of some of the most interesting adventures of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn.

While Mark Twain was not born in Hannibal, but in Florida, Mo., he spent his boyhood in Hannibal, and from its environs he drew some of his most famous characters. Judge Clemens purchased a lot in Hannibal on Nov. 13, 1839, when his son Samuel was four years old. Here he erected a house, which still stands intact and is a great resort for sightseers who journey to view the boyhood home of Mark Twain.

As a youth the young Samuel was fond of adventure, and the greatest portion of his time was spent on the river or in the woods with his comrades, some of whom later figured as characters in his stories of life on the big river and in Missouri. His life in Hannibal and on the Mississippi, perhaps, had more than anything to do with developing his subsequent varied and interesting career and lent him the material for the greater part of his literary work.

The statue to Mark Twain was made by Frederick C. Hibbard of Chicago, to whom the work was awarded after a competition in which other well known sculptors participated. It has not yet been unveiled, for owing to a curious hitch in the proceedings the memorial was only recently received and accepted by the commission in charge, who decided, owing to the lateness of the season and the likelihood of inclement weather for an outdoor function, to postpone the unveiling ceremonies until the spring.

THE MARK TWAIN STATUE BY HIBBARD.

It seems that when Mr. Hibbard attempted to cash the warrants he had received from the monument commission it was discovered that the time had elapsed on the appropriation for the monument made by the legislature, so that the state was not able and will not be able to make payment until the next legislature meets in 1915. The commission, being unaware of the law in regard to such matters, did not ask the last legislature to reappropriate the money. The state of Missouri appropriated $10,000 for the memorial, and Governor Hadley appointed five commissioners, who invited sculptors to submit designs and finally selected Mr. Hibbard's design and awarded him the contract for the work. Matters, however, have been satisfactorily adjusted, the commission has accepted the work, and the dedicatory ceremonies will take place as soon as the weather permits.

Mark Twain as carved in his statue stands simple and erect and half turns his head to gaze down the great river whose waters and shores he loved and made famous. The figure stands on a pedestal and is set on a wide platform terraced up from a winding road and approached by a low flight of steps. The statue is of bronze and the pedestal of red Missouri granite.

The pedestal is eight feet high and the figure nine feet. A tablet on the rear of the die bears merely the name, Mark Twain, and one on the front is inscribed "Author—Philosopher—Moralist." Mr. Hibbard while working on the statue made a trip to the east and visited the country home of Mark Twain at Redding, Conn., where he collected many photographs and other helpful data.

WESTFIELD FAST AGAINST N. P. H. S.

Visiting Crew Played All Around the Boroughites at Times.

MUCH LOOSE PLAYING

Neither Team Shows Evidences of Real Basketball and Both Aggregations Lost Many Opportunities to Score When Given Chances.

The North Plainfield High School basketball team added another victory to the unblemished list yesterday in Saengerbund Hall, when the Westfield High School five went down to defeat by the score of 49 to 27. The game was one of the best that has yet been played and the score was close until the middle of the last half.

The visitors started the game with a rush and scored five points before the boroughites even saw the ball. The half ended with the score standing 21 to 19.

During the first few minutes of the last half there was no scoring done, but finally the home team began to draw away from their opponents. The team work was extremely fast at this time and both teams showed excellent team play. For Westfield, Ewing, Pearsall and Traynor were tied for shooting honors, each making a trio of field goals, while Burner led his team in this line with seven.

TOM WHITAKER HAS PROMISING PUPILS

Former Local Y. M. C. A. Physical Director Shining With Missouri A. C.

Thomas H. Whitaker, formerly physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., and at the present time swimming instructor of the Missouri Athletic club, has again gained a place in the public limelight through some good work along the coaching line with a set of aquatic phenoms that have come under his wing during the past season.

The opening meets of the indoor swimming season, held in most districts during the last few days, were featured by such brilliant performances that there can be no doubt of some remarkable developments before the curtain falls on the last water carnival of the year.

The first open events of the year in St. Louis brought to light a pair of rattling good youngsters, the sixteen-year-old Edward Bawden, and the seventeen-year-old Henry L. Laubis, both pupils of Tom Whitaker, whose ability as a coach resulted in the introduction of the crawl stroke in this section. Mr. Whitaker's pupils, after competing in the sprints, covered the quarter close to six minutes in the eighty-foot home pool, and could unquestionably have done 5:50 had they been fresh.

While in Plainfield Mr. Whitaker attracted much attention from the water sport followers by his clever methods of instruction and remarkable exhibitions of his prowess in the water. He formed the first real aquatic team the junior department of the local association ever had and some of the members of this juvenile quintet are now the best swimmers in this section. He used the crawl stroke exclusively and despite the fact that it was entirely an innovation when it was brought here by him, it has since become popular with all classes and is the most commonly used in the Y. M. C. A. at the present time.

New York Took Three in a Row From Orange Antlered Pinners.

Bowling at home last night, the members of the New York team won three games straight in an Elks' League match with the Orange quintet. By capturing two games out of three on the alleys of the Paterson Elks last night the New Brunswick quintet succeeded in tying the Silk City bowlers for third place in the Elks' League. The Patersonians only got the first game last night, a total of 822 being sufficient to annex that contest by twenty-two pins. In the next game New Brunswick improved materially with a total of 945 and showed the way by fifty-four pins. In the last game the New Brunswick five, with 846, won by fifty-seven pins. Taylor did some remarkable pinning and had counts of 235 and 217. Coyne rolled 234 for New Brunswick and Greenwald 225.

BASEBALL NOTES

Pitcher Vean Gregg, of the Naps, is doing a "Sherlock Holmes" stunt in a Cleveland department store this winter.

It appears more than likely that the White Sox will take up their old training quarters at Paso Robles, Cal., again next spring.

For the seventeenth succesive year "Honus" Wagner, of the Pirates, has batted for .300 or better. His general average for the entire period is .341.

Pitcher Bob Harmon may not return to the big show in 1914. With the title to 500 acres of land in his pocket the Cardinal flinger has become a real plantation owner.

Catcher Bill Kelly, who was recently released by Pittsburg to Toronto, balks at joining Joe Kelley's team. Bill wants to return to his first love, that dear old St. Paul.

Manager George Stallings, of the Braves, says that while he regards Joe Tinker as a great ball player he wouldn't think of trading "Rabbit" Maranville for the former manager of the Reds.

George Mullin, the former Detroit pitcher, may hook up with a Federal League club. George is now working in the office of Ed Stein, former big league pitcher and now county treasurer at Detroit.

The Red Sox may have to cut out Hot Springs as a training camp after next year. Their practice field there has been sold to the local railroad company, which will take possession next May.

President George Tebeau, of the Kansas City Blues, is trying to arrange for a Western league team to play on his lot when the Blues are on the road. George figures that this arrangement would put a crimp in the Federal League patronage in K. C.

JUNIOR FIVE CLIMBS ANOTHER STEP HIGHER

Freshmen Quintet of N. P. H. S. Routed by Speedy Third Year Men Yesterday.

At the expense of the Freshmen, the Junior Class basketball team of the North Plainfield High School Class League, advanced another leg in the race for the school championship, yesterday afternoon, winning by a score of 35 to 23.

The first half ended 14 to 11.

Elmer French, the large guard of the Juniors, lead his teammates in scoring, making seven field goals and one foul. For the Freshmen Almon Doty and Daniel Denny were the mainstays, making fifteen of their team's points between them. This victory gives the Juniors a two-game lead over the Sophomores.

Suffragist Convention at Washington Draws Great Numbers

THE convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association meeting in the new Masonic temple at Washington Nov. 29-Dec. 5 is the largest and most important in the history of the association. This is the forty-fifth annual convention of the association, which is now organized in forty-two states and has 1,000 branches.

The adoption of a new constitution is an important part of the program. This provides for a plan of work for the national body and the assumption of the financial responsibility for the support of that work by the members. Heretofore the convention has voted on the work to be carried on by the national body, its maintenance of headquarters, presswork, publication of literature, assistance in state campaigns, etc., the smallest branches of the association cheerfully voting large burdens upon the organization and then with equal cheerfulness pledging themselves to contribute any sum to the support of the work they felt they could conveniently afford, leaving the national officers to make good a big deficit. The new constitution as well as a budget was prepared by a committee headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. Besides the president of the association, Dr. Anna Shaw, a great number of distinguished suffragists planned to attend the convention, coming from all sections of the country. Among these were Mrs. Thomas N. Hepburn, president of the Connecticut Woman Suffrage association; Mrs. Medill McCormick, whose activities in Chicago are so well known, and Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson, a state senator from Colorado.

MRS. THOMAS N. HEPBURN, PRESIDENT CONNECTICUT WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION.

MRS. MEDILL M'CORMICK, PROMINENT CHICAGO SUFFRAGIST.

MRS. HELEN RING ROBINSON, STATE SENATOR OF COLORADO.

Mrs. Robinson has assisted in drawing up amendments to the constitution and was on the list to speak at the opening of the convention. She is a particularly interesting figure, for she is the only woman state senator in America, and she has been urged to become a candidate for congress from the Denver district. It was just a year ago that Mrs. Robinson, who had long been an indefatigable worker for the welfare of women in her city and state, was elected to a four year term in the Colorado state senate.

The suffragist convention was well timed, for the first week in December had been set aside by the house committee on rules for a hearing pro and con that this committee make a favorable report to the house for the creation of a standing committee on woman suffrage. The debate is open for suffragists and antis, and both sides are represented by their ablest speakers and most prominent leaders. It is interesting to note in this connection that the reopening of the chamber of deputies in France brings that country face to face with the woman suffrage question. A bill granting women equal suffrage except in the election of deputies is before the chamber.

Love Vs. Gold.

The Spugs, an organization to fight the useless giving of Christmas presents, have a song beginning:

Remember in December
That love weighs more than gold.

Which suggests the following train of thought to a reader of the New York Sun:

Remember in December
That love weighs more than gold,
Weighs more than in November
By tons and tons untold.
Beginning with September
Gold takes a sudden drop,
And in the bleak December
Love tips the scale on top.

The weight of love increasing
Beneath the winter moon
And weight of gold decreasing
In value as a boon
Suggests unto the giver
This sound and wholesome tune:
Oh, save your love till Christmas
And spend your gold in June!

CROP PROFITS PAY FOR LAND, LATEST SCHEME.

Small Farmer's Success on Irrigation Project Attracts Government.

Inspired by the success that has attended a private experiment on the government irrigation project in the Uncompahgre valley, Colorado, the officials of the federal reclamation service are contemplating an extension of the plan over many irrigation areas of the west to attract the small farmer to the regions.

The scheme as put in operation by a large landowner on the Uncompahgre tract aimed to make it possible for men of small means to establish themselves on small farms and have the maximum of opportunity for success and the minimum of responsibility and expense in their new venture. The settlers take up plots of five to twenty acres and pay for the land at the rate of $200 an acre on a unique installment plan by turning back to the original owner part of the proceeds from the sale of crops.

Co-operation between the owner of the land and the small farmers is worked out on a fine scale, and everything possible is done to make for the new landowner's success. In order to save expense for the newcomers the owner agrees to do the plowing and cultivation. A cold storage warehouse is provided for the products of the farmers. No money is required of the settler until the crops come. Half of the proceeds from the sale of products is given to the landowner each year until the land is paid for. Many settlers in order to hasten the time of payment make extra money by accepting employment from the owner in the co-operative cultivation of the land or do part of the work of looking after the storage warehouse.

These financial arrangements are such as not to burden the man with small capital and enable almost any man with any knowledge of agriculture and with a fair degree of energy to get a foothold. The original experiment on which the subdivisions were made was confined to 480 acres, but the demand for the five to twenty acre plots has been such that the experiment is being gradually extended to cover new territory on the Uncompahgre project.

FRESH TURKEYS FOR ALL.

Cold Sorage Supply Exhausted—Tariff Aids Foreign Competition.

Exit the cold storage turkey. For the third time in twenty years we are told that the supply kept in the freezers from past years is quite exhausted. With this announcement comes the further good news that the fresh stock for the holiday season is larger than last year and that there will be a reduction in price by Christmas.

The recent tariff revision has encouraged foreign competition in supplying the demand in America for holiday turkeys. The import duty, which heretofore has been 6 cents a pound, will be 2½ cents hereafter, with competition from other countries as a result.

Part of the seasonal supply for the past two or three years has come from Russia by way of Liverpool and from Canada. P. Q. Foy, editor of the Daily Market Report of New York, places Texas, Kentucky and Ohio as among our present chief turkey producing states. Texas turkeys are more plentiful than those from any other one state. Texas is peculiarly adapted to raising turkeys because of its broad acres, giving them wide range. It is at Cuero, Tex., where they have an annual live turkey exhibit and a parade through that city of thousands of live turkeys herded by drivers going to the slaughter pen.

Jewish people demand live turkeys for their Thanksgiving feast, and the shipments are usually heavy the week before that holiday. Last year live turkeys, too, were late arriving, and the loss suffered by live poultry shippers averaged $500 a car. Receivers notified shippers that they must deliver the stock early this year.

Cabinet Women Prune Calling List.

Storm signals are flying in official social circles in Washington because of the decision of the "cabinet ladies" to cut from their calling list the wives of members of the house on the ground that some paring of the overcrowded calendar had to be done at the opening of a busy social season. The decision was said to have been prompted by the greatly increased membership of the house and the fact that no precedent rendered the calls imperative.

CHURCH FEDERATION FORMED TO BETTER RAHWAY'S MORALS

Rahway, Dec. 17.—Through the efforts of the Rahway Ministers' Association, the Rahway Federation of Churches has been organized, to improve the morals of the city. A constitution and by-laws have been adopted and officers will be elected December 28. Vice-presidents will be selected from the various churches co-operating in the movement.

A committee has been appointed consisting of William F. Russell, Robert Walker, L. A. Millbury, Rev. L. Y. Graham, Jr., and Rev. Charles S. Kemble, to bring the purpose of the organization before all the churches in the city and urge each to name a vice-president. The federation aims to "provide an organization through which the combined religious forces of the city may be able to quickly and forcibly express themselves on every question affecting the public morals of the city."

Among some of the things that will be attempted will be the closing of stores on Sundays and the stopping of slot machines and other gambling devices.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD WILL BUILD BRIDGE NEAR TRENTON

Trenton, Dec. 17.—In connection with its new low-grade freight line around Trenton, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will construct a double track steel trestle bridge, costing approximately $2,000,000, over the Delaware river about half a mile below this city.

The new bridge will be 1,275 feet long, with six spans, including a draw span. It is expected actual work on structure will begin early in the spring. Bids will be opened January 14.

The construction of the bridge is a part of the Pennsylvania and Newark low-grade freight line plan that will carry the daily increasing freight traffic around Trenton and thus relieve the congested condition now existing at this point.

Several years ago the War Department granted permission to the railroad company for the erection of the proposed bridge.

The bridge is to cross the river at a point below Morrisville and the Jersey end of the structure will be near White Horse. The structure will cross a branch of the river to Morris Island, a part of which was known some years ago as Cochran Park. The draw will be directly across the channel in the middle of the river proper.

THINKS ELIZABETH OUGHT NOT TO ACCEPT GIFT OF CARNEGIE

Elizabeth, Dec. 17.—The propriety of Elizabeth accepting a gift of $3,106 from Andrew Carnegie for the equipment of the new downtown branch library was questioned by Councilman James J. Manning at Monday night's meeting.

Mr. Manning voted for an appropriation of ten per cent. of the donation, as the condition of the gift requires, saying that he could not consistently do otherwise as the Council had previously voted to accept the offer. He said he believed Elizabeth should equip its own library.

The special river improvement committee recommended that next year's Council make an appropriation toward the Federal Government's improvement of the Elizabeth River front from Staten Island to the Long Branch Railroad. It was also recommended to engage an engineer to supervise the work.

The police committee's report recommending the appointment of a secretary to the police department was adopted. Edward Kelly was appointed to the place.

The report of a special committee that the Board of Health would supervise changes in the chemical plant of the Franklin Kalbfleisch Company, in Maltic street, so as to eliminate a disagreeable odor, was adopted. Two patrolmen and several changemen were appointed.

In One Minute Your Stuffy Nose and Head Clears, Sneezing and Nose Running Cease, Dull Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. THE MOTHER OF A THOUSAND EXILES Spiendid Heroism of Woman Banished to Siberia.

HAPPY IN HER GOOD DEEDS.

Helping and Cheering Fellow Unfortunates In Russian Penal Settlement Aids Mme. Catherine Breshkovskaya to Bear Her Cross—Aged Martyr's Recent Letters to Friends In America.

The recent attempted escape of Mme. Catherine Breshkovskaya, the "mother of the Russian revolution," as she is called, from exile in dreaded Siberia, has again attracted world wide attention to this brave woman, now nearing her seventieth year, who is undergoing her second or "perpetual" term. She was sentenced to exile in March, 1910, after a trial, whose proceedings were followed with intense interest. The charge against her was conspiracy in conjunction with Nicolas Tchaikovsky, the "father of the revolution," who had been active for reform since 1870. The man was acquitted on evidence brought from the United States.

Because she would not plead for the Russian emperor's clemency Mme. Breshkovskaya has been incarcerated at Kirensk, a penal settlement 420 miles northeast of Irkutsk.

At the time of her recent attempt to gain her freedom she went to dinner under police escort at the lodging of a fellow exile, Vladimiroff, and remained there till evening. Then a companion, Andreeff, dressed in Mme. Breshkovskaya's clothing, emerged from the house supported by Vladimiroff, and, pretending to be a sick woman. Accompanied by the police escort the accomplice hobbled to the lodging of Mme. Breshkovskaya and crawled into her bed, where he remained.

Constabulary intercepted a conveyance speeding on the way to Yakutsk, on the river Lena, and recognized among its occupants Mme. Breshkovskaya, dressed as a man. She had in her possession a counterfeit passport and a sum of money.

Lectured In United States.

It was in 1883 that Mme. Breshkovskaya was first sent to Siberia. Released after twenty-one years, she came to America and formed many close friendships with other leading workers in the fight against the czar. She toured the principal cities, lecturing on the cause of freedom in her native land. She picked up something of the English language, but it was not until her return to exile that she mastered its intricacies sufficiently to use it in correspondence.

Her friends in this country have received many letters from her. Through them shone the old time spirit of fight and fortitude which twenty-one years in exile had not dimmed when she came to this country in 1904.

In one of these letters she tells of changed conditions in the opening of the exile's mail since the days of her first banishment, but adds that the habit of persecution and espionage is so old that the guards are never tired of indulging in it.

"During the festivities of Christmas," she continues, "when here many young persons disguise themselves and go through the town with their masks, my keepers are afraid I will escape in that manner, and they run about like mad men, searching and looking after every one, intruding themselves into every house suspected to be the place of my visit.

"Every path I make is surveyed by a gloomy figure shrouded in black furs from head to foot and standing immovable near the house I visit.

"Without permission I cannot place my foot on the frozen river, for it would be regarded as an attempt to escape. All the night they are looking into the windows of my cabin."

Mothers a Thousand Exiles.

In another letter to a friend in this country she says: "I did not receive or hear of the money you sent me. Often my heart overflows with sorrow, for there is much need of help here, where many boys have their feet frozen for want of a suitable booting. I feel I am responsible, for I consider the young people as my own children, my grandsons."

Another of the exiles in Siberia writes, "She cares for and mothers a thousand exiles, giving them heart and courage."

CLASS WITHOUT A TEACHER.

Cincinnati Pupils Are Their Own Instructors In Civics.

A teacherless class has been started at Woodward high school, Cincinnati. It works automatically. The teacher leaves the room. The pupils, under command of a full set of their own officers, proceed to the regular order of the day's business, just as they would at a meeting of a fraternity. The teacher is not missed at all.

And thus besides learning the subject at hand the teacherless pupils get a special byproduct course in self government, leadership and initiative.

At present the teacherless system is applied to the civics course. It was devised by Frank P. Goodwin, head of the civics department, whose theory is that the best way to teach civics is to let civic classes govern themselves.

FRANCES MARSHALL

Taste and Economy.

Some one not long ago said that in the development of taste rested the salvation of America.

Of course, this is an exaggerated statement and one that needs much explaining. But whoever said it meant that persons with taste were persons who possessed the true spirit of economy.

For instance, if you have a keen taste for goods, an epicurean taste, and can spot rancid butter the minute it touches your tongue, you will refuse to buy rancid butter. If everyone in the land refused to buy rancid butter, there would soon be none, and the butter business, at least, would be put on an honest basis.

If you refuse to eat meat that is not at the top notch of condition, you do your part to help the meat business to gain the position it ought to hold.

If you are discriminating so far as dress goods are concerned, you refuse to buy silk that is weighted with glass and that wears out twice as fast as pure silk. You refuse to buy cotton and wool when you have asked for and are willing to pay for all wool. You refuse to buy real Irish lace that was made around the corner from your house by machine. And so you bring up the required standard of the industries that produce these articles, and help to make it possible for people the world over to get what they pay for.

Teach Children To Be Connoisseurs, Epicures.

With this idea in mind, teach your children to be discriminating. If they can learn what tainted butter and fish taste like, and what weighted silk and doctored wool look and feel like, they can do much to improve the economic condition of their generation.

There is a big difference between knowing the difference between the real and imitations and being unreasonably fault finding. The child that tastes the food that is set before it just ready to complain about the quality of it ought to be starved into a readiness to eat what is set before it. But the child's food ought always to be pure. Thus the child's taste will be trained to know pure food when it tastes it, and also to know impure food by its taste.

By Alice Gibson

Formerly the small boy before reaching the "trouser" age was put in kilts, which meant beruffled and befrilled underwear and extra sewing and washing for the mother. Today the mother puts both the small boy and his sister in rompers, much to their delight, thus saving herself a wonderful amount of time and energy.

No. 7905 is a boy's suit with a Russian blouse and knickerbockers. The blouse closes down the front, has a long sleeve, a shield and a deep belt.

As shown in the illustration, blue serge is the material used, with a braided trimming section and belt. One of the wash materials, madras or galatea, could be used equally well, omitting the trimming band and using a plain little stitched belt instead of the braided one.

This little suit may be made in size 4 with 2½ yards of 36 inch material.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes, 2, 4 and 6.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state correct size, passing the tape around the fullest part of the chest well up under the arms.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

The work of the women who are seeking to obtain the right of franchise and those who are opposing them has usually been conducted in a frank and honest manner calculated to gladden the hearts of those who believe in the sex. Anonymous articles on either side of the question have been exceedingly rare, and this makes an anonymous book which has been recently published especially noticeable. It is called "Votes for Women" and is sold by Duffield & Company, of New York, at fifty cents a copy. Copies of it were sent to all the Congressmen in Washington on December 4, the day the anit-suffragists appeared before the Rules Committee of the House of Representatives to oppose the appointment of a Woman Suffrage Committee in the House similar to the one which has existed for years in the Senate. This book, the question of suffrage wholly apart, offends by its lack of literary taste, its attacks upon humanity and its emphasis upon the sex question. It declare in one place that "woman is not more stupid than man, nor more intelligent," and in another, "No woman is naturally fair-minded and sanely just; she is intense, she is irrational, she is crazy," the author evidently holding a poor opinion of both sexes. It says of mothers, "A good mother is a poor voter. Not fair-minded, not just, not meant to be. She has a narrow but powerfully concentrated intelligence. A good mother is a person of one idea. It is not by cultivating her social instincts, feeling for justice, fair play and broad human outlook that woman is going to help on the race. As much as she turns her attention to the public good, by so much she destroys the race she is trying to serve. She can't be fair-minded even without becoming a poor mother. Maternity like love must be blind." This is rather hard upon the anti-suffragists who consider themselves pretty good mothers and are still trying to work for their idea of the public good by political activity against woman suffrage! It speaks of Prohibition as a "fad started by the influence of women," and has this to say of Abraham Lincoln, "Why they even ring in a respectable man like Abe Lincoln. Poor old Abe, who in one unguarded moment, in his green and salad days, let slip a remark that got into print, but that he never afterward recollected nor repeated." As to the influence of women over men, the books has this to say, "Now it is very meet, right and our bounded duty that we should at all times and in all places consider what we owe to our neighbor. But our whole duty to our neighbor does not include the duty of allowing ourselves to be held up and sandbagged by highwaymen, whether male or female." Again, "It isn't so bad for a man to be made a fool of once in a lifetime, provided its in a worthy cause and the woman is very pretty. But how would you like to be made a fool of all the time, by, say, your ignorant and superstitious scrubwoman—she may be a good woman and all that but would you like to be under her thumb?"

Miss Caroline S. Simpson, of the Elizabeth Anti-Suffrage Association, was asked if she knew by whom the book had been supplied to the Congressman. She said that she knew of the book and she intimated that it had been sent by the anti-suffragists, though she said that she was not certain on this point. She knew, however, that it is a book favored by anti-suffragists and even endorsed by them.

Mrs. Sykes has been unfortunate in the Idaho voters whom she has met, that is, if a woman who considers voting "disgusting" can be considered by a fair critic. A number of books have been written by investigators on the results of woman suffrage in Idaho, and the Pictorial Review published last May a clear statement of conditions in that State by Edwin Lewis Theiss and his wife. This article says, "Despite the unsettled state of the country which makes it difficult for women to get to the polls, women in Idaho have exercised their rights as fully as men, and sometimes in considerably larger numbers, the per centage of eligible women who vote ranging from 75 to 85 per cent." In the first session of the Legislature after they got the vote, women aided materially in getting an anti-gambling law. In the six sessions since then they have helped to secure measures raising the age of protection for girls to eighteen years; prohibiting the employment of children in certain industries; creating a juvenile court; creating a State humane society; providing for a department of domestic science in the State University and for a course of lectures on the subject in the Academy of Idaho; prohibiting persons of immoral lives, both men and women, from voting; providing for the commission form of government; establishing a nine-hour law for women; creating mothers pensions; prohibiting traffic in women, and many other measures.

One-third of the eligible male voters of the country did not take part in the last Presidential election, so the fact that a few women in Idaho do not vote does not seem a very serious argument against the success of woman suffrage there.

Another anti-suffrage association has just been formed, making three in all. This one has a very long name. It is the Man-Suffrage Association Opposed to Political Suffrage for Women. Everett P. Wheeler is chairman of its executive committee. He has just sent out a circular letter inviting men in sympathy to join its ranks, the statements in which seem rather disconnected (to one of the uninitiated). It reads: "The two last general elections show that it is possible to elect an efficient administration in this city (New York). To accomplish this it has been necessary to expend much thought and money and to devote our best energies. Now it is proposed by a group of women to double our electorate. Are we prepared for that?" (If the quality of the electorate was improved, might not increasing the number of voters make it easier to defeat Tammany?) "A man who is foreign-born must reside in this country five years and pass a vigorous examination by a Judge before he can be admitted to the electoral franchise. His wife may have landed yesterday. She may be unable even to read. But because she is his wife she becomes at once a citizen. Our law gives her this privilege in order to protect her civil rights and those of her children. But ought we to go farther and put upon her the burden and power of suffrage? I answer, No!"

(If Mr. Wheeler will take the trouble to read the proposed woman suffrage amendment to the New York State constitution, he will see that it provides that "citizens by marriage" must reside in this country five years before they can vote. Does Mr. Wheeler consider burden and power synonymous?)

Continuing, Mr. Wheeler's letter says: "We do not object to the activity in politics of educated women who have no superior home duties. We have often welcomed their aid. But a franchise limited to them is not proposed."

It would be interesting to know how Mr. Wheeler would have a constitutional provision determine just which educated woman might be allowed to vote and what would constitute "superior home duties."

Some Cookery Suggestions

SIMPLE CHRISTMAS PIES.

THERE should be variety in Christmas pastry, and suggestions for a number of different pies suitable to the season are given here.

The Christmas pie may be given a festive appearance by serving it on a lace paper doily and encircled by a paper ruff. If you like it may also be adorned with small sprigs of holly.

A Popular Pie.

Cranberry Pie.—Wash two cupfuls of cranberries and cut the berries in half, seed a cupful of raisins and chop them fine; mix them with the cranberries; then add to them a cupful of water, two cupfuls of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour and a dash of lemon juice. Prepare the puff paste and line deep pie plates with it; then fill with the mixture. You can put on a thin upper crust and cut slits in it so the steam may escape or cross with strips of the paste. Bake and when cold sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Fruit Cream Pie.—Take a cupful of diced tart apples, with one-half cupful each of seeded raisins and finely cut figs, one-quarter cupful of broken nut meats, one-quarter teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg, one-half teaspoonful of salt; two well beaten eggs and a cupful of thin sour cream. Bake with two crusts.

A Toothsome Pastry.

Caramel Pie.—Make a rich puff paste and bake it in a deep pie pan. Then make a custard of one and one-half cupfuls of brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one egg, butter the size of a walnut and a pint of boiling water. Stir together and cook as for lemon pie. Take from stove and stir in a teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Pour into the puff paste. This quantity is enough for one pie.

Every One Likes Lemon Pie.

Lemon Meringue Pie.—Take a tablespoonful of cornstarch stirred in a little cold water, add a cupful of boiling water and let it come to a boil; then add seven tablespoonfuls of sugar, the yolks of three beaten eggs, the grated rind and juice of two lemons, and bake with a bottom crust. Then beat the whites of the eggs stiff, adding a little sugar. Spread meringue on the pie when baked, return to the oven and bake brown.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Grand Concert Given By the Crickets.

"YOU know," said daddy, "the crickets are very fond of music and especially so of their own powers. They have opera evenings and concert evenings, and they invite all the other bugs and insects they know to come and listen to them.

"One evening they planned they would give an exceptionally brilliant concert. There were to be solos, duets, trios, quartets and choruses. They picked out a nice spot where the grass was very soft and green—just like velvet under their feet—and all around were a lot of little bushes and flowers, for the crickets love sweet smelling blossoms. But toward evening they wondered where they would get their light from. Finally they went to Grandfather Cricket to ask his advice. Grandpa Cricket thought for awhile, then said:

"'Well, I guess we'll have to ask Mr. Lightning Bug and all of his family.'

"Now, the crickets hated the lightning bugs and had not invited them, but they realized they'd have to have them to make light for them.

"So the lightning bugs were invited, and they felt very proud of the invitation, for they had always heard about the crickets' concerts and had longed to go.

"The katydids also gave concerts, and they had planned, unknown to the crickets, to have a rival concert and to invite the lightning bugs so as to have a finer performance. But wasn't Grandpa Cricket wise to see that the lightning bugs must be invited to the crickets' concert?

"When the katydids went to invite the lightning bugs they had already been invited by the crickets and were getting themselves ready so as to look their best. This annoyed the katydids, so that they resolved they would make the crickets suffer for it.

"At last the time came for the concert, and all the bugs filed in. The grasshoppers had all the boxes, and the June bugs sat in the front row in their little coats of green. The lightning bugs sat in the back, which threw a wonderful light on the stage, as the crickets had planned, and the performance began.

"But, alas, each time they began to sing the katydids, who were giving their concert next to them, would commence, too, and would drown the voices of the crickets, as their voices are so much harsher.

"The crickets called in Policeman Spider, and each time the katydids began to sing Policeman Spider would give them a little nip on their long green legs, which stung them so they had to stop and gave up in despair.

"So the crickets, after all, had a most successful concert, and all the bugs enjoyed it so much that they took season tickets before leaving, and the crickets were very proud of themselves."

Designs For the Nursery.

These barnyard fowls, will delight the heart of a small child when appliqued or worked in outline-stitch, for decorating the curtains and covers in the nursery. They may be cut from bright colored linen, cotton or from flannel, and appliqued to the crib-cover, creeping blanket, cushions and curtains all of which should be of washable materials such as unbleached cotton, linen or cotton flannel. If one prefers, the birds may be embroidered in outline-stitch in red, bright blue or brown mercerized cotton. Either method is so easy that you can make an attractive gift for baby in an afternoon.

Stamp the design on the material to be appliqued and cut out allowing about ⅛-inch on all edges. Baste the birds in place on the article, and applique with outline-stitch worked in the color of material of the bird. This should be done with heavy mercerized cotton, so that it will give the appearance of a cord and prevent the fabric from fraying. The edges of the birds should be clipped close to the outlining after the work is finished.

The transfer pattern 14445, includes one transfer of each of the 10 designs, which are from 5 to 10 inches high.

Annual Christmas Sale of Pianos and Player-Pianos

(Tomorrow, Thursday, December 18)

Every year, just before Christmas—for that is the time of year when so many fathers and mothers give to their children the greatest of all gifts—we do three things:

(1) Round up all the used pianos and player-pianos taken by us in exchange in the regular course of business;

(2) Reduce prices on all new pianos and player-pianos which show signs of having been handled;

(3) Put them all in first-class condition and offer them in one great sale at the lowest prices of the year for instruments off equal quality.

Unusual Features

The used instruments—every one has given good service in a good home, and has only been given up because its owner's musical education had developed to the point where only a Chickering, a Schomacker, an Emerson, a Lindeman or a Knabe piano, or an Angelus player-piano would satisfy. Not one of them is marked at a price beyond the actual figure of the allowance made upon it, plus the cost of necessary repairs. Not one of them belongs to that class of instruments advertised under various pretences, sold and sent back because it failed to satisfy.

The new instruments—used on the Salon floors for demonstration purposes or exhibited in the House Palatial; in quality of tone and durability as good as ever; instruments sold by us every business day at their fixed regular prices; and the excellence of which has brought to us the largest piano business in the world.

Tomorrow, then, at 8.30, they all go on sale. And those who would share in the savings of a piano sale totally unlike any other the city of New York has seen since last August, will do well to come early.

No reservations have been made. None will be made. Every instrument listed here will be on the floors for choice when the store opens tomorrow.

Special Terms

will be arranged to suit the convenience of of each purchaser. Only for the square pianos will purchasers be required to pay in full at time of purchase.

PERSONAL TRAITS OF HUERTA, MEXICO'S ARCH SCHEMER

A Far Seeing Man Whose Shrewdness Won the Admiration of Diaz.

As Soldier Made Study of His Country, With an Eye to the Future.

OUT of three years of ceaseless imbroglio in Mexico several figures have been in the ascendancy only to wane with the coming of overwhelming power from hidden sources. But today aligned against each other are two figures that command the attention of the civilized world. They are Victoriano Huerta and General Venustiano Carranza.

Huerta as provisional president faced the most forceful revolution in the republic's history when General Carranza, governor of the state of Coahuila, declaring himself the constitutionally elected president of the country, declared war upon the faction charged repeatedly with responsibility for the assassination of President Madero.

Both Huerta and Carranza are military men reared in the Porfirio Diaz school. Huerta received his military training as a member of the Chapultepec cadets, an organization similarly constituted to the West Point of the United States. He early demonstrated that he was a born soldier. He was eighteen when Porfirio Diaz appointed him, then a resident of Chihuahua, to a cadetship. He passed four years in the military school and then joined a coast regiment.

But in 1892, at the age of thirty-five, he emerged once more as a man who had served twelve years of active, routine army life and with the rank of lieutenant colonel in command of a military station.

Farseeing, Merciless Strategy.

He had many adventures with brigands, and one of them happened to be a turning point in his career, says a writer in the New York Press. On a certain day he was riding through a mountain pass, accompanied by two or three of his military family, when a group of men sprang out of the underbrush, covered them with rifles and called on them to surrender.

A man less able than Huerta might have made resistance. He did not. His mind leaped far ahead to a possible denouement worth while, and, probably to the inner disgust of his companions, he surrendered at once without even a show of fight.

Pleased as could be, the highwaymen admitted that they were part of Zegaza's bandits and conducted the distinguished prisoners to Zegaza's hut, and there after a brief parley Zegaza made a proposition whereby Huerta would receive material benefits if he would keep Zegaza informed of the days when Huerta's soldiers would be absent from a neighboring village, leaving it unprotected.

"Let me know in advance," said Zegaza, "when you are going to send your troops away from the village to patrol surrounding country, and on such days my band will quietly drop into the village, take any wines, food and money we may be in need of and depart without the necessity of killing any villagers or putting you to the trouble of fighting us."

Rewarded by Porfirio Diaz.

This is what Zegaza is reported to have said to Huerta, but what special inducements he may have offered is not recorded. But it is recorded that within two weeks Huerta sent a message of two words to Zegaza, and the two words were:

"Next Thursday."

Thursday came, and with it came to the village Zegaza and his band of outlaws. As soon as they were safely in the main street a detachment of Huerta's troops suddenly appeared in front of them and opened fire.

Several of Zegaza's men toppled from their saddles and fell to earth dead. Others were wounded, and all were at once surrounded and placed under arrest. Zegaza himself, described as a fearless, desperate man, was shot one week later, "in an attempt to escape from prison," according to the report at the time.

News of this sharp, quick, strategic action reached President Diaz, who had kept his eye on Huerta ever since as a lad he entered the military school at Chapultepec. Soon Lieutenant Colonel Huerta was ordered to report at the palace in Mexico City. Thither he went and was told to choose what post he liked best under the war department.

Knows Every Inch of Mexico.

His choice was not that of commanding a garrison in a city where he could attend dinners and balls and where he could see the drama, associate with interesting men and meet charming women. Instead of such a post he chose to be appointed chief of the geographical department—to the surprise of all who did not know him well.

And as soon as possible he again departed from Mexico City, and for another period of ten long years he was engaged in going from one end of Mexico to another, studying the location of rivers, plateaus, mountain ranges, surveying hundreds and thousands of square miles and becoming intimately acquainted with every nook and cranny and water course of his difficult country until, when he once more emerged in 1902, he probably possessed more intimate personal knowledge of Mexico than any other living man.

He finished this survey and map-making work with the rank of a brigadier general.

Bravery Unquestioned.

General Huerta was born in Chihuahua about sixty years ago. He is married and has several children.

In personality General Huerta is a man of strong will and a severe disciplinarian. While recently the statement has been made that his supremacy in the Mexican government has made him wealthy; on the other hand, he is said to be comparatively poor. His personal bravery is unquestioned, as indicated by his act in saving a small community of foreign residents from rebel attack while in command of the southern troops under President Diaz. With but a few accompanying him, General Huerta rode through the rebel lines in an automobile and returned at the head of a force sufficient to drive off the attacking body.

RULING ON GRAIN GRADES UPHELD BY THE DEALERS

Association Favors Standardization of Foreign Cereals by Government.

Representatives of the National Grain Dealers' association have formally notified Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture in Washington that the organization favored the government's proposed standardization of foreign grades.

The adoption of the new grades by the association was over the protest of representatives of the Baltimore chamber of commerce, who declared that the promulgation of the new grades would seriously affect their export trade, the largest in the country.

Many of the speakers at a hearing recently, while favoring the proposed grades, urged modifications.

In place of the government's proposed No. 3 corn, with a moisture content of 17.5 per cent they urged the substitution of a grade to be called "standard" and making the government's proposed No. 4 a No. 3 with a moisture test of 19.5 per cent. This, they pointed out, would leave the present grades practically unchanged and would give the producer an incentive to produce a "standard" grain with a moisture test of 17.5 per cent.

In view of the action of the Grain Dealers' association, agricultural department officials expect no other legislation, aside from the pure food law, will be needed for enforcing the new grades, which will be promulgated soon.

A gold coin, one of the 365 mancuses which King Offa (A. D. 757-796) agreed to pay yearly to Pope Adrian I as Peter's pence, has just been sold for $1,075 in London. It weighs sixty-six grains.

Skeleton of Horned Dinosaur Unearthed in Alberta, Canada.

Enough bones of the monoclonius, or horned dinosaur, have at last been unearthed from the Red Deer river region in Alberta, Canada, to form the first complete skeleton of the prehistoric creature. Barnum Brown of the staff of the American Museum of Natural History, in New York city, has just returned with a carload of bones of the dinosaur and other mammoth animals which flourished in the Red Deer river region some 3,000,000 years ago, it is estimated.

Fragments of the bones which now make up the first complete skeleton of the monoclonius were first discovered in 1876. The skeleton complete shows that the creature stood about five feet high and was fifteen feet long.

Besides the monoclonius there were found parts of three new species of the horned dinosaur and sufficient material to complete the skeleton of an ankylosaurus, a weird creature, which had a coat resembling a suit of armor and carried a sort of club at the end of its tail. The discoveries made the dinosaurus collection of the Natural History museum the finest of the sort in the world.

Artist's Picture Drove Him to Suicide.

Fearing he was becoming a living likeness of his own painting of a human derelict, Albert B. Schults, for many years a prominent sketch artist in New York city, committed suicide. Schults, whose pictures until only a few years ago were sought by the popular magazines and illustrated journals, was one of the last of the old school of artists who did their work on wood blocks.

M. EMIL HANSEN SHOOTS HIMSELF

Plainfielder Fires Bullet Into His Head in Battery Park in New York.

NO KNOWN REASON

Contractor and Builder Kissed Family Good-bye in the Morning—Neighbor Says That She Had a Premonition.

Hovering between life and death, M. Emil Hansen, of 425 Orchard place, a carpenter, builder and real estate operator, is in the Hudson Street Hospital, New York city, with a bullet wound in his head, which the police say he inflicted himself in an attempt last night to take his own life. According to the report made to the local authorities by the New York police, he sent a bullet crashing into his head as he was walking along Battery Park, in that city.

On being notified of the occurrence, members of the Hansen family hastened to the New York hospital. Mrs. Hansen, when told of her husband's act, became hysterical.

No cause is assigned for Mr. Hansen's act by his wife, and his daughters, Mrs. Nelson, of Washington place, and Miss Henrietta Hansen, who lives at home. They say he kissed them "goodbye" yesterday morning shortly after 8 o'clock, saying he was going to the Metropolis on business. As far as is known he had no business troubles. His friends say he was extremely nervous at times.

Mrs. C. R. Heinberg, of 427 Orchard place, an intimate friend of the Hansen family had a premonition that something was going to happen to the injured man, according to a statement she made today to reporters. She said she saw Mr. Hansen kiss his wife as he was leaving the house and asserted that the thought flashed through her mind that he may never see his family again. Mrs. Heinberg, when informed that Mr. Hansen had attempted to take his life, as the police say, burst into tears.

The hospital authorities, when called by telephone at 3 o'clock this afternoon, said Mr. Hansen had a fighting chance for life. He is liable to arrest on a charge of attempting suicide.

Mr. Hansen, for many years, was employed as a mechanic on the farms of Daniel Ginna. Recently, however, he has been in business for himself as a real estat operator. He had a shop in the rear of the property at 136 Park avenue.

ABSCESS ON BRAIN CAUSED HER DEATH

Mrs. George B. Zimmer Was First Sticken With Pneumonia.

Mrs. Mabel L. Zimmer, aged 30 years, wife of George B. Zimmer, of 425 East Fifth street, died at Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning. She was taken ill with pneumonia, Friday night, December 5, after returning from Warren chapel, where she assisted at a dinner given by the Men's Association, and later an abscess on the brain developed, which was the direct cause of death.

Mrs. Zimmer was the daughter of Mrs. Annie LaTourette, and was born at Whitehouse. She had been a resident of Plainfield about twenty years. She was a member of Warren chapel and active in the departments of work there. She is survived by her mother, a husband, three children, Clifford, Mildred and Helen Zimmer, and one brother, William Kenney.

The funeral will be held at the late home, Monday afternoon, at 2:45 o'clock. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

ANTONIO JARGEBOAISKI WAS SOME WILD INDIAN

Patrolman George Muir had a hard tussle with Antonio Jargebaiski, of Cottage place, last night at Front street and Bank place, before he subdued the man and placed him under arrest, charging him with being intoxicated and with disorderly and with resisting an officer. Arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning, the prisoner was given a jail sentence of sixty days.

Jargebaiski, while battling with the swarthy patrolman, attempted to pull a weapon from his pocket, the police say, but Muir pinned his arms to his side and dealt him a stinging blow in the face. The man fought buriously in his effort to save himself from arrest.

GYPSY QUEEN'S DAUGHTER BURIED

Ruth Harrison, Who Died Three Years Ago, Laid at Rest at Hillside.

TRIBE AT OBSEQUIES

Body of Great Granddaughter of Libbie Riley, Once Head of Riley, Harrison, Cooper and Stanley Tribes Placed Beside Hers.

The body of Miss Ruth Harrison, aged fifteen years, of the Harrison tribe of gypsies, and great-granddaughter of the late Mrs. Sibbie Riley, known as the Queen of the Riley, Harrison, Cooper and Stanley tribes, was brought to Plainfield yesterday from Laurel, Pa., where she died three years ago and was buried beside the remains of the former gypsy Queen in Hillside cemetery. Simple services were conducted by Rev. C. W. F. Attlee, of this city, in the presence of a small company of relatives and friends, all gypsies of the tribes mentioned.

Queen Sibbie died on February 3, 1904, at Shrewsbury, and was buried in Hillside cemetery with impressive ceremonies. For the fifty years of her life she roamed through Great Britain and the United States, telling fortunes for any one who had a piece of silver to cross her palm and ruling all her tribe of fellow wagon wanderers with tyranny. She was the head of the Harrison clan, while the Rileys, Coopers and Stanleys form the sub-divisions, and are again subdivided when marriages occur outside of the hereditary membership of the gypsies.

While Queen Sibbie died in February, the burial did not take place until the following spring, when all the tribes gathered here as was their custom. Two years before her death she picked her successor as Queen, the honor falling upon Posy Harrison, her most beautiful grandchild. The coronation was set for different times, but although it never took place, so far as outsiders knew, Posy was afterward heralded and known among the tribes as Queen. The young woman buried here yesterday was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henen Harrison, the mother being a granddaughter of the former Queen.

HOUNDS SET FAST PACE IN MID-WEEK RUN

The mid-week run of the Watchung hounds, yesterday afternoon, was exciting for riders, who followed the chase throughout, as the hounds set a fast pace, and an eye-witness from the highway would have thought that the riders were in a steeplechase race. The meeting place was at the kennels, the hounds being cast in nearby and going towards and checking at New Market. Cast in again the hounds continued the chase going toward New Brunswick, circling around and finishing at Metuchen.

Among those in the field were R. C. Finch, M. F. H., L. B. Smith, Fred Alpers, R. H. Towner, S. D. French, Miss Gertrude Noe, William Palmer Smith, Jr., and Huntsman Harrison, while a number of grooms were out exercising hunters.

FORRESTER—SHALLER.

Miss Hazel Edith Forrester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Forrester, of this city, and Wiliam Justin Shaller, of Newark, were quietly married last night by Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, at his home on Central avenue. The couple was accompanied by a few friends. They will live in Newark, where the bridegroom is employed.

The entertainment to be given at The Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon by the Plainfield College Club will begin at 3:15 instead of 2:30 o'clock as previously announced the change being made to accommodate the school children in the city who wish to attend.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR SUBSTANTIAL XMAS

Money Coming in to Relieve the Distress of Some Worthy Families.

Contributions to the Special Christmas Fund of the Charity Organization Society up to noon today total $127. Four cases selected need immediate relief and the days remaining till Christmas are few. It is felt that everyone who has been in the habit of looking out for the welfare of some poor family or of some group of children at the holiday season, will be anxious to help these four desperately needy cases to a permanent bettering of their condition. The "Good Fellows" movement is replaced this year by the "Community Christmas" plan.

The preliminary announcement of the Christmas Fund in the Daily Press of Monday brought in $14 even before any of the four cases had been described, and many more have expressed their interest and are waiting for details. The Society is especially eager for a large number of new subscribers, people who have not contributed regularly in the past. You cannot connect yourself even slightly with this great work among the poor without becoming interested in it.

Case No. 1 concerns a widowed mother struggling to support four children, one an invalid, on her earnings of $5 a week. Would one care to approach Christmas facing such an undertaking?

Case No. 2 presents a picture of even greater helplessness; four of the brightest, prettiest babies which have ever come under the observation of the Society's visitors. They come from two families. Both mothers have just been sent to Bonnie Burn for treatment for tuberculosis. There are nine children in all. Some can be cared for in a home, but these four babies are too young for admission—the oldest is 2½ years, the youngest three months. An ideal boarding place has been found for them at $10 a week for the four, but their board must be paid during the six or eight months that the mothers will be away. The fathers are unskilled laborers making about $1.25 a day, with some of the other children to support. Reason may ask why these children were brought into the world, but they are here, they are attractive both in nature and in appearance, and certainly they cannot help themselves. Who will help them?

The first appeal brought about $105. One check was received providing in full the $30 needed to save "Case No. 1" from eviction. Such a Christmas offering must bring real happiness to the donor. So many contributions have been "Anonymous" that it is thought best simply to announce the amount received each day. What one gives may be applied directly to any one but kindly send it at once and choose afterward. The total is still far from the amount needed. Let the final sum be composed of many small contributions, not a few large ones.

Address, The Special Christmas Fund, Charity Organization Society, 323 Babcock Buiding, telephone 103.

Checks should be drawn to the Society.

FREDERIC BUTLER PASSES AWAY

Prominent Plainfielder Succumbs After About Two Years' Illness.

RHEUMATISM FATAL

Fire Insurance Broker Identified With Local Institutions and Societies—Was Universally Popular—Funeral Arrangements Later.

Frederic W. Butler, aged forty-eight years, a well-known resident of this city, died this afternoon at his home, 117 East Ninth street, after an illness extending over a period of about two years, during which time he took a trip abroad in the hope that the change would prove beneficial. In October last he was taken with rheumatism which developed into the muscular form of the disease more recently and on Sunday his condition became so critical that the physicians gave up hope of recovery.

Mr. Butler was born in Buffalo, N. Y., being the son of the late C. W. Butler. He came to Plainfield about eighteen years ago, and during his residence here was actively interested in the welfare of the city, although he never held office. For many years he was engaged in the fire insurance business in New York city. He was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., the Plainfield Country Club and the Park Club. He was always interested in Muhlenberg Hospital and took part in several functions held for the benefit of the institution.

There survives a wife, Mrs. Stella Sprague Butler; three daughters, the Misses Gertrude, Dorothy and Estella Butler; a son, Warren Butler, and a mother, Mrs. C. W. Butler.

The notice of funeral will be given later.

MIANTONOMO TRIBE'S ANNUAL ELECTION HELD

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Miantonomo Tribe, Improved Order of Redmen, held in the lodge rooms last night: Prophet, George Ivins; senior sagamore, John Flynn; junior sagamore, John Madden; chief of records, Charles Holstein; keeper of wampum, Percy H. Culver; trustee, Peter Sheridan; representative, Chas. H. Hollowell; alternate, David Allen.

There will be no more meetings of the tribe until next year, but the twenty-first anniversary of the order will be celebrated here tonight when representative delegations from the Newark and Cranford branches will come to Plainfield to assist in the ceremonies. Six were initiated at last night's session and the chiefs of the order will be raised, January 7, that being the date set last night for the affair.

"LADIES' NIGHT" WILL BE HELD IN COLUMBUS CLUB

A "Ladies' Night," arranged by the members of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, will be held at the Columbus Club on West Front street tonight and an elaborate program of entertainment has been prepared by the committee in charge.

During the evening John J. Hickey, of Bayonne, will deliver an illustrated lecture on some appropriate topic. Various other forms of amusement have been planned and the Knights of Columbus bowlers will turn over the use of the new alleys to the women who enjoy this form of sport. Competent instructors in the alley game will be on hand to interest a number of the guests in bowling.

IVINS MAKES ESTIMATE ON MEADOWS FILLING-IN

DeWitt C. Ivins, of this city, and John D. Dailey, of the firm of Dailey & Ivins, of New York, contractors, appeared before the Boards of Works of Newark, on Tuesday, to give figures on "filling in" in connection with an extensive plan for reclaiming eighty acres of the Newark meadows land.

They both said that they might be able to furnish material for twelve and one-half cents a square yard, but that this estimate was not final as they must first know the kind of material and the amount desired.

GEO. W. PERKINS GIVES ADVICE TO BUSINESS COLLEGE GRADUATES

Captain of Industry Tells Outgoing Class to Put Their Whole Heart in Work.

PITIES THE IDLE RICH

Dr. Saunders Presides at Exercises In Which Mayors of City and Borough and Other Officials Participate.

The executives and members of the governing bodies of both the city and borough, together with other representative citizens, relatives and friends of the graduates, attended the graduation exercises of the Class of 1913 of Herr's School, the Plainfield Business College and School of English, at the Plainfield theatre, last night, and enjoyed a program of unusual merit. Combined with the literary features there were selections by an orchestra in charge of Martin A. Korff, while a sextette comprising graduates gave instrumental numbers. The feature of the evening was the address by George W. Perkins, of New York, who spoke on "Business Training."

Dr. William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, presided and following an opening selection by the orchestra, he took occasion to congratulate the management of the school and commented on the continued growth and influence of the institution. The invocation was by Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, and after another selection by the orchestra, Mayor Percy H. Stewart was introduced.

"We are facing big problems today," said Mr. Stewart, "and they must be solved by future citizens such as we see in this graduating class tonight. It is well to turn our minds back and see how things have been accomplished and then look forward and squarely meet the problems before us. The world is looking for competent, well trained, honest people. The great trouble has been that there are many who have not been prepared to do the work which has been so willingly given to them.

"There is another aspect. We go to our reformatories and there see young men between the ages of fifteen and eighteen years of age. Not long ago I visited our city jail and noticed that not a single person detained there was over twenty years of age. There is a reason for this. Young people start out with no preparation for life. This college is doing a great Christian work, a philanthropic work in sending out those who can take part in the world's work, and it deserves credit for attracting men here who have reached high success and I extend them a hearty welcome."

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield, the next speaker, said that on such occasions he regretted that the city and borough was not one community, and expressed the hope that the time would not be far distant when the two places would be united. He said that he was glad to express a nieghborly feeling to the institution which was doing such good work.

"It is efficiency that counts in these days," said Mr. Clark, "whether in politics or other walks of life, and it is a great thing to take a person after leaving high school and determine his or her bent and direct that person in the way where the greatest good can be accomplished," and in conclusion expressed the hope that the growth of the school would continue.

After extending a welcome to those present and giving a brief review of the ten years' history of the school, not forgetting to add that it was to his wife that the success of the institution was due, Mr. Herr presented the diplomas to the graduates. He stated that the class in average ability, character and loyalty it was more marked than in any previous class. More than one-half of the students, Mr. Herr said, are now engaged in business in all walks of life. He read a letter from United States Senator James E. Martine in which he expressed regret that he was unable to be present.

In introducing Mr. Perkins, Dr Saunders referred to him as a private citizen, a man who had never held political office, but one who had helped the business interests, a champion of human rights in business, and one who possessed honesty, integrity and a Christian character.

Mr. Perkins said that he had no desire to start any friction, but he wanted to take exception to Mr. Herr's reference to the class of "42" for there was evidence that not one of the class was more than "16." As to the proposition to consolidate city and borough, he wondered whether that would be permissable under the "Seven Sisters" act. He did not want anyone present to think that he was a party to such a scheme of consolidation, for, he added, the suggestion of such a thing in this State might be considered treason.

WEST END CIVIC ASS'N TO PLAY SANTA CLAUS

Xmas Entertainment for Some 1,000 Kiddies Will Be Provided.

Although but little more than a year old, the West End Civic Association has increased in membership and importance to the extent that it plans to play the part of Santa Claus for the children of the district in which it is interested. The organization has secured the assistance of George L. Babcock and Manager Harry S. Sanderson, of Proctor's theatre, and with their help will give a Christmas entertainment in the Washington School on Tuesday night, December 30. The program will include moving pictures, vocal and instrumental music and other things of a nature to amuse juveniles. Afterwards, a real live Santa Claus will distribute candy and oranges. Admission will be by ticket and 1,000 of them will be distributed free to the children of the West End.

The committee which is arranging the affair and which will have charge of the entertainment is composed of the following: Barton K. Davis, chairman; Dr. P. B. Cregar, William J. Boyd and Thomas F. Hylan. They will be assisted by these patronesses: Mrs. W. J. Boyd, Mrs. P. B. Cregar, Mrs. Thomas F. Hylan, Mrs. Joseph Edgar, Mrs. John J. Carroll, Mrs. Charles O. Pearson, Mrs. T. C. Vail, Mrs. E. G. Maher, Mrs. R. A. Claybrook, Mrs. Frank A. Weeks, Mrs. W. W. Robison and Mrs. D. J Galbraith.

The West End Civic Association was organized in October, 1912, for the purpose of promoting civic interest in that section of the city. Its personnel numbers over 100 leading citizens and four of its members were elected to the Common Council at the last election. It has taken an active part in all municipal affairs, on more than one occasion lending valuable assistance to the city fathers. The Christmas entertainment to be given is a new departure for an organization of this kind but so much interest has already been manifested, its success is assured.

COMMUNITY SANTA CLAUS INTERESTS PLAINFIELDERS

There has been much enthusiasm over the proposed Community Santa Claus. More than thirty people have offered the use of their automobiles and many have sent in contributions of money. Among the latter was one received from one who signed herself as a "Plainfield Working Girl" and who expressed great interest in the movement and was glad of the opportunity to do something for others.

The committee is in need, however, of more money and would like also the names of any who will assist in the preparation and distribution of the gifts. Money and names should be sent to Charles A. Rice, 36 West Seventh street.

CHRISTMAS EXERCISES AT FRANKLIN SCHOOL

The pupils of the Franklin School have held many rehearsals for the Christmas program to be rendered in the auditorium of that institution tomorrow afternoon at 1:45 o'clock. Miss Noel J. Bullock, the principal, will be in charge and will also deliver an address appropriate to the occasion.

The program follows:

Carol, "Hasten Ye," by the school; carol, "Fling Wide the Gates of Glory;" song, "The Dear Baby Jesus," by twenty children from grades one and two; carol, "The Silver Stars;" carol, "O, Shepherds List the Story;" old English carol, "God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen;" carol, "Tidings of Peace;" carol, "Star of the King," solo by Miss Sarah Johnson; carol, "Draw Near;" hymn, "Margaret;" song, "The Holy Child," by members of highest fifth grade; song, "The Star of Bethlehem," by the school.

According to Instructor Batterson, he has arranged a basketball game between the local first five and the St. James Triangle quintet, champions of Greater New York and member of the Hudson River League. As this aggregation is considered one of the best in the country and a team to which unusually high guarantees are given, it seems practically certain that some mistake has been made. It is undoubtedly the St. James second or third team which will be seen here in action on Wednesday night, Jan. 7. The St. James "first" five is a professional quintet also.

William Jackson Myer, of Elizabeth, formerly of the borough, died suddenly Monday on a railroad train while en route for his home from Scranton, Pa. His widow was formerly Miss Eleanor Webster, of Plainfield.

Over a dozen taxpayers appealed for a lower assessment yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the Middlesex County Board of Taxation held a session in the Borough Hall, for that purpose. The hearing at Piscataway took place at 3 o'clock. Some of the appeals are as follows: Edgar J. Boice, house and 110 acres of land, assessed at $7,150—asks that it be cut to $6,150; Sidney E. Wiliams, house, barn and 45 acres of land, assessed at $3,900—asks that the figure be made $2,600; John M. Evans, house and 93 acres of land, assessed at $10,625—asks that this be reduced to $8,000.

Somerville

The members of Lincoln Hose Company were entertained by the members of Central Hook and Ladder Company, in the rooms of the latter company, last night. About fifty members were present. The guests were welcomed by former Chief W. D. Quick, who also acted as toastmaster at the luncheon served in Siemson's dining rooms. The first part of the evening was spent in card playing, pool and other amusements and the latter part in discussing the excellent menu provided at the lunch, which included fried oysters, ham, pickles, olives, celery, coffee, etc. At the conclusion of the dinner, a number of addresses were made by the visiting firemen and the members of Central Hook and Ladder. This was the third in the series of entertainments inaugurated by the members of Central Hook and Ladder Company, which has entertained each of the other fire companies of the borough fire department, which have been a success in every way.

The body of Alfred U. Mathews, a former resident of this place, who died at his home in New York city on Monday, was brought here this morning and interred in the new cemetery about noon. NEW KINKS IN HORSE RACING REGULATIONS

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Record time in a single heat of a trotting race will not constitute a new record if the horse does not win the race and will not affect the horse's class, according to an agreement on rules made yesterday by the National Trotting Association and the American Trotting Association after two days of conference.

The new rule provides that a horse must win at least one race before he can be advanced to a higher class.

The same distance rules henceforth will govern both associations. The two organizations will meet the second week in February, the National in New York and the American in Chicago.

The associations agreed that all fines and penalties shall be given to injured and needy drivers.

The Annual Fish Show; Aquarium Society Displays Finny Wonders

THERE are horse shows and dog shows and cat shows without number, but few know that at this time of the year there is an annual fish show in New York city. This is the annual exhibition of the Aquarium society. Two specimens of the fish family shown in the cut below are quite rare and extraordinary and worthy of blue ribbons.

The hobby for keeping aquaria in which wonderful examples of tiny fish are bred is becoming more and more popular throughout the United States every year. Men who have the hobby are no longer content simply to keep their aquaria as decorative objects. They are engaged instead in breeding fish in hundreds of varieties and by cross breeding among the goldfishes in obtaining remarkable and interesting new varieties. The amateur toy fish fancier of today breeds his tiny treasures for "points" as carefully as the owner of kennels looks after the development of his prize winning dogs or as the stock farm manager watches and guards his prospective entries for the turf or the horse show.

Some of the men connected with the Aquarium society have more than a hundred aquaria, in which they keep as many as 200 varieties of small fish. The New York amateurs devote themselves largely to the small tropical fishes, which they purchase from all parts of the world. Goldfish are not so popular with the aquarium owners of New York. Philadelphia is the great center for goldfish competition. More remarkable goldfish are owned there than in any other city of this country.

While the prize aquarium fish has never yet attained to the price of a prize dog, or even of a prize cat, as much as $1,000 is asked for a pair of prize winners of the aquarium world which measure about four inches in length. This price is asked for a pair of large lion heads which are diploma winners. Such a price is very unusual. The range of prices for the desirable pairs is ordinarily from $10 to $100.

THE GREAT SWALLOWER AFTER GORGING ITS PREY.

A SEA FROG.

To obtain the tiny beauties which are in demand for the aquaria traders explore some of the most remote waters of the earth. Among the interesting tropical fish are some beautiful green shaded fish striped with black and having long yellow fins. Although many men have sought to obtain these fish, it is almost impossible to bring them to this country alive. So far as is known to aquarium experts, there are but four pairs in the United States at present. These fish are found in a little creek about 1,500 miles up the Amazon river. According to the New York fanciers, they have never been found anywhere else in the world. The name given by science to these rare beauties is Pterophillum scalare. The blowfish from India, distinguished by the vivid black spots on its body, is another fish difficult to bring to this country alive.

The fighting fish of Asia are also star boarders in modern aquaria. The Danio rerior, from India, is one of the beauties of the piscatory world which have representatives in a number of aquaria. In shape the fish is [illegible], but its entire body and [illegible] striped with bands of vivid blue and white or blue and yellow, so that it makes as dazzling an appearance as the most brilliant goldfish. Another Indian beauty is the Trichogaster balius, one of the fish which make a nest of bubbles. Its blue and silver body is crossed with red. Another wonderful example of piscatorial magnificence is the Xiphophorus helleri gunth from Mexico.

Recently the life bearing fish which come from South America have interested many of the aquaria breeders.

While the efforts of the men who breed the tropical fishes are first to keep the fish which they purchase from foreign agents alive, then to get them to breed, and after this end has been attained to have them breed true to color, if not to improve upon the original color, the goldfish breeders go a step further in their ambitions and by cross breeding seek to obtain specimens having larger or more interestingly shaped tails or fins, as well as to breed fish having peculiarly spotted or otherwise figured skins. The goldfish has so long been a civilized creature that the art of bringing it to perfection is nothing like so difficult as that of cultivating the wild fish whose ancestors have roamed at liberty in tropical waters.

WOLF HOUND KIDNAPS FIRE COMPANY MASCOT

One of the most peculiar cases of "kidnapping," if the term is not a misnomer, coming to light locally, is reported by the members of West End Hose Company, No. 3. The firemen had a handsome black cat, called "Pyro," as a house mascot, which was a great favorite with everyone. The feline was playing about the driveway of the building on Sunday when a large wolf hound, strange to the neighborhood, came trotting up. "Pyro" was at first inclined to give battle but finding the dog was bent on play, joined in a frolic.

The two romped about for an hour or more, the unusual sight attracting a large crowd of spectators. Suddenly the wolf hound seemed to tire of the sport and reaching out grabbed the cat up in its teeth. Before the astonished onlookers could interefere, the hound made off on a run, bearing away the yowling, struggling pet.

Several boys gave chase without avail, giving up pursuit after a few blocks. Since then nothing has been heard from the pet, with the exception of one report furnished by a visitor to the house, who said he saw the "kidnapper" and the "kidnapped" playing at Grant avenue and Seventh street. It appears like a bona fide case of enforced detention and the fireman are afraid that "Pyro" is beyond all aid.

WAYWARD YOUTH HELD FOR JUVENILE COURT

Testified against by eight-year-old Clarence Briggs, of North avenue, who saw the men's furnishing store of DeMeza & Blimm entered Sunday by Edward Irby, colored, 14 years old, of West Fourth street, the latter was held for the Juvenile Court this morning by Judge DeMeza.

Irby, who has caused the local police considerable trouble, was arrested by Detective-Sergeant John J. Flynn for playing truant. While looking for the colored lad, Flynn heard of the looting of the store. He gathered enough evidence to prove Irby the guilty one. Young Briggs substantiated the detective's story. DeMeza & Blimm did not know that their establishment had been entered until informed by Flynn.

HE CARRIED A WEAPON; WAS FINED TEN DOLLARS

Arrested after a long chase by Patrolman Hendershot, Ralph De Labria, of Randolph road, who was riding a bicycle without a light, last night, tried to discard a long and treacherous-looking dagger which he carried in an inside pocket. Hendershot noticed his prisoner attempt to throw the weapon in a clump of bushes along Randolph road, and brought the man to headquarters where he lodged a complaint against him of "carrying concealed weapons." Arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza, the defendant was fined $10, with a warning that a repetition of the offense would earn for him a prison sentence.

done to give the people pure milk and neighborhood gathering places and preventoriums for the ailing, he appointed her.

"What we shall try to obtain in this commission is not volumes and volumes of testimony, but concise reports containing practical suggestions," said Mrs. Harriman in a recent interview.

"My ambition is to emphasize the responsibility of local environment. I don't mean that I consider that the most important part of the industrial problem. I only feel that that is in danger of being neglected in favor of researches concerning wages and working hours, and I intend to bring out as far as I can its real importance.

"In Belgium the matter of community life has been worked out in a way we might well follow. I often contrast that country in my mind—the theaters and other recreation opportunities placed within reach of the people, with result that they have the most contented workmen in the world. I contrast that with conditions in some of our towns, with their almost total lack of decent picture shows, dance halls or public parks.

"While these phases of the industrial problem are only a small part of it, I do believe it is most necessary to fix local responsibility for local environment."

WATER PRESSURE

Tremendous Force Exerted at the Bottom of the Sea.

AIR THERE COULD NOT RISE.

It Would Be Compressed to Such a Degree of Density by the Enormous Weight That the Water Would Float Upon It—Limits of Diving Depths.

From ordinary considerations it would seem that there is no limit to the depths to which a diver or a submarine boat might go. Such, however, is not the case. What prevents diving to great depths is the enormously increasing pressure of water. No diver without a suit can go over 150 feet, because the pressure on the body is then about five tons to the square foot on his body. Eardrums would be staved in, and other fearful difficulties would result.

To remedy this the diving suit was invented, but there is a limit also to its depth. At a depth of one mile the pressure due to the water alone is 165 tons to the square foot. Even if a diving suit was devised to withstand this enormous pressure trouble would be found in getting a pipe line that long and withstanding the pressure that would not break of its own weight.

In the case of a submarine boat it is slightly different. Here only the strength of the boat is the necessary thing. But to be strong the walls have to be thickened, and this adds to the weight, consequently adding to the load to be pulled through the water, and so at last the limit of the engine propelling the boat is reached. If a larger engine is procured it itself weighs more, larger quarters are needed for it, etc. So there is a well defined limit to a marine boat's diving.

Let us take the extreme depth of the sea so far found, that of five miles, and find the pressure to the square foot on the bottom. As water is comparatively incompressible, a cubic foot of it weighs practically the same on the surface as at the bottom of the sea. In the case of fresh water this is sixty-two and a half pounds. Salt water weighs slightly more. So all one has to do to find the pressure due to the water at any depth is to multiply the depth in feet by sixty-two and a half, and the answer is apparent at once in pounds.

At a depth of five miles, the number of feet being 26,400, we have that number of cubic feet to multiply by sixty-two and a half. The answer is 1,650,000 pounds, or 825 tons, to the square foot pressure. No known hollow vessel can withstand this.

While on the subject of increasing water pressure a number of interesting observations can be made in connection with air compressibility. Air is very compressible, the volume decreasing as the pressure increases. If a bottle is tightly corked it will contain air at ordinary pressure of fifteen pounds to the square inch, and that is the pressure it exerts. Then tie a weight to the bottle and let it down in the sea by means of a string. On bringing it to the top again it will be found that the stopper has been forced into the bottle by the water pressure. If the bottle is filled with water and stoppered and let down no such thing takes place, showing that water is not compressible to any great extent.

If by any means some air could be placed at the bottom of a sea five miles deep it would not rise to the top, for it would be denser—that is, would weigh more to the cubic foot than water—and the water would have to float on the air; hence no man knows if the bottom of our seas is wet or not.

There is only one thing that would prevent the air from becoming this dense, and that is if it was cold enough it would liquefy. However, it is almost impossible—is, in fact, impossible—for anything at the bottom of the sea to be colder than 4 degrees C., for if it got colder the water around it would become colder and larger and consequently lighter and rise, and its place would be taken by 4 degree water, which would bring the object to that temperature. So we have no argument against the suggestion, for the temperature at or below which air liquefies is between 100 and 200 degrees below zero C.

Some people seem to think that a stone thrown into the sea can sink only to a certain depth and is there held suspended on account of the pressure of water. A body immersed in fluid is buoyed up only by the weight of the fluid displaced. We have found that water is practically incompressible, so if the stone displaces a cubic foot of water that water weighs the same, or practically so, at the top or at the bottom of the sea. So the stone would be buoyed up only by that constant force and would be carried down by its weight. Thus the difference in the forces would be always downward, and the stone would sink to the bottom.

In fact, if the stone is at all compressible the tendency is for it to get heavier per unit volume as it goes down, for we have the same weight in a smaller space. It will be remembered that this is what happens to the air if we take it in a rubber bag under the surface of the sea. The volume gets less and less, consequently weighing more and more per unit volume and displacing less and less water and being buoyed up less and less until at last a place is reached where the air weighs more volume for volume than does the water and it will not rise.—Lawrence Hodges in Chicago Record-Herald.

Ewing, of Baltimore, who, with a party was hunting on his preserve.

The entire hearing was occupied by the examination of sixteen postmasters and many clerks from nearly every municipality in the county, as to whether or not, notices of the appeal that the borough had taken had been sent to the various cities, towns and boroughs by Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver, as the law required.

COMMUNITY XMAS.

You've thought of all the children, selected Christmas cards.
Of course you've bought a present for your wife
Don't forget your contribution to the Federation Fund
Send a sunbeam to some darkened little life.

If you could peep behind the scenes into these sordid homes
See the dreariness that poverty has sown
Then see the happiness your gift has brought into these lives
'Twill surely send a sunbeam in your own.

If you want a "Happy Christmas," the best you've ever had,
In the Christmas spirit make some sacrifice
And loosening up your purse-strings for these dreary little tots
Send your check or cash along to Mr. Rice.

THE ORIGINAL BIG SISTER.

New Home For Society Organized by Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr.

At the time the Big Brother society was organized, some three years after the children's court was established in New York, it was not believed necessary to take into consideration any definite proposition looking to the care of little girls, "since most of them are easily taken care of from the very nature of their cases."

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr., with her keen insight and understanding of every phase of social conditions, looked more deeply into the situation. From her first survey of this field she recognized a condition in nearly every case of moral delinquency that would require intelligent direction in the reclamation of these unfortunate girls, who in most instances were victims of circumstances and environment rather than willful offenders.

It was because of this conviction that Mrs. Vanderbilt began her visits of personal investigation to the children's court, from which has developed the now well organized Society of Big Sisters, of which, as the original big sister, she is president and leading spirit. Mrs. Vanderbilt found that such girls were not so much in need of punitive correction, institutional restraint or the judicial protection offered by the court, as they were of words of encouragement, the kindly aid of human hearts and hands, the careful guardian ship of a friend, the directing influence of a woman, who heartfully cared—of a really and truly big sister.

In the cases of moral delinquency that came before the court, and especially those in which the circumstances left no alternative than that of commitment to a correctional institution, Mrs. Vanderbilt interceded with the judge to parole the girl in her care whereupon she was immediately removed as far as possible from the associations that had led to her misfortune.

The number of little girls necessary to care for in homes other than their own increased to such an extent that it was found advisable to establish a little sisters' home, which was done at Great Neck, Long Island. This home was recently destroyed by fire, and a new and more pretentious home has been provided on a farm near White Plains. In the meantime the original big sister workers were organized, with a complete staff of officers, secretaries and field workers to secure a more concerted effort for the movement.

As with the work of the big brothers, the spirit of the big sister movement is rapidly developing throughout the country, and similar societies have been formed in Washington, Baltimore Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Louis and other cities.

Origin of Iron Duke.

The Iron Duke, of course, was Wellington, but he came by the nickname in a roundabout way. He was never so called until long after Waterloo. An iron steamship, a novelty at the time, was built in the Mersey and named the Duke of Wellington, and so the vessel came to be known as the Iron Duke, the transition being easy and obvious. It was the duke's union of resolution and physical energy which made the popular name for the Mersey built steamship to fit him like a perfect cap. Such, at least, is the explanation of his biographer, Sir Herbert Maxwell.

TELLS HOW ENGLISH SHOULD BE TAUGHT

Monograph on Composition and Grammar Received by Teachers.

The monograph prepared by the State Department of Education and adopted last week by the Union county principals as the new method for teaching English in the county schools was sent to all the teachers in the county yesterday. The monograph is styled "The Teaching of Composition and Grammar."

In the foreward, Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, commissioner of education, says: "Poor teachers rely mainly upon mechanical methods of teaching English, which consumes time, and, while satisfying formal requirements of school programs, fail to bring about satisfactory results. No subject is more poorly adapted to mechanical methods than English. Too much reliance should not be placed upon text book rules, definitions and formal grammar; good results can be secured only by patient, skillful, intelligent teaching. Mere assignment of lessons, mere conducting recitations is neither teaching nor training.

The purpose of the pamphlet, as set forth in the introductory remarks, is to mark out the field of language study for elementary grades, to point out the main divisions in this field of study, to make evident the ends to be worked for and to present some of the methods of teaching and study that are generally approved. It is not intended to take the place of a text book, but rather that it shall supplement the use of a good text book, and that it shall help a teacher to use such text book wisely.

"Of the varied acquirements of human skill none is more desirable than the ability to express ideas adequately in effective words," "is a sample of what the pamphlet says, that the sharpest criticism of our schools come from business men who receive letters from graduates and pupils." Considerable space and numerous illustrations are used to show correct forms of letters and correspondence, business and otherwise, to lessen this criticism in the future.

The reason for this is shown, when it is declared that letters are the only form of composition ninety per cent. of the pupils will ever use. Included in the classification of letters are notices, telegrams and advertisements.

Many of the older rules of composition are dropped or not recommended, and one new phase in the more modern method of instruction is emphasized. This is the art of memorizing. In order to train the pupils' minds the teachers are told to have them memorize selections of literature, poetry and prose, and stress is laid upon the important fact that it is necessary for the individual to understand the thought of what is

TWO HUNDRED JERSEYMEN TO LOSE RAILROAD PASSES

New York, Dec. 18.—A statement made in Trenton yesterday that 2,000 State officials of New Jersey would be deprived of the privilege of riding on passes on the Lackawanna, by reason of the recent order issued by William H. Truesdale, president of the railroad company, was characterized at Lackawanna headquarters yesterday morning as a gross exaggeration.

"There are not 2,000 holders of pass orders issued by Secretary of State Crater," said a Lackawanna official.

"The truth is that only about 200 official pass holders will be affected by Mr. Truesdale's order. I cannot give the exact number, but it is only two or three below the 200 mark."

Christmas without the interchanging of gifts would be like a "helmless boat, a houseless street, to make its nothingness complete."

Presenting Gifts at Xmas Time is not merely a custom that has come down to us thru the ages—it is an expression of our best sentiments.

We admire the spirit with which men enter into the occasion by buying gifts for all the family and perhaps all the family's friends.

But why not put your own name down for a useful gift?

Don't overlook YOU—he's a good fellow and deserves to be remembered.

The Washington government was hoping for the successful settlement of the trouble in the election, when on October 11 President Huerta arrested eighty-four members of the Chamber of Deputies on a charge of sedition, dissolved Congress and proclaimed himself a dictator.

This convinced President Wilson that a reign of force was contemplated. When news came to Washington that Sir Lionel Carden had on the same day presented his credentials as British Minister to Mexico the Washington government was much disturbed.

Sir Lionel Carden was regarded both by the Taft and Wilson administrations as distinctly anti-American and supposedly in sympathy with the Pierson oil interests, headed by Lord Cowdray.

The resignation of Minister Aldape does not affect John Lind's pessimistic view of the situation, as he believes General Huerta will hold on.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy, Chargé d'Affaires in Mexico, is in constant communication with President Wilson.

It was announced recently at rebel headquarters in Juarez that General Venustiano Carranza, chief of the rebel forces in Mexico, may transfer his headquarters from Sonora to Juarez, the town which they captured from the federals.

PERKINS GIVES ADVICE

"Mr. Saunders referred to me as a man who had 'done things,'" said Mr. Perkins. "I have heard the district attorney say the same thing. When Mr. Saunders asked me to speak here, I inquired what the subject was to be, and he said take any subject and talk as long as you like. When I suggested Mexico, the tariff and currency, Mr. Saunders replied, 'Well, you must take your chances.'"

Becoming more serious, Mr. Perkins referred to the diploma given to the graduate as a kit of tools, and emphasized the importance of the recipient learning the use of these tools. He urged the graduates not to be afraid of their tools or of the world. He counseled them to go to work with the same enthusiasm as they would go to a dance or a baseball game. They should be thankful for work, he asserted, and he added that he pitied the idle rich of the great east, the men who have nothing to do. "Enjoy what you are doing and put your whole heart into your work and there will be no doubt of success," said Mr. Perkins.

"Success is not always accomplished by doing great things," said Mr. Perkins, "but in doing little things well." He then related an incident of how he had engaged a stenographer to do some work for him. She did the job so well, he said, that through his influence she was able to get a much better position. Her work was on the 100 per cent basis.

"Don't cumber up your minds with the text books of yesterday. The changing evolution of affairs is so rapid that it does not pay. In my short life I have seen things change from the horse and steam power to electrical power, whereby the mind is able to fly to the uttermost parts of the country at will."

Concluding his remarks, Mr. Perkins emphasized the community interest, what effects one effects all, and expressed little sympathy for the person who is always speaking of the good old days.

During the evening the following gradues received beautiful floral gifts:

SCIENCE GRAFTS MUSCULAR TISSUE

Diseased Organs of Animals Also Replaced by Healthy Ones.

NATURAL DEATH IS PAINLESS

These Are Some of the Interesting Statements of Experts Which Are Announced In Year's Report of the Smithsonian Institution.

Removal of living organs, their preservation in "cold storage" and their final refunctioning in the bodies of other animals of the same species are described in the report of the Smithsonian institution for 1912.

R. Legendre of the Museum of Natural History in Paris is the author who deals with grafting organs, and he describes many operations which, proving successful, have established his theory. Muscular tissue may also be transferred, he declares. Thus sound muscles or organs can be used to replace diseased ones.

This is only one feature of the report, which takes a broad survey of science. Another paper, that by Dr. E. A. Schaffer, declares that the problems of "life and matter are strikingly similar." General results tend to show, he asserts, that living beings are governed by laws identical with those that govern inanimate matter. Natural death, not due to disease, should be quiet and painless, he says.

"Holes In the Air."

From such problems as these the report shifts to "holes in the air," which are declared by the writer to affect the aviator much as holes or vacuities would elsewhere, though they are not real holes, of course, but changes in air currents.

The author, W. J. Humphreys, professor of meteorological physics in the weather bureau, describes air currents as like "breakers," "eddies," "torrents" and "billows." All these, he declares, are less effective as the speed of the aeroplane is increased, "but this does not mean that the fastest machine necessarily is the safest."

Safeguarding of ships against icebergs is discussed by Professor Howard T. Barnes of McGill university, Montreal, who describes a micro-thermometer, which automatically records one-thousandth of a degree's change in temperature. Thus the approach of icebergs can be gauged.

The mysteries of oriental music, the sounds of which are usually torture to Americans or Europeans, or at least seem "funny," are explained by Willy Pastor. He declares that the oriental is chiefly concerned with the quality of each tone and with very small intervals, while the occidental wants a succession of tones and the use of large intervals.

Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, describes the discovery of the south pole and the exploit of the Fram's crew in reaching the "farthest south."

Another scientist describes penguins, antarctic birds, as being like funny old men.

Explosive Soap Bubbles.

Still another tells of the scientific value of soap bubbles and how a bubble within a bubble can be made. This author, C. V. Boys, tells of various laws of physics which can be demonstrated and how explosive soap bubbles can be made.

There is a eulogy by Charles Nordman of the late Henri Poincare, noted French physicist and relative of the present French president. The statement is made that the French scientist was great in literature as well as in his chosen specialty. He is described as "a great inventor, a great philosopher and a great writer."

An article by Sir William Ramsay relates to the measurement of infinitesimal quantities of substance, in which he details some of the recent efforts of scientists "to see the invisible, to touch the intangible and to weigh the imponderable."

WOMEN BREAK EGG MARKET.

Orange (N. J.) League Makes Dealers Offer Fresh Laid at 31 Cents.

In an effort to break the prevailing high price fifty crates of high grade storage eggs were offered for sale by the Housewives' league of Orange, N. J. The eggs were sold at 33 cents a dozen against 38 to 50 cents charged by the local retailers.

Wealthy women bought large quantities. Such large crowds gathered about the store that grocers in the neighborhood advertised fresh eggs at 31 cents a dozen, which was less than the price paid by the league, but didn't get the business.

Mrs. Julian Heath, national president of the Housewives' league, says that the work accomplished by the women of the Oranges in breaking the Orange egg market will undoubtedly cause other branches of the league to follow their example.

Mother, Lawyer and Charity Worker.

Mrs. Flora Groden of Brooklyn, who has just been admitted to the bar, will perform her home duties as heretofore, practice her profession and continue her charity work. She says she will make use of her knowledge of law to enable poor persons to receive justice in the courts.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 41.

A FRIEND of mine inserted not so long ago a little 'Lost and Found" ad. in the Classified columns of one of the newspapers in his home city.

The ad. read as follows:

LOST—On Govanstown car, between City Hall and 25th st., a HAND SATCHEL containing Camera. Reward. 427 WHITRIDGE AVE.

Within four hours after the paper came from the presses, the hand satchel was returned to the address given in the advertisement.

Mr. William C. Freeman advertising director of the New York Tribune, had this to say in one of his Advertising Talks:

"Newspapers are the quickest and generally the safest carriers of messages from advertisers to homes everywhere, every day. I admit to partiality in my judgment of newspapers. To my mind they are the greatest power in the world. They print the spoken word almost as soon as it is spoken. They reproduce everything except the human voice, and do it quickly and intelligently."

Well, in the case of the lost hand satchel it certainly did happen that a newspaper carried the message of this loss quickly and intelligently.. And the advertiser got results. Next time YOU lose something, suppose you try a little CLASSIFIED ad. in the columns of this newspaper—one of "the safest carriers of messages from advertisers to homes everywhere, every day."

AND YOU, TOO, WILL GET RESULTS.

AN AMERICANIZED EUROPE IN SIGHT

We Have Started New Current of Civilization, Says Ferrero.

IS IT PROGRESS OR NOT?

Noted Historian Wonders if the Different Order of Things, Which He Declares Is Destroying Ideals Cherished by Our Ancestors, Will Make For a Better World.

America has started a new current of civilization in the world, according to Guglielmo Ferrero, the Roman historian. Professor Ferrero in a lecture before the Societe des Conferences Etrangeres in Paris recently contrasted America and Europe and declared that new standards of judgment must be formed if Europe is to understand America at its true value.

"We are accustomed," said he, "to regard things solely in terms of quality. We look upon the riches of America, for instance, with a kind of disdain. They are often regarded in Europe in the same light as the riches of a barbarous people which, to acquire them, has forsaken man's superior spiritual activities. It is not necessary to spend much time in America to see that Americans are very far from being devoted solely to the pursuit of wealth.

"I have also heard it said that Americans are without taste for art; that their cities are hideous. They are pictured as paying large prices for anything that is antique or passes as such, without distinguishing the beautiful and the authentic from the mediocre and the false.

Americanizing Europe.

"It is unjust to say that the American is indifferent to beauty. Moreover, who would dare to affirm that the progress of the arts, letters and sciences is at this moment the principal preoccupation of the old world? Listen to what is said about us. We hear nothing but talks of perfecting economic equipment, the exploitation of iron and coal mines, industrial development and how to increase trade. If all this is American, then Europe must be undergoing Americanization at an amazingly rapid pace."

M. Ferrero sees in this new spirit, which has developed since the discovery of America, an immense historical movement which threatens to overthrow the very foundations of the present civilization.

"The idea of this progress is as vague and indefinite in its meaning," said M. Ferrero, "as it is popular and powerful in action. But it is a strange phenomenon that just in this century of so called progress every one seems to be complaining of the decadence of things.

Questions Progress Abroad.

"Are we progressing or are we not? Can it be that this progress, for which we sacrifice our repose, our tranquillity and sometimes even our lives, is only an illusion? This is the supreme problem which presented itself to me as the result of all I saw and learned during my travels in North and South America.

"In former times quality was more important than quantity. We have now reversed the world in which our ancestors lived, piling up riches has become our aim. We have won liberty, destroyed almost all the limitations of the past, but we have had in the process to abandon almost all the ideals of artistic, moral or religious perfection held in veneration by our ancestors.

"Thus there are two standards by which we may judge civilization, the standard of quantity and the standard of quality. One is typified by the civilization of America and the other by the past civilization of Europe. Either, judged by the other's standard, will appear deficient.

"You cannot reproach a presidential candidate in the United States who is compelled to make half a dozen speeches during the day if his style is not so polished nor his phrases so nicely turned as those of Cicero. Nor could you expect such gems of oratory from Cicero if he had been called upon to comply with the same demands as are made upon the modern orator."

WOMEN'S LOWEST PAY FIXED.

Oregon Welfare Commission Says Decent Living Requires $8.25 a Week.

A ruling by the Oregon state welfare commission prescribes a minimum scale of $8.25 a week for all women employed in industrial occupations in the state of Oregon and fixes fifty-four hours as the maximum they may be employed in any one week. The time of employment before a woman shall be considered an experienced worker and entitled to the minimum wage is fixed at one year, and the wage for the apprentice period is fixed at $6 a week.

"We deem that the minimum sum required to sustain a self supporting woman in frugal but decent conditions of living is $8.25 a week," says the report of the conference on which the commission's ruling was based.

The conference was composed of three representatives each of the employees, employers and the general public.

BLIND STOREKEEPER IS DEAD.

Elizabeth, Dec. 18.—James Warren Pruden, aged seventy-eight years, died yesterday at his home, 613 Pearl street. He was unmarried and had been ill several weeks. Mr. Pruden had been blind for years, but had a wonderful memory and sense of touch. So well developed were these faculties that he was able to conduct a crockery business successfully. Mr. Pruden never made a mistake in giving change, and recalled the identity of persons through their voices. He walked daily unaccompanied from his home to the store at Bridge street and Elizabeth avenue, a distance of several blocks.

MIDDLESEX VOTERS TO DECIDE ON BOND ISSUE FOR COUNTY

New Brunswick, Dec. 18.—The Board of Freeholders has decided to submit the matter of a bond issue for the construction of a new county jail and workhouse to the people of Middlesex county. The freeholders feel that it is incumbent upon them to construct a tuberculosis hospital at a cost of $30,000. The county must also erect a bridge over Convery place, in Perth Amboy, and pave the Woodbridge-Roosevelt road.

The road will cost $80 000, of which the county must pay $30,000. The bridge will cost $40,000, making $120,000 for the three improvements. The proposed plans for the new jail are for a $120,000 structure and the workhouse will cost $50,000. It is also figured that $40,000 must be spent for improvements on the courthouse. This makes a total of $210,000 for work upon which the people will be asked to vote favorably before it is taken up. The county engineer will figure out the cost of the entire work.

Communications have been received from the Borough Improvement League of Metuchen and the Woman's Club of Perth Amboy, favoring a tuberculosis hospital.

NO CHANGES IN THE PERSONEL OF TEAM

Y. M. C. A. Quintet Will Play Its Scheduled Game Saturday Night.

Dame Rumor was treated to a wicked jolt last night when the members of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team met with the association officials to discuss a problem that recently came to light and as the result of the hurriedly appointed conference the machinery of the Y. M. C. A. five has once more been placed in working order and all of the startling announcements were branded as erroneous by a jury of seven.

The personnel of the Y. M. C. A. team remain the same as it has been for the past season and the quintet will lineup against Belleville Y.M.C.A. Saturday night in connection with the North Plainfield-Plainfield High School Interscholastic League match on the association floor as previously announced.

The erroneous reports were found to be the work of an individual who is in no way affiliated with the association or with the Y. M. C. A. team.

"MAC" SAYS

Ernie Dorflinger's baseball heroes will appear in a new role tomorrow night in Sebring's Auditorium, when the annual ball of the Plainfield Baseball Club will be held. The ball used here will not be one of horsehide, however, and the trips between the bases will be governed by music rather than the length of the hit.

As baseball players, Dorflinger says his men are some dancers. We noticed that in several games on the diamond last year when the decision server failed to connect with the right sentiment at the proper time.

Football has also its economic advantages as brought out at Scotch Plains, Tuesday night. Certain 'Plainsmen claim that the rooters who have been leading cheers on the gridiron's sidelines are fully qualified to ballyhoo for a motion picture show. There was no rest for the populace while the warriors remained in the village Tuesday night.

Having played several games with such teams as the Vikings, steamship sailors and Dexters, one would think that the pigskin chasers would be used to rough going but the sight of a four-inch club in the hands of an insomniac in a second story window the other night brought terror and remorse to every heart.

A certain Scotch Plains Parish House basketball leader claims that heading a team in that little village is a great job—except that the leader is supposed to remain seven blocks in the rear.

Not detracting one iota from the records of a certain crew of North Plainfield High School basketball huskies, but reports indicate that all of that heralded string of victories has not been as safe as one Paul Collier would like to have it.

Reports by wireless indicate that the boroughites are coming here primed to trim the Queen City High School lads in the opening game of the Interscholastic Leauge, Saturday afternoon. In the event of a victory for the Canadians it looks like a sure championship crossing the brook.

The report that "Doc" Doyle is slated for the managership of the Holy Cross football team for another year despite stringent protests on his part leads us to suspect that the genial "Doc" has some bitter enemies. "Doyle and no one else" is the cry of the players.

Coach Martin, of the Holy Cross team, will be rewarded by the club for his efforts to produce a championship eleven during the past year. Martin has been heard to remark, "A diagram of a football team is highly interesting"—that is if one is interested in solving puzzles and collecting silver loving cups for his work.

Captain Andrew Hetfield had his quintet of P. H. S. warriors out for an airing last night. "Hetty" is taking advantage of every opportunity to prime his heroes for the N. P. H. S. clash Saturday.

Hyman Abrams, the North Plainfield High School guard, will have something unusual to battle for Saturday night. The chunky little goal preventer has been entrusted with the task of keeping that silver cup in the Abrams family, or at any rate, on the other side of the pond.

Coach Wardlaw's lament: "I have become so use to losing games that a victory makes me sigh." That walloping the Leal boys administered to the Carteret Academy team was the real thing Monday afternoon. The passing of the private school youths has developed one hundred per cent. during the last two weeks, but the scoring ability of the team as a whole does not resemble that of a squad of sharpshooters.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:
Query—What is the value of the following coins: 1853 nickle and a large penny of 1819?—L. C. S.
Answer—Total value—six cents.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Will the Plainfield High School have a minstrel show this season?—M. B. L.
Answer—The erection of the addition to the Plainfield High School has necessitated the tearing away of the auditorium and the High School Athletic Association has had no place to rehearse its annual show. There is a movement on foot now, however, to organize the show in the Franklin School auditorium and the stunt may be completed this school year.

Sporting Editor:
Query—What is the meaning of the term to "hedge a bet?"—B. E. P.
Answer—Hedging is reversing the original bet. Thus, if you had placed a bet on the Giants to win the World's Series and later on the Athletics you have "covered" yourself against all loss or victory, or hedged the bet.

"TILLY" SHAFER AGAIN THREATENS TO QUIT BASEBALL AND GO TO WORK

SHAFER.

"Tilly" Shafer, the holdout king, has once more announced that he will not wear a New York National League club baseball uniform on the baseball diamond, and if his threat holds good this time, the popular little third corner guardian will be a banker during the summer months instead of a horsehide tosser. Shafer's declaration to quit baseball and do some real work is looked forward to annually by the scribes and even now his action is not taken seriously by those closely connected with baseball.

EZRA WENZ WILL COMPETE IN I. A. A. C. INDOOR MEET

The Irish-American Athletic Club yesterday sent in their entries for the Junior Indoor Championships of America which will be held at the 13th Regiment Armory, Brooklyn, on Saturday evening, January 3. The list is as follows: 220 yards, Bert Dewar, Jr.; 600 yards run, Edward S. Fraser, Hugh Hirshon and T. J. Kelly; 1000 yards run, S. James Riley; 2-mile run, John Eke; 1-mile walk, Sam Schwartz, R. Remer; 60 yards hurdle, D. Broderick and Fred Cording; standing broad jump, D. Broderick and Charles Teevan; standing high jump, S. Munez and Charles Teevan; 12-lb. shot, Jack Frank.

Harvey Cohn, former champion athlete who is now training the Colby College athletes, arrived in New York yesterday morning and immediately called on Mr. Sullivan and handed in the entries of his team. Coach Cohn says all his men are in good condition and expects them to make a fine showing, particularly Ezra Wenz, the former schoolboy two-mile champion, and Irving W. Merrill, who will run in the 600-yd championship. Merrill has run a quarter of a mile in 51 seconds on several occasions of late. The members of the Colby College team are as follows: Nathaniel Weg, Mat. th w Golden, Ivan Waldron and Irving W. Merrill in the 600-yard championship; Mark R. Thompson in the 1000-yard championship; Thomas F. Joyce in the 12-lb. shot and Ezra Wenz in the two-mile championship.

SCOTCH PLAINS FIVE WILL ENTER PROFESSIONAL RANK

The St. James Triangle five, a professional basketball outfit entered in the Hudson River League, is scheduled to appear on the Scotch Plains court next Saturday night to lineup against the Parish House quintet, which heretofore has been classed in the amateur ranks.

Supervisor Batterson has completed arrangements for the appearance of the Leaguers on his court and while the visitors will undoubtedly be a big attraction the 'Plainers will be barred from competition with other local fives for all future time.

J. CITY BILLS TO ROLL HERE.

Two games are scheduled to be rolled in the Elks' Bowling League race tonight, the Jersey City Elks coming to Plainfield for a series with the locals and the Elizabethians going to Rahway to lock horns with the pinners of that place.

NASH ON BASKETBALL TEAM OF UNIVERSITY

Popular All-around Athlete of This City Playing Guard for the Temple Five.

Having recovered from an injury to his leg sustained in a local Interscholastic League baseball game here last Decoration Day, James Nash, of West Front street, who is attending Temple University in Philadelphia, is now a member of one of the fastest basketball teams in the State of Pennsylvania, having been made a regular on the university squad. Playing his old position at guard, Nash is putting up his same hard, steady and reliable exhibition of the art of goal prevention and at the same time is gaining some glory along the shooting line himself.

Playing the Woodbury High School quintet in the opening game Temple cleaned up by a score of 66 to 7. In this contest Nash made his debut in a Temple uniform at guard and divided up honors with Dickson. In the game with the Philadelphia Trades' Schools Nash was made a regular and his work at guard was a prominent feature of the combat. The squad of the Temple School includes Nash, Daily, Smith, Lemmer, Johnson and Dickson.

Last year Nash played guard and captained the Leal School team and has played basketball for Plainfield High School and Holy Cross at various times. He is recognized as the premier all around athlete in this section of the State.

CHARLES BRICKLEY A GREAT ALL-AROUND PERFORMER

Charles E. Brickley, Harvard University's famous football player will make a bid for a championship title in the Junior Indoor Championships of America at the 13th Regiment Armory, Brooklyn, on Saturday evening, January 3. Brickley is truly a wonderful all-around athlete, although he has not been as prominent in track and field athletics and other sports as in football. When the American committee held the tryouts at the Harvard Stadium for the purpose of selecting the team to represent this country in the Olympic Games at Stockholm last year, Brickley competed in the running hop, step and jump and won with a jump of 47 feet 5 inches, thereby winning a place on the American Team.

He was affected by the long trip to Stockholm and was only able to do 45 feet 6 9-20 inches, which put him in ninth place. At the senior championships at Madison Square Garden in 1912 he jumped 43 feet 2¼ inches in the hop, step and jump which netted him second place. In his Freshman year at Harvard, Brickley captained the Freshman baseball team and was their star catcher. He also caught for the American Olympic Baseball Team, which played Sweden at the Olympic Games and had fourteen put-outs and three assists without an error. In the shot put championship he will be opposed by Wallace C. Maxfield, of Dartmouth College; Jack Frank, of the Irish-American A. C., the Junior 1912 Metropolitan champion; Thomas Joyce, of Colby College and several other good weight men.

Christmas Gifts For Children to Make

There is really not much reason why a child that is old enough to want to make Christmas presents for its friends, old or young, cannot make attractive and useful ones. For there are just as many useful things that are easy and expensive to make as there are useless things.

The cheapest sort of gift, and really one of the daintiest and most useful, is a dusting cloth. Buy half a yard of yard-wide pink or blue cheesecloth, cut it in two for two dusters, and let the small girl turn an inch wide hem in it, baste it neatly and then catstitch the hem in place. Press the cloth and fold it in a four-inch square and tie it with pink or blue ribbon. Wrap it neatly in tissue paper and fasten the ends of the paper shut with little Christmas seals.

The little girl who is fairly deft in the use of a needle can embroider initials, and sometimes even simple designs, on towels. Buy hemmed or hemstitched towels—hemstitching is too exacting for any small child—and mark three initials three or four inches above the hem in crossstitch letters. Let the child work these in one color—blue, pink, red or yellow.

Then there are bags. A white muslin bag to hang on the inside of the closet door to receive soiled neckwear is useful. Cut a strip of lawn twelve inches wide and twenty-four inches long. Turn in a half-inch hem in each end and let the child catstitch this. Then double the trip to form a bag twelve inches square and turn in the side edges half an inch. These edges should then be catstitched together. This will make a right and wrong side to the bag—the wrong side where the wrong side of the catstitching comes—but as the bag is to hang against a door this will not matter. Run white tapes or cord in the top for drawstrings.

What the Boy Can Make.

There are really beautiful things that the trained small boy can make—and the small girl, too, for that matter—things made of raffia, hammered brass, clay and turned wood. But there are some easier things to make.

One is a picture frame covered with wall paper or chintz. Use a remnant of any small-figured paper. One of the quaint colonial papers is the best. Or else use chintz, in a small, quaint design. Buy a paper picture frame and let the boy cover it neatly, using photographic paste where it is necessary to use any paste on the front of the frame, and glue for the raw edges on the back. The corners can be mitered, and all the raw edges which show on the back can be finally covered with a piece of paper or chintz cut to fit the back, with edges neatly turned in.

Practical Fashion Hints

The peg top skirt design is quite the "best seller" in the pattern line this season; deservedly so, as it is extremely graceful.

No. 7968 shows a four piece design with a seam down the center back and center front. The plaits, which give the peg top effect, are laid in softly at the waist line.

Duvetyn, cloth, ratine or any of the new materials are suitable, as, despite their appearance of thickness, they lend themselves well to draping.

Cotton duvetyn is one of the very new fabrics. It is charmingly velvety looking and comes in many exquisite shades. This is much less expensive than the wool duvetyn, ranging in price from $1.50 to $2 a yard, but its wearing qualities are as yet unknown.

This skirt may be made in size 24 with 2⅞ yards of 42 inch material, with ⅞ yard of 2 inch belting.

The pattern is cut in 5 sizes, 22 to 30.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state right size, passing the tape tightly around the smallest part of the waist and loosely around the widest part of the hips.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and inclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

COOKING WINTER CELERY.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Celery Soup.
Salmon Croquettes. Lettuce.
Escaloped Celery.
Baked Apples. Cookies. Tea.

CELERY is growing in favor as a winter vegetable. The fact that it is so wholesome has had much to do with its vogue. Celery is recommended as a tonic for the nerves. It is also said to be useful in cases of rheumatism. A tea is made from the green celery tops, and two glasses of the tea are taken every day.

As a food it is one of the best of appetizers. Some delicious ways of cooking it are as follows:

Cooked With Cheese.

Braised Celery.—Arrange some celery on a dish and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Pour melted butter over it and bake in a brisk oven until a light golden hue.

Creamed Celery With Nuts.—Take celery cut into inch lengths and drop into boiling water. Stew until tender. Make a cream sauce and stir into it one-half cupful of blanched chopped almonds. Add this sauce to the drained celery. Serve hot.

Escaloped Celery.—Take the white ends of celery stalks cut into half inch lengths and cover with boiling salted water. Drain and reheat in cream sauce. Put into a buttered baking dish in layers, sprinkling each layer with grated cheese or crumbs or with both. Have crumbs and cheese on top, dot with butter and brown in the oven.

A Savory Dish.

Celery With Ham.—Trim the tops off four heads of celery and cut the stalks into short lengths. Parboil, drain and reheat with a cupful of white stock, a tablespoonful each of butter and chopped ham seasoned with salt and pepper. When tender strain the sauce and arrange the celery on pieces of toast. Add a tablespoonful of grated cheese to the sauce and the beaten yolk of an egg. Pour the sauce over the celery and bake until brown.

Celery Fritters.—Take the white stalks of celery and cook until tender in boiling salted water; then cool. Make a batter, using one cupful of sifted flour, a scant cupful of water, two yolks of eggs, a tablespoonful of olive oil, salt, pepper and celery salt or a teaspoonful of grated celery. Put the batter aside for an hour; then fold in the whites of two eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Dip the pieces of celery in the batter, fry a golden brown in smoking hot fat, drain on soft paper, dust with grated Parmesan cheese and serve.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How the Little Redbird Became Red.

A Gray Bird Was Flying Overhead.

JACK and Evelyn had been playing circus all day. Jack had been the big man who stands in the middle of the ring and cracks his whip, while Evelyn had turned somersaults and made pretty bows. They told daddy all about it when he came home that evening, so he said:

"As you're so fond of circus performing I will certainly have to tell you about the circus the animals gave.

"Cub Bear got it all up, and every animal who went to it had to first agree to do something. And it really was a most marvelous circus. They all marched around in a parade, while the little bears beat the drums. The rabbits rode on the backs of the possums, and the monkeys rode on the backs of the elephants. The chipmunks drove chariots which were drawn by the gray squirrels, and the clowns were the frogs. The rest of the animals caught hands and followed in the march. They laughed and shouted and enjoyed themselves immensely.

"Then all took their seats and one by one did some sort of an act. The monkeys won a great deal of applause by their trapeze acting. Cub Bear walked a rope and danced around on his hind legs. The bunnies rode bicycles, but that ended sadly, as one of them—a son of old Peter Rabbit, who was renowned for his bicycle riding—in trying to show off fell and skinned his nose. All the other animals gathered around to see what they could do, while the bunny moaned and moaned.

"A gray bird flying over the tent heard the sound of moans and cries and flew in to see what the trouble was, for he was a very kind hearted bird. He saw that the bunny was really more frightened than hurt, and with his wings he wiped off the blood from the rabbit's face. The blood stain never got off the wings of the bird, so ever after he and his family became known as the redbirds.

"The bunny fully recovered and once more felt like himself; but, of course, after the accident, the animals didn't care to go on performing, so they all sat around the center of the tent and had a most glorious picnic. Refreshments of all kinds were passed around.

"They had pink lemonade, peanuts, popcorn, ice cream cones and water taffy. After they'd finished eating they sang all the old time songs and frisked about, playing and dancing. Bunny Rabbit, who felt quite spry again, frisked about, too, and the redbird flew overhead, flapping his wings with joy, for he was so glad everything had turned out so merrily.

"The circus proved such a success and the animals were in such high spirits that they then and there decided to have a circus every year."

MOTHERS' WORK

Contributing Staff.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

Shop Early.

Buy your Christmas presents early—early in the day and do it now. That will be your biggest gift of the holidays to the workers behind the counters and on the delivery wagons. If your parcels are too large to carry, see to it that they are ordered early in the day and that the address is correct so they may be delivered as conveniently as possible.

Red Cross Seals.

The Red Cross Seals are for sale everywhere and no Christmas package is complete without one or more on it. Remember, that in using Red Cross Seals on your Christmas packages you are accomplishing two purposes. A great deal of the money received from the sale of Red Cross Seals in Plainfield will be turned over to the local Anti-Tuberculosis League and will be spent in this community in the fight against tuberculosis. Let everyone help.

A Result.

Through membership in one of the Plainfield Parent-Teacher Associations a colored mother learned of the night school work, with the result that both she and her husband are attending the evening classes. Their children are pupils in our primary and high schools and the parents are interested in two Parent-Teacher Associations. Who can question the uplifting influence of home and school work?

December Meetings.

The Roselle Parent-Teacher Association held a meeting on Wednesday afternoon, December 17. At the close of the regular meeting the Camp Fire girls held a sale of dolls and fancy articles and the Charity Organization held an apron sale.

The Dunellen Parent-Teacher Association held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon, December 16.

The fathers and mothers of the children of Bryant and Lincoln Schools were entertained on Tuesday evening at the Lincoln School with a Christmas program. The boys and girls greatly pleased the large audience with their Yuletide songs and recitations, after which Miss Chadbourne spoke to both the children and their parents on "How to Tell the Story of Jesus to the Children." After piano duets by Mrs. W. E. McKay and Miss Berg and a solo by the former, refreshments were served.

Christmas in the Schools.

On Friday afternoon in nearly all our public schools, both in the city and the borough, the children will have appropriate exercises to close the schools for their holiday vacation. There will be songs, recitations and in some of the schools little Christmas plays and cantatas to which the parents of the children are invited. These exercises represent a great deal of work and patience both on the part of the teachers and the scholars. All mothers, no matter how busy they are at this season, ought to lay aside their work for the afternoon, and out of respect to their children and their instructors, attend the various exercises and show their appreciation of what has been accomplished.

Borough Entertainment.

This evening at 8 o'clock in Saengerbund Hall will occur the annual Christmas entertainment of the senior class of the Borough High School, when this class will present Yuletide greetings to the juniors. An unusually attractive program has been prepared and all the four classes of the High School will no doubt have a good time. The one-act farce, "The Triumph of Pauline," will be the curtain raiser, after which surprises will be in store for the juniors. Dancing will be enjoyed until 12 o'clock.

ELIZABETH SALOONKEEPERS FACE MORE VICE CHARGES

Elizabeth, Dec. 18.—Further complaints were made Tuesday against Walter Meise, who, with his father, was arraigned in the police court, charged with permitting immoral practice in the saloon they conduct at 1000 Elizabeth avenue.

Several men and women have told the police that the Meise place was a den of vice. Both Meise and his son went to the county jail Tuesday, as Judge O. P. Mahon refused to accept bail in the police court and there was no session of the county court. Bail was later fixed by Judge Mahon, acting under orders from Prosecutor Alfred A. Stein.

Among the witnesses arrested in Newark were May and Helen Wilson and Freda Reuter. They are being held.

A Practical Christmas Gift.

A practical gift always receives a hearty welcome, and here is a suggestion for one which can be easily carried out at home. This laundry bag should be made of white or natural colored linen and stenciled with the attractive design taken from pattern number 14123. The baskets may be developed in brown or green and the flowers in pink, red or yellow with green leaves and blue ribbons. If desired, the stenciling may be accentuated with outline-stitch.

Pattern number 14123 contains the basket of flowers illustrated here, which is 7½ inches high, also, stencil designs for a rose border, two pinecone borders, and a pineapple border, for 15 cents.

THE CIRCUS IS HERE!

GET YOUR TICKETS

Eight hundred Plainfield girls took advantage of the offer made a few months ago by the Plainfield Daily Press through which they secured the "Mother's darling and Nurse Marie" paper dolls. The Press was complimented on all sides for furnishing that delightful family, and because of the great interest, the publishers have been seeking some other equally attractive cut-out for the young people. We have found it in the most original and attractive article of the kind that has ever been put on the market.

DING-A-LING CIRCUS comes on a big sheet of linen, and contains ALL OF THE WELL KNOWN ANIMALS found in the menagerie of the big circus, ready to cut out and paste so that they will practically be indestructible. Then there is a CIRCUS CAGE, drawn by two horses, TWO CLOWNS, and last but not least, TWO DOLLS, a boy and a girl, which can be cut out, sewed together, and then stuffed, so that they will stand up and view the animals which will make a

if they are spaced a foot apart. There are admission tickets, a big banner with the name of the circus, and natural history lectures telling all about everyone of the animals in the circus.

HOW TO GET THE CIRCUS

Cut out the admission ticket which will be found in today's Plainfield Daily Press, and bring it with only 48 cents, the actual cost of handling and distribution, to the Daily Press office, and get the two dolls, the parade wagon, all the animals, printed in life-like colors on everlasting cloth, all the admission tickets, lectures, and other things which go to make this the most remarkable offer ever made to the young folks by a Plainfield newspaper.

Nothing would make a more attractive Christmas present than DING-A-LING CIRCUS.

COLLINS INCENSED BY IMMORAL DANCE

General Orders Investigation of Army Function With Objectionable Features.

Elizabeth, Dec. 18.—Major-General Dennis F. Collins is incensed at the reports that there have been dances at the armory in this city which have not been altogether proper. General Collins yesterday asked Major Martin to make a full investigation. In his communication to Major Martin, General Collins said:

"You will report by indorsement your comments on the criticism based on your personal observation as I understand you were present on this occasion. If you were not present you will proceed forthwith to cause an investigation to be made as to place you in possession of the facts with the view of establishing, if possible, whether the reports are justifiable or not.

"You will further report under whose auspices the dance was held, and what supervision, if any, was given to it; also as to the general character of the young men and women participating therein, and such other information as in your judgment the situation demands.

"I know that it is hardly necessary to point out to you the importance of a thorough investigation should be made, for not only the fair name of the city, but likewise of the National Guard of the State, and the State itself is at issue in this matter."

At the Armory last night it was said that Major Martin was out of town and would not return until today. It was denied that there was anything objectionable at the dance recently given in the Armory.

LORD COWDRAY AND MEXICO

Head of the Pearson Syndicate Denies Any Connection With Huerta.

It has been generally supposed and so reported that Lord Cowdray, head of the Pearson syndicate, operating extensive concessions in Mexico, was instrumental in securing the appointment of Sir Lionel Carden as British minister to Mexico. But this Lord Cowdray has recently denied. He also denies the assumption that he himself has been concerned in directly or indirectly helping to finance the Huerta government in Mexico, except to the extent of having participated to the amount of less than 3 per cent in a loan negotiated to the National Bank of Mexico.

Lord Cowdray further denies that the Madero administration canceled the concessions granted to the Pearson company by the Diaz government or that the Pearsons sought oil concessions or an oil monopoly from the Huerta government or that they participated, directly or indirectly, in the overthrow of the Madero government.

Previously to being appointed minister to Mexico Sir Lionel Carden had spent over twenty years in Mexico as consul, consul general and charge d'affaires. Most of the concessions obtained by Lord Cowdray and by other British capitalists were secured largely by Sir Lionel Carden, who had great influence with the Diaz government. The inference, therefore, was natural that Lord Cowdray had influenced Carden's appointment as minister, especially in view of the fact that Lord Murray, until recently the chief whip of the Liberal party and chief dispenser of government patronage, is a partner of Lord Cowdray. At first it appeared through some of his utterances that Sir Lionel Carden was not in sympathy with the policy of the United States in Mexico, but more recently he notified Huerta that England indorsed without reservation that policy.

WHERE MEXICO AND U. S MEET

In Nogales a Boundary Line In a Street Separates the Two Nations.

The little town of Nogales in Arizona is separated from the town of Nogales, state of Sonora, Mexico, only by a boundary line in the middle of a narrow street. On one side of the street is the United States; on the other is Mexico. One side of the street is guarded by American soldiers, the other by Mexicans. The Mexicans belong to the Constitutional army, for Nogales, Mexico, was captured by the forces of Carranza.

Nogales has recently been in the public eye because it was here that

NOGALES, ARIZ., AND NOGALES, MEXICO

William Bayard Hale, personal representative of President Wilson, stepped across the little street shown in the illustration and crossed from the United States into Mexico. In a little room of the custom house of Nogales, Mexico, he met the Constitutionalist chief, General Venustiano Carranza, and his cabinet and presented to them a proposal from the American government. The conference lasted from noon until the shadows of evening enveloped and blended the towns of Nogales, U. S. A., and Nogales, Republica de Mexico. Other conferences took place, but negotiations were broken off by General Carranza, who left Nogales and requested that Dr. Hale should present credentials from the United States government

LIPPINCOTT REPRIMANDS OFFENDING AUTOMOBILISTS

Trenton, Dec. 18.—A reprimand was delivered yesterday to Louis Biegel, chauffeur for William Necker, of Jersey City, by Commissioner Job H. Lippincott, of the motor vehicle department. Upon complaint of the National Protective Highway Association, of New York, Biegel was charged with crashing through the gates at a crossing of the Long Island Railway Company on Long Island.

The commissioner informed Biegel that drivers holding New Jersey licenses must comply with the laws of other States, and also told Biegel that a second offense would mean summary revocation of his license. Biegel told the commissioner that he was guilty of the offense charged, but said it was due to the skidding of his machine.

Frederick Fatzler, of Hilton, was also reprimanded by the commissioner. He was charged with instructing his chauffeur to exceed the speed limit. Upon the promise that he would not repeat the offense the commissioner said he would not deal harshly with him.

Sentence was suspended in the complaint against Claude Callaway. He was charged with exceeding the speed limit, and the commissioner informed him that a second offense would mean revocation of his license.

John Gargare, of Lakewood, was also reprimanded by the commissioner for driving without a license. Commissioner Lippincott instructed him to take out a license at once, which Gargare promised to do.

The complaint against William R. Shepherd, of Plainfield, for driving an unlicensed car was disposed of by the commissioner by suspending sentence. He was told to secure a license at once.

TOOK BERNARDSVILLE MAN'S SUIT CASE ON FERRY, CHARGE

Hoboken, Dec. 18.—Charged with having taken a suitcase from a Lackawanna truck and with having placed it on his express wagon while crossing the Hudson River on a ferryboat, Otto Beck, of 952 Forest avenue, New York, was held in $2,000 bail yesterday by United States Commissioner Edward R. Stanton, for a hearing Monday afternoon.

L. F. Morris, a Bernardsville lawyer, checked his suitcase, which he valued at $250, at the Christopher Street Station of the Lackawanna, Tuesday. A deckhand on the ferry says he saw Beck transfer the case to his wagon on the ferry. When the boat arrived here the deckhand had Beck arrested. As the incident occurred between two States, the case was taken before the commissioner.

RUMORS DISPELLED BY BAMBERGER CO.

Explains No Foundation for Persistent False Reports of Change in Ownership.

NEVER HAD ANY SUCH INTENTION

Rumors have been current in Newark for several days that the department store of L. Bamberger & Co. had changed hands, or was about to change hands. The report had been generally discredited, when it appeared to assume new life today and was repeated in some quarters with much assurance.

A News reporter who sought to learn if there was any foundation for the story was given a direct denial of it by both Mr. Bamberger and Felix Fuld, the sole owners of the Bamberger business. They were aware of the false rumors in circulation about their store and unqualifiedly denied them all.

"Yes, we have heard these rumors," said Mr. Bamberger, "but we haven't thought it worth while to pay any attention to them. The News may say, if it wishes, that there is not a particle of foundation for any such report.

"Since we founded the business over twenty years ago it has never been more prosperous than it is today, nor were we ever more satisfied with its prospects. We never have had, and have not now, any desire or intention to dispose of the business, or any share or interest therein, to any person or corporation on any terms. We shall continue to own and manage the business and serve our patrons better, if possible, than ever."

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

PUPILS PRESENT VARIED PROGRAM

Short Sketch, Annual 'Roasts' and Program of Terpsichore Music Given.

DANCING A FEATURE

A Gathering of 500 Pupils, Alumni and Parents Enjoy Holiday Festivities in Saengerbund Hall, Last Night.

Over 500 people attended the Christmas entertainment of the North Plainfield High School senior class that was held in Saengerbund Hall, last night. The hall was filled to the doors and many were forced to stand during the performance. The hall was decorated with the class colors, brown and gold, and the Christmas tree decorated with electric lights added to the occasion.

After the address of welcome by the president of the class, the sketch entitled "The Triumph of Pauline," was given with much credit. After the sketch the class president presented Miss Helen Ray, the coach, with a handsome pair of gold cuff links suitably engraved. The Christmas tree was then brought on the stage and with all of the lights in the house extinguished except the tiny ones on the tree the "knocks" were given out by Charles D. Beckman and F. O. Dunning. Each member of the junior and senior classes received a present that was suitable for the "roast." Following the performance there was dancing until midnight, with refreshments that were served by the Parent-Teacher Association.

Those who took part in the play are as follows: Ashley Burner as "John Winthrop," a rising biologist; Attwood Giddings as "Professor Theopholus Hobway," a famous ethnologist; Edith Dalley as "Pauline Winthrop," a butterfly of fashion, Anna Warnock as "Rosalie Dumont," a schoolmate of Pauline's; Jennie Seals as "Mary," and Mary Martin as "Bridget," the cook.

The following committees had charge of the entertainment: Property managers, Franklin Lowe, Charles Beckman; business manager, Ashley Burner; music, Roy Love, Charles Beckman; floor manager, Pierson Bailey; coach, Miss H. K. Ray; electrical manager, Franklin Lowe. The following committee of the Parent-Teacher Association had charge of the refreshments: Mrs. Guy D. Beck, chairman; Mrs. Woodruff and Mrs. Bennett.

RECREATION COMMITTEE DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES

The various departments conducted by the Public Recreation Committee under the supervision of Miss Anna Melvin, will contine their activities during the Yuletide season. The Senior Orchestra will meet as usual on Monday night but no rehearsal will be held. Instead business will be transacted and the musicians will form themselves into a club and officers will be elected.

Miss Melvin announced at the last meeting of the folk dancing club that the membership will be limited to thirty and that all wishing to become permanent members should personally attend the next meeting and file their applications. A committee recently appointed to draft a constitution and a set of by-laws will meet Tuesday night, at 7:30 o'clock at the offices of the Recreation Committee, 145 East Sixth street.

The Stillman Alumni Association will not hold a meeting tonight, as it has been decided to adjourn until further notice. It is the plan of Miss Melvin to re-organize the association next spring. This matter has been placed in the hands of a committee composed of the Misses Irma Good and Alice Anten, Max Henry, Percival Stelle and Mr. Weintrob.

A special program has been arranged for tonight's meeting of the Dunbar Club. Mr. Bowser will give instructions in Spanish dances and other novel steps of terpsichore. Vocal and instrumental selections will be rendered and others will entertain with recitations. Following the rendition of this program, those present will go to the gymnasium where a game of volley ball between two teams will be played. The Y. M. C. A. has donated the use of its sphere. The program will be ended with dancing and the serving of refreshments.

"COUNTRY STORE" A GREAT FEATURE

Many Awards for Proctor Patrons at Both Shows Last Night.

Two capacity audiences witnessed the "sale" at Proctor's "Country Store" in the West Front street house last night, another collection of foodstuffs, furniture and merchandise being given away by the management for awards. Vying with the previous two shows in interest and fun production, last night's affair was another remarkable success and the "Country Store" event is now a firmly established feature in the weekly bill of the popular playhouse.

Chief among the awards last night were six dining room chairs given to Harry Sofield, of South Plainfield. Sofield piled his collection of furniture in the big auto bus and bore a strong resemblance to Santa Claus as he invaded the sleeping village following the show. Two tons of coal were given away, the one at the first performance going to a colored girl by the name of Louise Alexander and the second going to S. Randolph, of N w street.

Hereafter the management will arrange to present duplicate awards at the second show and it was announced last night that two sets of prizes exactly alike will be purchased for future distribution. Owing to the fact that the "Country Store" night falls on Christmas Day next week, Leonce Texier, who is supervising the affair, has made arrangement to run the feature programs on Monday and Friday nights.

"Whereas, There have appeared in one of the papers of Elizabeth several articles describing and denouncing the moralty and decency of the dancing and general conduct at the Armory, and in particular that at the athletic meet conducted by the First Battalion held December 13, 1913, be it

Resolved, That this company denounce as unfair, libelous unwarranted and absolutely false the article appearing in a local newspaper December 15, 1913, under the heading "Indecent Dance Goes on Before Armory Throng," together with the editorial in that edition, and be it further,

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to Major General Dennis F. Collins, commanding Second Brigade, N. G. N. J., and to the press of this city."

NIGHT SCHOOL PUPILS XMAS ENTERTAINMENT

Pleasing Program Arranged by Miss Melvin and Mrs. Wardner is Enjoyed.

A unique program of entertainment was given last night at the Stillman School by the evening school pupils in observance of Christmas, the performance furnishing an innovation in such occasions in this city. Miss Anne Melvin, supervisor for the Public Recreation Committee, and Mrs. Sarah Wardner, principal of the Plainfield evening schools, arranged the event.

One of the features of the affair was the account of festive customs in foreign countries told by former inhabitants of the respective nations, some of whom were attired in continental dress. They gave the accounts from their personal knowledge and experiences and did not prepare for the subject by reading periodicals or history.

The program follows: German vocal duo, "Stille Nacht," by the Misses Emma Moy and Bertha Seiman; song, "Tannenbaum," by the German class; English song by girls' chorus, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear;" Polish song by John Busher and Andrew Surovis; recitation in English, "The True Santa Claus," by Miss Mary Gondera; mandolin and guitar selections by Dominick Mathlews and Harry Vorcello; "Wassail Song," chorus; a Norwegian selection, "Deck the Hall," chorus, and the following told of the festive customs in the countries of which they are natives: Germany, by Miss Mary Banckto; Norway, Miss Harriett Clausen; Austria, Miss Celia Van Dak; Hungary, Stephen Johnson; Poland, William Gerson; Italy, Selva Grazedino; Denmark, Gunar Hansen; Finland, Ericka Holaim, and Christmas in Virginia was described by Walter Allen, colored.

Before the entertainment a meeting was held at which arrangements were made to hold a Christmas party Saturday night, January 3, in the Franklin School. This will be in accordance with a similar affair given last year by Miss Zoe Bateman, now of Washington, D. C., who started the movement in this city which was largely instrumental in establishing night schools and the Public Recreation Committee.

STILL NEED $350 TO RELIEVE DISTRESS

Special Christmas Fund Growing and Desired Amount Is Expected.

The "Special Christmas Fund" of the Charity Organization Society still needs not less than $161. This means an average of only a little more than one cent from each inhabitant of Plainfield. It would be ideal if the money could be raised in that way. Although this is impossible, it is hoped that the final amount may be the sum of a large number of small subscriptions, so that the relief extended may come as nearly as possible from the whole city, rather than from a few regular givers to every charitable enterprise.

The society is not raising this fund to support these four cases indefinitely. It is trying to tide each over a crisis. Its aim, as in every case which it handles, is to put each family in a position to take care of itself as speedily as possible. Money is given only in emergencies, and then always for some definite purpose. Sometimes as in Case No. 1, only a small amount is required. Then again, as in Case No. 2, four helpless babies must be supported over a period of several months. No money will be wasted. If there should be any surplus, there are unfortunately, many more cases in Plainfield which need help almost as badly. However, unless the increase in contributions in the next six days is much more rapid, there will be no surplus.

The total up to yesterday afternoon was $189. This is a gratifying response for only three days' work. The number of subscribers, however, is far too small. Everyone should feel it a privilege to give something, no matter how little, to help those in distress at this season.

Case No. 3 is another instance where a small amount will do a lot of good. A boy of 19 is the sole support of his mother and her two younger children. He has been ill for three months and is just convalescent. He is thin and weak, and in no condition for work. Still he apparently has no other prospect. What this boy needs right away is two or three weeks in the country, where he can exercise in the open air and really regain his health before he takes back the burden of the family support. Only $25 will give him the rest and the outing he needs. Surely he ought to have it.

As has been said before, contributions should be made at once. They may be applied directly to any one of the four cases, or simply to the general fund, but the selection may be made later. In each case the need is real and pressing. Do not relay.

Address "The Christmas Fund," Charity Organization Society, 323 Babcock Building, telephone 103. Checks should be drawn to the society.

ITS CLAIM IS THROWN OUT BY THE DISTRICT COURT

Deciding that the suit had been instituted against the wrong parties, Judge Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., sitting in the District Court yesterday, entered a non-suit in the case of the Langburg Glass Company, of Newark, against Harry Dreier and Morris Abrams, of this city.

The action was brought to obtain $270 alleged to be due for glass put in the new Astor theatre on West Front street and which the Newark firm had charged to Dreier and Abrams in one part of its ledger and to another in a separate part of the account book. It was found that the amusement company having control of the motion picture theatre concern was liable for the bill and the suit was dismissed on this ground.

SIX DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

DEC. 19

The Christmas Rush Is on, but It Will Be Worse Tomorrow.

LODGE CELEBRATES ITS ANNIVERSARY DAY

Dance, Entertainment and Supper Features of Iona Council Event.

Iona Council, No. 14, Degree of Pocohontas, obesrved its twenty-second anniversary, last night, with a dance, entertainment and supper. There were about 125 members present including delegations from Cranford and Elizabeth. It was expected that the annual election would take place at this time, but it was decided to postpone it to Wednesday night, January 15.

Interspersing the dancing there were popular songs by a professional singer from New York and recitations by members of the council. Music for dancing was furnished by Naylor's orchestra. The committee in charge comprised Mrs. Thomas Parson, Mrs. John Ludgate, Mrs. Charles Holstein, Mrs. Viola Mundy and George Ivins.

Iona Council was instituted twenty-two years ago yesterday, and today the membership is eighty and is constantly increasing. Miss Carrie Hofford is the pocohontas and Mrs. Viola Mundy is the Winona. During the coming year the council plans to hold a number of social events.

HARTRIDGE SCHOOL CELEBRATES XMAS

Recitations and Songs Compose Program Rendered at Auditorium.

The Christmas exercises of the Hartridge School were held at the Hartridge auditorium this morning. The stage and hall were decorated with wreaths, Christmas greens and a large tree. The entire school and many of the alumnae marched in singing "Wake and Tune Your Youthful Voices." The exercises consisted of old carols, "What Child Is This?" and "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," and of the hymns, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "O, Little Town of Bethlehem," "Silent Night" and "Fanfare."

There were many recitations by the younger children and the academic department sang a part song. Following the exercises many of the students left for their homes to spend the holiday season.

The school will re-open on Monday, January 5.

YOUNG COLORED THIEF TAKEN TO COUNTY JAIL

Edward Irby, colored, 14 years old, of West Fourth street, held by the Juvenile Court, charged with stealing wearing apparel from the store of DeMeza & Blimm, in East Front street, and Antonio Jargebaiski, of Cottage place, sentenced yesterday to sixty days in the county jail, for attacking Patrolman Muir, were taken to the latter institution this morning.

Jargebaiski gave Patrolman Muir a lively battle for several minutes Wednesday night, when the policeman attempted to arrest him for being intoxicated. The police say he has served a sentence in State's prison.

Smalley's Christmas Delicacies.

Smalley Brothers, the North avenue butchers, will offer all sorts of delicacies in their line to their trade next week for the Christmas table. Some people prefer the finest fresh dressed poultry, while small pigs are to the liking of others. Orders for the finest turkeys and poultry, small pigs, and other meats to grace the Christmas table should be left at the market not later than Tuesday in order to be sure that the best is secured. Smalley Brothers are still making up their famous sausage in large quantities, and are managing to keep their trade supplied, in spite of the great demand which this famous product brings forth. But those who wish any of the famous Smalley cuts for the Christmas table must bear in mind that early ordering is essential, in order to secure the best service. This firm also has excellent strictly pure leaf lard.—Adv. ***

ELKS' ENTERTAINMENT ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Plainfield's B. P. O. E. to Make the Poor Little Ones Happy as Usual.

According to its annual custom, Plainfield's Lodge of Elks has completed plans to give a happy Christmas for hundreds of poor children. The entertainment and presents which it gives gratis every year have come to be a fixed local institution, and are looked forward to by many a tot who would otherwise be overlooked in the big holiday rush.

This year the lodge will again have the co-operation of Manager Harry S. Sanderson and the entertainment will be given in the Plainfield theatre on West Second street next Wednesday afternoon. Several reels of pictures especially for children will be shown and other features will comprise the program. Contrary to custom, no candy and oranges will be distributed, it being deemed advisable to spend all the money available for stockings, mittens, caps and other wearing apparel. Each child will be presented with a ticket, calling for something of this nature at a local store. Special gifts of coal and other things will be made direct to many families. The lodge will also make contributions of $25 to the Tuberculosis League and the Salvation Army Christmas fund.

The Elks' committee in charge of the Christmas affair is composed of Clarence E. Teel, chairman; William C. Smith and Dr. C. L. Crist.

STATE OFFICERS GUESTS OF FRANKLIN COUNCIL

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., at its meeting last night entertained State Councilor Frank Muta, of Cumberland county, and State Vice-Councilor Rene P. F. von Minden, of New Market, togther with delegations from the New Market, Dunellen and Somerville Councils.

During the evening there was a class of five initiated into the mysteries of the order, the work being performed by Franklin's initiatory team of thirty men under the direction of Captain Harry Hartpense. After the initiation refreshments were served and there were short addresses by Mr. Muta and Mr. von Minden. Owing to the fact that Franklin's next meeting falls on Christmas night, it has been decided to hold the session on Tuesday evening when officers will be elected for the year.

CLERGYMAN CONDEMNS A SCHOOL STRUCTURE

In an address before the student body of the North Plainfield High School in the school auditorium this morning, Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire condemned the school building structure and classed it as a fire trap. The clergyman based his talk on observations he had made from his position on the platform and urged the transfer of the North Plainfield pupils to the Plainfield High School or the erection of an adequate building in the borough.

Dr. Maguire took for his subject "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity" and outlined the relation of each of these qualities to school life.

The Christmas program presented by the student body this morning consisted of the following numbers:

Anthem by the school, "Sing O Heaven;" recitation, selected, by James Goodwin; song, by the school; recitation, "The Battle of Sweet Peas," by Miss Lois Peck; song, "Silent Night," by the school; violin solos, by Mrs. Evans; address, "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity," by Dr. Gabriel Reid Maguire.

The $5 gold piece offered by Principal Earley for the best composition on "International Conciliation" was won by Charles Beckman and the award was presented at the exercises this morning. Miss Jubilee Rowley presided at the piano during the exercises.

SOME PROSPERITY THE CITY REPORTS

Taxpayers Already Insist That $220,000 Be Received by the Municipality.

RECORD IS BROKEN

Receipts This Year Are Larger—Only Yesterday $45,000 Was Paid In and Today That Amount Will Be Surpassed.

The city tax office is making a strong bid this week for business, and, nowhere in town is there to be found a bigger holiday rush. Starting in on Monday, Collector William R. Townsend has been a busy man taking care of the tax money. The receipts up to this morning aggregated about $220,000. The receipts yesterday were about $45,000 and they will be far in excess of that at the close of business tonight. Tomorrow will probably be the biggest day of the week as many people wait until the last day before paying up.

Others who have bank accounts let their taxes go until after the first of the year so as not to break their interest. Mr. Townsend says that the receipts to date are much ahead of those of last year at the same time, chiefly because of the increase in the tax rate, which is $1.57 this year. The plan of having taxes fall due on December 20, so near Christmas, is still a source of complaint on the part of a good many people, and they express the hope that a change may be made.

It has been suggested that the New York plan be adopted, where taxes are pair twice a year. It is claimed that the present plan makes it hard on those who would like to have a little extra money for the holidays.

PURE CANDY ONLY TO BE SOLD BY THE CONCERN

The Quaker Pure Food Candy Company will open a store at 174 East Front street tomorrow morning for the sale of this brand of sweetmeats. The manufacture of the Quaker candies will be carried on under the personal supervision of Dr. McLaugalin and in strict accordance with the pure food regulations.

Candy is one of the most commonly adulterated, artifically colored and flavored of food products and the new concern plans to put a grade of candy on the market that will be both pure and wholesome.

W. DE LA R. ANDERSON MAY HAVE TO PAY THIS BILL

John Frech, counsel for the Board of Freeholders of Somerset county, announced in Somerville yesterday that he would bring suit against William de laR. Anderson, chairman of the North Plainfield Township Committee, for $60 alleged to be due him for legal services in the appointment of three commissioners to establish a boundary line between Warren and North Plainfield townships.

Mr. Frech presented his bill to the committees, dividing it equally between North Plainfield and Warren township, but when Mr. Anderson, as chairman of the North Plainfield Township Committee, offered the bill to the commission of which he was the head, the members considered it exhorbitant, he alleges, and refused to allow it to be paid. Frech, according to Anderson, now asserts that the latter is personally responsible for the debt.

A horse belonging to Charles S. Hamilton, of New Centre, near South Branch, was stolen last night, about 7:30, while Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton were taking dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Voorhees, at Millstone. The horse had been placed in the barn, and when Mr. Hamilton went out to get the animal to return home it was missing. It is reported that two men were seen driving the outfit just a few hours prior to this time, but all efforts to trace the horse and wagon has been fruitless. Mr. Hamilton notified the county authorities at once.

BAPTISTS OF THIS SECTION JOIN IN HUDSON CENTENARY

Many Baptists from this section attended last night the complimentary dinner to Rev. Dr. Edward Judson at Sherry's, New York. Dr. Judson is the pastor of the Judson Memorial Baptist church at Washington Square, New York, and a son of Rev. Adoniram Judson, who went as the first American Baptist foreign missionary to Burmah, India, a hundred years ago. The centenary of the event is being celebrated by Baptists in India and in this country.

Rev. Dr. Edward Judson was pastor of the North Orange Baptist church from 1875 to 1881, after seven years as professor of Latin in Colgate University and a year in Europe. He was born in Moulmain, Burma.

From North Baptist church, Orange, Dr. Judson went to New York and led in the work of building his present church, as a memorial to his father, one of the leading institutional churches of the city, where he has been the head for thirty-three years. The speakers at the dinner last night were Bishop David Greer, of the New York Diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church; Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of Broadway Tabernacle, Congregational church; Dr. Robert E. Speer, secretary of foreign missions board, Presbyterian church; Rev. Dr. Frank Mason North, Methodist, chairman of executive committee, federal council; Rev. Dr. U. G. Wenner, Lutheran; Rev. Dr. Emory W. Hunt, Baptist, and others. The choir of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church will furnish music under the direction of Harry Rowe Shelley, organist of the church.

Tonight in the Judson Memorial church a public meeting will be held to celebrate a century of Baptist mission work throughout the world. All denominations are invited. The speakers are to be Rev. Dr. John Humpstone, of Brooklyn; Rev. Sumner R. Vinton, a returned missionary from Burma, and born there, and D. G. Garrabrant, of Bloomfield.

OPERA COMPANY AT PROCTOR'S.

The Florence Opera Company, comprising seven accomplished musicians, vocalists and instrumentalists, top a most excellent bill of vaudeville at Proctor's Theatre, this week. The scene is in the courtyard of an old inn in Turin, Italy, where the street musicians gather to sing. The Milani Trio is well-known here in Italian circles. The repertoire is a fine one. "Seltzer" Waters, the effervescent monologuist, tells some funny stories; Morgan, Chester & Co., offer a funny sketch, "The Old Dutch Shoemaker"; Luola Blaisdell in "Visions La Flame" is one of the best acts seen at this theatre in a long time. She has a pleasing voice. Luckstone & Campbell, in a comedy character skit, "The Officer and the Emigrant," is a bright little oddity.

A REAL NEWSPAPER.

In this year of grace it is recognized that no newspaper has any excuse for existence unless it proves to be of public service. If it cannot, will not or does not represent the people's interests and work for the general uplift, it should commit harikari.

Unfortunately it is true that there are many newspapers where there is no differentiation between "principle" and "principal." In fact, they mean one and the same thing. With them "principle" is governed by "principal." The cash drawer governs the editorial and news policy.

But this indictment does not hold against some newspapers. When we say this we have in mind the New York Globe. Hoary-headed newspapermen have believed that you can't "buck" the "interests," but today the only respected and self-respecting newspaper is the one continually battling for the rights of the masses. For months, the Globe has been exposing violations of the pure food laws, fearlessly revealing to the public where, when and how rotten eggs, rotten meats and rotten provisions are offered for sale.

It has gone a great deal further. It has attempted to cure the evils. At its own expense and at its own risk, it has offered to the consumers good eggs at low prices. Just at present it is solving the meat problem. One million pounds of Argentine beef—the best in the world—have been contracted for by this great newspaper and it is disposing of the supply at a price greatly reduced from the Trust's retail figures.

Would that there were more newspapers like the Globe.

It was a well deserved rebuke that Speaker Clark administered to Representative Mann in Congress yesterday, when the latter started a calamity howl. Mann sank to the level of a cheap politician when he made a "hard times" speech for the evident purpose was to discredit the administration regardless what bad effect it might have on business. There is nothing that brings about hard times quicker than to be continually talking about them. It makes investors timid and ties money up. Mann could serve his party better and at the same time serve his country more patriotically by talking optimistically.

As this newspaper in pursuing its policy to "Do It For Plainfield," is devoting much attention to real estate news, as you may have observed by reading our Saturday page on this subject, the topic selected by our contributing editor for tomorrow's issue, J. D. Loizeaux, is particularly appropriate. Mr. Loizeaux will discuss "Real Estate."

The Christmas number of the Westfield Leader—forty pages mark you—is a creditable number but not any more than we might expect from anything that comes out of Westfield, the fastest growing community in Union county. What Westfield does, it does right and this single issue of the Leader furnishes conclusive evidence of that fact.

One by one the local churches are showing their appreciation of the value of newspaper advertising. The Park Avenue Baptist church and Grace Episcopal church were the first to take advantage of our advertising columns to attract people to their services. Then the Christian Scientists followed their example. And now comes Holy Cross, whose first display advertisement will appear with the others in tomorrow's issue. They will be found on the editorial page.

Any change made this coming year in the number of licenses for the sale of liquor only means more changes to be made later on. Why not "let well enough alone?" There has been and is no sentiment in favor of any increase.

Mayor-elect Mitchel is extremely fortunate. He has found thousands of well-meaning citizens who are willing to sacrifice their personal interests to serve the public—provided the jobs pay well.

If you cannot give anything more at this season of the year, give a good word for Plainfield. You will be telling the exact truth when you sound its praises and the effort will cost you nothing.

"Currency Before Christmas" is a newspaper heading on Congressional legislation. Good for that; won't be any loose change after Christmas.

G. O. P. cuts off share of South.—Newspaper headline.

Tough luck that even a portion of "crow" is denied them.

Talking about government ownership of telegraph and telephone. Well, put all the grafters and sinecure job hunters away first.

AUNTOMOBILE TRUCKS DAMAGE THE BRIDGES

Heavy Vehicles Weaken Spans Throughout State the Freeholders Find.

Legislation to limit the tonnage of vehicles traversing county roads and bridges is being advocated by the Middlesex county Board of Freeholders, and it is probable that a bill will be introduced in the next Legislature containing some of the recommendations and stipulations already advanced.

The matter also is receiving the attention of the Union county freeholders, and it is probable that a State-wide movement will result, to obtain the enactment of the desired legislation. The Union County Board of Freeholders during the present year has compromised several suits which had been instituted by owners of vehicles damaged in accidents on county bridges, which had resulted, directly or indirectly, through overloading the bridges.

Bridge builders aver that it is impossible to construct wooden bridges, except at excessive cost, that will withstand the heavy traffic they are made to carry since the advent of the commerical automobile truck.

These trucks are now loaded like freight cars, and run over the roads at a speed more than double that of the horse-drawn vehicles. The roads and bridges constructed a few years ago were not intended to bear this class of traffic, and only the most solidly constructed bridges can stand up under the excessively heavy loads for any extended length of time.

Running at a speed of from twelve to twenty miles an hour, some of the auto trucks carry loads of from five to ten tons. They strike the bridge with terrific force and as these onslaughts are repeated many times in a day the bridge anchors become weakened and loosened, and the holding spikes work out, and the whole structure is weakened in a comparatively short period.

An accident on the Middlesex county bridge connecting Perth Amboy and South Amboy, over the Raritan River, which occurred last week, is typical of such mishaps. The bridge was erected at a cost of over $115,000 a few years ago, and was replanked last summer with new, three-inch planks. An automobile furniture van broke through the planking last Saturday night. Both front wheels of the van sank through the planking, and the planking was cut and splintered for a distance of about twelve feet. Structural engineers declare that a bridge with the strength of a railroad bridge is required to withstand the strain imposed on such structures by these heavily laden autos.

CURRENCY BILL.

Washington, Dec. 19.—In the debate on the Currency Bill, Senator Owen admitted that ultimately Congress would have to consider Senator Weeks' proposition rejected today to apply all treasury surplus to the extinguishment of the public debt. A struggle is on between the radical and conservative Democrats for control of the conference committee on the bill. Senator O'Gorman is backed strongly as one of the conferees by the conseratives.

HOBEY BAKER OUT WITH HOCKEY TEAM

BAKER, PRINCETON.

Princeton's hockey squad, consisting of thirty-seven ambitious young puck chasers, turned out for the first practice of the season yesterday at St. Nicholas Rink, New York, under the direction of Wendell Kuhn, who succeeded Hobey Baker as captain. Baker was in the lineup and rendered valuable assistance to the young players who are trying to make the team.

REQUESTS $25,000 FOR SKEETER WORK

Appropriation asked of Union Co. Freeholders—Money Needed for Bonnie Burn.

Elizabeth, Dec. 19.—Jacob Lippman, director at the State Experimental Station in New Brunswick, on behalf of the Mosquito Extermination Commission, at today's meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders, recommended that an appropriation of $25,000 be made for the furtherance of this work next year. The matter was referred to the proper committee.

The Board will meet on Wednesday, December 31, to conclude the business of the fiscal year.

Dr. J. E. Runells, of the Bonnie Burn Sanitarium, asked the freeholders' aid to secure $3 per day for each indigent patient confined in the institution. This was referred to the Bonnie Burn committee.

The estate of Warren Ackerman owning land along Westfield avenue, which thoroughfare it is proposed to widen, in a communication said that it would donate that portion of land necessary for the improvements provided the work was completed within two years and that the estate would not be assessed for the benefits received.

SWORE AT HUBBY.

Admitting that when her husband swore at her she swore at him; when he smoked cigarettes she smoked, too, and that once at her husband's suggestion she had become intoxicated, "just for fun," Mrs. Helen Mantell, one-time artist's model, who is suing John Mantell, son of Robert Mantell, actor, for separation, laughed her way through three hours of cross-examination in the Supreme Court at New York.

But before her laughter the tears had flowed as she bowed her blushing face in her hands and told how her husband, known to all his friends as "Jack," had once said to her:—"I don't care if you go with every man in New York."

HANSEN WILL LIVE.

Emil Hansen, the carpenter and builder of 427 Orchard place, whom the police say attempted to commit suicide near Battery Park, New York, yesterday morning, was reported today as steadily improving at the Hudson Street Hospital, where he was taken with a bullet wound in his head. DECISION RESERVED IN BOROUGH TAX CASE

State Board Hears Final Argument After Listening to Many Witnesses.

The final hearing before the State Board for Equalization of Taxes in North Plainfield's contention to have its 1913 assessments reduced to reimburse the taxpayers for an alleged over-assessment in 1912, in accordance with an alleged agreement or judgement made by the Somerset County Board of Taxation, was concluded yesterday in Somerville, the State body reserving decision in the matter.

In the morning about sixteen postmasters of various municipalities of the county gave testimony regarding the sending of legal notices of the borough's appeal, and nearly every official made a good witness for the borough's cause. Elias H. Bird, the local postmaster, arrived at the hearing just one minute before adjournment was called and an attempt was made to have his testimony excluded because it was asserted that he had not arrived until after proceedings had been temporarily halted.

The representatives of the various townships opposing the reduction, as well as Major Carl Lentz, of Newark, and Judge Isaac P. Runyon, of this city, counsel in the matter for the borough, summed up in the afternoon. H. O. Hance, of North Plainfield Township, said the principal point was that the judgment given to the borough by the County Tax Board was illegal owing to the fact that from the testimony taken and from the petition filed by the borough, there was never any question that the North Plainfield taxpayers were assessed over true value. He further declared that no official could give a reduction unless it could be shown that the property in question was assessed over its real value.

Former Prosecutor Reger, representing Raritan and Bridgewater township, said the notices of the appeal sent out by the borough to the various communities could not be considered legal notices as they were drawn in such a manner in W. J. Buttfield's office, that they failed to specifically show that nature of the proceedings to come.

Major Lentz and Judge Runyon both made pleas in behalf of the borough and seemed confident that they would be upheld. Judge Clarence Case, Assemblyman Beekman, of Somerville, also addressed the Board.

MISS JANET RICHARDS REVIEWS CURRENT EVENTS

Miss Janet Richards, of Washington, gave another one of her lectures in the series on "Current Events" at the Hartridge Auditorium, yesterday afternoon, before a large and appreciative audience. As in her previous talks, Miss Richards brought the latest news from the Capitol, reviewing in an interesting way important happening in this country and abroad.

The speaker told of the latest developments in the Mexican situation again referring to the Government's waiting policy, which she thought was working out in a satisfactory manner. Her review of foreign events was of much interest.

GEN. DIAZ SEEKS PROTECTION

Porfirio's Nephew Is Evidently Feared by General Huerta.

The absence of General Felix Diaz during election time in Mexico was evidently desired by General Huerta who sent him on a mission to Japan. But General Diaz returned to Mexico without accomplishing his mission and polled the largest vote in Mexico City as a presidential candidate. He recently resigned as a brigadier general in the Mexican army, and the relations between him and the Huerta regime are undoubtedly strained. In fear of his life he applied for American protection and was taken on board the U. S. S. Wheeling.

WIDOW AWARDED $700 UNDER EMPLOYERS' ACT

Elizabeth, Dec. 19.—Mrs. Barthold Brynarski, of Plainfield, whose husband died last April from burns sustained while working at the plant of the Spicer Manufacturing Co., in that city, was awarded $700 this morning, under the Employers' Liability act, by Judge Connolly in the Court of Common Pleas. The late Mr. Brynarski was mixing chemicals when an explosion occurred and a fire followed in which the victim was severely burned.

Neaf Apgar, father of Philip H. Apgar, a minor, applied before the court for compensation for his son under the act, because the latter lost the sight of his left eye while working at the Plainfield plant of the Saurer Motor Co. Young Apgar, on September 26, was repairing an electrical fixture when the screw-driver slipped and cut his left optic. Decision was reserved.

PLAINFIELD'S WARMEST IS DRAWING TO A CLOSE

That this has been about the warmest year on record in this vicinity is shown by the weather report recently compiled. A similar condition is reported in Boston. Weather Prophet John Nagle reports that the excess heat over the normal for the year is 1,004 degrees, and the excess for December is 135 degrees. The greatest excess for any one month was in January, 1913, 296 degrees.

The Weather Bureau officials at Boston reported yesterday that the excess of heat over normal as shown by the daily records had reached a new high total of 1,219 degrees. The greatest excess has been in December, the total up to yesterday reaching 121 degrees.

BESLER OPPOSES BRIDGE OVER THE NEWARK BAY

Bayonne, Dec. 19.—If Elizabeth and Bayonne are to be connected by a general traffic bridge, it will be only after the opposition of the Central Railroad has been overcome. This became apparent when W. G. Besler of Plainfield, vice president and general manager of the road, addressed a dinner given by the Bayonne Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of arousing interest in the proposed span, and attended by delegations representing the Boards of Trade of Elizabeth and Newark.

Mr. Besler was unalterably opposed to the project, and the keynote of his speech was struck when he declared, "Divest your minds of the idea that you want this bridge." It was evident that if the railroad cannot be induced to consent to the erection of a general traffic bridge the only hope that can be held out is for the construction of a traffic span. It is believed, however, that the Board of Army Engineers would not sanction an additional bridge over the bay.

FRANKLIN SCHOOL PUPILS PRESENT XMAS PROGRAM

The parents of many pupils attended the Christmas exercises held this afternoon in the Franklin School. The vocal selections rendered in concert by the children showed that they had been well drilled and they won merited applause from visitors. The principal, Miss Noel J. Bullock, also delivered a brief address appropriate to the occasion and the vocal solo "Star of the King," by Miss Sarah Johnson, was delightfully rendered.

The program follows: Carol, "Hasten Ye," by the school; carol, "Fling Wide the Gates of Glory;" song "The Dear Baby Jesus," by twenty children from grades one and two; carol, "The Silver Stars;" carol, "O Shepherds List the Story;" old English carol, "God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen;" carol, "Tidings of Peace;" carol, "Star of the King;" solo by Miss Sarah Johnson; carol, "Draw Near;" hymn, "Margaret;" song, "The Holy Child," by members of highest fifth grade; song, "The Star of Bethlehem," by the school.

TWO HURT AS AUTO OVERTURNS.

New Brunswick, Dec. 19.—On his way to Metuchen yesterday, taking home two members of the Masonic lodge who had missed the last trolley car, George Baier found Edward Lawrence and R. O. Willigerod lying unconscious. They, with John Meyers, were riding in Mr. Willigerod's car when the auto struck an obstruction in the road and upset. Neither of the men was pinned under the car, and Meyers escaped with a sprained ankle. Baier put his passengers out, and, loading in the two men seriously hurt, raced back here to the Wells Hospital, where they still are. Willigerod is suffering from severe bruises, while Lawrence is unconscious, his brain being affeceed. He may die.

JOHN CONSHAY TAKEN ILL.

John Conshay, an employe of the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company, while delivering ice on North avenue this morning, suffered a severe attack of acute indigestion. He was relieved to the Hotel Kensington and Dr. Albert Pittis was summoned and gave prompt relief.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 41.

A FRIEND of mine inserted not so long ago a little 'Lost and Found" ad. in the Classified columns of one of the newspapers in his home city.

The ad. read as follows:

> LOST—On Govanstown car, between City Hall and 25th st., a HAND SATCHEL containing Camera. Reward. 427 WHITRIDGE AVE.

Within four hours after the paper came from the presses, the hand satchel was returned to the address given in the advertisement.

Mr. William C. Freeman advertising director of the New York Tribune, had this to say in one of his Advertising Talks:

"Newspapers are the quickest and generally the safest carriers of messages from advertisers to homes everywhere, every day. I admit to partiality in my judgment of newspapers. To my mind they are the greatest power in the world. They print the spoken word almost as soon as it is spoken. They reproduce everything except the human voice, and do it quickly and intelligently."

Well, in the case of the lost hand satchel it certainly did happen that a newspaper carried the message of this loss quickly and intelligently.. And the advertiser got results. Next time YOU lose something, suppose you try a little CLASSIFIED ad. in the columns of this newspaper—one of "the safest carriers of messages from advertisers to homes everywhere, every day."

AND YOU, TOO, WILL GET RESULTS.

FILMY FROCKS with FUR and FLOWERS WINTER'S DECREE

SMARTLY gowned women of the French capital, whose costumes are the last word in fashion at its best, are wearing extravagant combinations of filmy fabrics with fur to suggest winter time as well as an idea more novel than any yet tried by the Paris designers. Queer as it all seems to conservative Americans, we are becoming infatuated with this mingling of summer dress and December's furry conventionalities when the result is as charming as the models on this page declare.

Soft, clinging materials like silk, satin, chiffon and lace afford the dainty characteristic of to-day's evening attire, whether any one of these is the principal material or combined with rich brocade and chiffon velvet. Fur helps to set them off, and flowers add a touch of beauty too effective to be omitted from the debutante's dresses.

The general vogue of dancing is, in part, responsible for the number of short skirts made for evening wear. There are trained gowns also for most formal occasions and for older women, on whom they are much more becoming than a round length skirt.

The artist couturier emphasizes the shaped overdress, and in one model on this page, No. 7910, weights a flowered chiffon drapery with a two inch band of dark beaver fur.

A note of spring has already been sounded by Premet, who shows short tunics small and pointed downward in the back with plaits or "godets" recalling Empire ideas. Accordeon plaited tulle is an airy adjunct of tunic origin seen on gowns of charmeuse and crepe de Chine. The narrow underskirt holds sway, making it necessary to leave a slash in the drapery in such models as No. 8062. Usually this is done by draping a breadth of wide material around from the back to the front and overlapping the edges as they are directed to the belt.

One of the latest Poiret models, said to have been designed after a study of American girls and their taste, has the inevitable tunic of plaited tulle surmounting the open front skirt, but adjusted at the hip line rather than from the belt.

Fashion has given a place of importance to furs unheard of heretofore for dress purposes. One of the newest of these is a barum duki, a Russian chipmunk whose stripes are a strong contrast of browns and yellow. A muff and scarf set pictured on this page shows how it is used, with trimming of old gold soft silk matching one of the stripes. Frills and a bottom facing which appear in the picture are the extension of an all silk back shirred with cross cords. Silk or velvet on the side carried next to the body will not wear out as quickly as some furs with delicate hairs. The scarf is lined with silk and has a flower rosette to match. The idea of combining fur with silk or velvet has a practical interest for those with small quantities of fur which they can "play up" big at trifling expense.

A beautiful combination of two or more furs is seen on the figure in the center of this page. The luxurious straight scarf and muff are made of broadtail and ermine fringed with ermine tails, while the black and white furs are joined with cross bands of lynx.

Leopard has been admitted to women's wardrobe. A wrap of it was one of the fashion surprises recently at the Auteuil races. Fitch leads among the newer furs for muffs and scarfs and for trimming purposes.

Christmas Cottontots

GOLD and silver threads tracing designs on delicate laces are second only to sparkling jewels and pearls as trimmings of beautiful dancing frocks and evening costumes. Silver and white are favored for youthful dressers. As a type of the daintiest gowns conceived by French modistes that on the left of this page combines the newest features most attractively. It has a draped, statue-like foundation of white satin meteor, with a silver lace band around it just below the hips and a plaited tunic of white tulle edged with double frill of the same. Sometimes these frills are bound with silver ribbon, which makes them ripple. A garland of gardenia blossoms and buds with their dark green foliage outlines the "lampshade," and a cluster of flowers fastens the ends of the bertha on the corsage.

The effective color note is had in a wide girdle of shell pink ribbon velvet with a butterfly bustle on the back, carrying out the suggested revival of the bustle, which Premet has dared to offer in some late models.

Scarcely more than a bertha falling far over the shoulders constitutes the bodice of this gown, but as a finishing touch there are silver tassels on the ends of narrow silver ribbon, which trims the bertha.

This model can be reproduced with pattern No. 8062, using only the lining of the bodice and substituting a bertha for the waist included.

A heavier silk net than that commonly sold comes this season for such accessories as the tunics. Wide laces, bordered chiffon and colored nets may be used as indicated in this model when a colored dress is preferred or in the case of making over a dress of last season.

The figure on the right, No. 7910, displays a rich gown for formal occasions, but made on very simple lines, which, after all, is the secret of the charm of this winter's best styles for evening attire. The three piece skirt has a short train, narrow at the bottom, yet full enough for beauty and ease in walking. The material is light green charmeuse with an overdress of flowered chigon, used also for the kimono overblouse. The smart and novel appearance is had with a border of gun metal beaver fur and gold tassels on the points of the overblouse.

A girdle of deep old rose velvet, which was the color of the model, completes a pleasing color scheme. The pattern also includes a chemisette, which may be made of fine net and inserted for afternoon occasions, thus making this gown practical for double service. The pattern is 15 cents.

The gown almost covered with furs, No. 7908, has a finely plaited black net bodice and tunic pointing downward over a foundation of light blue crepe meteor. Over this is placed an Empire coat of brocaded crepe, with a half belt of black velvet appearing in the back and at the middle of the front. This is good for combining fabrics. The pattern is 15 cents.

FULL length knitted garments, such as that shown on the girl with her sled, are one of the newest outing wraps, finding favor because they are so warm and yet soft and light in weight. The style of this full length coat is so attractive that many mothers are buying it in woven fabrics. It may be made from pattern No. 7865, which comes in sizes from six to twelve years. Fine qualities of double face elder down in contrasted colors or plain tan color are suitable and attractive for a made "comfy" coat. Two yards of fifty-four inch material will make this model for a child of ten.

College Doll Novelty.

Queer little worsted or cotton yarn dolls, made by winding strands over a piece of pasteboard and tieing hands, head, legs, etc., into shape, are an amusing novelty for the Christmas tree and for simple gifts. Two of them tied on either end of a piece of ribbon make a timely bookmark and suggest many uses when made of college colors. They may be fashioned as boys or girls, character children or pickaninnies, as their makers fancy.

Household Hints.

A LARGE white snowball for a table decoration for the Christmas dinner and as many individual balls as there are persons at the table may be made for a trifling cost. Use white cotton batting, wetting the outside with thinned glue, and then dust with powdered isinglass. A spray of holly on the top of each ball, and a mound of it on which to place the center decoration, will carry out the Christmas coloring. Favors can be hidden in the balls.

Poinsettia Salad.

Poinsettia salad made from tomatoes will introduce an old dish in a most attractive and appropriate form for the Christmas dinner menu. Now that hot house vegetables are within reach of many in mid-winter, tomatoes may not be an extravagant item for a festive occasion.

Allow one small tomato for each portion. After peeling off the skin, cut in five pieces from the center as one quarters an apple. Arrange on a single crisp lettuce leaf with the oval side up, forming a five pointed flower. In the center put a spoonful of mayonnaise dressing, and dot it with eight or ten capers, which resemble the seeds of the poinsettia very closely.

Instead of tomatoes, canned red sweet peppers may be used for this.

Gift For Fifty Cents.

HAND embroidered scalloped handkerchiefs, now so fashionable, make a most acceptable gift at trifling cost to the one who cares to make them herself. Two or three beautiful handkerchiefs may be made from three-eighths of a yard of handkerchief linen varying from 25 cents to $1 per yard. If the linen is exactly one yard wide three twelve-inch squares may be cut from the piece, or two if the larger square is preferred.

Four different designs for scalloped edges and a corner decoration may be had for stamping in embroidery pattern No. 14277 as illustrated. Working cotton No. 35 or embroidery thread No. 100 is the right side for handkerchiefs.

Patterns for designs shown on this page can be obtained from any agency for LADIES' HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS.

HOCKEY LOVERS ARE UP IN ARMS

Fifty-seven Varieties of Ideas Offered for the Proposed Six-man Game.

SOME CONFLICTIONS

How One Rule Would Work Out—Reasons Why Free Substitution of Players Could Be Made a Menace to the Popular Winter Sport.

Proposed changes in the playing code now form the principal topic of conversation in the hockey world. Whereever enthusiasts gather rules are discussed, and the committee which is drawing up the laws for the six-man game has almost as many suggestions as there are sands on the seashore. It is interesting to delve into some of the proposed changes and see why certain clubs are so strenuous in advocating various measures.

The followers of one of the clubs are enthusiastic over a proposed change that would permit the resubstitution of players. In the ranks of this organization are several veterans who are getting pretty old to stand the strain of a hard hockey game.

With a rule that would permit the resubstitution of players it would be possible for these men to play until they are tired, drop out of the game, rest and then return to the fray.

Another organization, with hardly enough men to get out a full team, is anxious to limit the substitutes to two men, unless injury compels additional men to take the ice. Probably the most astonishing rule regarding substitutes that has been advanced relates to the substitution of players when men are ruled out of the game for foul play.

According to those who have advanced the rule, the idea comes from the Montreal City League, which this year has adopted the six-man game. The purpose of the rule is always to keep six men on each side. Those who advocate the rule contend that the regular team starts at the beginning of the game and when a man is ruled out and a substitute is allowed to take the ice the team suffers through the loss of its regular player. One player said yesterday:

"How the Canadians ever passed such a rule is a mystery, as it opens the way for about as raw work as could possibly be pulled in a game of hockey. Say two teams are to play and one side has an exceptionally good man. All that the other team need do is to send in a poor but rough player with orders to "get" the good man. If he succeeds in putting the good man out of the game, even though he is ruled off in the attempt the poor player has accomplished his purpose and one team loses its star while the other only loses a poor player and substitutes its regular man. Certainly such a rule never should be passed in the Amateur Hockey League."

The question of playing three periods of fifteen minutes each instead of two periods of twenty minutes each is not meeting with the approval of several of the clubs.

The New York club management does not like the idea, as it will lengthen the game by about a half hour. It also is contended that the six-man game is not going to be so strenuous as generally imagined, and that there is no need of any change in the playing periods.

STATE CHAMPIONS HERE IN BASKETBALL UNIFORMS TO OPPOSE Y. M. C. A. QUINTET

One of the best programs of basketball offered here in many moons will be staged on the local Y. M. C. A. court tomorrow night, when the North Plainfield and Plainfield High School quintets will open the Interscholastic League season with a game, and the Y. M. C. A. five will lineup against the Rahway Cubs, the pick of players from the Rahway Y. M. C. A. and Rahway High School. Two years ago the Cubs came here on New Year's night and defeated the local Ajax team by a close margin after the Plainfielders had run up an unblemished string of nine victories. The Cubs were heralded at that times as the best crew of passers and shooters that ever invaded Plainfield and since the team has entered the Rahway High School it has improved one hundred per cent.

The same Rahway players have been playing together for seven years and the personnel of the team will be exactly the same as that which appeared here two years ago. The team is now sporting the colors of Rahway High School and expects to clean up on everything else in the State this year. Included in the lineup will be the Armstrong brothers, Ward, Brooks and Sweister. It is a significant fact that everyone of these players were members of the Rahway High School football team, Union county champions, and several of the men were picked for the all-scholastic eleven by experts.

North Plainfield and Plainfield High Schools have been practicing for the opening interscholastic match and both entertain high hopes of capturing the initial combat of the organization. Popular opinion favors North Plainfield by a wide margin but the local schoolboys are noted for their ability to upset dope and Captain Hetfield's grilling practice tactics may cause the Canadians some anxiety tomorrow night.

SWIMMERS' CORNER

News comes from St. Louis that the already strong water squad of the Missouri A. C., coached by Tom Whitaker, formerly of Plainfield, has just been reinforced by several cracks from the First Regiment Swimming Club, including J. O'Gorman, the speedy sprinter.

Pennsylvania University has formed a freshman swimming team and the youngsters have booked dates with several High Schools and collegiate first year aggregations.

The Hitchcocks will be prominent in aquatics at Harvard this year. "H. R.," the famous football tackle, is the Crimson's reliance man for the 100 and 220 yard swims, and has travelled both distances close to intercollegiate figures; while his younger brother, a freshman, is considered by Coach Matthew Mann, an even more promising candidate for all around honors.

The Mechanic Art H. S., of Boston, has discovered a young back-stroke swimmer who is heralded a probable candidate for championship honors. He is Russell Dean, a Brookline lad.

Prescott Palmer has been selected to captain the swimming team of Manual Training School.

JERSEY CITY TOOK TWO FROM LOCALS

Captain Blatz and His Men Handed Rubber Game to Visiting Pinners

Members of the Jersey City team captured two games out of three last night in an Elks' League bowling match on the alleys of the Plainfield Elks. The exhibition was a decidedly classy one, there being fine pinning on both sides. The first battle was a real one, but the visitors, with a count of 923 finished fourteen pins ahead. In the next game the home five fell off in its work, accounting for 855, while the Jersey City five kept on its winning stride, showing a total of 931 at the windup. The third game was a close one, and Plainfield, with 963, escaped a triple defeat, finishing twenty-three pins to the good. Delehanty rolled cleverly for the visitors, with counts of 231, 226 and 191, for an average of 216. Wright tallied 201. Stout was right on the job, with counts of 202 and 201; Campbell had 211 and Kiely 205.

With two games out of three to their credit on the Paterson alleys last night, the members of the Newark team maintained their grip on first place in the Elks' League. The Jersey City team, which is closest to them, got two games out of three from Plainfield on the latter's alleys. The Silk City pin-knights started with 965 and overwhelmed the Newarkers, who stopped at 876. In the next game the competition was keen and interesting, the Newarkers, with 870, winning by seven pins. In the final and deciding contest the visitors proved to be the better finishers, a total of 940 being sufficient to win by seventy pins. Taylor was very much on the job for the Patersonians, having counts of 223 and 214, averaging 205. Roth rolled 213. Dick Erler did the best work for Newark, having marks of 217 and 200. Hinton was there for 204, and Williams had 203.

TWO OF A KIND FOR ELIZABETH BOWLERS

Two games out of three went to the credit of the Elizabeth team last night in an Elks League bowling match on the Rahway alleys. The match was an interesting one. Elizabeth was there for 842 as a starter and this was sufficient to win by sixty-six pins. Rahway came back with 849 and won by thirty-six pins. In the final encounter the battle was close, but the visitors, who had 884 at the finish, showed thirty-five pins to the front. Bock was high for Elizabeth with 204. Worth toiled 202 for Rahway.

SPORTS PLANNED FOR PANAMA EXPOSITION

All-around Competition Being Arranged for Feature Event of 1915.

Charles E. Moore, of San Francisco, president of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, accompanied by Theodore Hardy, has been in the East for a few days. He came principally to attend the dinner of Secretary of State William J. Bryan, at Washington, last Mondoy night, but while in New York President Moore conferred with all the representatives of the exposition. Yesterday he had a long conference with James E. Sullivan, director of athletics at the Panama Pacific International Exposition, and expressed himself as being greatly pleased with the outlook for the year of sport at the newly constructed Stadium within the exposition grounds which is being built in connection with the Fair.

The preliminary plans for the track are being prepared by Assistant City Surveyor, Frederick W. Rubien, the vice-president of the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. and the A. A. U. expert on track construction. President Moore said he was heartily in favor of having the track one-third of a mile with a quarter mile straight-way for special races. In connection therewith it is planned to have the first quarter of the half mile race run on the quarter of a mile straight-away path, thus giving the athletes something unusual in the way of a constructed track to run on. The inner-field will be large enough for all team sports—football, baseball and games of all description.

The National A. A. U. basketball championships will be commenced the last week of February, 1915. The National A. A. U. gymnastic championships will take place on the 25th and 27th of March. The National A. A. U. wrestling championships will be held the second week in April and it is also planned to have many open to local and sectional wrestlers prior to the National Championships. The Fencing Championships of America will take place the fourth week in April. The Modern Pentathlon, for the Specil Olympic Plaque, presented by the International Olympic Committee through its president, Baron Pierre DeCoubertin of France, will be held the second week in June from the 7th to the 12th. This is the first time that the International Olympic Committee has ever awarded a prize for an event outside of the Olympic Games. The Intercollegiate Championships of America will be held on August 20th and 21st and the A. A. U. Track and Field Championships will take place on August 27 and 28. The Relay Championships of America will be held on August 30 and 31.

The Panama Pacific Championships, bringing together the winners of all sections of the United States will be held on May, 5, 6, 7 and 8. The A. A. U. Swimming Championships will be held from the 19th to the 24th of July and the all-around championship of the A. A. U. on August 7.

The Pentathon will take place on Labor Day and the Decathlon on the 11th and 12th of September.

As many of the Pacific Coast Championships as the Pacific Coast Association of the A. A. U. desire to have held in connection with the Exposition will be held—the dates to be agreed upon by the Pacific Coast Association. Sectional Championships are also to be held for the far west associations prior to the National events. These will be arranged later. President Moore himself has taken over the management of the International Yacht Races and predicts a great series of races in connection with the exposition in yachting as well as motor boat racing and aeroplane racing.

The Panama Pacific Lacrosse Championship is scheduled for the first week in October.

Several international athletic events will be arranged for just as soon as Director Sullivan hears finally from the authorities abroad who are considering events and dates for the Exposition. These international events cannot be definitely decided upon until the conference of the International Amateur Athletic Federation at Budapest next July under which rules and sanction they must be conducted.

UNUSUAL HOCKEY START.

The hockey season of 1913-14 was inaugurated at the St. Nicholas Rink last night, Princeton and St. Paul's furnishing the entertainment. Princeton won by 8 to 3 in one of the cleanest games seen at the local rink in a long time. Not a player was ruled off for unfair tactics.

SOME SPICY SPORT COMMENT

Carpentier, French Fighter, Looks Like a Champion.

IMPROVES IN EACH FIGHT.

Parisian Glove Wielder Has Shown Up Brilliantly In All His Recent Battles. Many Halfbacks to Lead Elevens In 1914.

Georges Carpentier, the French fighter who recently knocked out Bombardier Wells, the English champion, in a single round, may be a real champion some day. It is only recently that Carpentier has developed sufficiently to fight in the heavyweight class. He has gained a lot of weight in the last two years and is still at that age where further development is possible.

The Frenchman has a splendid ring record, though, of course, he will have to meet some of the American fighters before a correct line on his ability is to be had. Just now his chances to advance to the front are better than they have ever been, for it must be admitted that the class of fighters is at a low ebb and it would not require more than an ordinarily good fighter to make a clean sweep.

The American "white hopes" are a poor lot as a whole, and if Carpentier is as classy as he is reported he would not have to be a gem of the first water to conquer the entire lot.

With captains selected for a number of the leading college football teams for next year, there appears to be little preference in the awarding of leadership so far as playing positions are concerned.

The returns from twenty-six colleges and universities of the east and west show that fourteen captains have been selected from back fields and twelve from the line.

Halfback appears to be the most popular position, with quarterback next and tackle and center tied for third honors. Ends are the lowest on the list, as is shown by the following table:

Halfbacks, 7; centers, 4; tackles, 4; quarterbacks, 5; guards, 3; fullbacks, 2; ends, 1.

The list of 1914 captains as elected at the leading colleges to date is as follows:

College.	Player.	Position.
Brown	S. Mitchell	Center
Princeton	H. Ballin	Tackle
Pennsylvania	L. Young	Halfback
Syracuse	J. Shufelt	Center

CRAIG A POOR REFEREE.

Makes Wretched Showing as Official In Toledo Game.

Can a good football player be a poor student of the game? The answer to this question was made at Toledo, O., recently when Jimmy Craig, the great Michigan halfback and one of the very best of the 1913 crop, struggled through a very sorry exhibition of attempting to referee an important high school game between Toledo and Oak Park.

Much of the game was spent in wrangling with Craig over decisions, in many instances flagrantly wrong. Craig lost his bearings frequently and had to ask the head linesman for advice. Craig didn't know the rules, but in spite of that he still was able to play wonderful football himself.

CLARKE SIGNS CONTRACT 21.

Pirate Manager Slings Ink on Document For 1914 Service.

Fred C. Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh National league club, recently signed a contract to manage the Pirates.

It was the twenty-first yearly contract Clarke has signed since he and Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh club, began business relations.

Thorpe Advises His Brother.

Jim Thorpe has handed out some advice to his brother, Tom, who has entered Carlisle at the age of fourteen. Jim has advised his kid brother never to turn professional. It sure would be awful if the kid turned professional and got $5,000 or $6,000 a year playing ball.

Hardwick Harvard's Best Athlete.

H. R. Hardwick, class 1915, stands as the premier athlete of Harvard university, with varsity honors in football, baseball and track. R. B. Wigglesworth, now a first year student in the law school, also has three letters, won in football, baseball and hockey.

HARVARD ATHLETES WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

Brickley Heads List of Fortunate Students Winning Money Award.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 19.—Harvard athletes showed in goodly numbers among the undergraduates awarded scholarships at Harvard which list has just been made public. Charley Brickley, the newly elected football captain, received an Edward N. Coolidge scholarship which carried a $200 award.

Eddie Mahan, another gridiron star, received a decennial scholarship. Others on the football team to obtain scholarships were R. R. Cowen, H. A. Gilman, Walter H. Trumbull, L. C. Curtis, T. J. Coolidge and R. Curtis.

Each year Harvard gives away on loans to students $92,000, exclusive of the scholarships of the graduate schools. The greater portion of the sum is given outright, while the remainder is loaned, the time of payment being indefinite.

TWO JUMPERS TIED FOR FIRST PLACE

Third Rank Also Divided Between a Pair of High Jumpers.

Bradford, of the Mohigan team, and Corbin, of the Oneida team, tied for first place in the running high jump, the weekly event held in connection with the Hope Chapel Junior Boys' Club Indian League in the chapel gymnasium last night, each of the leapers setting a figure of three feet, seven inches in the contest.

Muir, of the Delaware team, took second laurels, one inch behind the winning duo, while Gunzelman, of the Mohigans, and McAfee, of the Seneca team, tied for third place with three feet four inches to their credit. All of the four league teams were well represented in the competition and some good figures were hung up by the contestants.

Two Points is all That Separated the Seneca Team From a Victory.

Two points separted the Delaware and Senaca teams of the Hope Chapel Junior Boys' Club Indian League at the completion of their weekly basketball game in the Hope "gym" last night, the result favoring the Delaware outfit.

Muir and Duncan were the chief point-winners for the victorious side while McAfee and Marsh acted as leaders in the losing cause. The game was an interesting one from start to finish and the contest was anyone's until the final whistle sounded.

REDUCE GOLFING LIMIT.

Executive Committee Will Cut Down Championship Eligibles.

Only about half the number of golfers will be eligible to compete in the national amateur championship next year as there were this year at Garden City. The executive committee of the United States Golf association has decided to limit the field to those rated at five or less in the national handicap list. Heretofore six has been the limit.

In the last list announced by the association there were 442 names with a dozen or so additions in the summer. The elimination of the six men reduces the list, according to the calculations of last spring, to 170, but some of the men at present rated at six will be advanced to the five division. The list of eligibles will be brought down to not many more than 200.

A mail vote of the executive committee of the U. S. G. A. was completed recently, approving of an amendment to section 6 of the bylaws, providing that when the delegates at the annual meeting, convened in New York, Jan. 9, a list of courses from which to select the venue of the three championship tournaments will be placed before them.

DEATH CLAIMED MANY ATHLETES

Grim Reaper Exacted a Heavy Harvest During the Year Just Closed.

SOME NOTABLE DEATHS

Baseball, Football and Other American Sports Treated to Blows During the Last Twelve Months—Some Places Left to Be Filled.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 19.—In the year now nearing its close death has exacted a heavy harvest from the ranks of those prominent in the varied field of sport and athletics. Baseball, football, pugilism, the turf, trap shooting, the green table sport, the track and field—all have paid heavy toll to the Grim Reaper during the past twelve months.

The most notable death of the year in major league baseball circles was that of William H. Locke, president of the Philadelphia National League Club, who died in Atlantic City last August, after a long illness. Former club owners and managers who passed away during the year included J. F. Kilfoyle, ex-president of the Cleveland American League Club; James B. Billings, for thirty years one of the owners of the Boston National League Club; William Dwyer, who managed the Des Moines team when it won the Western League pennant in 1909, and the long-to-be-remembered Chris Von der Ahe, owner of the old St. Louis champion ball team of 1885-88, and for many years one of the best known baseball magnates in the country.

The great army of active ball players has been singularly fortunate in losing none of its members during the year, so far as the big leagues were concerned, while the only minor league player of note who passed away was Clare Pattersonfi star outfielder of the champion Oakland team of the Pacific Coast League.

Former ball players who died during the year, some of them widel famous in their days, were "Jiggs" Donahue, former star first baseman for the Chicago White Sox; Jack Boyle, a former catcher and first baseman of the Phillies and other clubs; Thomas J. Dolan, who caught for the old St. Louis Browns when they held the National League championship; Charles Pabor, who was said to have been the first great left-handed pitcher; Frank L. ("Red") Donahue, who had pitched for St. Louis, Philadelphia, Cleveland and other major league teams; Harry O'Hagan, once well known as a player with the National, Eastern and New England Leagues; Mount McFarland, formerly with the Chicago American League team; Eddie Heydon, who had caught for the Indianapolis and Washington teams; A. J. Bauer, who played with the firs Wilkesbarre team in 1866; George E ("Chummy") Gray, once a well known pitcher in both the big and little leagues; Michael Drissell, an old time catcher for the St. Louis Browns; Michael J. Conners, many years ago a star pitcher in the old American League; Jerry Harrington once catcher for the Cincinnati Reds and also for Louisville; Roscoe Miller, who pitched for Detroit, New York and Pittsburgh; Charles H Robinson, who played with the Providence team of the National League John J. O'Brien, who led the New England League in batting one season and later managed the Louisville club; Edmond Therrien, who caught for Peoria and other minor league clubs, and Walter ("Dutch") Moore once well known in Eastern, Western and Tri-State League circles.

Also under the head of baseball chronology may be placed the names of Charles Benley Power, old-time ball player, umpire and for many years a Pittsburgh sporting writer, and John H. Gaffney, known throughout the baseball world a few years ago as the "king of umpires."

The most notable death in pugilistic circles was that of Luther McCarty, claimant to the white heavyweight championship, who was killed at Calgary in a ring battle with Arthur Pelky. Another victim of the ring was John ("Bull") Young, who died from the effects of a blow received in a fight with Jess Willard at Vernon, Cal. Jim Hall, best remembered for his $40,000 fight with Fitzsimmons at New Orleans in 1893, died in a tuberculosis sanitarium in Wisconsin.

The turf lost "Tommy" Burns, internationally famous as a jockey, and James R. Keene, whose racing stable was for many years the most noted in America. Also prominently identified with the turf were Stephen Sanford, owner of the Hurricana stables; Charles H. Kohler, also a prominent owner of race horses, and Joseph J. Burke, a noted judge.

Football fatalities were notably few, the only deaths recorded among the college players being those of Vernon S. Belden, halfback on the Norwich University team; Ed Morrissey, captain of Saint Ambrose College team, and Homer S. Wray, a player on the Gettysburg College team.

Amateur athletics sustained severe losses in the passing of Michael C. Murphy, the famous University of Pennsylvania trainer; Ralph Rose, holder of the Olympic and world's records for shot-putting; Billy Quinn, trainer of the weight men and hurdlers at Harvard, and George Tracey, who once held the amateur half-mile running championship of America.

Well known automobile racers who met death on the track during the year were Louis Manghetti, killed at Norfolk, Neb.; Harry C. Knight, killed at Columbus, O., and "Jack" Forest, who met death in the El Paso-Phoenix road race. Also well known in American racing circles was Camille Jenatzy, the Belgian pilot, who was accidentally shot and killed near Brussels several weeks ago.

Deaths of notables in other branches of sport in 1913 included those of Frank Maggioli, well known professional billiard player; Captain A. N. Bogardus and Captain John S. Brewer, both of whom had held the world's championship as wing shots, and Henry Coulter, at once time champion single scull oarsman of the United States.

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I would beg the courtesy of your space for the production of the following by an authority so great that his words must surely carry weight.

The "specialization of functions," to which Dr. Thompson gives emphasis, must be recognized now as when Plato said:

"Righteousness in a state consists in each citizen doing the thing to which his nature is most perfectly adapted."

Thanking you in advance,
Yours very truly,
REINA A. LAWRENCE.

PHYSICALLY UNFIT.

Women Too Weak for Politics, Dr. Thompson Says.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am in full sympathy with the objects of the New York State Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage. There could be no possible gain over the existing political situation to be derived from the votes of women, unless they universally gave time, study, and thought to the question arising n each campaign. Moreover, those seeking to control the administrative functions of the State should be able to bear their share of the burdens of the State whenever and howsoever called upon. (I refer to burdens other than those of taxation of real estate, for although many are ignorant of the fact, women already are allowed to vote in this State upon questions concerning realty holdings.) For these functions women in general are physiologically unfit, not from mental incapacity but from their frequent and repeated physical disability. An experience of many years in hospitals and dispensaries derived from treating the wage-earning class of women and other women among the poor of New York city, who would constitute so large a proportion of the proposed voting class, enables me to speak with emphasis upon this matter.

The neurasthenia of the garment worker, the special ailments of the over-worked shop girl, the biological burdens of the tenement-house mother, are not to be rectified, as I have heard a notorious suffragist assert in a public address, by "once a year taking a few minutes of her time to drop a little piece of paper in a box." On the contrary, many of the underlying factors at fault are questions of deep economic and social nature which are wholly apart from the sphere of legislation, whereas such as may be remediable through that agency will be made much more serious by complicating existing conditions through adding to the ignorant vote. Voting which is temporarily stimulated through emotional excitement on the one hand, or which is purely perfunctory on the other, is capable of working incalculable harm.

Moreover, it is not the mere act of voting, but an intimate knowledge of the character and attainments of legislators, as well as ability to influence them when elected, which makes for betterment and progress. Women, from the character of their occupations as well as from their natures, cannot, in the aggregate, possess such knowledge in the same degree with men, and such influence as they might choose to exert is far more potent without the possible taint of so-called "politics."

In this city, owing to peculiar conditions of congestion and other factors, there is a growing tendency to minimize the value of home life, and intelligent participation in political matters would tend to distract women from the family and domestic functions in which they are much more profitably employed.

All those qualities in women which are most respected and revered by high-minded men are unalterably opposed to the precepts and aims of the advocates of equal franchise privileges; at least such are the views of the great majority of men with whom I have discussed the subject.

We may blind ourselves by attempting disregard of fundamental biological principles for a time if we will, but the great law of the specialization of functions of men and women remains unalterable, and should be as applicable in the State as it is in the home.

BURGLAR CHASE IN ENGLEWOOD

Capture One Suspect In Fashionable Neighborhood.

TWO OTHERS MAKE ESCAPE

Caught After Four Shots Were Exchanged—Gang Has Been Terrifying Englewood and Adjacent Suburban Towns For Past Three Months—New York Detective Makes Arrest.

Englewood, N. J., Dec. 19.—A man supposed to be one of the gang of burglars which have been terrifying this place and adjacent suburban towns for the past three months was arrested here. He was not captured until four shots had been exchanged. His two companions escaped, but it is expected that they will soon be caught.

The man was caught as he was climbing through a window into the house of Mr. Hoover in the fashionable residential section of Englewood. The prisoner gave his name as John Connolly.

Englewood, Tenafly and other towns beyond the Palisades have been subjected this fall to a series of burglaries and holdups. Residents have been in a constant state of fear and have hardly dared venture along unfrequented roads after nightfall.

About three weeks ago Detective Luisi, in the employ of a private agency in New York, who still carries six bullets in his body and legs as mementos of a shooting affray in which he took part about a year ago at the Elsmere hotel, in the Bronx, went to Englewood to investigate the robberies. But it was not until last Friday that he picked up a clew.

On that night he was walking about town when he noticed three men whom he had never seen before prowling about the residence of Mr. Hoover. He watched the men, followed them to the trolley line and shadowed them all the way to the Bronx. Luisi then became convinced that they were members of the Bergen gang, and thereafter never let them get far out of sight.

The Englewood council's offer of $500 reward for the capture of a burglar may yet be presented to Luisi.

SCHOOL HEAD ARRESTED.

Investor In Military School Says He Was Misled.

Morristown, N. J., Dec. 19.—Asserting that Major J. Harold Randolph, president of the Randolph Military academy of this place, obtained money from him under false pretenses, E. Wheaton Read of Princeton has had Mr. Randolph arrested. Police Justice Bennell of this place held Mr. Randolph in $600 bail to await the action of the Mercer county grand jury. Charles M. Hutchinson of the school faculty was the bondsman.

Mr. Read did not appear in Morristown. The warrant was issued by a police justice in Princeton, but it is understood that he says that he invested $1,000 in the military academy and that he did so on assurance given by Major Randolph that the debts of the school only amounted to $2,000, when as a matter of fact, Mr. Read says, they were nearly twice that amount.

GIRL GETS $20,000.

Given Big Award For Injuries Sustained In Panic.

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 19.—Miss Annie E. Eckert nineteen years old, of West New York, was given a verdict of $20,000 against the Public Service company in the circuit court in this city.

Miss Eckert was riding on a car bound for the Weehawken ferry on April 8. An oil lamp in the car burst and in the scramble to get off she was thrown, sustaining a permanent injury to her spine. She was for a long time in the North Hudson hospital, but recently began earning $10 a week as a stenographer.

AROUND THE STATE.

The petition of Jersey City to stop the Erie Railroad company from burning soft coal in its locomotives, and thereby causing a smoke nuisance was dismissed by the state board of public utilities commission.

According to the report of George C. Law, chief of the bureau of statistics of labor and industries, which was submitted to Acting Governor Taylor, the factories of New Jersey for the year 1912 produced goods to the value of $1,051,402,715. The invested capital was $918,137,610.

Despondent, she said, because she was older than the others in her class and feared that she could not keep up in her school work, Miss Anna Beatty, eighteen years old, a student in the sophomore class of the Newton high school, attempted suicide by drinking a solution of carbolic acid.

Detectives of the Central Railroad of New Jersey are looking for thieves who have been systematically robbing freight trains in transit. Five cars were broken open and merchandise to the value of several hundred dollars taken. The theft was discovered at Matawan and traced to Perth Amboy.

Miss Helen Gould Miller, for four and a half years assistant postmaster of Andover, received word from Washington that she had been appointed postmaster to succeed William Slater. The office is fourth class, and some time ago Mr. Slater and Miss Miller took the civil service examinations. It is probable that Miss Miller will appoint her former superior as her assistant.

Charles Frohman is to produce another Barrie playlet, called the "Little Policeman."

Nat Goodwin is to return to the stage in the former Willie Collier farce "Never Say Die."

George Arliss has passed the one thousand mark in his appearance as Beaconsfield in "Disraeli."

The name of the comedy by James Forbes, in which May Robson is to star, is called "The Clever Woman."

Eugene Walter and Jack London are to undertake together a dramatization of the novelist's tale, "The Valley of the Moon."

Mabel Rowland, who has not been seen on the stage for several years, will return to musical comedy at the La Salle Opera House, Chicago.

Bert Williams, the clever negro comedian, is to be starred by Klaw & Erlanger and Florence Ziegfeld in an extravaganza called "Robinson Crusoe."

Charles Dickson has a new musical farce, "The Lovey American," which he is planning to produce some time before the close of the present season.

An arrangement has been made by Charles Frohman and Al Woods for John Mason to go on tour in "The Guilty Man," which is to have its premier in New York shortly.

A syndicate composed of George M. Cohan, Sam Harris and other well known theatrical men is planning to build a mammoth amusement palace near Columbus Circle in New York.

When Martha Hedman visits Sweden, her native country, next summer, she will appear at Stockholm in a Swedish translation of the Barrie paylet, "Half an Hour," the rights to which she has obtained from Charles Frohman.

Harris Dickson has about completed a play based on his "Old Reliable" stories as a piece for starring Willis P. Sweatnam, the old minstrel veteran, and one of the most expert blackface comedians now on the stage.

Clifton Crawford, whom American playgoers will long remember as the amusing comedian of "The Three Twins," has gone to London to join George Edwardes' forces for musical comedy in the hope of repeating Joseph Coyne's good fortunes there.

"We Are Seven," a new whimsical comedy by Eleanor Gates, author of "The Poor Little Rich Girl," has been given its first production. The principal parts are played by Effie Ellsler, Russ Whytal, Bessie Barriscale, Jane Payton and William Raymond.

Before giving up their tenancy of the St. James Theatre in London, Granville Barker and Lillian McCarthy will pay their respects to the repertoire system by reviving six plays in three weeks. The plays selected are "The Wild Duck," Mansfield's "Nan," Molier's "Le Marriage Forse," Shaw's "The Doctor's Dilemma" and Maeterlinck's "The Death of Tintagiles."

On the strength of joint good fortune in the new "Henrietta," William H. Crane and Douglas Fairbanks are to act together for four season's to come. In the course of that time, they purpose to act in a new play written particularly for them and in revivals of "The Merry Wives," The Rivals" and "She Stoops to Conquer." In the three classic comedies Mr. Crane will play Falstaff, Old Absolute and Hardcastle, and Mr. Fairbanks Slender, Acres and Tony Lumpkin.

GOVERNOR AMMONS.

Colorado Executive Defies Trades Unions' Demands.

Characterizing their demands as ridiculous and their claims as overdrawn, Governor Ammons has refused to dismiss Adjutant General John Chase and other military officers from the service, order the release of military prisoners and abolish the military commission in the zone where coal miners are on strike. These demands were made by the allied trades unions' convention. When the governor's stand was made known to the delegates and they heard that the threat of recall petitions within five days had no effect on the governor "Mother" Mary Jones exhorted her hearers to march upon the state capitol and fling defiance of the governor in his face.

SCHMIDT "OVERPIOUS," PRIESTS DECLARE

Was Frequent Breaker of the Church Ritual.

New York, Dec. 19.—The Schmidt trial, which was to have finished last Tuesday, will last until Christmas anyway. The defending lawyers, W. M. K. Olcott, Terence J. McManus and Alphonse G. Koelble, think now they won't put Schmidt on the stand. The path is nearly clear for the testimony of eight alienists, four on each side. The first expert is likely to be heard Monday.

Witnesses included two priests, Father John T. Braun of St. Boniface's and Andrew D. Quinn of St. Joseph's in Second avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, respectively. Both said Schmidt was "overpious," reticent and a frequent breaker of the church's ritual. He used a wrong finger in lifting the host from the chalice at mass, he was guilty of ritual omissions at baptism and in prayer. When reproved often by Father Braun he cast down his eyes and was silent. To Father Quinn he would reply, "Oh, I didn't know." But he never conformed to the ritual. His departure from the rectory struck Father Braun as being almost "sneaking." The other priests never felt that they knew Schmidt.

It seems probable now, Father Braun said, "that Schmidt embezzled money of the church. Schmidt's father testified to receiving from his son on Aug. 26, 1912, a sum of 1,044 marks. Other small sums made a total of over 2,000 marks—that is, over $500, sent him by the son in a year or two. Schmidt's pay was only $500 a year.

TRY TO WRECK JAIL.

Suffragettes' Bomb Does Little Damage to Holloway Prison.

London, Dec. 19.—An attempt to wreck part of the outer wall of Holloway jail with mines or bombs resulted in failure, but hundreds of windows in neighboring houses were shattered.

The outrage was doubtless the work of militant suffragettes, but up to the present there is no clew as to the identity of the perpetrators. Mrs. Pankhurst was released from the jail, and it is supposed the attempt was made in revenge for her treatment by the police.

Residents of houses within a wide radius of the jail were startled by two tremendous explosions in quick succession, which were accompanied by a crashing of glass in house windows. Then came a chorus of shouts and blowing of police whistles and a rush of people toward the jail.

The site of the explosions was easily located. It was in the rear of a row of houses numbered 10 and 12 Holloway avenue, whose gardens stretch about a hundred feet toward the prison, from which they are separated by a dry moat twenty-five feet wide.

Mrs. Roosevelt Returns.

New York, Dec. 19.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt returned from South America by the United Fruit liner Santa Marta, having boarded that ship at Colon after coming up the west coast and crossing the isthmus of Panama. Mrs. Roosevelt was accompanied by her niece, Miss Margaret Roosevelt, who went to South America with the party, which left here on Oct. 15.

LEEHAN MURDER TRIAL IS RUSHED

Mrs. Jasper Lynch Prompts His Defenders.

NO MOTIVE FOR THE CRIME

Detective That Made Arrest Testifies He Got a Verbal Statement From Prisoner to the Effect That He Knew He Was Wanted.

Toms River, N. J., Dec 19.—The trial of William Leehan, charged with the murder of Mrs. Caroline Turner at Lakewood on April 26, 1911, is moving swiftly.

Marshaled by Mrs. Jasper Lynch, a Lakewood woman prominent in society, lawyers for the defense fought against evidence that the prosecution thought most damaging of all in its possession. Mrs. Lynch was the dominant figure of the three sessions which Judge James F. Minturn compelled those in the case to face.

Raymond C. Schindler, who was New York manager for the Burns agency at the time of the Turner murder, told how he went to Lakewood and worked on the case. He arrested Leehan at Fort Lee, N. J., he said, on April 3, 1913. Leehan was taken to the sheriff's office, where Schindler questioned him for three hours. The detective said he got a verbal statement that he said was what he wanted. He denied that he told Leehan he'd have him killed if he did not confess.

The prosecution won a point when Judge Minturn decided to admit in evidence the information Schindler got at the three hours session with Leehan. Then Schindler told Leehan's tale of wandering about New Jersey for several months after leaving Lakewood and of how his wife had him arrested for beating her. He was arrested time and again for beating his wife, Schindler said.

Say He Was Drunk.

Leehan finally left Jersey, Schindler asserted, and got a place with John D. Archbold, but was discharged for drunkenness. After that he worked for a lawyer named Ackerman in White Plains, but was again discharged after a fight.

Several other witnesses at the night session testified to Leehan's condition on the day Mrs. Turner disappeared and when her body was found two days later. All told about Leehan being disheveled and of scratches on his cheeks on the day Mrs. Turner's body was found. A. L. Munsey, a policeman, told of talking with Leehan in a cell and of Leehan saying the scratches came from a razor.

A. B. Griggs, formerly a bartender and now a Y. M. C. A. secretary, said on April 28 he refused Leehan a drink because he was already drunk.

Mrs. Elizabeth Turner, an earnest witness against Leehan, shed tears when the clothes her sister wore the day she was killed were put in evidence. The husband of the murdered woman did not change expression. With his relatives weeping and even his brother so affected, he sat impassive.

By her side sat Mrs. Leehan, wife of the prisoner. Leehan himself, looking better than in some time, was but a few feet away. The jurors chosen are most of them farmers and all were obliged to say they had no conscientious scruples against convicting a man of first degree murder. They are Hugh Kelly, Arthur Cornelius, Charles A. Cook, Eugene Parsons, John Hankins, George A. Bishop, Edward Heinrick, J. Lloyd Phifer, Charles W. Jones, Harry Dease, Tyler Reynolds, Holmes Van Note.

Dr. William G. Schauffler, president of the New Jersey state board of education, gave a new turn to the case when he said that in his opinion Mrs. Caroline Turner died of suffocation and not directly from a wound as previously supposed.

He thought a blow at the back of the head had stunned the woman and that she fell face forward and died because said she could not breathe. Dr. Schauffler said that Mrs. Turner's skull was not fractured.

Mrs. Turner was last seen alive by her friends as she entered the pine needle woods at the end of Lakewood's main street on the April day in 1911. Her body was found the next afternoon. Her skull had been crushed, her neck and shoulders lacerated and her clothing torn. Moriarty was arrested fifteen months afterward.

NABBED AS TRAIN WRECKERS

Two Men Arrested on Charge of Derailing Lake Shore Express.

Cleveland, Dec. 19.—Two men were arrested in the railroad yards here on the charge of being concerned in the wreck of the Lake Shore's New England express at Wickliffe last Friday night, when President A. H. Smith of the New York Central lines was a passenger.

The railroad detectives who made the arrest declare that the two prisoners are members of a gang who not only wrecked the New England express, but also attempted to wreck the St. Louis express at Linndale last Saturday afternoon and murderously attacked John Kasamer, a Big Four detective, in the yards here.

Lakewood Society Woman Who Aids Alleged Murderer.

The most striking figure at the trial of William J. Leehan at Toms River, N. J., who is charged with the murder of Mrs Caroline Turner, is Mrs. Jasper Lynch, a prominent society woman of Lakewood. She has befriended Leehan since his arrest and aided in the selection of jurors.

GOV. GLYNN ASSERTS HIS INDEPENDENCE

Says He'll Not Favor Murphy or Wilson.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 19.—"I shall not consult or attack Charles F. Murphy, but if he or any one else attempts to interfere with my administration I shall fight and in the open.

"I do not think the way to help the Democratic party in this state is to set up a bargain counter in the executive chamber to dispose of public offices.

"I believe the state of New York is too big to be the tail to the national administration's kite or the annex of Tammany Hall."

In these words Governor Glynn outlined his position in state politics. His words were not a declaration of war, but a declaration of independence, and as such they were equally directed at Pennsylvania avenue and Fourteenth street, at Woodrow Wilson and Charles F. Murphy.

In all that he said the governor made it perfectly plain that he is determined to be his own man as governor. Over and over again he returned to the main theme:

"I can't be a Wilson governor. I won't be a Murphy governor. I can only be a Glynn governor, and I believe my job is to be the best one I can.'

There was nothing dramatic or provocative in the governor's way of making his declaration. He had no threats or warnings to direct at any one. But it was unmistakable in his words and in his manner that he had decided after long thought exactly what he was going to do about the most perplexing of his political problems.

"I admire President Wilson. I shall support his national administration as loyally as I can, but I do not believe that the way to help the Democratic party in the state or the nation is to set up a bargain counter for public officers in the executive chamber at Albany," he concluded.

VACATION FOR WILSON.

Going Away For a Rest When Currency Bill Is Passed.

Washington, Dec. 19.—For the first time in more than a week the president went for a ride, accompanied by his daughter Miss Margaret Wilson, and his physician, Dr. Grayson. He rode in his closed limousine car up through Rock Creek park, being absent from the White House about an hour.

Secretary Tumulty said that the president is planning a three weeks' vacation to be begun as soon as the currency bill is disposed of.

"The length of time of the vacation," said Mr. Tumulty, "will of course depend on the plans made by congress for its holiday recess. It is likely, however, that congress will adjourn immediately after the currency bill is out of the way until about Jan. 12. This would enable the president to get away from the capital for at least three weeks and secure the rest which it is admitted he badly needs."

Rugs From the Rag Bag.

The fad for making rag rugs was resurrected about ten years ago, and the rather odd thing about it is that it is still in force. Rag rugs are still considered by many housewives as the most suitable for bedrooms, bathrooms and kitchens, for when they are made of thin cotton they can be easily washed and ironed. Many colonial houses of simple design and furnishing are fitted throughout with rag rugs, for they make an appropriate background for old mahogany furniture. They are surely better, when they are dyed in soft, harmonious colors, than half the rugs one sees in the shops where rugs are sold.

So, if you have a bulging rag bag, and have not yet stepped into the line of rag rug advocates, think on line of rag rug advocates, think on coverings and begin to empty your rag bag.

Colors.

The hit-and-miss type of rag rug must be made carefully. No unpleasant color should be used in such a rug. Good blues, reds, yellows, greens, browns and plenty of black and white can all be used, but hard purples, oranges or, indeed, hard shades of any color, should be avoided.

The rags should be cut into short strips for hit-and-miss rugs, strips about half or three-quarters of an inch wide. Then they should be sewed securely together—first a blue then a white, then a red, then a brown, then another white, then a green and so on. It is well to sew across the strip and back again, with stout cotton thread, so that the sewing will not rip out. The plan adopted by the woman who wants to save time is this: Sew the pieces of cloth together on the sewing machine, with a tight, firm stitch, across and back again. Then cut them in stripes of the required width. There is almost no danger of ripping if the stitch is firm enough. Of course, this sort of sewing makes a certain similarity to the colors in the rug, but it is attractive to have the regular repetition of red, blue, white, brown, yellow, white and black which would necessarily follow if yard-wide pieces of cloth of these colors were stitched together and then cut in long strips.

If you have lots of white cloth—old sheets, for instance—on hand, dye it yourself. Try dyeing it a soft shade of brown or green or blue. Then made a brown and green rug, for instance, or a blue and white one.

The Making.

Rag rugs can be woven at small cost by a professional or they can be braided at home. The method of braiding is this: Get a strip of wood four or five feet wide, and fasten the strands of cloth, a little longer than you want the rug, on this board. Now braid them in threes until they are all braided up. Then sew the long braids together with heavy thread of the same or contrasting color in an over-and-over stitch. After you have become adept you can use a cross-stitch design for joining the braids, and you can also braid long strands and fasten them together for round or oval rugs, winding the long braid around and around itself until the required size is finished.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

Charmingly suited to one of the striped or figured silks for simpler afternoon functions is this modish little dress (7660).

It would be especially useful to the boarding school girl and could be fashioned of one of the light wool fabrics or a wash material. The inset yoke is intended to be of lace or embroidery and offers just the touch of relief that such a design requires.

7660 closes in the back, has a one-piece skirt, which is fulled slightly and laid in soft plaits at the top, and may be made with a full length or short sleeve. The trimming bands on skirt and bodice may be omitted if not fancied. A wide sash or girdle of a contrasting color would be a dressy touch on a dress of this description.

The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 34 to 42.

USES FOR COLD TURKEY.

WHEN there is a superfluity of cold turkey in the house use it, as you would cold chicken, in the preparation of other foods. It will in its new form be just as appetizing and much more acceptable, as too much turkey in the shape of cold roast is likely to pall on the taste.

So many things can be made of cold turkey that it is almost an embarrassment to choose. Perhaps the easiest use of it is in neat slices, garnished with celery tops and parsley, and with the dressing cut into squares and mixed with it. It may be made still more elegant by the addition of aspic jelly either of a meat or a tomato foundation.

In Vegetable Cups.

Minced Turkey In Potato Cups.—Mince fine some slices of cold roast turkey, add a little dressing to give flavor and moisten with gravy. Prepare some nicely seasoned mashed potato, stir in a beaten egg and form into small balls. Hollow out the centers with a spoon. Fill with turkey mixture and set in oven till heated through. Garnish with parsley and serve with giblet loaf.

Turkey Hashed.—Cut up the cold roasted turkey, put it into a stewpan with one-half gill of sherry wine, shallots, truffles, mushrooms, chopped parsley, salt, pepper and a little stock. Boil one-half hour and reduce to a thick sauce. When ready add a pound of anchovies and a squeeze of lemon. Skim the sauce free from fat and serve altogether.

A Savory Combination.

Turkey and Ham.—Mince about a pound of cold turkey and mix with it a quarter of a pound of ham or tongue. Break up the bones and make some stock with them, adding some lean ham, an onion and parsley. Strain, put a minced shallot in a small pan with a pat of butter and stir till a light brown. Add a tablespoonful of flour, a pint of stock and the minced meat. Simmer for a few minutes. Season with salt, pepper and a pinch of sugar. Beat up the yolks of two eggs, stir them in quickly, then turn the mixture on to a dish and leave till cold. Shape the mixture like corks, egg and breadcrumb them twice and fry a nice golden color. Drain and serve very hot with fried parsley.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Mole And Turtle Open a Store.

The Two Started a Store.

"I'VE told you, children," said daddy, "how a little mole, who had got even with old Farmer Hicky for plowing off the heads of his children, had escaped from the farmer's angry hands to his friend, Mr. Turtle.

"Now, Mr. Turtle was very kind to Mr. Mole, for he knew how sad Mr. Mole felt losing his wife and all his children. However, Mr. Turtle was none too rich, and Mr. Mole had, of course, broken up his old home and was very, very poor. So one day he said to Mr. Turtle: 'Let's start a little store on the bank on the other side of the lake.'

"So to work they both set with great vim. Mr. Turtle carried mud on his back of shell and Mr. Mole carried sticks to the spot which they picked out as the site for the store. Then they began to build. Mr. Turtle had more ideas than Mr. Mole, but Mr. Mole was a better worker. At the end of a few days the store was finished, and Mr. Turtle and Mr. Mole sent around notices printed on leaves which read: 'Fresh fish, fresh fruit, fresh pastry, at the new store. Turtle & Mole Bros.'

"All the animals around began to do their shopping at the new store. The rabbits, molly cottontails, chipmunks, squirrels, toads and frogs all did their marketing there, and each day they bought more and more, for Mr. Turtle and Mr. Mole had such delicious things to sell. They kept the store open all day, and at night they put all their provisions away, while Mr. Turtle went fishing and Mr. Mole got fresh berries and made most wonderful blackberry tarts, and he cooked the most delicious pastry. The animals around would see the smoke curl out of the little stone chimney of the store and would think, 'Ah, there are those delicious pastries being made by Mr. Mole!' and the next day they would all go and buy them.

"The store grew so in wealth that Mr. Turtle and Mr. Mole decided to add a tearoom, which they did. It was most attractively fixed with leaves and blossoms, and for tables they had smooth rocks which they covered with leaves. The afternoon planned for the opening came, and all the animals dressed up in their best. One very dressy old rabbit wore a high silk hat and carried a cane. The animals enjoyed the tearoom so much that every afternoon it was the center of animal fashion and beauty.

"But, alas, one night, when all had been going so well, Mr. Mole smelled smoke and, looking out of the door, saw all the woods ablaze and almost reaching their store. Mr. Mole shrieked to Mr. Turtle, 'The woods are afire!' and they jumped into the lake and escaped with their lives.

"I've often wondered," continued daddy, "if they ever rebuilt their successful store again, but I fully expect they have ere this."

How to Make Attractive Glass Tea Trays

Little glass covered trays are attractive gifts, and if made at home the cost is trifling. Buy a cheap picture with a frame the size and shape you desire for the tray. Remove the picture and fit a piece of gay cretonne or embroidery under the glass. Replace the back and glue a piece of green felt under the frame, which will at Supple Shoulders Give a Youthful Air.

"If you want to look young do not let your shoulders get stiff," says a woman who likes to look youthful and knows how to do it. "Flexibility of expression and pose is the hallmark of youth.

"Many women in their desire for an erect carriage think they have achieved it by hoisting up their shoulders and holding them hoisted with relentless persistence. Why have a stiff dignity of pose when one can have a graceful dignity?

"To keep your shoulders young try to keep your mind young by not letting it worry needlessly or think overintensely.

"The mind affects the shoulders, and they affect the mind. If you cannot stop thinking too seriously or worrying, move your shoulders and arms about a bit, let your shoulders fall into place easily, and you will see that at once your mind is rested.

"Don't worry about your household cares while you are attending to them, as most women do, accomplishing them with knit brow and stiff shoulders. Decide what you have to do and then just do it with easy mind and easy pose.

"Thus you keep your face from acquiring set expressions that soon age it by robbing it of its life and giving it a lot of unnecessary wrinkles. You also keep your shoulders from that inelasticity that is a foe to youthful looks.

"Don't when you can go out shopping walk along with your mind stoically or feverishly set upon your errands. You can't do this without stiffening your shoulders.

"Stiffly held erect shoulders are bad enough in giving a woman the stamp of age's rigidity, but stiffly held bent shoulders are a crime against health as well as beauty in cramping the lungs. Stooping is a habit that requires great will power to overcome. There is a dangerous tendency toward stooping shoulders in the present vogue for droop of pose brought about by the limp, picturesque clothes that are now the fashion.

"Let your shoulders fall into natural easy lines and at once your arms thrill with life and do graceful things that enhance your beauty and preserve your youth. Stiff shoulders stiffen the whole figure. Years fall from rigid shoulders corrected of the fault."

An Easy Way to Reduce.

"If you want to reduce yourself quickly and with no harmful results try this way," says a specialist in the art of reducing corpulency. "I've seen it work wonders in an incredibly short time.

"It's what I call the sawing exercise. Put your right foot up on a chair and with both arms go through an up and down sawing motion toward the left side, bending over as far as possible and drawing back as far as possible. Do this fifty times and then do the same thing toward the right side with the left foot raised on a chair.

"The exercise calls into play every muscle in the body, especially round the abdomen.

"It should be gone through regularly fifty times one side, fifty times the other, every morning.

"I know of no exercise that will so quickly set a good tingle of circulation through the body as this simple one. If you haven't had enough outing and walking through the day a performance of it will largely atone for the lack.

"It should be gone through with even force and vigor, exactly as though you were really sawing wood. Done limply and without interest it is waste time, just like any other feebly done exercise."

Foot Massage.

Where the feet are in good condition a massage lightly given about once a week will prove quite beneficial. But when feet are in a troublesome condition they must, to obtain relief, be treated daily. One thing the feet need very much, and of which they get very little, is air. They should be freed from shoes and stockings at least half an hour every day. True, the feet are bare at night time; but, as a rule, they are not uncovered, so they do not get much air.

Daily bathing, a weekly massage, properly fitting shoes and stockings, with a daily change of the latter and sufficient airing, would relieve and undoubtedly cure mostly all foot troubles.

Still, there is another thing to be mentioned regarding the care of the feet, and that is the stockings. Sometimes, where apparently no trouble at all exists and the feet are given the best possible attention, they begin to smart and burn.

White or unbleached stockings are usually the best for the feet, but some women prefer colored, and for that reason it is advisable to purchase those with at least white soles. This part of the stocking is never seen, even with low shoes, and the white sole will prove a great benefit to the feet.

To Reduce Double Chin.

To reduce or prevent a double chin place the palm of the hand on the forehead, gradually lower the chin toward the chest, holding back the head with the hand. From this position push the head backward, resisting with the head.

—The habit of thrift would, eventually, lead a housewife to become an ad-reader. But the habit of ad-reading quickly leads to the habit of thrift.

A Simple Design For a Pillow.

Thousand-flower stitch, sometimes known as Black Forest embroidery, is very fascinating to do and is so simple that it can be done without any experience. It may readily be picked up at odd moments, and would, therefore, be good for the busy woman who can always have a piece of this work at hand.

This thousand-flower design, illustrated on a pillow cover, is twelve and one-half inches wide, by sixteen and one-half inches long and is suitable for use on a pillow cover of white or natural colored linen. The sprays may be cut apart and re-arranged in any way desired, and the basket, which is three and one-half by five inches, may be used on a bag. This pattern is very effective developed in heavy rope silk or mercerized cotton in pink, blue violet, brown, yellow, black and green, although it may be carried out entirely in one color as several shades of blue, brown or green.

Particularly good for the beginner, is this design, as it is developed with one of the simplest of embroidery stitches. It is done by taking one stitch for each petal of a flower, the centers of which may be done in French knots and the stem in outline-stitch.

POLICE ARE BAFFLED IN M'CANN SEARCH

Admit Failure as Every Clew Is Exhausted.

New York, Dec. 19.—As the search for Dorothy Arnold, prosecuted vigorously three years ago, was allowed to relax as clew after clew was investigated without result, so the hunt for pretty Jessie Evelyn McCann, the missing Flatbush social and church worker, is flagging, not because of inactivity on the part of the police, but because not a single new clew offers itself. The mystery of the girl's disappearance is as complete as on the evening of last Dec. 4, when she failed to return home after her departure, ostensibly for the School For Destitute Children, where she taught a kindergarten class. Inspector Faurot admitted that he and his staff were helpless.

"My men have worked faithfully, and their endeavors have resulted in disclosing this result, that the young woman is missing," he said. "I have no criticism to make regarding the attitude of the family. Perhaps we have all the information any member of it has been able to give. I have at this time nothing that would warrant any theory worth considering. I know that the greater city has been thoroughly searched. Every bit of information that has come to this office, by mail or otherwise, has been looked into. We spent much time in the Coney Island district because it is a sure thing that she was there alive and well on the day following her disappearance.

"We have not given up the search, and we may at any time get information that will bring results."

GENERAL VILLA DEMANDS RANSOM

Terraza Must Give $500,000 by Sunday.

WIFE AND DAUGHTERS HELD

Rebel Commander Threatens to Execute His Son Unless Money Is Forthcoming—Orozco Is Peeved and May Take Field Against Huerta.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 19.—The Terrazas family has been notified by General Villa, the Constitutionalist leader, that unless they pay $500,000 as ransom by sunset Sunday, Luis Terrazas, Jr., will be executed.

The wife and daughters of General Terrazas, the land baron of Chihuahua, held prisoners by Villa, have not been molested by General Villa, they state, but he has confiscated all their property, cattle and personal effects, leaving them practically stranded in the city where they were once multi millionaires.

The refugees' train brought more than 300 foreigners to the border. They consisted of Spanish, German, Italian and American citizens, all being driven to the American side of the Rio Grande by Genera Villa under threat of death.

Chaotic conditions exist in Chihuahua City, according to their story, with the lives of foreigners in imminent danger. They corroborated the stories told by the Spanish refugees who came across the border last week.

Nip Gomez Plot.

The arrest here of a dozen men revealed the fact that a new Mexican revolt is being fomented with the purpose of landing Emilo Vasquez Gomez in the presidency. Dr. Gomez was a candidate for president in the recent Mexican election, opposing General Huerta on the anti-election ticket, but was compelled to flee the country several weeks before the election took place.

The new uprising has the support of General Felix Diaz. Ex-Governor Gayou of the state of Coahuila arrived here last night from Havana, where he was in conference with General Diaz.

According to documentary evidence, which was seized, together with a large quantity of arms and ammunition, representations have been made to General Pascual Orozco, General Ynez Salazar and other federal commanders at Ojinaga with the view of having them join the revolt against Huerta.

Mexico City, Dec. 19.—Pascual Orozco, one of the leading federal generals, has rebelled against Huerta. He sent a telegram to the war office declaring that he and his men will take the field against the federals unless Huerta allows him 3,000 pesos weekly for himself and his troops.

It was understood that the federal army has only about 1,000,000 cartridges left, the shipmen reported to have been sent from Japan having failed to arrive.

Huerta and his ministers are discussing a measure to obtain funds by confiscating and selling at auction all property of persons allied with the revolution.

Senor Gorostieta, minister of justice, reputed the most well balanced man in the cabinet, is the only opponent of the plan. His opinion will probably be disregarded and the plan adopted at the cabinet meeting. It will not be necessary to refer this matter to congress, as Huerta has been invested with dictatorial powers.

MYSTERY IN DEATH OF NURSE

Miss Dennie Had Bought Christmas Presents For Her Friends.

Binghamton, N. Y., Dec. 19.—Mystery surrounds the suicide of Miss Fannie Dennie, night supervisor of the Binghamton City hospital, who ended her life by oxalic acid poisoning. About her were Christmas presents she had prepared for friends connected with the hospital.

Track Walker's Weird Find.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Dec. 19.—A track walker on the D. A. V. and P. railway, near Moon's station, a few miles south of this city, noticed a pair of boots sticking from an ice filled ditch. He tried to pick one up. He found a man's leg inside it attached to a body frozen in the ice. The coroner dug it out. Who the victim was is not known.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

STYLISH SR RELIABLE

Gifts from the Heart

Christmas without the interchanging of gifts would be like a "helmless boat, a houseless street, to make its nothingness complete."

Presenting Gifts at Xmas Time is not merely a custom that has come down to us thru the ages—it is an expression of our best sentiments.

We admire the universal spirit of liberality, which is so obvious around Christmas Time.

We admire the spirit with which men enter into the occasion by buying gifts for all the family and perhaps all the family's friends.

But why not put your own name down for a useful gift?

Don't overlook YOU—he's a good fellow and deserves to be remembered.

A Suit or an Overcoat would make an excellent self-gift. And they are priced as low as

$12, $15, $18, $20 and up to $30

Styled just a wee bit better than the garments usually sold at the same prices.

PLAN DEDICATION OF A FINE PARISH HOUSE

Congregational Church People to Hold Appropriate Exercises Tomorrow.

Impressive services will mark the dedication tomorrow afternoon of the parish house of the Congregational church, at Madison avenue and West Seventh street, the construction of which was recently completed. A spacious and beautiful reinforced concrete structure, the building is the result of three years of endeavor on the part of the congregation to raise a fund of $20,000 for the erection of a place to hold the Sunday-school services, as well as a suitable building in which to hold social events. The fund was composed of gifts ranging in amounts from 50 cents to $1,500.

The building will be formally turned over to the congregation by Frank A. Weeks, chairman of the building committee. The speech of acceptance will be made by Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich, the pastor. A special musical program will be rendered and other addresses will be made by Rev. Dr. Charles H. Richards, secretary of the Congregational Building Society, and Arthur M. Harris, superintendent of the First Baptist Bible School.

The order of worship will be as follows:

Organ voluntary, procession, hymn, "Rejoice Ye Pure In Heart;" doxology; invocation; song by the choir; responsive reading; Gloria; anthem; offertory-duet; hymn; presentation of new building to the congregation by Frank A. Weeks, chairman of the building committee; acceptance address on behalf of the congregation by the pastor; dedication readings; concert singing; prayer by Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church; address by the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Richards, secretary of the Congregational Building Society; address, Arthur M. Harris, superintendent of the First Baptist Bible School; hymn by the choir and school, "The Church's One Foundation;" benediction; response by the choir.

NEARLY $50,000 PAID IN AS TAXES YESTERDAY

The receipts at the tax collector's office yesterday far exceeded those of the day before when nearly $50,000 was paid to Collector William R. Townsend. Today is the biggest one at the office. From early this morning there has been a continuous line of taxpayers, and Mr. Townsend has been busy every minute of the time taking in the cash. He has not had time to even estimate what today's receipts will be, but he knows that they will be the largest for any day of the week.

Patrolman Cornelius McCarty is on duty at the office keeping a close eye on everything. Mr. Townsend banks his money several times during the day so that no large sum is kept at the office for any length of time. As stated yesterday the receipts are far ahead of last year, chiefly because of the increased tax rate. In addition to the cash that is coming in, there is also a large amount received through the mail and it will be Monday before Mr. Townsend will probably be able to total up the whole amount.

WANTED $131.00.

For the substantial relief of the impoverished families in Plainfield, five or six in number, exactly $219 has been contributed to the Charity Organization Society as a result of appeals made exclusively in the Daily Press. In order to meet all the wants $131 more is needed. Won't you send in your contribution for those in sorrow and poverty in order to make their Christmas a cheerful one.

"SCOOP" WAS THERE TOO.

Alfred A. Wilson, head of the local branch of the New York Telephone Co., attended the presentation of a play entitled, "Kale College," given last night in Newark, by the Tuscarora Canoe Club, of which he is a member.

SUBSCRIBED $500 FOR REAL XMAS

Contributions Coming in for Community Christmas Fund Encourages Committees.

TO DISTRIBUTE GIFTS

In Forty Autos Santa Claus Will Deliver Presents to the Poor Kids—Exercises Will Be Held at Bonnie Burn.

It was reported at a meeting of the combined committees of the Plainfield Community Christmas movement at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night that $500 had been subscribed to defray the expense of providing a real Christmas for the children of the poor. Much more money is needed, however, and contributions will be welcomed. Should there be any surplus, the extra amount will be used in assisting poor families during the winter months.

In addition to making the poor kiddies here realize the joys of Christmas the Federation of Church Men's Clubs and the Federation of Bible Classes has arranged to hold a "Merry Xmas" at the Industrial Home and at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium. Gifts will be distributed at the former institution and at the latter there will be exercises with a real Santa Claus to give presents to the patients. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, will make a short address and the choir of his church will sing carols. The entertainment there will take place at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

More than forty automobiles have been mustered into service to deliver the gifts and the committee will meet at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday afternoon for that purpose.

It was decided last night to have a standing committee to arrange for next year's event and for this purpose Samuel T. Carter, Jr., who was in the chair, appointed W. H. P. Veysey, George H. Batchelor, A. M. Harris and C. A. Rice.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR FREDERIC W. BUTLER

The funeral of Frederick W. Butler was held at the late home, 117 East Ninth street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon and was largely attended by relatives and friends, including representatives of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M., of which Mr. Butler was a member, and business associates in New York.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, minister of the Crescent Avenue church, of which Mr. Butler was a member, officiated, reading the Scriptures, offering prayer and making a short address. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were Robert Sedgwick and R. Lewis Julian, of New York; L. G. Timpson, Frederic Harrington, William C. Kinney and Harry L. Hall, of this city.

CHIEF DOANE SPEAKS ON FIRE PREVENTION

Fire Chief T. O. Doane, upon invitation, addressed all of the pupil nurses and heads of departments at Muhlenberg Hospital, Thursday night, on means of fire prevention and what to do in case of fire. There is, perhaps, no institution in the city where such information is needed more than at the hospital and for this reason, Chief Doane's remarks were especially welcomed.

It was the intention of the chief to give but a brief lecture, but after getting into his subject he found it so full of suggestions that he talked for more than an hour. Those present fully appreciated what he had to say and at the conclusion gave him a hearty vote of thanks.

The defendant was represented by Francis J. Blatz and J. Henry Crane was counsel for the complainant.

CUSHING LEAVES CASH TO CHARITY

Son of First Local Newspaper Editor Made Philanthropic Bequests.

HIS RELATIVES HERE

Former Plainfielder Amassed a Fortune in the Machinery Business—Two Sisters Survive Nyack, N. Y., Man.

The will of Nicholas B. Cushing, a former resident of Plainfield, who died at his home in Nyack, N. Y., a few weeks ago, was offered for probate at that place yesterday. Mr. Cushing was wealthy and he made a number of bequests including $5,000 to the Nyack Y. M. C. A., $5,000 to the Nyack Hospital; $5,000 to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children in Jersey City and $5,000 to an old ladies' home in Jersey City. Several men who worked for Mr. Cushing at Nyack will receive $1,000 each and other generous bequests are made in the will.

Mr. Cushing was the son of the late Milton Cushing, who was the editor of the Plainfield Union, the first newspaper published in this city, and was a brother of the late Mrs. Hand, wife of Captain William C. Hand, of this city, and uncle to Fred Hand, of the Hand Storage Company.

When in this city he lived on Cushing road in the Netherwood district. He was engaged at Nyack in the general machinery business in which he amassed a fortune. He is survived by two sisters.

DANCE AT SEMINARY WAS MUCH ENJOYED

Seniors and Juniors Held Event and Some Seventy Were Present.

The members of the senior and junior classes of The Seminary gave a delightful dance at that place, last night, the affair being attended by about seventy guests, including a number from out of town. The assembly room of The Seminary was attractively decorated for the occasion in Oriental design which was greatly admired by everyone.

A feature of the affair was the music by Van Eps Brothers. The program was a popular one and there were a number of encores. Supper was served at 11 o'clock.

The committee in charge of the dance comprised Miss Margaret Eaton, chairman; Miss Dorothy MacClymont, Miss Teressa Sharretts, Miss Katherine Lee, Miss Helen Renskorf and Miss Dorothy Langford.

MR. MAYOR, PLEASE NOTE.

The local ordinances are being violated by the Christmas tree hucksters. Why is it that these men are allowed to block-up the sidewalks and cause a real nuisance, particularly when merchants regularly engaged in business all the year around and who pay taxes are not permitted to thus obstruct traffic and also violate the ordinances? The attention of the mayor is called to this matter. The annoyance should be stopped at once. The condition is worst in Park avenue and West Front street.

CHRISTMAS PLAYS A GREAT SUCCESS

College Club's Fund Increased $250 as Result of Double Production.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

Many Took Part in the Performances Which Are Given Annually to Provide Money to Assist Worthy College Students.

Members of the College Club, of this city, presented their annual Christmas entertainment in the Plainfield Theatre, yesterday afternoon, providing another success in charity annals that eclipsed those of former years and resulted in the establishment of a fund of $250 which will be used in assisting girls in securing a college education. The play is presented annually by this organization to obtain funds for its work and as the result of efforts on the part of active members a number of worthy students have been aided in completing their academic courses in various institutions.

At the present time the club has many cases under observation and the good work is carried on without regard to the college or nationality of the individual. The Christmas entertainment is annually the means of providing the funds for the work and yesterday's affair came up to the greatest anticipations of those in charge. A large audience greeted the amateur thespians who have been rehearsing regularly for the past two months in an effort to perfect the production and the entire show went off without a hitch in the plans.

This year's plays were entitled "The Night Before Christmas" and "Sleeping Beauty" and the following took part: Miss Margaret McCutcheon, "The King;" Miss Evelyn Wells, "The Prince"; Miss Ellen D. Burke, "Peter," his squire; Miss Rae Harris, "Lord Gold Broomstick-in-wating"; Miss Helen Besler, "The Queen"; Miss Helen Joy, "The Princess"; Miss Margaret Townsend, "Mairy Malvolia"; Miss Maude White, "Fairy Benvolia"; Miss Blanche Buttfield, "Lady May"; Miss Harriet Moodey, "Lady Bet"; Miss Margaret Buttfield, "Lady Sall"; Miss Frederica Mead, "Chief Mistress of the Ink Bottle."

In "The Night Before Christmas" the cast follows: Miss Evelyn Wells, "Santa Claus"; Miss Helen Joy, "Ah-we-lah," a messenger boy; Miss Margaret Buttfield, "Etuk-i-shuk," an Esquimaux boy; Miss Elizabeth Goddard, "Papa in his cap"; Miss Margaret Townsend, "Mamma" in her 'kerchief; Miss Margaret Buttfield, "Harry"; Miss Helen Joy, "Willie."

Mr. Hendrickson acted as magician in the first play and there were four scenes presented as follows: (1) Room in the palace; (2) Same room as scene No. 1; (3) A tangled wood outside the castle, and (4) A combination of scenes one and two. The second play presented Santa Claus' workshop and a child's bedroom.

TRUST CO.'S CALENDAR REAL WORK OF ART

"A Pilgrim of the Sea," by James G. Tyler, is the subject of The Plainfield Trust Company's 1914 art calendar which is now ready for distribution to depositors in its banking and special departments, and those who have been fortunate enough in the past to secure one of the company's calendars will be glad to take advantage of this offer. The picture portrayed by Mr. Tyler is a beautiful study of sea and sky—of moonlight and of shadow, and in these, as in the mysterious, phantom-body of the full-sailed merchantman sailing across the waters, the artist finds elements in which he is fully at home.

Mr. Tyler has long been celebrated in the field of marine art and it is anticipated that this calendar which is quite different from anything put out in former years will be very popular.

It is suggested that those who wish one call at the company's office next week.

THIEF PLEASE NOTE.

Walter Kennedy, of The Bristol, West Front street, has reported to the police that for the second time this year he has lost a bicycle. The second wheel was taken Wednesday night from the rear of The Bristol. It is a Pierce and had a luggage carrier, light, tool bag, etc., and was valued at $76.50. Mr. Kennedy says that if the thief who took the wheel will send his name he will give him a pair of racing handle-bars and a Pierson saddle.

PUBLIC SERVICE RY. PAY RAISED

3,860 Motormen and Conductors to Get Increase in Wages on Jan. 1.

ON GRADUATED SCALE

Length of Employment Fixes Pay—Means $200,000 Addition Each Year to the Company's Operating Expenses.

Announcement was made today by President Thomas N. McCarter that the ultimate wage scale for the motormen and conductors for Public Service Railway Company, towards the realization of which the company had long been working, would be put into effect January 1, 1914. Substantial increases are provided for, the maximum pay being raised from 25 cents to 30 cents per hour, and advance of 20 per cent. The minimum pay will be 23 cents per hour for beginners and the intervening rates will be graduated according to the length of employment. The company takes the view that it has long been demonstrated that length of service is the all-important and determining factor in the efficiency of the men, especially as regards freedom from accidents. The company's action will add approximately $200,000 to the pay roll for trainmen during the coming year, and it is expected that the increase in wages will substantially induce greater continuity of service. This amount will grow because of the increasing number of men who will remain in the company's employ and thus advance step by step into the higher paid grade. Thus a new and inexperienced man will receive $2.30 for a standard day's work of ten hours, whereas those who have reached their full measure of efficiency as trainmen will receive for the same service $3.00 per working day, and those who are no longer new men but who are working their way by experience towards the maximum of efficiency will receive a wage which the company believes fully represents the value of the service performed by them.

In addition to the foregoing, to the regular employes who volunteer for additional duty when needed after the day's work, the company will allow pay at the rate of 37½ cents an hour, and to all men on the extra list who report regularly and perform the work assigned to them, a minimum wage of $12 per week will be guaranteed. The present scale ranges from 23 cents to 25 cents per hour with a minimum for extra men of $10.50 per week.

There are approximately 3860 motormen and conductors in the company's employ and the announcement of this very important change in the wage scale came as a complete surprise to them, their first knowledge of it being obtained from the posting of bulletins in the various car houses this morning. In making known the company's action, Mr. Mcarter issued the following statement:

Under the new schedule platform men will be paid as follows: During the first six months, 23 cents per hour; second six months, 24 cents per hour; second year, 25 cents per hour; third year, 26 cents per hour; fourth year, 26 cents per hour; fifth year, 27 cents per hour; sixth year, 27 cents per hour; seventh year, 28 cents per hour; eighth year, 28 cents per hour; ninth year, 29 cents per hour; tenth year, 29 cents per hour; after tenth year, 30 cents per hour.

The company has fixed the amount to be paid to regular employes who volunteer for extra duty when needed after the day's work is done at the rate of 37½ cents per hour; and has also decided to guarantee to men on the extra list who answer all roll calls and perform such work as may be assigned to them, a minimum wage of $12 per week.

There will be no diminution of the advantages accruing to the men by virtue of the sick benefit, insurance and pension features provided by the Company's Welfare Plan.

TAX BOARD WILL SUBPOENA LARUE

Assessor Fails to Make Appearance When Wanted in Newman Case Hearing.

GRANT MANY APPEALS

Officials in Charge of Equalization of Taxes Allow Reductions Which Amount to $7,775—Many Cases Remain to Be Heard.

Three members of the Union County Board for the Equalization of Taxes spent another afternoon hearing appeals in the District Court rooms yesterday, several of which were left over from the previous hearing being granted at that time. Thirteen of the twenty-one appeals were granted and a total reduction of $7,775 was allowed the applicants. The largest amount granted was given to Dr. Thomas D. Blair, of Park avenue, who received a reduction of $1,525 on his property located at 412-416 Park avenue.

Eight cases were dismissed by the Board and including a list of eight that were postponed until a future date and thirteen that were filed yesterday, there still remains twenty-one cases to be heard. A majority of the cases involve buildings and dwelling houses and the chief argument seems to be the deterioration in the value of the properties in question.

In the case of Avery A. Newman, who applied for a reduction of $500 in the assessed valuation of property located at 66 Netherwood avenue, the matter was laid over by the Board until the latter part of the afternoon, the assessor of the First ward, Clarence LaRue, having promised the city attorney to be present at 4 o'clock. Mr. Newman was held in the District Court for a hearing until 5:30 o'clock and when it was ascertained that Mr. LaRue would not be on hand Mr. Newman was given a hearing under oath. He satisfied the Board that his claims were just and further stated that Mr. LaRue, who assessed him, had never called to make the assessment or conferred with the owner. Mr. Newman claimed that he received a slip from Mr. LaRue which he filled out as he would an insurance policy, having mistaken the notice for an insurance document and placed a valuation of $1,000 on his personal property. Mr. Newman swore that this figure was $500 in excess of the fair amount and he was granted the deduction.

When the Board met here for the first time Mr. LaRue was subpoenaed to appear before it to straighten out a matter which concerned the Plainfield-Union Water Company and made his appearance in this instance. Yesterday the Board thought a subpoena unnecessary and took him at his word but Mr. LaRue failed to make good his promise and the Board ordered a subpoena to be served for the next meeting.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally If You Eat Meat Regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

The World's Gypsies.

The gypsies have passed under a variety of names, arising either from their supposed original country or the callings and characteristics of the race. The old English Egyptian, the Spanish Gitana and the Magyar Pharas nepek (Pharaoh's people) all point to an Egyptian origin. The Scandinavian Tatare identifies them with the Mongolian hordes which terrorized early Europe, while the French Bohemian suggests yet another country as their cradle.

As to the names bestowed by their supposed character, the Arab boldly calls them harami (a villain), the Dutchman heydens, or heathens, and the Persian takes his name from their complexion and dubs them karachi, or swarthy. A charter of William the Lion, as early as the twelfth century, mentions their Scotch name of tinklers, which is commonly supposed to be a corruption of tinker, although possibly the substitution of "t" for "z" has produced this form of the Italian zingaro, one of the most widespread of gypsy appellations.—London Spectator.

The Moth and the Candle.

It is not because the moth is light-hearted, heedless and utterly frivolous, as we have always been told, that it plunges headlong into the flame, but because of the way that its body is constructed, says Kaempffert, the well known student of physical science. There are two symmetrical points, exactly alike chemically, on the moth's body—namely, its eyes. If the rays of light modify the chemical conditions of one side more than the other then the moth's power of movement is affected. There is a stronger muscular tension on one side than on the other, and the moth is forced to move toward the source of light. If, however, one of the eyes is removed the chemical symmetery is destroyed and instead of plunging into the flame it moves about in a circle. There are other animals and insects besides the moth which are hopelessly in the grip of light. If a snail is placed between a white wall and a black wall the unequal lighting forces it to crawl in a circle.—Chicago Tribune.

The Symbolic Key.

Art, music and poetry have in all ages been considered the polite arts, but what is art without the proper portrayal of the dress of the age that it seeks to represent? What is music that does not bring inspiration from the masters of the past who were clothed in the power to give us glimpses of men and ideals of whom the only lasting impression can be gained by the form our imaginations give to them? And our imaginations clothe them in robes in which their creators sent them out on their errands of giving the world higher ideals. Then what is poetry but thought clothed in words? No matter from what side viewed, the figure of speech of clothing is the symbolic key that gives entrance to these higher realms, and therefore why should not clothes themselves touch the hem of the garments of the arts, with which they are so closely in touch?—American Tailor and Cutter.

The Australian Appetite.

An Australian paper gives some surprising statistics of what the average Australian eats. Apparently he has the best appetite, if not the best digestion, of any human being on the planet. He eats every year 264 pounds of meat, which works out at an average of two sheep and one-fifth of a bullock for every man, woman and baby in Australasia. He eats more than twice as much meat as the average Englishman, three times as much as the average Frenchman and four times as much as the average German or Swiss. He eats, in addition, about three and three-quarters hundredweight of wheat, two and a half hundredweight of potatoes and almost one hundredweight of sugar. If he is a Tasmanian he eats a quarter of a ton of potatoes in a year.

Titles.

"That is a remarkably distinguished family of yours."

"Yes," replied Mr. Mildman. "My wife is president of several societies. My eldest son is a captain in the Salvation Army and his brother is an officer in the boy scouts."

"And is there no special distinction for you?"

"Yes. I'm the only person in the house who is addressed as plain 'mister.'"—Washington Star.

A Slight Blemish.

"Yes," said Mrs. Mulligan, who was having a chat with two friends, "me husband's a wonderful man. He can mend clocks. Sure, Mrs. Moriarty didn't he mend your cuckoo clock so that it kapes beautiful time now?"

"That he did, Mrs. Mulligan," replied Mrs. Moriarty; "he mended it all right. It's only got one single fault now—it 'oos' before it 'cucks!'"—London Telegraph.

Harmony In Life.

It is not by reducing life to less but by expanding it to more—not by muffling its stern notes, but by ringing its sweetness clearly out—that a serene harmony may be obtained.

Cause For Jealousy.

Jess—They went to the lake district on their wedding trip, and Ethel was wretched. Rose—What was the trouble? Jess—George fell in love with the scenery.—Cleveland Leader.

Bright Outlook.

She—Is your brother, who is deaf, any better. He—Yes. He was arrested yesterday, and I'm told he is to get his hearing in the morning.—Brooklyn Citizen.

REAL ESTATE.

Did you say real estate? Well, according to the way people are bidding for it now anyone might call this a misnomer. Never mind; just wait. We notice the shrewd buyer is looking around and if he has loose money is buying and will continue to buy. After a little, when people have counted the losses they have suffered on stocks, they will return for safe investment to the real estate. Then this shrewd buyer will be ready to sell at large profits.

This is not imagination. It has been demonstrated practically right here in the past few years. For example, only ten years ago handsome farms around these parts changed hands at from $20 to $40 per acre; since that time these very farms have again changed hands at prices ranging from $80 to $200 per acre. This is not myth, it is solid fact, and the writer can show ten such farms in an hour's ride around Plainfield; and there are hundreds more. The tide has turned, and now while the farm lands are booming the city property is begging for buyers and the safe investment at present is the latter.

Loans on mortgage on real estate have been difficult to obtain because the money lenders have turned their attention to what they thought was much better—stocks. Have they proved so? What is the real foundation and actual possession of wealth? Is it not real estate? The richest families in the land are those who have bought and kept real estate, not thrown it away because the average owner says it is no good.

We have lived in Plainfield nearly nineteen years and in that time have seen many hundreds of thousands of dollars placed as mortgages on Plainfield property from center to circumference, yet in all this time we have not seen one cent of principle and interest lost when such loan was placed honestly; by this we mean based on true value. Not long since one—(we were about to say man, but that could not be his title) came into our office and with evident pleasure told us he had just borrowed on his property enough to pay for the lot and the building and had $300 besides. When we expressed to him our impression of his rascality he seemed to think we were not at all brilliant. Such deals as the above cannot be denounced in strong enough terms and the perpetrator should be well punished as he could get such a loan only on false representation. Had the lender been honestly dealt with the loan would have been forty per cent. less and all would have gone well; as it now stands, the lender is in danger.

Yet, even so, any part of Plainfield real estate is always worth more than it was five years before—sometimes much, sometimes little, but always an increase. In other words, you cannot buy amiss Plainfield real estate. This is no boom city; its growth is ever a normal one and values never going back. Anyone having property in Plainfield should improve and keep it, and as time goes on such a one will be glad that instead of buying an automobile, stocks or what not, he has invested in a substantial, safe and growing real investment, for such it is in the city of Plainfield.

Every man should own his home. In these days when homes are obtainable on payments not differing much from a stiff rent, why should not every family have its own castle? In every way it is most desirable. Nothing worth having can be had without some strain. Young man, deposit your spending money and all you can spare besides on a lot in Plainfield. When that is paid for a building loan will help you get a house on it, and you will always be glad you made the start and that this start brought you A HOME IN THE BEAUTIFUL CITY OF PLAINFIELD.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Henrietta Crosman in her latest New York success "The Tongues of Men" comes directly to the Plainfield theatre December 25 matinee and night. Judging from the criticism of "The Tongues of Men" in New York Miss Crosman has in this comedy the best vehicle she has had since her sensational success some years ago "Mistress Nell." While the plays are in no way alike "The Tongues of Men" gives Miss Crosman the best part she has had in many years and sends her audiences away delighted both with the play and herself.

MANY ATTEND CLUB'S ANNUAL RECEPTION

Plainfield Baseball Representatives Hosts of a Large Gathering of "Fans."

Members of the Plainfield Baseball Club acted as hosts at a reception and dance in Sebring's auditorium last night which was attended by nearly 300 guests. Terpischore music was furnished by a local orchestra and dancing provided the principle amusement for the large gathering of fans and friends of the club.

The reception was the signal for a gathering of old time ball tossers and former diamond heroes and many feats of by-gone days were reviewed by those present. Prize waltzing and other forms of dancing provided entertainment for the guests until a late hour when refreshments were served. Manager Ernest Dorflinger and President James Steele, of the local club, assisted by the players who had part in the championship race during the season just closed, supervised the annual ball held last night.

ANOTHER SAD BLOW TO THE LOVER OF DUCK SHOOTING

With the closing of the New York and Boston markets to the sale of wild ducks another item has been added to the already deplorable condition of market gunning on the Susquehanna flats. This leaves only Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore open and the demand of these cities is small. The best quality of canvas back ducks formerly brought from $4 to $4.50 wholesale, but now the gunners get but $2.50; redheads, which wholesaled at from $3 to $4, bring only $2 to $3 for extra fine ducks. Market gunners, who formerly earned a year's livelihood during the winter months, are being forced to seek other employment and it now looks as though ducking as a business is soon to become a thing of the past.

A COLLISION.

An automobile said to belong to R. M. Huse, of Scotch Plains, and a hack owned by Henry Alberts, also of that place and driven by Ernest Wahl, collided last night in that town. In the hack were seated Willard Marsten and Walter Demarest, who were thrown to the road by the impact. The wind shield of the auto was smashed, but the occupants of the vehicles were unhurt.

HAMILTON—WARNER.

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 20.—Christie P. Hamilton, of Plainfield, was best man on Thursday afternoon at the marriage of his brother, Edward W. Hamilton, and Miss Florence Thornburgh Warner, both of this place, daughter of Mrs. Edward Carlyle Warner. Mrs. Lindsay Best, of Plainfield, was a guest.

PERSIA'S POET LAUREATE.

His Job, When He Had One, Was Anything but a Sinecure.

Persia is the only country besides England where a poet laureate has been officially maintained until recently.

Shah Muzzaffer el Din in 1896 abolished the post of honor, which the court of Teheran for centuries had boasted. But the duties of the laureate of old Ivan were far more onerous than those of his British confrere. Court etiquette demanded that whenever the "king of kings" traveled his entourage had to include a dwarf, a giant, a jester, a historiographer and a poet laureate.

The last two were kept busy, for, while the historiographer had to record for posterity all the doings and sayings of the shah (padi-shah), the laureate was called upon to celebrate a large proportion of these in verse. This custom was not so bad after all, and it was rigidly observed and followed up, for the shah, knowing that many of his deeds and utterances would be crystallized into an ode, on his imperial wandering felt bound to speak and to behave majestically, a thing that Muzzaffer el Din, who abolished the laureateship, never did. — Philadelphia Ledger.

An Uncomplimentary Composer.

A young tenor, whose misfortune it was to be hideously ugly, waited on Cherubini one day and asked to be allowed to give a specimen of his vocal powers. For a wonder his application was met by a sulky nod of acquiescence. He sang, and sang superbly. There came another nod, accompanied by something like a snort of satisfaction. Then came a pause, which, after a minute or so, was broken by the youthful artist asking in faltering accents whether he might eventually hope for an engagement at the grand opera. "No!" thundered the director. "But, M. Cherubini"— "No!" The disconsolate artist was slowly departing when Cherubini rose, took him by both arms and looked him fully in the face. "I am sorry," he said, "very sorry, but, mon cher, do you think that the opera could get up a company of orang outangs to sing with you?"—Sala's "Life and Adventures."

Worth the Penalty.

John, four years old, was trying to run the lawn mower, which he had been forbidden to touch.

His mother came to the door and told him to stop it, but John ran the mower down the strip of lawn and back again before he stopped.

"You will have to come into the house and stay for an hour," said his mother.

"Why did you run that mower after I told you to stop?" she asked.

"Well, mamma," said John, "I'd rather have run it twice and have to stay in the house for an hour than not run it at all."—National Monthly.

Political Birds.

Wife (reading)—Isn't this funny, my dear? Here is an article which says they have found a new species of birds in Australia which have four legs. Now, whatever do you suppose they want four legs for?

Husband (yawning)—They are probably politicians, my love, and by this beautiful contrivance they are enabled to stand on both sides of the fence at the same time.—London Mail.

Not Like His Grandfather.

"Doctor, I'm getting tired of this everlasting dunning. You ought to have more respect for me than that. My grandfather was one of the earliest settlers."

"Well, I wish you had inherited that quality and would settle early."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Cynic—If he fails, my dear, you're not to scream or faint, because it's just what we all came to see. The Lady—But I thought he was going to take up a passenger.—Life.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 42.

I'M TIRED of my job. I'm tired of being worked to death. My employers are heartless, and I see nothing to it but a daily grind, with no chance of anything better. Gee, I wish I could get another position!"

That is what a young man, who is a stenographer in the employ of a large corporation, said to me the other afternoon.

"Why don't you keep your eye on the CLASSIFIED columns of the newspapers," I said to him. "Or, better still, why don't you advertise in those columns for a position?"

"The CLASSIFIED?" he said, wonderingly. "What do you mean?" "I told him that I meant the WANT ADS. "The WANT ADS! What are they?"

Here is an instance (and I know of more) of a dissatisfied, disgruntled employe, working away his life in the service of employers whom he cordially dislikes and to whom he has never given and will never be able to give the kind of efficiency that is natural in the man who loves his work.

This young man is wishing for better things. He admitted that he does not read the advertising columns of newspapers, because he "believed that most advertising is a fake anyway and wasn't much use." He promised, however, before I left him, to read the "Help Wanted—Male" columns for a while and to answer any advertisements he might find there for the kind of service he is equipped to give.

Today, as I write this, there are four advertisements for stenographers in the "Help Wanted—Male" columns of one newspaper on my desk, to say nothing of a dozen or more advertisements for office assistants, salesmen, solicitors, etc. Here are at least four opportunities in one day for that young man to connect up with another position—and perhaps a much better one than he now has.

Opportunity, notwithstanding that famous poem by Mr. Ingalls, comes more than once to the man who keeps his eye on the WANT ads.

Make It a Hupmobile

Features that give the Hupmobile its distinctive character and its acknowledged pre-eminence are numerous. Some, however, stand out above others. Here are ten that briefly summarize the car's chief points of excellence:

Small bore, long stroke block motor—the design now being widely adopted in America and Europe—and its great pulling power.

Unit power plant, all moving parts enclosed and protected from dust and dirt.

"Streamline" body, without break between hood and cowl—a design only now being adopted by the highest priced cars.

Height of the seat backs and comfortable slant of the seat cushions.

The exceptionally easy riding of the Hupmobile springs.

TEN REASONS FOR EVERY HUPMOBILIST

Hupmobile "32" H. P. Touring Car.

The low, racy lines of the body; and the added comfort of the low body suspension.

The fact that no essential design or construction has been altered for two years—that this car has fully proved the correctness of our ideas as embodied in it.

Advantages of the Westinghouse two-unit starting and lighting system, with separate magneto ignition.

Simplicity of the separate Westinghouse generator and starting motor; and the extreme simplicity of their wiring.

These are a few of the points that lead us to believe that the Hupmobile is, in its class, the best car in the world.

"MAC" SAYS

Governor John K. Tener, the newly-elected president of the National Baseball League, announced yesterday through John Heydler, secretary of the league, that Captain Adrian C. Anson, the veteran Chicago player and father of baseball, was not in need of a pension and saw no reason why the proposed $1,200 a year should be granted to the old man. "Assistance would be given willingly if the man was in need of help, but the former Chicago star is far from being an object of charity," says Tener.

"He's not only an 'iron man,' but he's a little 'gold mine,'" said Ira Thomas, catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, as he piloted John W. Coombs, the great pitcher, about the streets of Philadelphia yesterday afternoon on the latter's first trip downtown since his recent illness. "He's a gold mine," continued Thomas, "because he has never been really unearthed. He has a world of good pitching left, so watch him next year. Coombs is almost normal in weight, so watch him next year."

Ty Cobb, of batting fame, celebrated his twenty-seventh birthday Thursday, and nobody even mentioned it. What Ty needs is a good press agent.

What is said to be a low scoring record was established in Paterson yesterday afternoon in a basketball game between the Paterson and Harrison High School quintets. Having lost all aim for the basket the Paterson tossers fell easy victims by a score of 13 points to 4. It is said that a total of seventeen is a record for thirty minutes of play.

The Columbia Grammar School basketball team, which defeated the Leal School five on the local Y. M. C. A. court two weeks ago, defeated the Staten Island Academy qintet, another rival of the Plainfielders, yesterday afternoon, on the Columbia court by a score of 21 to 18. The Staten Island team will appear here Monday afternoon.

Ty Cobb has come forth with a cruel Christmas greeting. The Georgia Peach announces that he has invented a new bat of exceptional qualities.

The Battin High School basketball team has been temporarily disbanded by Principal William F. Little as four of the five varsity players are below the required standing of seventy-five per cent. in their studies.

PENN STUDENT DECLARED WORLD'S STRONGEST MAN

Philadelphia, Dec. 20.—Kenneth C. Witherow, the University of Pennsylvania freshman, who came within 74 kilograms of equalling the record set by Mike Dorizas in the strength test Thursday and who has threatened to better the giant Greek's best effort, has his work cut out for him.

Had the Greek been content to rest on his laurels gained when he made 1,774 kilos this might not have been so, but Dorizas yesterday set a real mark. Compared to his former record of 1,774 kilos, the Greek yesterday afternoon registered a total of 1,896 kilos, a remarkable achievement.

Another double bill of basketball has been arranged by Manager George Leighs, of the Hope Chapel aggregation, for Hope supporters tonight, the Crescent A. C. and a team from the local Y. M. C. A. being booked to appear on the Hope court.

The Crescent A. C. hails from Milltown and is a member of the Middlesex County basketball league. The Y. M. C. A. team will oppose the chapel seconds.

UNUSUAL BASKETBALL PROGRAM FOR TONIGHT

Y. M. C. A. Court Will Be a Rendezvous for Lovers of the Sport.

A basketball program of unusual interest has been arranged for lovers of the court sport to be held on the Y. M. C. A. floor tonight, the Interscholastic League opening with a game between the Plainfield and North Plainfield High School teams and the Y. M. C. A. outfit playing the Rahway Cubs, a set of fastest performers in the State.

Both of the scholastic aggregations are in excellent shape for the big match and this contest will undoubtedly be a hummer from start to finish. The Association team's battle will also be an attraction worth the price of admission. Those who witnessed the game here two years ago between Rahway and the locals will well remember the calibre of basketball the visitors put up, at the same time swamping the locals.

STATEN ISLAND ACADEMY WILL PLAY LEAL SCHOOL

Manager Chauncey Stewart, of the Leal School basketball team, has arranged a game with the Staten Island Academy aggregation to be played on the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. court Monday afternoon.

In a game on the Staten Island court last Saturday the local schoolboys were trimmed by a big score by the home quintet. The Staten Island team plays under an entirely different code of rules from those of the Plainfielders and in a contest where A. A. U. regulations are employed the home talent holds high hopes of coming out victorious.

Wrapping the Christmas Bundles.

Half the charm of Christmas gifts comes in their unwrapping. Their mysterious size and shape, their dainty ribbons, seals, bits of holly and mistletoe and tissue paper coverings, and the attractive boxes they are put in—all of these add not a little to the pleasure of receiving them.

So it behooves every one to wrap her Christmas presents attractively.

It is not necessary to be extravagant to make your Christmas bundles look festive. Of course, the little holly-decorated handkerchief box that cost twenty-five cents is beautiful, but you can make one for much less—or at least a substitute for one—that is just as pretty.

One way to make attractive wrappings for Christmas gifts is with crepe paper. For instance, the paper printed with poinsettias can be used effectively. Cut out the poinsettias and paste them neatly on plain white boxes, which cost comparatively little—and a whole roll of crepe paper, which will cover all your boxes, costs only ten cents. Any other designs can be used in the same way.

A ball of red cord and a box of Christmas seals can be used instead of the crepe paper cutouts to make your Christmas boxes look the part.

First wrap pure white tissue paper about the packages and boxes, then tie them daintily with the cord, use the seals to hold the cord in place, and put two seals, back to back, over the ends of the cord where you tie it in a bow.

Red paper, plain white string and sprigs of holly can also be used. Wrap each package in red paper, tie it securely with white cord and in each bow of cord stick a little sprig of holy.

Some Cookery Suggestions

THE THANKSGIVING PIE.

THE golden pumpkin's cheerful sphere, now to be seen in the shops where vegetables are sold, turns one thoughts lightly to thoughts of Thanksgiving pies.

The subject is one that admits of much debate, for every experienced housewife has her own way of making these dainties and is apt to hold that hers is the only reliable and satisfactory one. With this in mind a few suggestions for the pie of the season are given here.

A Time Saver.

Many housekeepers may not know that it is not necessary to peel a pumpkin in preparing it for pies. Wash the pumpkin and remove seeds and stringy portion inside; then cut the shell, skin and all, into small pieces and cook with just enough water to prevent burning till dry and mealy. Rub through a colander and the pumpkin will be prepared with half the trouble of the old way.

Pumpkin Pie.—Pumpkin pie is best made of a dry, fine grained pumpkin stewed and pressed through a colander. To a half pint add a pint of rich milk or cream, two eggs well beaten, and granulated sugar to make it quite sweet. Some persons like the addition of a little molasses, cinnamon and ginger. A straight up and down pie dish two inches deep is best. Bake slowly, as it should be firm when done.

Variety In Pie.

Pumpkin and Sweet Potato Pie.—Take a cupful each of stewed pumpkin and sweet potato, three eggs, two cupfuls of cream, a lump of butter the size of an egg, a cupful of sugar and a teaspoonful of cinnamon. Fill pastry shells with this mixture, bake in the oven and when done take out. Dot over with meringue made of the whites of the eggs and three tablespoonfuls of sugar flavored with lemon. Brown and serve with currant or red raspberry jam.

Pumpkin Custard.—Take a cupful of pumpkin, two eggs, one-half cupful of brown sugar, a tablespoonful of salt, a cupful of rich milk and a teaspoonful of cinnamon. A little allspice or cloves may be added. Beat the eggs well; then beat into the rest of ingredients to form a custard. Fill this into a lower crust and surround the edge with a strip of pastry. Bake until the custard is firm.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Clever Mr. Mole's Revenge on Farmer Hickey.

Mr. Mole Would Laugh and Laugh.

"OF all the animals the farmer dislikes," began daddy, "I think the mole takes the lead, for he is more destructive to the farmer's land than any other animal if he wishes to be. And Mr. Mole hates the farmer too.

"One spring a farmer named Farmer Hicky was taking great pains in plowing up his fields. But in so doing his plow went through Mr. Mole's house, which was, of course, under the ground, and Mr. Mole's lovely little children had their heads cut off by Farmer Hicky's cruel plow. This grieved Mr. Mole very much, for the year before Mrs. Mole had been killed the same way in a similar accident. So now Mr. Mole was blind with fury. He vowed he would get even with Farmer Hicky even if it took the rest of his life to do so.

"So Mr. Mole lay low until after Farmer Hicky had finished all his plowing in the field and had commenced his garden. Now and then Mr. Mole came out of the ground to see how far things were getting along. Then he'd put his head in his paws and just laugh and laugh, thinking all the time, 'Well, old Farmer Hicky, I'll get the best of you yet.'

"He saw that Farmer Hicky had planted onions, beans, radishes, potatoes, carrots and cucumbers. He waited until they began to grow very nicely, which he decided was the time for him to begin his work.

"Farmer Hicky's farm was very, very large, the end of which was on the border of a little lake where Farmer Hicky had rows of beautiful flowers growing.

"So Mr. Mole started in to plow up under the earth and made his mounds extend out to the lake. Each night he would make a new one.

"Farmer Hicky became very much worried, for gradually he saw all his vegetables uprooted and everything torn up and dying. He knew it must be a mole, and he laid all sorts of traps to catch him. But Mr. Mole was too sharp for the farmer, and, besides, he was on the lookout for all such traps, and as Mr. Mole was smart enough to do his work at night the farmer could never see him moving under the earth and so catch him that way.

"Finally Farmer Hicky got so angry he was raging, and he had all his farm hands trying to locate Mr. Mole and his dogs trying to scent where he was.

"One day the dogs were almost on his trail, but they couldn't scratch up the earth and get under the ground as far as little Mr. Mole could. The dogs went quickly after him, but he beat the dogs right to the lake and jumped in the water and landed on the back of his old friend, Mr. Turtle, and whispered in his ear the tale of his glorious revenge."

By Alice Gibson

One of those plain, quickly made little frocks that are so well suited to serge, ratine or one of the popular novelty fabrics is shown in this design (7499). The blouse closes surplice fashion on the side, and there is a full length, set-in sleeve. The pattern is perforated for an elbow sleeve if desired. A four gored skirt closing under a wide lapped seam on the side front completes the design.

There are many things that must be learned by experience; but, having learned them, it is well to pass the hints along. Often there is danger of the placket tearing down. An excellent way to remedy this is to fasten the hook and eye at the bottom of the placket and pound the hook flat with a hammer. There is no way possible for the placket to tear or rip down if this suggestion is followed.

To copy this dress in size 36 it requires 5 yards of 36 inch material or 4 yards of 42 inch material.

The pattern is cut in sizes 34 to 42.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

TAXATION AND SUFFRAGE.

Those who advocate woman suffrage are fond of quoting the colonial dictum that taxation without representation is tyranny and declare that this, one of "the fundamental principles upon which the country was founded," is shamefully violated under present circumstances as far as women are concerned. Women they say, are taxed. But women have no votes. Having no votes, they are not represented in the tax-paying body. Hence, they conclude, here is taxation without representation.

Any one who has examined the "argument" critically, and realize what a total lack of connection there is between the dictum and the interpretation put upon it, is inclined to smile at the display of logic and to dismiss the whole matter as nonsense. But, as undoubtely many people who have not looked into the question sincerely believe that women have here a real grievance, a few words of explanation may not be superfluous.

The colonists declared that taxation without representation was tyrannical—which is one thing. The suffragist pretend they said that taxation without votes was tyrannical—which is quite another thing. There is nothing unjust in requiring all citizens who can afford it to contribute to the support of the government, whether they vote or not. They get in exchange for their taxes the government's protection to life, liberty and property and all the other benefits of a well-ordered society. The colonists never said or thought that taxation and votes went together and nothing of the kind has ever been attempted. Thousands upon thousands of men, as well as women, in this country are taxed without being able to vote. That is the condition of the residents of the District of Columbia. The property of minors is taxed, yet they have no votes. A man may own taxable property in a dozen different States and yet can vote in only one. Finally the tariff is a tax upon every man, woman and child, citizen and alien alike, in the country.

The truth is, that the phrase "taxation without representation" did not refer to individuals at all, but to the dealings of one commonwealth with another. It did not mean that neither this man nor that woman should be taxed unless he or she were personally represented in the government. The slightest reflection will show the absurdity of such a construction. At most, only those would be personally represented who voted for successful candidates. A man who hs not only not voted for those who are elected, and so have power to tax him, but has endeavored to keep them out, cannot be said to be "represented" by them. Yet would any one contend that all adherents of defeated candidates should be absolved from paying taxes because they were not "represented?"

A very few words will be sufficient to explain what the colonists meant by "taxation without representation," and why they thought it so unjust. The whole thing arose out of the imposition of the notorious Stamp Tax in 1765. The colonists were on this side of the Atlantic, Parliament in England. There were no representatives of the colonies in Parliament, familiar with conditions over here, and competent to explain what taxes woud bear most lightly upon the inhabitants. Under such circumstances Parliament coolly decreed this burdensome tax, to be collected wholly from the colonists and not from the inhabitants of Great Britain as well. Moreover, the money so raised was not to be expended in the colonies but withdrawn to England.

In order to create an analogous situation in this country now, and support the present contention of the suffragists, the following grotesque circumstances would have to be imagined. The women would have to be moved in a body to the Pacific coast, the men, retaining the sole power of legislation, remaining east of the Alleghenies. If, then, the men proceeded to declare a tax upon, let us say, every article of clothing worn by the women, without consulting the latter, without paying a similar tax on their own clothing, and appropriating the proceeds of the tax on the women to themselves, the women would be justified in crying that the colonial dictum was being violated.

But when men and women are jointly members of the same community; when taxes are laid not upon the women for the benefit of the men, or vice versa; when, finally, they are imposed by representatives drawn from the community and not by outsiders, the dictum is absolutely and utterly irrelevant.

FREDERICK DWIGHT.

A further suggestion presents itself, no less logical than the main contention, so well handled by Mr. Dwight. Why should not the voters on the defeated side after each election, declare against paying their taxes, since they are not represented by the existing Government?

It just as surely—and sensibly—constitutes, "Taxation without Representation" as the suffrage interpretation regarding the no-voting women.

Shortly before her death, Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker advocated forming a "Woman's Party" which would simply constitute "Man versus Woman" in our Government.

When the "Man's Party" happened to be the existing Government, would the women feel they were represented merely because they had had the privilege (?) of being defeated "en masse"?

As a matter of statistics, there are but 10 per cent of the women of this country tax payers, of which number 40 per cent. hold the property for their husbands, to protect them from seizure for debt, and their husbands pay the taxes.

But 2 per cent. have acquired their property though their own exertions, or pay their taxes themselves.

The remaining 58 per cent. hold their property by gift or inheritance from their husband, the taxes being paid by him in the first case, or by an income inherited from him.

According to these statistics, the position of the tax-paying woman belonging in the 2 per cent. is regrettable, but also so small a proportion is negligible. I have a personal acquaintance with four women among them, and they are ardent Antis, though two of them are widows without even a son to represent their wishes or requirements, at the polls. These tax-paying women, single women, and working-girls constitute "trump cards" in the arguments for Woman Suffrage.

How unselfish and gracious it woud be, for their more fortunate sisters, who so freely exploit them, and hold them up as martyrs to the public gaze, to merely advocate and work for limited Suffrage covering these three classes.

Fruit Doilies In Punched Work.

Punched work is very attractive and, although it looks complicated, it is really quite simple to do. The stitch is made by separating the threads of the material with a sail-needle and binding them tightly together, in opposite directions, so as to leave large holes, giving the beautiful lacy effect. The design should be stamped on loosely woven linen, being careful to have the lines of dots running straight with the threads of the material, and in all cases the design should be embroidered before the punched work is started.

Pattern ... contains six fruit doilies, each six inches in diameter. They may be developed in out-line-stitch and, if desired, seeding may be added. The edges of these doilies may be finished with buttonhole stitch or picot edge. They are to be used with centerpiece 14368, and plate doilies 14367.

This pattern will be supplied to readers of the Daily Press for 15 cents.

THE CIRCUS IS HERE!

GET YOUR TICKETS

Eight hundred Plainfield girls took advantage of the offer made a few months ago by the Plainfield Daily Press through which they secured the "Mother's darilng and Nurse Marie" paper dolls. The Press was complimented on all sides for furnishing that delightful family, and because of the great interest, the publishers have been seeking some other equally attractive cut-out for the young people. We have found it in the most original and attractive article of the kind that has ever been put on the market.

DING-A-LING CIRCUS comes on a big sheet of linen, and contains ALL OF THE WELL KNOWN ANIMALS found in the menagerie of the big circus, ready to cut out and paste so that they will practically be indestructible. Then there is a CIRCUS CAGE, drawn by two horses, TWO CLOWNS, and last but not least, TWO DOLLS, a boy and a girl, which can be cut out, sewed together, and then stuffed, so that they will stand up and view the animals which will make a

if they are spaced a foot apart. There are admission tickets, a big banner with the name of the circus, and natural history lectures telling all about everyone of the animals in the circus.

HOW TO GET THE CIRCUS

Cut out the admission ticket which will be found in today's Plainfield Daily Press, and bring it with only 48 cents, the actual cost of handling and distribution, to the Daily Press office, and get the two dolls, the parade wagon, all the animals, printed in life-like colors on everlasting cloth, all the admission tickets, lectures, and other things which go to make this the most remarkable offer ever made to the young folks by a Plainfield newspaper.

Nothing would make a more attractive Christmas present than DING-A-LING CIRCUS.

NEWS OF INTEREST IN THE PLAINFIELD BUILDING WORLD

Fine Residence for O. B. Coates Has Been Built on Dugway Hill

Ora B. Coates' House At Watchung.

A handsome house has just been completed for Ora B. Coates., of New York city, by Bicknell & Bicknell, the local builders, on his property on Hillcrest road, better known as Dugway Hill, at Watchung. The house cost about $10,000. The exterior of the house is not ornamental but the interior is finished and decorated very artistically. The style of building that has been erected is better known around this section of the country as the bungalow type. It has a frontage of 40 feet and is about 57 feet deep.

On the first or ground floor there is a large living room, a large family living porch, dining room, kitchen and large airy butler's pantry. Two family bedrooms, a guest's room the maid's room, three bathrooms, sleeping porch and library are located on the second floor. The attic is left for a storage room. The cellar is divided into several rooms which will be used as storage rooms for, different kinds of articles. Throughout the construction of the house much attention was given to the lighting and airing of every room. Large triple sash windows were placed in the living rooms, library and kitchen and double sashed windows were built in the sleeping rooms. A novel feature of placing the windows is that, in one of the large exposed chimneys a bath room window has been built so that it comes exactly in the center at the second story section of the chimney. The chimney has been built up around the window which is sunken about a foot below the surface of the outside wall, insuring an excellent draft for the kitchen fire as well as the fire in the furnace.

Entering the house at the main entrance one steps through a small lobby into the main living room. This room is thirty-two feet long and about twenty feet wide. One of the first things that is noticed is the handsome finish of the entire room. The floors are of oak, lacquered, highly polished and waxed. This room is located at the southwest end, the entire side of the bulding. An open fireplace is on this side of the house. The balance of this wall is composed of two sets of triple sashed windows. The wainscoting and base-boards of this room are of gum wood, finished off to represent Circassian walnut. The side walls and ceilings are of white plaster. The ceiling is finished with exposed beams which are encased in gum wood, made to represent Circassian walnut. The inside facing of the fireplace is of bluestone taken from the quarries in the "Notch." Those obtained for Mr. Coates' house have veins of red running through them. These veins are of various shapes and forms. It is thought that the action upon some mineral matter inside the beds of rock, by the different forces of nature are responsible for these artistic designs and markings. Although there are many tons of rocks quarried each day, there have been very few loads of rocks taken out that bear markings of this nature. When the work of facing the fireplace of Mr. Coates' house was undertaken there was just enough of these stones obtainable to complete the work.

In the dining room, as in the living room, expense was no factor in the decorating work. The side walls are faced with panels of old English oak, finished in mission style. The ceiling is of white plaster as is a two-foot border which has been left above the paneled walls. About a foot from the ceiling a detailed molding trim of old English oak has been placed. The floors of this room are similar to those of the living room, of white oak, lacquered, highly polished and waxed. The pantry is finished in cypress, left natural. The floor is of white oak with a dull finish to prevent slipping. In this room are the customary cabinets with sliding glass doors. The bottom part of the cabinet has been finished with shelves enclosed with folding doors. In the kitchen the walls are of white plaster with cypress trimmings and a hardwood floor finished dull. Another cabinet has been built in this room for storing kitchen utensils. There is a large range, with boiler attachments for supplying hot water.

Three doors, all double folding, lead from the living room, dining room and kitchen, to the large living porch. Although this porch faces towards Plainfield, it is at the rear of the house. From it an unobstructed view of the valley with both its lakes and the main road can be seen. In the summer this porch will be used for living purposes.

The main stairway is built with steps of quartered white oak, highly polished and waxed with baseboards of gum wood finished to represent Circassian walnut. The handrail on the side-wall is of quartered oak, stained dark and finished with a high gloss. At the right of the stairway on the second floor, over the living room are two bedrooms and a private master's bathroom. These rooms are finished with white walls and ceiling, white enameled baseboards, and highly polished and waxed white oak floors. In one of the rooms an open fireplace has been built, faced with red pressed bricks and backed with gray fire brick. The andirons used in front of both the fireplace in the living room and Mrs Coates' room are antique. Those in the living room are fitted with swinging arms which were once used as cranes to hold pots over open fires.

The bathrooms on the second floor are finished in white throughout, with white enamel bath tubs, latest model white enamel pedestal lavatory and a white tile floor. The lower section of the walls is laid off to represent three-inch square tile. The guests' room and the maids' room on this floor are finished off similar to those occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Coates, white wall with white enameled base boards and trim and hardwood floors waxed and polished. The maids' room also has a private lavatory.

The library is located over the living porch and is finished off with triple sashed windows, highly polished oak floors and gum-wood trimmings stained and finished as Circassian walnut. A white enameled lavatory has been placed in this room. Window seats will be built for the comfort of the owner and his friends who will use this room. On the southern corner of the house, which is connected to the library by a double door is a small covered sleeping porch.

The view from this porch takes in not only the valley and its lakes and roads, but also a general view of the "Notch" and all the residences and buildings on the crest of the first ridge, as well as Dr. Richard Moldenke's castle, on the Valley road. Lookng over and through the "Notch," a section of not only Plainfield but also a section of all the country between the foot of the first ridge and Perth Amboy can be clearly seen with the naked eye.

On the second flood there is a sewing room which is finished with hardwood floors and gumwood trimmings, including a large gumwood cabinet with sliding doors for storing away sewing materials. Opening from this room is a large open balcony at the front of the house with a large hickory tree growing alongside, the leaves of which will afford comfortable shade. Each room on this floor is fitted up with closets which have windows opening to the outside. Thus an abundance of light is supplied in them.

Up-to-date clusters and wall electric fixtures are used in every room of the house. Besides being wired for electric lights the house is also piped for gas. There is a hot water heating system. The water used for all purposes at the house is obtained from an artesian well near the crest of the second ridge of mountains and is carried to the house through three-inch pipes. Gravation is the force used to convey the water from the well to the house.

The exterior walls and roof are faced with shingles. The sidewalls and gables have been painted white and the roof has been stained a tile red. At the outside of each window on the second floor a box has been built so that flowers and plants can be placed in the spring and summer to add a contrast to the white of the house.

On both the northeast and southwest ends of the building a six-foot exposed stone chimney has been built. These chimneys are six feet wide at the bottom and run up to the second story at that width. At the second story they gradually decrease in width until they are only four feet wide. At the top, they are divided into three openings and are covered with a slab of blue flagstone. The chimney on the southwest end is built of blue or mountain stone. The one at the northeast end is erected of field stones. All the leader and gutter work on the house has been done with sheet copper to insure satisfaction and long service.

All around the northwest, north and east sides of the house large trees are growing. The majority of these trees are of white oak, with a few chestnut and white wood trees intermingled. In clear view of the living room is a large white oak tree, about four feet in diameter, which is known to all those in the vicinity as the old white oak. This is, upon the word of a forester, over one hundred years old and in the summer when the branches are filled with leaves, represents a large ball of green.

Mr. Coates is having the land all around his house graded up to the level of the living porch and is having numerous beds of shrubs laid out for next year. A stone wall of field stones is being built at the rear of the house to insure the bank or terrace from caving down. At the base of this wall small cedar hedges are being set out and creeping ivy is being planted so that the walls will in time be covered with its green leaves.

In the spring Mr. Coates will have a lawn tennis court built at the east side of the house. To reach the tennis court one will have to go down a set of steps, pass through an old-fashioned flower garden to a terrace at the side of the court and go down another set of steps to the court. The tennis court backstops will be of wire supported by a rustic framework. In the spring Rambler roses will be planted at the base so as to cover the netting with its flowers.

Mr. Coates will also have a 46 feet by 39 feet stable erected in the spring in the rear of his home. This building will cost about $6,000 and will be used as both stable and garage. The structure will be of frame and will be built with a ground floor and storage loft.

On the ground floor there will be a carriage room, an auto room. 12 feet wide and 19 feet deep, a tool room, stables, stalls, harness room, cow stalls and a suite of three rooms and bath for the help. The living rooms of the help will be in the southeast side of the building. The auto room, washroom and tool room will separate them from the stable part of the barn. The loft will be used for the storage of hay and fodder and will contain a room where pigeons will be raised. Around the outside of the barn a wide driveway will be made so that a carriage or automobile can be turned around easily.

The exterior of the stables will be similar to that of the house. It is expected that this building will be ready for using when the family return from wintering in New York city.

The landscape effect around the house and other buildings and improvements is under the supervision of Charles Downing Lay, who until a short time ago, was Chief Landscape Architect for the city of New York. Oakley & Son, of Elizabeth, drew the plans for both the house and stables. Bicknell & Bicknell, of Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, were the general contractors and erected and did the decorating of the interior of the building. Charles Miles installed the electric wiring; Hugh Riely put in the plumbing, gas piping and heating system. Riely also had charge of the copper gutter and leader work. Luthman & Hansen did the painting and inside decorating of their line. The material used in the erection of the house was supplied by the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company. They also supplied the millwork. A. M. Griffen Hardware Company furnished all the hardware.

Mr. Coates and his family are at present residing in the house but will, within a few weeks return to their New York home for the winter. It is expected that everything will be in first-class shape when he and his family come out in the spring for the summer months.

ANOTHER OLD LANDMARK GIVES WAY TO PROGRESS

The old one-and-a-half-story, old fashioned house, which has stood on Watchung avenue between Second and Front streets, before the time of the present generation, and is owned by J. F. MacDonald, of East Front street, was torn down this past week under the spervision of Bertram Pittis, who has also just completed the wrecking of the building which was occupied by Adams & Chapman, at 180 and 184 East Front street. For over a year the old structure on Watchung avenue was used by the members of B. P. O. Elks as a temporary home and club house.

Although the building has been completely wrecked it is understood that Mr. MacDonald will not build until Spring, when it is said he will have another store erected on the property. It is also understood that Marchant Brothers' Dairy, whose business has grown so large as to require more space, will occupy the new building which is to be erected.

MORE TWO FAMILY HOUSES IN THE NETHERWOOD SECTION

Louis Cohen, of Monroe avenue, is having two two-family, two-and-a-half story houses erected at 113 and 115 Johnston avenue in the Netherwood section. Each house will have a frontage of 22 feet and will be 48 feet deep. The cost of each is estimated at $4,500.

The first floor of each building will have a parlor, reception hall, dining room, kitchen, large pantry and two bedrooms and a bathroom. Each tenant of either house will have half the basement, where laundries will be placed, and half the attic. Both the basements and attics are partitioned off through the center. Those occupying the second-story flats, will have a parlor dining-room, kitchen, large pantry, three bedrooms and a bathroom in addition to the half of both cellar and attic, and will also have a balcony porch over the large front porch. Bay windows will be built in both the parlor and dining rooms of each house on each floor. The walls and ceilings of the apartments for the present will be left white with a detailed trim of cypress. Floors of North Carolina yellow pine will be laid on each story. The bathrooms of each apartment will be fitted with white enamel bath tubs and hanging side-wall lavatories. The trim in these rooms wil be finished in white enamel.

The foundations of these houses will be half of twelve-inch concrete walls and half of hollow cement blocks. The exterior finish of the houses will be weather board for the first stories and shingles for the second stories, gables and roofs. The weather boards will be painted white and the shingles left natural when completed. The plain white of the side-walls will be relieved and set off with dark green shutters. The front porches of both houses will be supported with piers of artistic hollow cement blocks built up to the level of the railings. Above the piers round cypress columns will be used to support the roofs and balconies for the upper stories.

Both houses will be wired for electric lights, piped for gas and will be heated with steam heat.

Cohen & Israelsky, of which the owner is a partner, are the general contractors and are doing both the mason and carpenter work. Harry Taub, of West Front street, will install both the plumbing and heating system as well as the piping for gas. Th contract for electric wiring has not been awarded as yet. Nathan Garesium will do the painting and interior decorating. The Plainfield Ice & Supply Company furnished the lumber and mason materials; J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company is supplying the millwork and other building necessities; W. W. Wilson, of West Third street, furnished the cement blocks for both the foundations and front porch piers.

The houses are expected to be completed about April 1 and will then be put on the market for either rent or sale. Each house is set on the front of a lot which measures 40 feet by 151 feet.

GARAGE FOR DR. MOORE.

Dr. Charles L. Moore is having a fireproof garage erected at the rear of his property at 918 West Front street. The building will be 12 feet wide and 18 feet deep and is estimated to cost about $400. The walls will be of hollow cement bricks, with a concerete floor and Asbestos Century shingles. W. W. Wilson is supplying the blocks and has charge of the erection of the walls; McCullough & Rhodier will do the carpenter work; Boice, Runyon & Co. furnished the lumber; McCullough's Mills, the millwork, and the Keasbey & Mattison Co., of Ambler, Pa., the shingles.

The steps of these stairs will be of white oak, polished and waxed and baseboards or rises of white wood finished off with white enamel paint. The color scheme of the second floor will be similar to that of the first, with the exception of the floors, for which comb grained pine will be used.

A white enameled bathtub and flat back side wall basin will be used in the equipping of both bathrooms. The third floor finish will be of the same design as that used on the second.

The house, which has a frontage of 36 feet and a depth of about 34 feet, will set on the front of a lot which measures about 50 by 100 feet. The front porch is supported by red pressed brick piers which are built level with the railings. A ballister of red pressed brick finished off with a top facing of concrete will be used as a railing from the top of the steps to the ground. The roof of the porch will be held in place and supported by double square columns at both sides of the steps and at the two corners. These like the trim of the exterior will be finished in white.

Edward V. French drew the plans for the house, Samuel Williams did the masonry and plastering work, Wright & Hummer the carpentering work and A. M. Griffen Hardware Company, besides doing the plumbing, also piped the house for gas and erected and installed the heating system. Woolston & Buckle are in chage of the painting and finishing of both exterior and interior. The material for both the masonry and carpenter work as well as the millwork was supplied by the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company.

The house will be completed ready for occupancy about January 1 and the owners will move in as soon as it is made tenantable.

$10,000 FOR PRIVATE SEWAGE SYSTEM

Unusual Expenditure by Dugway Hill Resident to Improve Property.

William H. Campbell, of Dugway Hill, Watchung, is having a new water pumping station erected on his property. The walls of the pumping house are made of hollow cement bricks with a concrete floor and a reinforced concrete roof. A Rumsey pump has been installed in the pumping house and will be driven by a gasoline engine. It is claimed that when this pumping apparatus is in operation that there will be a pressure of sixteen pounds to the square foot.

An attempt was made to drill a well at the rear of Mr. Campbell's bungalow a short time ago and a hole was sunk over four hundred feet without striking water. Besides not reaching water the cable which suspended the drill inside the hole snapped and the drill was lost. Following this Mr. Campbell decided to erect a station on lower ground and as a result the situation now occupied by the pumping station was selected. There a hole was sunk three hundred and fifty feet before water was reached and to insure a good supply to pump from the drill was used until a depth of three hundred and sixty-seven feet obtained.

From the station the water will travel through sixteen hundred feet of three-inch pipe, which has been laid three feet under ground, to prevent freezing in winter, and will empty into a circular tank or well, which has been constructed of reinforced concrete. This storage tank or well will hold about 5,000 gallons of water when filled. Although the pumps in the station will force the water up to the storage tank they will not supply enough pressure to force it through the house, therefore a small oil engine has been installed in the cellar of the bungalow to supply this need.

In addition to having a pumping station erected, Mr. Campbell has had a new sewage disposal system installed. This system is in some respects similar to the one that had been wanted in Plainfield until the disposal system now under consideration was introduced. The refuse is forced from the house into a concrete well. From there the solids are forced through screens of various kinds into another concrete well, from there gravatation force is used and the liquids which have been thoroughly separated from the solids are distributed through tile drain pipes to various parts of the country where they are absorbed by the ground. This system was installed by Theodore Aten, of New York, who makes a specialty of sewage disposal systems.

The cost of both the pumping station, with its pipe line and the sewage disposal system complete, has been estimated near the $10,000 mark. James R. Jeffers, of Plainfield, is erecting the pumping station and McCullough & Rhodier, also of Plainfield, are doing the rough cribbing work. The lumber used for the cribbing was furnished by Boice, Runyon & Co., and the millwork used was from McCullough's Mills. The hollow cement bricks used by Jeffers is one of the many cement and concrete products manufactured by himself.

$3,500 BEING SPENT TO IMPROVE ST. JOSEPH'S VILLA

The building once owned by Dr. Justus H. Cooley, on Westervelt avenue, known as Pinewood, and recently sold to the Sisters of Mercy of St. Joseph's church, has been completely overhauled. The thirty-eight rooms have had new hardwood floors laid and numerous other repairs made. Besides the repairing done by carpenters, painters and paperhangers are busy re-decorating the interior and giving the outside walls a new coat of white paint.

Numerous changes have been made in the plumbing system and everything with which the building is equipped has been put in first-class condition. It is estimated that the cost of repairs will be about $3,500. When the alterations have been completed the building will be used as a home and boarding place for girls, and will be known as St. Joseph's Villa. The Sisters of Mercy of the church will be in charge of the house.

McCullough & Rhodier have done the carpenter repairing; McVoy & Emmons, the plumbing work, and Frank W. Burke is doing the painting and paperhanging. It is expected that the work will be finished about January 1.

BUILDING BOOM AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD

Two New Houses at $4,500 and $3,500 in Course of Erection There.

Another building being erected is that of Angelo Defilippo, on South Plainfield avenue. It is a two-and-a-half single family frame dwelling with a frontage measurement of 21 feet and a depth of about 28 feet. It is estimated that the cost of erection will be about $3,500.

A parlor, dining room kitchen and large pantry will be on the first floor and four bedrooms and a bathroom on the second floor. The rooms on the first floor will be finished with white plaster walls and ceiling set off with cypress trimmings finished naturally, and North Carolina yellow pine floors. The bedrooms will be finished similar to those on the first floor. The bathroom will be equipped with a white enamel bath tub and a white enamel corner basin. The trim in this room will be finished with white enamel. The house will be piped for gas. There will be no heating system installed for the present.

The foundation walls are of twelve inch concrete and added support is given by three concrete pillars running through the center of the cellar. The exterior of the house will be finished with weatherboards and gables and roof of shingles. When completed the weather boards will be painted white set off with the dark green that the shutters will be painted. The gables and roof will be left natural.

B. Booseman & Son, contractors and builders, of South Plainfield, besides doing the carpenter work are in charge of the masonry and painting. The contract for the plumbing has not been awarded as yet. The Plainfield Ice & Supply Co. are furnishing all the material and lumber for the house. It is expected that the building will be completed about March 1, when the owner will occupy it.

Walter Connors, of South Plainfield, is having a two-and-a-half story frame dwelling erected on his property on Maple avenue, opposite Leonard avenue, in that place. It is estimated that this building will cost about $4,500.

On the first floor there will be a parlor, living room, dining room and kitchen, with a large airy pantry at the rear of the house. Four bedrooms and a bathroom will be on the second floor. The inside color scheme for the present will be white plaster walls set off on the first floor with a detailed trim of chestnut and hardwood floors. The walls of the rooms on the second floor will be of white with detailed trim of cypress, finished naturally. The bathroom will be equipped with a white enamelled bathtub and a white enamelled hanging side wall basin. The trim in this room will be finished off in white. The laundry will be in the cellar. The top floor will be used as a storage attic.

The foundation of the building is of eighteen inch concrete walls with concrete pillars in the center of the cellar for added support. When finished the exterior of the house will be faced with shingles and will be topped off with a shingle roof. The shingles will be left natural. A large porch is being built at the front. Piers of artistic designs of hollow cement blocks will be built up to the level of the railings for the base supports of the porch roof. Round columns of cypress finished natural will be used above the piers for supports.

Wright & Hummer, of Plainfield, are the carpenters; Howard Huff, also of Plainfield, is the mason. The plumbing and hot water system, with which the house will be heated, will be installed by Walter Conners. The owner will also pipe the house for gas. J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company furnished all the building material, lumber and millwork. A. M. Griffen & Co. supplied the hardware. The house will be completed about March 1, and will be occupied by the owner.

GARAGE FOR CAPT. PETERSON.

Captain Charles A. Peterson has been granted a permit by Building Inspector T. O. Doane for the erection of a two-story frame building at the rear of his property, 1332 George street. The building which is estimated to cost about $400 will be used as a garage when completed. The base and lower floor will be of concrete, the side walls of hemlock covered with a facing of weather boards, and there will be a shingle roof. The outside walls will be painted white and the roof left natural. The first floor will be used for garage purposes while the upper story will be equipped as a repair shop. The garage will have a frontage of sixteen feet and a depth of twenty feet. All the work will be carried on by the owner, who makes a specialty of concrete work.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

TOLSTOY THEME OF BLISS PERRY

Discusses Russian Nobleman—Philanthrpist's "Anna Karemina."

SKETCHED HIS CAREER

The Stirring Life of One of the Greatest Literary Men of Modern Times Attracts Author's Attention.

Although "Anna Karenina" was the subject of the fourth of the series of lectures on epoch making novels, which was given on Saturday night by Prof. Bliss Perry, at the Hartridge Auditorium, the speaker treated a large and fashionable gathering to a highly entertaining talk on Lyof Tolstoy, the author of the book, and gave but a few minutes of his time to a discussion of the work itself. As at his previous talks he was received by an attentive and enthusiastic audience.

The life of the famous Russian writer has so many incidents, and is one of such stirring adventure, coupled with a remarkable literary skill, that Prof. Perry could undoubtedly have continued for an hour longer, and held the attention of those present. He said that practically every one of the worsk of Count Tolstoy reflected some personal experience of the writer, which gave him a wonderfully gripping mode of expression, which some authorities say is the greatest from the days of Shakespeare to the present time. The life of the author was divided in four great periods, the first until he was fourteen, which was described as one of innocence; the second from fourteen to thirty-four, when he led a wild and somewhat dissolute existence; the third from the time of his marriage, until the beginning of the fourth, at an advance age, which was characterized as a period of Christianity.

Professor Perry told of Tolstoy's aristocratic lineage, which could be traced back many generations. He was born in 1828 at Yasnaya, Poyana, near Tua, in Russia; his parents died while he was very young, and he and his brothers and sisters were left to the care of one of his mothers relatives at Kazen, at which place he entered the university, but only remained two years, "as has been the case with so many other men, who have achieved great distinction in later years." In 1851 he entered the army and served in the Caucasus and the Crimea, and it was while in the service that he wrote some of his most wonderful descriptive stories, some of which attracted the attention of the Czar, who ordered that he be given a post not of great danger, so that he could write descriptions of battles for the ruler's own perusal.

He retired from the service with a position of high rank, and took up literary work at St. Petersburg, later returning to his estates, where, when the serfs were set free he devoted much time to trying to make their lives easier, and it was declared he earned more from these people than he gave them. He married the daughter of a German physician in Moscow, and she bore him thirteen children. He led a very commonplace, but at the same time very happy home life, and but a few years before his death left home to devote himself to Christian work, dying in 1910.

Prof. Perry said that in "Anna Karenina" all agreed that two of the characters represented there were descriptions of Tolstoy's own life, the Levine of the book represented the author, and the Kitty his devoted wife. Quotations were read from "War and Peace" and other works, to illustrate the marvelous ability of the writer, and to show his power of accurate description of the actual physical feeling of human beings, as contrasted to the mental feelings which so many writers emphasize. Passion is charmingly and reverently studied, and at the same time always dealt with seriously and sincerely. The author was declared to have always done justice to nature, especially in his characterizations of women, and he brings Anna Karenina through her passion to her tragic death by suicide in a remarkably human way, so unlike that of most writers.

The last lecture of the series on Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be delivered at the Hartridge Auditorium on Saturday evening, January 3.

FAREWELL MEETING OF BARNYARD FOWLS

Feathered Trophies Will Be Distributed Tonight at Proctor's Theatre.

A farewell meeting of barnyard fowls will be held at Proctor's theatre, tonight, the "Country Store" giving way for one night to the animals of the feathered tribe, which will be offered as awards to those holding the lucky pasteboards at both performances tonight. As announced last week, duplicate prizes will be given at the second show and for the first time the final performance will rival the first in interest.

The stage tonight will be transformed into a literal barnyard with all the "fixins" and the turkeys, geese, ducks, pigeons and chickens will be prsented to patrons who will be entrusted with the duty of taking charge of the slaughtering process some time before Christmas.

Tickets can be purchased in advance for the feature event of the Proctor weekly program and owing to the fact that the second "Country Store" night falls on Christmas this week, it will be postponed until Friday night. The following list of awards will be made at each performances tonight: Pigs, geese, pigeons, rabbits, chickens turkeys, ducks, two tons of coal, two hams and numerous other surprises.

RELIEF FUND NEEDS A HUNDRED DOLLARS

Appeal to Extend Substantial Aid to Poverty Stricken Has Brought in $250.

The total contribution to the "Christmas Fund" of the Charity Organization Society up to noon today was $250. This still falls considerably short of the amount needed for the relief of the four cases selected for special help. Three of these cases have already been described exclusively in previous issues of the Daily Press, the fourth and last appears in this article. Probably many have been waiting to hear the whole story before responding, and as "Sunday is a day for good deeds," it is earnestly hoped that by Monday evening the goal may be reached; but the increase must be heavy.

Two cents from each inhabitant of Plainfield and North Plainfield would give the society more than it requires for this purpose. Twenty-five cents from one in every twenty would do it also. There are few who cannot give something if they will, and the ideal fund of this kind should be the sum of a great number of small offerings. The society is looking not only to the amount raised but also to the number of contributors for its verdict as to the success or failure of this new Christmas plan. Money can usually be raised by a direct appeal to a few charitable persons, but should they alone be asked to bear the burden again and again? Everyone has an equal duty to help those less fortunate than himself, in proportion to his ability.

Case No. 4. A family of six, a man and his wife with four children, came to this country about six months ago from Scotland. Almost immediately after their arrival the mother of the family died. The husband has been supporting the children on his earnings of $15 a week. Now the eldest daughter, a girl of sixteen, has developed tuberculosis. Not having been in this country a year she cannot be received at a State institution for treatment without paying board. It will cost at least $10 a week for several months. At the end of that time she may return as a wage earner and also assume the care of the younger children. Relief in this case will benefit not one, but five people.

The Charity Organization gives money only where it will accomplish definite results. In these four cases money is needed and at once. Hence this appeal. The society must look to the people of Plainfield for funds for such emergencies. Let everyone do his share. Exactly $100 more is needed.

Address "The Chirstmas Fund," Charity Organization Society, 323 Babcock Building. Telephone 103. Checks should be drawn to the society.

CHURCH ADDITION VIEWED BY MANY

Congregational Church Workers Get First Glimpse of Work Accomplished.

WILL BE WIDELY USED

New Structure Has Been Erected so as to Supply Needs That Have Made Themselves Felt in the Growing Church Colony.

Parishioners of the Congregational church got their first glimpse of the result of their three years of earnest endeavor for a fund of $20,000, yesterday, when the new parish house on West Seventh street was formally dedicated with impressive ceremonies appropriate to the Yuletide season. Following the regular Sunday morning service in the church the congregation marched to the Parish House through an arch that leads into the auditorium, where the dedicatory services were conducted.

As chairman of the building committee, supervising the construction of the addition, Frank A. Weeks made the presentation of the new building to the members of the congregation and the speech of acceptance was made by the Rev. Charles L. Goodrich. The pastor expressed his appreciation of the work that has been accomplished and lauded the building committee for its successful efforts.

John W. Whiton, superintendent of the Sunday-school, presided at the dedicatory service and introduced a number of speakers. Rev. Dr. Charles H. Richards, secretary of the Congregational Church Society, spoke of two anniversaries celebrated this week, yesterday being the 293d anniversary of "Forefathers' Day," or the date on which the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock, and Thursday being Christmas Day. The speaker described the progress of the Pilgrims after their arrival in this country.

Arthur M. Harris superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday-school, outlined the work of the Sunday-school of the present day and discussed the need of meeting places for young men and women.

Following the service members of the congregation were shown through the new edifice by members of the building committee which is composed of Frank A. Weeks, chairman, Dr. F. T. Clawson, James McClymont, J. M. Whiton, Mrs. J. V. Beekman and Mrs R. L. French. The new parish house is constructed of reinforced concrete and will provide a place for Sunday-school sessions and a place in which to conduct social functions of every kind. Heretofore the people of this church have held their socials and other entertainments in the church rooms and the new structure will take care of this need adequately.

The outside of the building is finished in stucco and the inside is trimmed with oak and an oak floor has also been laid in the church to match the one in the new addition. The parish house is constructed in a way that makes it convenient to divide it up into individual class rooms for Sunday-school sessions and there are several large rooms and a modernly equipped kitchen.

FREIGHT TRAIN FIREMAN MEETS FATAL MISHAP

Fatally injured when he was struck in the head by an overhead bridge near Pennington Saturday afternoon, Thomas Connolly, a brother of Miss Alice Connolly, of this city, died in the Trenton Hospital Saturday night where he was removed following the accident. Connolly, who was twenty-five years old and resided in Elizabeth, was a fireman on the freight train which passes through this city at 8 o'clock and climbed to the top of the engine just before reaching Pennington to look into the water tank.

He was struck by an overhead bridge and thrown into the coal tender in back of the engine where his body was found by a brakeman. Besides a widow and two children, Mr Connolly is survived by his father, five sisters and one brother.

TRADE AGREEMENT MADE WITH EUROPE

Dr. Moldenke Brings Back News of First International Undertaking.

Dr. Richard Moldenke, of Watchung avenue, one of two American members of an international committee who have been spending the past five weeks in Europe in the interest of improved trade relations of the United States with England, Germany, France and Belgium along the lines of exports in iron, returned home on Saturday on the Lusitania

During his trip abroad, Dr. Moldenke in the course of the negotiations came into close contact with the various syndicates and trusts that are giving the European countries something to think of also. The necessarily hurried trip extended over London, Berlin, Duesseldorf, Brussels, Paris, Vienna, Genoa, etc., and meant the visiting of many industrial plants.

The result of the international conferences was the adoption of drafts of trade agreements based upon fair and honest business methods with absolute freedom in competitive matters—the first ever attempted in the history of commerce.

CANDLE SERVICE AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH

Impressive Ceremony in Which the Sunday School and Choir Join.

A beautiful service was held last night at Holy Cross church when the choir and Sunday-school, carrying unlighted small red candles, participated in a processional. A shortened form of evensong followed with a brief and simple address to the children. Rev. Walter Du Moulin spoke of the significance of the candle lighting which was to follow. He told of the little Christ, born in a lowly cattle stall and who was like a large white candle, shining and fair, from which all the little candles of the world were lighted. And then as the lights went out he knelt on the chancel steps. Suddenly out of the darkness a large white candle burned on the altar, and a boy soloist sang "Holy Night." With the church still in darkness the acolyte took up the candle and bore it slowly to the head of the chancel steps, two choir boys carrying tapers, stepped from the stalls and lighted their tapers from the large candle. Turning, they gave the light first to the choir and then passing down the nave, lighted the end candle in each pew. The light was passed on from candle to candle until all the small ones were lighted and the church edifice was full of little flickering lights. After a prayer and "The Nunc Dimittis," the choir and Sundays-chool went out in a full recessional, singing "O, Little Town of Bethlehem."

The Sunday-school Year Book was distributed to the congregation yesterday.

REVISED TIME TABLE OF THE JERSEY CENTRAL

Plainfield patrons of the New Jersey Central will appreciate some of the changes made in the time schedule which became effective yesterday, especially the one giving them a new express train at a convenient morning hour. This train, which comes from Philadelphia, stops here at 8:59 and reaches New York at 9:45 o'clock.

There is practically no change in the regular commuter trains, but some of the others leave New York five minutes earlier and leave Plainfield for New York about five minutes later. STRANGE ACTIONS LEAD TO ARREST

Chief Marshal Weiss Fires Shots at Mysterious Italians and Gets One.

MAY BE BLACKHANDER

Antonio Rosa and Pal Entice Countrymen to Mountain—Said They Had Money for Borough Priest—One Italian Escapes.

Mystery surrounds the strange actions of two Italians, whom the police believe to be "Blackhanders," and who enticed two youths of their own nationality in the direction of the Watchung mountains late this morning. When Chief Marshal Weiss learned through Peter Berry, of Lake street, of the men's presence he became suspicious and started in pursuit. When the two Italians spied him they fled in opposite directions. The borough police head caught Antonio Rosa, who said he came from Hoboken. Weiss fired six shots at the man's heels before he halted him.

Police Chief Patrick J. Kiely and Detective-Sergeant John J. Flynn who gave Rosa the "third degree" at the headquarters, assisting Weiss, are of the opinion that the two men are members of a gang of "Blackhanders" who attempted to flim-flam several business men in this city several years ago.

Rosa refused to give information cancerning his pal who escaped.

Berry and Antonio Santi, both of Lake street, were standing in East Front street, near Park avenue, when approached by the two strange Italians. They alleged they had $5,000 for Father Miller, of St. Joseph's church, and asked to be directed to the rectory. When arriving there they wanted to continue to the mountains "for a walk." Berry left them and sought Chief Weiss. The chase and capture of Rosa in the woods followed.

LE LELLO'S RIG FIGURES IN TWO COLLISIONS

Hurriedly driving his horse away after smashing into a hack belonging to Charles Barry, Aniello De Lello, of 746 St. Mary's avenue, sent the horse and wagon in his charge headon into an automoblie standing last night, in Somerset street. Noting the collision, Patrolman O'Keefe, doing traffic duty at the intersection of West Front and Somerset streets, placed De Lello under arrest, charged with being intoxicated.

When De Lello's rig ran into the auto, the prisoner was precipitated to the roadway, sustaining minor injuries. He was attended by Dr. Currie, the city physician. All three vehicles received numerous scratches.

MR. KENNEDY RECOVERING.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Kennedy, formerly of this city but recently of Canastota, N. Y., returned from the latter place, last night, to spend the holidays with relatives. Mr. Kennedy was discharged fram the hospital only a week ago after a critical illness with pneumonia but has now almost fully recoveredk

HE DISCOVERED NO IMMODEST DANCING

Major W. B. Martin Reports Result of Inxestigation of Armory Event Incident.

In conformity with an order issued by General D. F. Collins, Major W. B. Martin, after making an investigation has filed his report concerning charges of alleged immoral dancing at the Second Regiment armory in Elizabeth last Monday night and declares that the reports as published in an Elizabeth newspaper the following day were absolutely without any foundation. The Major states that neither the tango nor the hesitation waltz has been permitted in the armory this season and that on this particular occasion there were only three two-steps and two waltzes on the program.

As to the newspaper criticism about the dresses worn by young women, Major Martin reports that the charge is too small to be noticed and that the reporter should have been manly enough not to mention such a thing. Only people whose characters are beyond reproach, he states, were present and a thorough investigation, he adds, reveals that there was absolutely no unbecoming conduct during the dance which lasted only about an hour and a half. He concludes by characterizing the article as a "gross misstatement, absolutely unjustifiable and to my mind nothing short of libellous."

Statements made by battalion officers present at the dance, each of which makes a flat denial of the accusations, are appended to Major Martin's report, as are also resolutions passed by Co. I and Co. F, of Elizabeth. These resolutions denounce the Elizabeth newspaper for publishing the story in question.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Hicks spent the week-end with relatives in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ripley returned home after spending the week-end at the home of Mrs. Thomas Jackson, of Newark.

Harry Paff has purchased a new motorcycle on which he contemplates taking many long trips.

Refuting a rumor to the effect that the "first" St. James Triangle basketball team, of the Hudson River Leauge, one of the fatest quintets in the East, would not play on the Parish House court as announced, Instructor Batterson in a statement Saturday asserted that his friendship with the manager of the New York aggregation has made possible the appearance of the well known players on the local court. The announcement that one of the best teams in the country would play on the Parish House court against the local players came as a big surprise, and a rumor was spread to the effect that the St. James club would send a substitute five to the Plains. But the original champions will play here, according to Mr. Batterson.

Due to the recent expressions of dissatisfaction against the irregularity of the Parish House team's basketball schedule, a meeting was held Saturday night by the players, and matters talked over. Jack Ricketts, the star forward of the quintet, was elected captain, and Instructor Batterson was authorized to act as manager and to book games with reliable clubs. The booking of contests with practically unknown fives has resulted in the cancellation of many games, thereby disappointing many Saturday night crowds who have journeyed to the Parish House to witness a program of sport.

Robert Hooker, of Newark, spent the week-end in the borough, where he formerly lived, as the guest of Maurice Hall.

Miss Viola Garder, a pupil at the Montclair Normal School, has returned home for the Christmas vacation.

At a poultry show held recently in Philadelphia, the local Harmony Park Farm won many first prizes in the White Orpington class. The prize winning birds arrived at the Plains today.

A special meeting of the Warren Township School Board was held Saturday evening for the purpose of receiving bids for the building of the new schoolhouse at Mt. Bethel, which has been ordered by the State Board, and several bids were received ranging from $2,600 to $3,500.

This amount was in excess of the appropriation for the erection of the new structure and all bids were rejected. The plans will be modified and new bids will be called for at the next meeting of the Board.

Miss Jackson, a school teacher in the Mt. Bethel school, tendered her resignation at Saturday night's meeting and Edward E. Sage was engaged to take the position vacated.

Dunellen & Vicinity

Special programs were rendered at both the morning and evening services yesterday in the M. E. church, in observance of the birth of Christ. The pastor, Rev. Dr. William A. Knox, delivered sermons appropriate to the occasion and in the evening preached before a congregation including the communicants of the Presbyterian church. The churches held united Christmas services because of the illness of the Rev. Ernest R. Brown.

With the success of the presentation of "Uncle Ephraim's Summer Boarders," on Thursday and Friday nights, still fresh in the minds of the members of the M. E. church Sunday-school, the talented entertainers of that edifice are turning their attention to preparations for the Christmas entertainment to be given Friday night, December 26.

A pleasing Christmas program in three parts will be rendered tonight in the Seventh-day Baptist church, New Market, under the auspices of the Sunday-school. Vocal and instrumental selections and the rendition of recitations will be included in part one, and the popular cantata, "The Song In the Air," will form part two on the program. As a fitting culmination to the event, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Poland, will deliver an illustrated lecture. Gifts will also be given to the members of the school and the officers will be honored with tokens of esteem.

The local taxpayers are evidently satisfied with the 1913 assessments as no appeal was taken when the Middlesex County Tax Board held a session here for that purpose Friday afternoon.

Ringoes amateur actors are rehearsing for a play entitled, "A Black Heifer," which will be presented early in January under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church.

Westfield.

The reports given at the meeting of the local Board of Health showed that the health of the town is good and that it is free from any case of serious contagious disease. The question of publishing the reports submitted on the purity of milk sold by local dealers was not decided.

The local Town Plan and Art Commission has decided to hold meetings each month until they have made some plans for the beautification of the town parks.

The new officers of the Westfield Firemen's Relief Association are: President, Charles H. French; vice-president, Isaac Seely; secretary, J. Warren Brown; treasurer, Charles F. Wittke; trustee for three years, Leonard G. Venn.

Will Tammany Hall Pass? Multiple Powers Are Arrayed Against It

IT is prophesied that the knell of Tammany Hall will ere long be sounded and that what is left of its power and prestige will not be able to save it from oblivion. Prominent Democratic organizations in New York city are arraying themselves against it and gradually forming a combine that may go far toward cutting off from Tammany all political patronage, and without such patronage Tammany will have a hard struggle to keep itself alive.

Tammany is the oldest political institution in the United States. The history of the organization that with comparatively rare intermissions has ruled New York city more than a century began in 1786, when it was founded by William Mooney. It was organized in 1789. Since 1800 Tammany has controlled New York city politics more than two-thirds of the time. With its hold upon the metropolis of the nation it has exerted a powerful influence upon state and national politics. It has maintained its strength and standing notwithstanding the fact that many of its leaders from Mooney down have been guilty of various crimes.

Mooney himself was modest in the amount of his embezzlements, but when Tweed came into power as Tammany's boss the city treasury was looted by him and his associates of over $100,000,000. Richard Croker, a successor of Tweed, after several years' control of the big political machine retired several times a millionaire. The fortune enjoyed by the present boss, Charles F. Murphy, is believed to surpass that of Croker.

Murphy's career as boss has been singularly successful in some ways and unsuccessful in others. No previous boss ever succeeded in becoming state leader. Kelly was often ruled out of state conventions, and even the magnificent Croker could never get himself recognized as leader of the party in the state. Wood's rule was confined entirely to New York city, and while Tweed bossed the legislature for awhile, he never assumed the title of state leader.

Murphy has done that, but he has been the most unsuccessful of Tammany's bosses in trying to control the politics of the city. He is the only boss of Tammany Hall who never succeeded in electing a single mayor who would be subservient to his will. Murphy's real boss-ship began in 1903, in which year George B. McClellan was elected mayor, but neither McClellan nor his successor, Judge Gaynor, was tractable to Murphy's rule. Now the control of city affairs, since the last election, has passed entirely from Murphy's influence, and his fall from power seems imminent. He is being attacked both within his own organization and without, and his foes think his downfall sure.

The attitude of the administration at Washington, according to current belief, is by no means favorable to Murphy or to Tammany, for President Wilson has not consulted any of the Tammany leaders in making political appointments, and it is quite apparent that Tammany's influence has not been felt in a political way in the capital city. Like the Huerta provisional government in Mexico, it has not been "recognized" by the Washington administration. Mr. Wilson has not appointed Tammany men to office, nor has he or any of his associates called into political conference any leader or member of the Tammany organization.

It is perfectly well known that the incoming New York city administration and President Wilson are at one with respect to their attitude toward Tammany Hall. It is the clear understanding of the administration that no man affiliated with Tammany or no man friendly to Tammany will be appointed to office or shown any political consideration by Mr. Mitchel and his associates. Tammany is to be starved out of existence, or at least a serious attempt to drive it from its lair is about to be made.

Tammany made a determined fight last fall to win control of the board of estimate of New York, but lost.

Linguistic Whimsicalities.

The following are a few linguistic whimsicalities: The Germans call a thimble a "finger hat," which it certainly is, and a grasshopper a "hay horse." A glove with them is a "hand shoe," showing evidently that they wore shoes before gloves. Poultry is "feather cattle," whilst the names of the well known substances oxygen and hydrogen are in their language "sour stuff" and "water stuff." The French, strange to say, have no verb "to stand," nor can a Frenchman speak of "kicking" any one. The nearest approach a Frenchman makes to it in his politeness is to threaten to "give a blow with his foot," the same to the recipient in either case, but it seems to want the directness, the energy, of our "kick." Neither has he any word for "baby" or for "home" or "comfort." The terms "upstairs" and "downstairs" are also unknown in French. The Hindus are said to have no word for "friend." The Italians have no equivalent for "humility." — London Tatler.

Queer Resemblances.

That persons who live together for a very long period not only acquire the same mannerisms, but grow a strong facial resemblance, is an established fact. But it is little known that the same condition often exists from mistress and servant being associated together for a long period of years. There is usually a strong desire on the part of most servants to ape their mistresses, and this, added to the fact of constant nearness, often extends to facial resemblances.

There are in a small town in New York state two unusual instances of this kind. Two widows live there, each of whom has been attended by a woman servant for more than forty years. In both cases the servants have become so like their mistresses that they are often mistaken for them, and their cases have attracted attention far and near. Their voices over the telephone are so alike that friends of the women have given up this method of communication.—New York Sun.

Words That Speak.

Bang—"a sudden noise like that from a gun" is the definition given by the dictionary. But the explanation is be fogging and futile, for a "bang" is—well, what better describes it than that simple word itself?

So many of our most expressive words seem similarly to have sprung from a desire to form with the lips a sound mimicking the thing described. Why waste words on a definition of the word "splash," for example? You hear all the abrupt, restless heaving of the waters in that one word.

And does even a baby need to be told what "buzz" means when a bluebottle is leading a forlorn hope against the window?

"Tinkle," "whistle," "whine," "gurgle," "cackle," "icy"—these are only a few of our other eloquently descriptive words.—London Answers.

NO REFUSE THROWN FROM LEHIGH VALLEY DINERS

The "safety first" slogan of the Lehigh Valley Railroad is being followed by a new one that might be called "sanitation next." Dining car employes no longer throw refuse off moving trains. An order has been issued compelling them to deposit it in proper receptacles provided for that purpose at stations.

The old way was to choose a likely spot between stations and dump out the refuse without any idea other than getting rid of it. It had become so strong a habit to "chuck" leavings from the table, it was considered advisable to make the order sufficiently strict to insure its observance. As a further precaution section bosses and trackwalkers have been instructed to report any indication of the rule being broken. The Lehigh Valley wants its tracks as clean as its trains.

MAJOR MARTIN'S FINDINGS.

General satisfaction will be felt over the findings contained in the report of Major Martin, who was delegated by General Collins to investigate charges made in an Elizabeth newspaper to the effect that there had been immoral scenes at a dance last Monday night at the Second regiment armory. The Major reports that after a thorough investigation the accusations were proven to be without the slightest foundation and their publication was most unjust and injurious. At the time of their appearance in public print, the Daily Press urged that the charges be probed and it transpired that the General was of that mind and lost no time in ordering it done. It is to be regretted that such aspersions should be cast on our citizen-soldiery and particularly on those in charge of the armory, and it is most pleasing to learn officially from an unquestioned source that there has been no unbecoming conduct as had been alleged.

Just by way of suggestion, we mention the fact that if the Jersey Central railroad, whose interests are linked with Plainfield's, should undertake to have the Netherwood hotel opened and operated by a competant hotel man the beneficient results would be mutual. There is no reason why that well known hostelry, which in years past has been the means of adding desirable population to this community, should not be made to pay. This paper will be glad to be of any service in having the hotel opened up and placed on a successful basis.

There are now nine States where women have the right to vote, with three or four more trembling upon the brink. It is a safe bet that all the party platforms in 1916 will have an equal suffrage plank. That way the wind blows—Philadelphia Record.

And this from a Democratic party newspaper? Surely the gospel of equal rights is spreading.

The wide-awake, progressive and dependable merchant advertises in the newspaper and his announcements will be found in our columns. Before you do your Christmas shopping carefully read all the advertisements and then go to the stores. But in any event, do your Christmas shopping early.

A contemporary refers to former Assemblyman William de la Roquefort Anderson as the "actor-statesman." A statesman, you know, is a politician out of a job, whose one cry is that there is nothing so lacking in appreciation as the people.

It's not less delegates but more votes that constitutes the sore need of the Republican party as at present constituted.

The Community Christmas plan should interest everyone—if you are not acquainted with it, ask any member of the Federation of Church Men's clubs or the Federation of Bible classes and you will get all the particulars.

PARK AVENUE BAPTIST.

The Bible School of the Park Avenue church, before an unusually large congregation in the edifice last night, rendered "The Universal King," a Christmas service in story and song. The reading was by Miss Addie Parker Jackson and the vocal selections written expressly for the occasion, were rendered by a chorus of forty voices under the leadership of F. J. Smith. An orchestera of five pieces, composed of Arthur S. Mosher, violinist; Dr. J. F. Berg, bass violinist; Elmer Wheeler, flutist; Miss Iona Wood, organist, and Mrs. John Manley, pianist, rendered a special program and accompanied the choir.

Miss Jackson's reading of the pleasing Christmas story lent great impressiveness to the service and the singing of the augumented choir, merited the immense appreciation of the communicants. As an offertory, Mr. Mosher played the difficult Handel's Largo, accompanied by Mr. Smith, on the organ. The rendition of the entire program was under the direction of Willard M. Maxim, superintendent of the Bible School.

TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

An attendance of over 500 persons featured the Christmas services held yesterday afternoon at the Trinity Reformed church Sunday school. Appropriate Yuletide services were also held at the morning and evening services in the church. The pastor, Rev. John Y. Broek, preached his topic being, "Drag in the Yuletide Log," in the morning, and the feature of the evening program was the vocal duo rendered by Miss Hope Miller and Miss Sears.

Plotting For a Throne, Princess Marie Has Ambitious Plans

THE matrimonial difficulties of Prince William of Sweden, King Gustavus' second son, and his Russian wife, Grand Duchess Marie, are causing a profound sensation in Europe because they involve affairs of the highest importance to the Russian crown.

The vital question at the imperial court is, "Who will succeed Nicholas II. upon the throne?" No one believes that the czar's little son will ever live to reign. If he should he would be a physical wreck and could not hope to leave a son himself to carry on the direct line. The czarina is now forty-one years old and has been in such bad health for years that the prospect of her presenting another heir to the crown is small.

The czar's only brother, Grand Duke Michael, formerly the heir apparent before the birth of little Czarevitch Alexis, positively refuses to consider a return to that position. He has quit the country with his morganatic wife and children, and it is said that wild horses could not drag him back as his brother's successor to the gloomy pomp and terrifying dangers of the imperial crown.

The males next in line after him are the sons of the late Grand Duke Vladimir, Grand Duke Cyril, Grand Duke Boris and Grand Duke Andrew. But their father and they themselves after him have reduced the national treasury when in positions of authority and have so openly defied the people's welfare that neither one of them could possibly ascend the throne without anarchy, assassination and their attendant horrors.

The spirited, pleasure loving little Marie, known as the "Merry Grand Duchess," who married Prince William of Sweden five years ago, when she was only eighteen, has developed extraordinary intellectual qualities and diplomatic tact, and she has become the life and soul of the political group at the St. Petersburg court in favor of proclaiming the czar's eldest daughter, Grand Duchess Olga, the heir of the throne and at the same time announcing her betrothal to her cousin, Grand Duke Dimitri, Grand Duchess Marie's only brother. It has been in her ardent devotion to the farreaching aims of her political activities that Prince William's wife has sacrificed her husband for the sake of her brother's future.

Her most important ally is tall, dark eyed Grand Duchess Olga, who is as simple as a child in many ways, although she celebrated her eighteenth birthday a few days ago and who has made up her mind that her cousin Dimitri is the handsomest, most fascinating young man in the world and that she will never marry any other man. Her betrothal to the crown prince of Roumania was announced in that country a few weeks ago, but the czar has not been able to get his daughter's consent to announce it in Russia.

Grand Duchess Marie while in Sweden with her husband left no stone unturned to add to her personal influence over the czar and increase her power with the Russian government itself. She gained access to state papers at Stockholm and surreptitiously conveyed information of great importance to the St. Petersburg statesmen through a Russian attache at the Swedish court. Military secrets which Russia would have paid fabulous prices to obtain through secret agents the wife of Prince William was able to get from susceptible army and naval officers in Sweden by means of the spell of her beauty and charm.

Princess William, or Grand Duchess Marie as she will be called hereafter, was only sixteen months old when her mother died, six days after giving birth to Grand Duke Dimitri. The mother was a sister of King Constantin of Greece. She had a Russian mother and had known from childhood of the license of the Russian court. Yet she was so deeply in love with her husband, Grand Duke Paul, that she died of a broken heart because of his neglect and dissipation.

Grand Duke Paul was exiled from Russia, but it is said that he will soon be restored to favor.

Waste Material Reclaimed by Business Geniuses.

SPECIALIZE ON FIVE THINGS

Export $2,000,000 In Woolen Rags For "Shoddy"—Get $114,000,000 Worth of Tin and Iron Out of Discarded Tin and Hardware—True Conservationists, Says Head of Association.

At the second meeting of the National Association of Waste Material Dealers, held in New York recently, delegates from many places in the east and middle west discussed conditions in the waste material industry and the policy of the association. The organization was formed in Boston only last March, but, according to the report of the secretary, the members of the association represent an investment in the business of more than $700,000,000.

The members are divided into five general classes, according to the particular waste materials in which they deal, and each class is represented on the board of governors of the association by a vice president. The five products upon which the classification is based are rubber, metals, paper stock, cotton and woolen rags and scrap iron, and recently the vice president representing the business in each of them made a report of the conditions of the trade in which he was interested.

Millions In Rags and Tin Cans.

Through their vice president the rag dealers reported that more than $2,000,000 worth of woolen rags had been exported from the United States last year to be manufactured by foreign mills into cloth known as "shoddy."

According to another report, old tin cans, useless cooking utensils and discarded hardware of all kinds furnished $114,000,000 worth of pure tin and iron, which were used in manufacture.

In many cases, said the representatives of the old metal dealers, the same articles were made from the metals recovered which had originally been manufactured from them. The tin coating on old, rusty cans, for example, was removed by some factories, purified by chemical treatment and then again used as a veneer for cans. Some of the tin was also converted into tetrachloride and used for weighting silk.

Old iron and steel can most easily be recovered and used for a second time, the vice president of the dealers in iron said. What is commonly known as "scrap iron" can be melted down and converted into structural steel and iron implements of as good quality as any, according to his report.

Buying Up Old Auto Tires.

The automobile industry has furnished a field for the rubber men. They buy old tires and tubes, which they restore with chemicals to pure rubber for new tires and tubes. Their report showed an active and profitable business.

In bringing the meeting to a close the president of the association, Theodore Hofeller of Buffalo, addressed the delegates upon the subject of the waste material business.

"Without attracting attention," he said, "the dealers in things that not very long ago were considered useless and even unprofitable trash have built up a business that in capital involved and material handled ranks with most recognized industries, and greater results have been obtained from the saving of the waste materials than from irrigation of barren lands. The waste material dealers are the true conservationists. They have reclaimed millions of dollars from the dump heaps throughout the country."

The secretary of the association is Charles M. Haskins of Boston, and the treasurer is Mark Sherwin of the same city.

BABOON A COCAINE FIEND.

Dr. Briand Describes Strange Case to a Paris Medical Society.

Dr. Marcel Briand exhibited before the chief alienists and specialists of Paris recently a Japanese baboon which is a cocaine fiend.

Tobie arrived at the St. Anne hospital at the same time as his owner, an actress on the Paris stage, who also is a victim of the drug habit. She begged to be allowed to keep her pet at the hospital with her, and the request was granted.

The actress informed Dr. Briand that Tobie had been addicted to cocaine for five months. He formed the habit by imitation, nobody having induced him to use the drug.

The baboon had become an expert in searching pockets and hand bags for cocaine. He never absorbed more than enough to give him joyful feelings. The drug affected him the same as it affects a human being, and he received the same treatment as his mistress.

"Don't Worry—Live Long."

"Don't worry over things and you will not be nervous and you will sleep well. If you sleep well you will be happy, and if you are happy you will live long," Joseph Bradbury told his children, grandchildren and great grandchildren at his recent ninety third birthday celebration at South Orange, N. J.

Sensible Christmas Gifts

The real value of a gift cannot be computed in terms of money alone—utility, interest and lasting beauty are determining factors.

What gift could be more appropriate and acceptable than an Eastern Rug which, in weave and effect, is the same to-day as that carried by the traveller in the Holy Land centuries ago?

The association of locality, and the charm of the old designs, wrought in a fabric of extreme durability and utility, provide for the recipient a source of constant gratification for many years.

Dependable Rugs of the old designs can be supplied at prices ranging from $12.00 upward.

CARABAO SOCIETY SHAKEN.

Its Last Annual Dinner Stirs Up a Hornets' Nest In Washington.

The dinner of the Military Order of the Carabao held during each December at Washington since the inauguration of the society has come to be regarded as an annual institution. Always the turmoil of army and navy politics and the foibles of government officials have been travestied. But at its last dinner the fun, from the administration's point of view, was carried too far. President Wilson was so angered over the satire of the administration's Philippine and peace policies indulged in that he canceled his honorary membership in the society and set the machinery of government to work to determine whether what occurred was a breach of discipline or merely an exhibition of bad taste. The president's demand for an investigation caused a great commotion in army and navy circles. The general attitude of army and navy officers was that the spirit of the banquet was one of fun and should not be taken seriously.

A committee from the Carabao society, consisting of Rear Admiral Thomas B. Howard, recently elected grand paramount carabao; Major General J. B. Aleshire, quartermaster general, and General Frank McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, called upon Secretary of War Garrison and Secretary of the Navy Daniels and in the form of a letter expressed the regret of the members of the Carabao for any occurrences at the dinner calculated to bring the administration policies into ridicule.

The Military Order of the Carabao was organized in Manila in November, 1900. Its purpose is to foster a high standard of military and social duty and to perpetuate the memory of Philippine service. Its membership is composed of army and navy officers, both regular and volunteer, who served in the Philippines between May 1, 1898, and July 4, 1902. The order is named after the water buffalo, or carabao, the slow going beast of burden of the Philippines, which was the main reliance of the army for the transport of stores while marching to fight a native foe in a strange and tropical land.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 42.

I'M TIRED of my job. I'm tired of being worked to death. My employers are heartless, and I see nothing to it but a daily grind, with no chance of anything better. Gee, I wish I could get another position!"

That is what a young man, who is a stenographer in the employ of a large corporation, said to me the other afternoon.

"Why don't you keep your eye on the CLASSIFIED columns of the newspapers," I said to him. "Or, better still, why don't you advertise in those columns for a position?"

"The CLASSIFIED?" he said, wonderingly. "What do you mean?" "I told him that I meant the WANT ADS. "The WANT ADS! What are they?"

Here is an instance (and I know of more) of a dissatisfied, disgruntled employe, working away his life in the service of employers whom he cordially dislikes and to whom he has never given and will never be able to give the kind of efficiency that is natural in the man who loves his work.

This young man is wishing for better things. He admitted that he does not read the advertising columns of newspapers, because he "believed that most advertising is a fake anyway and wasn't much use." He promised, however, before I left him, to read the "Help Wanted—Male" columns for a while and to answer any advertisements he might find there for the kind of service he is equipped to give.

Today, as I write this, there are four advertisements for stenographers in the "Help Wanted—Male" columns of one newspaper on my desk, to say nothing of a dozen or more advertisements for office assistants, salesmen, solicitors, etc. Here are at least four opportunities in one day for that young man to connect up with another position—and perhaps a much better one than he now has.

Opportunity, notwithstanding that famous poem by Mr. Ingalls, comes more than once to the man who keeps his eye on the WANT ads.

SOME STIFF GAMES FOR Y. M. C. A. FIVE

Hard Quartet of Struggles Mapped Out for the Next Two Weeks.

Four games of basketball have been mapped out for the local Y. M. C. A. basketball team to be contested during the coming two weeks and a forthnight of the most strenuous competition of the season is anticipated by Captain Brynairski and his men. On Christmas Day afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. "gym," the Y. M. C. A. and Hope Chapel teams meet in the initial combat of the City Championship series and this game will provide interest for many local lovers of the popular indoor sport who favor one team or another in the race.

Saturday night the locals take on the Summit Y. M. C. A. quintet and the records established by this five during the season give promise of another hard battle. Summit recently lined up against the Scotch Plains Parish House five on the latter's court and although handicapped by the small court, managed to keep within six points of their rivals on that occasion.

On New Year's night the New York University Law School five which has hung fast to an unblemished record since its appearance here Thanksgiving night will play a return game and many contend that the collegiate players will swamp the locals on the second occasion. In the former game the Y. M. C. A. boys won after a hard fight by a score of 21 to 20 and the calibre of basketball put up was the best seen here in many moons. The same lineup will be on deck New Year's and a repetition of the first encounter is looked forward to.

The Saturday night following New Years, the Young Men's Association team of Bound Brook will appear on the local court. Included in the Bound Brook lineup will be such stars as Louis Ulmer, who played with the Y. M. C. A. several years ago and the Mathews brothers who established some fame for themselves while competing under the Bound Brook High School colors. Mason, captain of last year's Bound Brook High School football team, will play center.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the salary of the chief and deputy chiefs of the New York fire department?—N. M. L.

Answer—Chief, $10,000 a year; deputy chief, $4,200.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Please tell me what the record is for eating pancakes. I have eaten thirty-six at one time and think I have come pretty near the mark.—B. C.

Answer—There is no official "platter polishing" mark, Bennie, but indications are that you will be a record-breaker when you grow up. Don't practice the stunt very often though, or you will get stale.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What sports will there be in Plainfield on Christmas Day?—B. D.

Answer—Watch the announcements in this paper Wednesday afternoon and you will get all the information you are after.

Sporting Editor:

Query—If a player has played three years of football on a college eleven prior to his senior year, is he eligible to compete on the varsity team in his fourth?—H. O. T.

Answer—In most colleges the four-year rule is enforced and a player is not allowed to play more than three years. Several of the larger colleges eliminate the freshman from varsity sports and this does away with the necessity of barring an athlete in his senior year, unless he has been deficient in studies and requires more than four years to complete the college course.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I am an amateur skater and have recently moved to town. I would like to get in communication with other amateurs in this vicinity and if possible arrange some match races?—N. C. J.

Answer—Amateurs take notice and send your addresses.

"Athletes I Have Known"

"By Mac"

Beginning with tomorrow's issue and continuing indefinitely, another new feature will be added to this page for the benefit of those interested in local sportdom. Each day, under the title "Athletes I Have Known" will appear the complete history of some local favorite in one of the many branches of sport.

The articles will be compiled by the Sporting Editor of this paper and will discuss step by step, the rise of each of the characters dealt with and will tell exactly how he or she mounted to the pinnacle of fame.

This innovation in Plainfield sporting circles will not be confined exclusively to the achievements of male athletes, but will also give the history of many feminine performers who have gained prominence on the basketball or tennis court.

These articles, besides dealing with personal characteristics, will contain much valuable information on how to achieve success in the athletic line and the best fields open to particular classes of athletes.

ENTHUSIASTIC RIDERS FOLLOW HOUNDS IN LONG RACE

Another large field of enthusiastic riders met the drag hounds of the Watchung Hunt Club at the Metuchen Club, Saturday afternoon. The line led across some of the largest and best known estates in Middlesex county. The hounds were cast in on the outskirts of Metuchen, going toward and checking at Stelton. They were thrown in again nearby and this time led the riders to Raritan township, where the second check was made.

Cast in on the Tappan estate the run continued toward New Market and was finished at the club's grounds. Those in the field were: R. C. Finch, M. F. H., L. B. Smith, H. A. Bourne, R. H. Towner, Miss Margaret Dana, Miss Marjorie Brown, H. L. Finch, S. D. French, Beverley Brown, W. P. Smith, Jr., Col. C. E. S. Bellows and Huntsman Harrison.

NEAF APGAR SECOND MAN IN SMITH GUN CLUB

More than 4,000 birds were thrown from the traps Saturday afternoon in one of the largest shoots ever held on the Smith Gun Club grounds, Newark. The shoot was a combined merchandise and poultry event in place of the usual Christmas Day shoot. As more than thirty-five gunners faced the traps it was necessary to cut the shoot down from 100 to 80 birds, to be shot in 20-bird strings. Two sets of traps were constantly in use until darkness stopped the sport. Competition was keen and several ties were scored.

Neaf Apgar, the local sharpshooter, turned in the second best score Saturday afternoon, his record for the event being 24, 67.

SPEEDY LEAGUERS SCORE A VICTORY

Hope Chapel Five Ran up Against a Big Job Saturday Night on Own Gym.

GAME WAS ONE-SIDED

Chapelites Scored But Two Points In the First Half of Play—Fast Team Work and Clever Passing Featured the Encounter.

Hope Chapel basketball players ran up against a speedy proposition Saturday night, when they stacked up against the Crescent A. C., of Milltown, on the West Fourth street court, the result ending in a 46 to 21 decision for the visiting clan. Clever shooting and fast footwork characterized the Milltown leaguers' work and the rival forces could do nothing to check the onslaught which started early in the fracas.

During the entire first half the Crescents confined their efforts to rolling up the score and the Chapelites were so busy in checking shots that they apparently forgot to shoot for themselves. When the tally was announced at the completion of one-half of play Tommy Heron was credited with his side's lone field goal and total points. Twenty-two points were tallied by the visitors in the first half and they practically sewed up the contest in this period.

Hope Chapel took on a scoring brace in the second half, however, and managed to count for nineteen points against the Milltown five's twenty-four. The winners outclassed their rivals in every way, their advantage in weight and experience helping considerably in the verdict getting.

The Crabiel brothers and Smith were the chief scorers for the victors and the Herons and Doig led along this line for the closing side.

On their first appearance in this vicinity the Arlingtons, of Newark, suffered a defeat at the hands of the Scotch Plains Parish House first team Saturday night on the Parish House court by a score of 34 to 23. Smith, for the Parish House, did some star guarding, preventing a number of shots. Dallas and Ricketts at forward tied for shotting honors with twelve points apiece. Sargent, for the losers, rung up seven points, with Fairsence and Parker one behind with three goals apiece.

COLONIALS FLAGGED AFTER WINNING FOURTEEN STRAIGHT

A big surprise in which many local basketball followers are interested was handed to the Colonial Five, of Elizabeth, on the Hippodrome court in that place Saturday night when the Bayview Wheelmen Juniors smashed the winning streak of fourteen games to smithereens and came out victorious by a score of 30 to 22.

This is the first time this year that a rival team has succeeded in winning a game on the Elizabeth court and an All Star cast from Plainfield furnished fuel for the Colonial Five's third victory early in the season. The court at the Hippodrome is an unusually hard one to play on and outside teams have considerable difficulty in familiarizing themselves with the peculiarities of it.

Y. M. C. A. PRACTICE.

Captain Albert Brynairski, of the Y. M. C. A. basketball team, has issued a call for practice tonight in view of the fact that one of the hardest games of the season is booked for Christmas afternoon. The Association five generally practices on Wednesday nights but it is probable that the drill will be held to a light scrimmage on the night before the contest.

BASKETBALL LOVERS TREATED TO A PAIR OF BIG SURPRISES

Local basketball lovers and many who had never seen a game of the sport played before, some of whom learned for the first time the difference between a basketball and football game, were treated to one of the greatest programs of the indoor pastime ever presented in this section Saturday night, when the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. and Rahway Y. M. C. A. and North Plainfield and Plainfield High School teams met in a double program on the Association court.

One game rivaled the other with interest and both savored of some excellent basketball. By virtue of its defeat over Plainfield, the North Plainfield High School five gets the first place ranking in the Interscholastic League and is now favored for the championship. In the second game the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. team defeated the Rahway five in another spectacular contest, thus wiping out an old score that has existed hereabouts for the past two years.

Putting up a game that exceeded by far the highest anticipations of the coaching staff and all interested, the Plainfield High School basketball team upset all future dope and put the North Plainfield aspirants to a crucial test in the Y. M. C. A. "gym" Saturday night in the first match scheduled to decide the Interscholastic basketball championship of the city and the borough. Although the Canadians flashed to the front a 25 to 17 victor at the end of two halves of guelling play, the North Plainfielders fell far short of enjoying their anticipated walk-over and the Queen City youths were in the running up until the very last minute of play.

Stretching the field goal caging over a prolongated period of time and interrupting the actual play frequently for foul goal shooting, the combatants furnished amusement of the thrilling variety for one of the largest crowds of basketball lovers that ever packed the Association "gym" and the organized cheering sections of the respective factions kept the payers on the edge from start to finish.

Throughout the entire first half the rivals fought like demons for every advantage that presented itself and when time was called at the expiration of twenty minutes of baiting the score was deadlocked at ten points. First North Plainfield rang a penalty throw and then followed it two minutes later with another of the same brand. Captain Hetfield then chalked up a one point score and North Plainfield annexed another bringing the tally up to 3 to 1. Hetfield brought the gallery to a standing positions a few seconds later when he caged the ball for a two-point score and tied the count at 3 to 3. From this point until the intermission was announced the teams exchanged shot for shot, intermixing field goals with throws from the fifteen foot mark and when the timer's whistle shrieked at the mid station the Plainfield cohorts gave vent to their exuberance for the score was tied and this was something better than anyone dared to anticipate a short half hour before. North Plainfield followers, on the other hand, were dumbfounded by the conditions that had presented themselves during the short interval of play and Captain Burner took occasion to flay his men between the periods in the hope of instilling some fighting blood into the warriors.

This short letup in play worked wonders for the Canadians but proved to be exceedingly disastrous to the locals for it was in reality, the turning point of the fracas. N. P. H. S. came on the floor primed to rush the Painfielders off their feet and it was not long until the strain began to tell on the P. H. S. color-bearers and a few well-directed shots by the borough forwards and center placed a good-sized margin between the two factions. The playing of Hetfield and Peacock, both on the defense and offense, stood out prominently in the work of the P. H. S. team, while Abrams' all around work featured the winner's attack. The speedy stunts Abrams pulled off in the guard territory were closely seconded by laurel-winning efforts on the part of Love, Dunning and Van Mater, all of whom did their share in annexing the jump-off battle in the league race.

Employing rushing tactics and putting every ounce of energy to the wheel in the hope of wiping out a blur placed on its records by the same team two years ago, the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. basketball crew met with marked success on the Association floor Saturday night and rung up one of its most creditable victories of the season at the expense of the Rahway Y. M. C. A. aggregation, the final score being 26 to 18. Rahway sent exactly the same lineup to Plainfield as played here two seasons ago under the title of Rahway Cubs and took the measure of the locals at that time after the Plainfielders had chalked up a string of nine consecutive victories.

Matters were completely reversed on this occasion, however, and the accurate shooting and whirlwind passing of the visitors failed to check the Y. M. C. A. outfit. Shortly after the referee sounded his first call the Plainfielders had rung their first field goal and the visitors were held without a point until a tally of nine had been safely stowed away by the ocals. Good work on the part of the Plainfield guards was largely responsible for the brilliant showing of the first half and despite the fact that the visitors clearly surpassed the Queen City five in team work during the initial period, the half ended with a score of 16 to 3.

Frequently during the second half it looked as though the Rahway quintet would creep up to within striking distance of the Plainfielders and their shooting was more effective in this session than in the first. Rough playing began to take its *pace in the performance of both com*binations in this period and the visitors were repeatedly penalized for holding and slugging. Brooks was the principal offender along this line and as the result of his work the Plainfield foul shooters got many free throws, a number of which were wasted.

For the first time this season the Y. M. C. A. team met with success in the working of its signals and the victory was brought about by this means alone. Time and again the ball was touched off at center by Joe Gavett and failed to rest in a Rahwayite's hands until it was thrown in the direction of the iron ring. Both teams wasted many opportunities to score on apparently easy tries and had either been able to make good on a majority of its throws the score would probably have been vastly different.

Aggressiveness appeared to be the visitors' standby and the basket tossers of the High School made good use of their weight and agility. The team was made up wholly of football performers and the battling savored strongly of that evidenced in many gridiron games in which Rahway High School has been a participant.

For the winner's share in the starring department, the honors were evenly divided. Moulton and Gavett, as usual, putting up excellent scoring and passing games while Brynairski, Glover and Farmer played well on the defense. Captain Schweister was the laurel bearer for the visitors in every department of the game and his all around ability kept the leaders constantly on the alert. He flashed several spurts which for a time looked disastrous but which died down almost as suddeny as they had risen.

TWENTY-THREE POINTS APART AT THE END OF THIS GAME

Playing on a court much longer than the one to which they are accustomed and battling against great odds with a crippled lineup, the Plainfield High School girls' basketball team was defeated by a score of 24 to 1 by the Englewood High School feminine quintet on the latter's court Saturday afternoon.

The game was one-sided from start to finish and the local girls never appeared dangerous. Several members of the Plainfield crew were absent from Saturday's lineup and substitutes were used.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The musical comedy farce, "High Jinks," at the Lyric theatre, is in three acts and the action all takes place in Paris during a carnival. Dr. Thorne, an American nerve specialist living in the French capital, has a friend by the name of Dick Wayne an explorer, and Wayne has discovered a drug in the form of a perfume called "High Jinks." The effect of this perfume is to make the timid brave, the pessimist an optimist, the serious man jovial and the prudish person a dare-devil. The complications of the piece are brought about by the manner in which Dr. Thorne experiments with this curious drug, and the result is a laughable, clean, wholesome comedy. Much of the plot is told in songs with music that is tuneful and always appropriate. The cast of "High Jinks" includes Elizabeth Murray and Tom Lewis as the featured players. Among the other artists with important roles are Ignacis Martinette and Miss Elaine Hammerstein, the daughter of Arthur Hammerstein, who makes her professional debut in this production.

"The Things That Count," offered by William A. Brady at the Maxime Elliott theatre, is a play that follows a line directly opposite to the trend of the current season. The story concerns itself neither with the problems of the hour nor the perplexities of tomorrow, and employs characters familiar to everyone. The main interest attaches to an old couple well past the meridian of life. They affect a deep interest in love and charity, when associated with a chartered organization or benevolent society, but are none too familiar with these virtues when encountered out of the abstract. The love thread of the play is carried by a young actress left destitute by her husband's death, and a young actor who was the husband's best friend. In this play Miss Alice Brady is seen in a role more ambitious than any she has yet undertaken. The cast also includes: Florine Arnold, Howard Estabrook, Albert Reed, Wallace Erskine, Hilda Englund Margaret Seddon, Josephine Williams, Nick Long, Idelene Cotton and others.

Keeping Warm When You Sleep.

Most of us manage to keep warm during the day, exercise and glowing fires both tend to keep us comfortable. But many of us face a problem when we try to keep warm at night, with the bedroom windows wide open and the steam turned off, as it often is to make the bedroom crisper and clearer.

Here are a few suggestions about keeping warm at night:

Stay Light.

Go to bed warm. If you get into bed cold you will often lie awake uncomfortably restless, for half an hour until you have become warm. One way to get warm is to go through a little series of exercises every night shortly before bedtime. Work at these exercises until your skin is glowing. Then get into bed as fast as you can.

A warm bath generally gets the body hot; if it is taken in a warm room. But great care must be exercised on going from a warm bath in a warm bathroom to a cold bedroom. However, if you are chilly, take a hot bath before going to bed. Take it in a warm room. Dry the skin thoroughly and then don a thick, warm dressing or bath robe. Get into a warm bed in a cool room. Especially when you have become chilled, it is well to go to bed in a room that is cool. It is then possible to gauge the amount of covering much more accurately than when you go to bed in a warm room, after turning off the steam and opening wide the windows.

Warming the Bed.

The good old days of the warming pan had some advantages even over the present day of hot water bags and electric warming pads. For warming pans held the heat a long time and were used so regularly that they were considered a bedroom necessity. Nowadays not much attention is paid to warming the bed. A hot water bottle or an electric heating pad might well be put in between the sheets half an hour before bedtime to take off the chill.

A hot brick can also be used. Put bricks in the oven for two hours. Then carefully put them in envelopes made of outing flannel, lined with bed ticking and interlined with asbestos.

Woolen sheets can be used to advantage in very cold rooms or on sleeping porches. These make the bed twice as warm as that on which cotton or linen sheets are used.

A blanket laid on the springs, between them and the mattress, keeps out a lot of cold. An extra blanket spread across the lower part of the bed and folded under the mattress as far as it will go helps to keep the feet warm.

Outing flannel or eiderdown boots, that fasten snugly about the ankle, do much to make sleeping in a cold room comfortable.

Some Cookery Suggestions

ECONOMY WITH EGGS.

If cream will not whip add to it a little white of an egg. Two whites are enough for half a pint of cream.

When eggs are dear use vinegar instead of eggs for making cakes. One dessertspoonful of vinegar added to a gill of milk answers the same purpose as two eggs, and it makes the cakes nice and light.

When an egg has been boiled too long it can be softened instantly again by lifting the pan off the fire, quickly placing it under the tap and allowing a good stream of cold water to pour into it.

Keeping Whites of Eggs.

In cooking one often uses the whites of eggs only. To preserve the yolks for future use put them in a bowl with sufficient cold water to cover them, place a plate on the bowl to exclude the air and keep in a cool place for use. In this way they will keep fresh for quite a considerable time.

Eggs that are to be used for making cakes and puddings or other desserts will beat much more quickly and easily to a froth, consequently producing a lighter mixture, if put for at least an hour before required for use in a bowl of cold water to which has been added a handful of common salt and a small lump of washing soda. If possible when beating stand close to an open window or door.

Time Economy.

To beat an egg quickly break it into an ordinary glass tumbler. Place a clean piece of white tissue paper on the top. Hold the paper down to keep it air tight. Place the other hand at the top of the paper and shake the tumbler vigorously two or three times. The egg is then ready for use without any further effort and is as well prepared as one beaten or whipped for ten minutes.

To omit the egg or eggs from any but spice, molasses, gingercakes or cookies is to mar the cake. To leave them out of an ordinary white cake will result in a cake that is comparatively hard and tasteless.

Eggless Desserts.

In order to make acceptable desserts without eggs make puddings in which fruits are ingredients. When you cannot get fresh fruit substitute jams, jellies and marmalades. Desserts made with gelatin and fruits and nuts are in this line. Pies and tarts and turnovers may be served frequently, as they call for no eggs.

Here are recipes for two cakes which may be made with economy:

Eggless Cake.—Take one-quarter cupful sugar, one-quarter cupful of shortening, a cupful each of thick sour milk and chopped onions, a teaspoonful of soda, a little cinnamon and nutmeg, enough flour to mix soft and a little salt.

One Egg Cake.—Take one-half cupful of butter, two-thirds cupful of sugar, an egg, one-half cupful sweet milk, a teaspoonful cream tartar, one-half teaspoonful soda, a cupful each of flour and raisins.

This can be used for a layer cake with icing between the layers.

Anna Thompson.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Little Girl and Johnnie Naples.

He Was Only a Rag Doll.

"ONCE upon a time," began daddy, "there was a poor little girl named Nancy whose only real companion was a small rag doll she called Johnnie Naples. She adored this doll even to his name, which she had picked out herself, for, about a year before, a beautiful angel had flown by the window at night and had left the most beautiful little pink and white brother, whom they named Johnnie.

"But it was a cold winter, and Nancy's mother and father were too poor to buy enough coal. The little pink and white brother could not stand the severe cold. Gradually his wee little face became pinched and white, and one winter's night the angel took him away again.

"A few weeks more went by, and one early morning, when there was a gray look over everything, the angel came back and took away Nancy's mother. Nancy knew the angel would take her mother right to the little pink and white brother. But, oh, she was so sad and so terribly lonely! It was then her father came home one day with the doll she named Johnnie Naples."

"Why did she add Naples?" asked Jack.

"Well, to begin with, he was only a little bit of a rag doll and wore a suit of brown trimmed with beads and a fringe. Her father told her the little children living way over in Naples wore just such suits, and so Nancy added Naples to his name.

"Nancy put all her affection upon Johnnie Naples and always had him with her. Even at night she had him beside her on the pillow.

"Her father had hardly bothered about her since her mother had been taken by the angel, and in a short time there came home with him one day a woman with a loud voice who told Nancy that she was now her mother.

"Poor Nancy shivered with fear and drew back at her touch.

"'I'll teach you to be afraid of me,' said the cruel stepmother. 'What's that ridiculous thing the child has?' she added as she spied the doll.

"'It's my beloved Johnnie Naples,' said Nancy, hugging the doll tightly.

"'Your Johnnie Naples? Is the child mad to hug that dirty rag?'

"Johnnie's face was dirty, but he was precious to poor Nancy.

"The cruel stepmother grabbed Johnnie Naples and flung him out of the window.

"Nancy rushed down the stairs and out into the street, where, upon picking up Johnnie Naples, she saw a fine coach with a golden fairy in it. She picked up the sobbing Nancy, who was clutching Johnnie frantically, and said, 'We'll all go to fairyland, and you need have no stepmother, and we will see that you and Johnnie are always happy.'"

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

7705

For business or general wear a bit of drapery is quite permissible.

No. 7705 is an excellent model for a separate skirt. Plaid or tweed would be appropriate—cloth or velveteen.

It is a four gored skirt, with a slightly raised waistline. There are several plaits at the waistline in back, and the bottom of each of the side gores is plaited to give the draped effect.

In buying material for suits or skirts, if it be all wool, part wool or linen, care must be taken to have it properly shrunken before making up.

By shrinking it at home it is quickly and easily done, and you will then be sure that the finished garment will not spot if you are caught in the rain nor will it lose its shape.

For shrinking wool material the following is an excellent method:

Take unbleached muslin about a yard wide and the same length as your material, wet it and place in the fold of the goods. Roll on a board and let it remain for about two and a half hours; then press dry with a moderately hot iron.

This skirt may be made in size 24 with 2½ yards of 42 inch material.

The pattern is cut in 5 sizes, 22 to 30.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state right size, passing the tape tightly around the smallest part of the waist and loosely around the fullest part of the hips.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon, and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

XMAS FOR BLUEJACKETS.

New York, Dec. 22—The five thousand officers and men aboard the four United States battleships now in port are looking forward to a merry Christmas. The battleships are the Utah, Florida and Arkansas and the flagship Wyoming. Nearly $200,000 has been dealt out to the officers and men by the paymasters and from this huge sum the men are making liberal contributions for the Xmas spreads. Six and eight course menus will be the order for the Christmas dinners aboard the ships. In the meantime the bluejackets are enjoying liberal shore leave. During the entire week all but absolutely necessary work will be dispensed with on the ships.

The Poinsetta Centrepiece Design.

The poinsetta has become one of the characteristic emblems of the Christmas season and is used extensively for decorating various pieces of embroidery as well as other articles. It has indeed taken the place of holly in many homes.

This simple poinsetta design for a centerepiece would make an attractive and welcome gift for Christmas. It is twenty-two inches in diameter and may be embroidered in white or in several shades of red on white or natural colored linen.

The flowers may be developed in Kensington - stitch, outline - stitch, French knots, solid work or long and short-buttonhole-stitch and the centres in solid work or French knots. The scalloped edge should be worked in buttonhole-stitch in white or mercerized cotton to match the linen. Fast colored mercerized cotton should be used instead of silk on washable materials as it launders much better.

The flowers may be cut apart and re-arranged for use on table-covers, runners and bags, or if a large centre-piece is desired, clunY lace to match the linen may be button-holed to the edge.

Pattern number 14455 will be supplied to readers for 15 cents.

THE CIRCUS IS HERE!

GET YOUR TICKETS

Eight hundred Plainfield girls took advantage of the offer made a few months ago by the Plainfield Daily Press through which they secured the "Mother's darling and Nurse Marie" paper dolls. The Press was complimented on all sides for furnishing that delightful family, and because of the great interest, the publishers have been seeking some other equally attractive cut-out for the young people. We have found it in the most original and attractive article of the kind that has ever been put on the market.

DING-A-LING CIRCUS comes on a big sheet of linen, and contains ALL OF THE WELL KNOWN ANIMALS found in the menagerie of the big circus, ready to cut out and paste so that they will practically be indestructible. Then there is a CIRCUS CAGE, drawn by two horses, TWO CLOWNS, and last but not least, TWO DOLLS, a boy and a girl, which can be cut out, sewed together, and then stuffed, so that they will stand up and view the animals which will make a

if they are spaced a foot apart. There are admission tickets, a big banner with the name of the circus, and natural history lectures telling all about everyone of the animals in the circus.

HOW TO GET THE CIRCUS

Cut out the admission ticket which will be found in today's Plainfield Daily Press, and bring it with only 48 cents, the actual cost of handling and distribution, to the Daily Press office, and get the two dolls, the parade wagon, all the animals, printed in life-like colors on everlasting cloth, all the admission tickets, lectures, and other things which go to make this the most remarkable offer ever made to the young folks by a Plainfield newspaper.

Nothing would make a more attractive Christmas present than DING-A-LING CIRCUS.

Furs of Quality at Very Reasonable Prices

CHARLES KURTZMAN'S 178 E. Front St.

Having saved cent by cent to accumulate an amount of money to buy a Christmas present, would you not like now to be advised, so that you can buy it right? Nothing could be more acceptable—handsome or serviceable for a Christmas gift than Furs, especially when you buy from a place which gives you for your dollar two dollars' worth of value; a place which remains in town for years, not for days. We have the largest stock in Furs, any kind you may wish, Lynx, Mink, Mole, Fox, in natural, black and Isabella; and any other kind of Furs existing in the market and which your heart desires.

There is no use of going out of town when you can get real quality and latest style, where a guarantee of each garment goes out from the place.

Come and convince yourself. Be sure you are right and then go ahead. Go to the only place which has been six years in town, a claim which no other store can truthfully make.

OPENING of the 1914 CHRISTMAS CLUB

The new Club will open December 29th, 1913, and will run for 50 weeks.

Members may be enrolled between December 29th, 1913, and January 10th, 1914.

Not only has the Christmas Club been popular but it has become so necessary to the people of this city that The Plainfield Trust Company has decided to continue it for another year. The card system will again be used, each member receiving a card on which all payments will be punched and a duplicate of which will be retained in this office.

IN THE 1914 CLUB THERE WILL BE THREE CLASSES

as follows:

CLASS 5 Pay 5c the first week, 10c the second, and increase your payment each succeeding week by 5c. The last payment in Class 5 will be $2.50 and the amount of the check will be $63.75, with interest at 2%.

CLASS 5-A Pay $2.50 the first week, $2.45 the second, and decrease your payment each succeeding week by 5c. The last payment in Class 5-A will be 5c and the amount of the check will be $63.75, with interest at 2%.

CLASS 100 Pay $1.00 each week and at the close of the Club receive a check for $50.00, with interest at 2%. Class 100 was so popular in 1913 that a special feature will be made of it in the new Club.

PAYMENTS MAY BE MADE EACH WEEK OR MAY BE MADE IN ANVANCE.

A payment due on Monday of a given week may be made any time before the close of business on Saturday of that week, without loss of interest.

CLASSES 2 AND 2-A

have been discontinued for the reason that those who have learned to save in these small amounts are now anxious to progress to the 5c Classes. When once the habit of saving has been aequired, it will be found practically as easy to make the payments called for in Classes 5 and 5-A as those in Classes 2 and 2-A, and at the close of the Club the amount of the check received will be

OVER TWO AND A HALF TIMES LARGER.

TUNGSTEN LIGHTS FOR THE BOROUGH

North Plainfield Council Makes Contract for Better Street Lighting.

FOR FIVE YEAR TERM

386 Twenty-five Candle Power Tungstens to Be Used—Minor Business Also Takes up the Time of the Solons "Across the Brook."

The North Plainfield Council, at its meeting last night, made a five years' contract with the Public Service Corporation for street lighting in the borough the terms being in conformity with the Public Utilities Act and based on the standard form of contract. The borough will have 386 twenty-five candle-power Tungsten lamps, replacing the old-style incandescent lights now being used. The company will make an allowance of 2½ per cent. as a consideration for the five-year contract, instead of the ½ per cent. as before, being a saving of $118 annually to the borough.

The company also agrees to paint all of the electric light poles in the borough. It has notified the Council that new fixtures will be installed and the system will be completed on or before April 1, 1914. Councilman Allan Cowperthwait, chairman of the lighting committee, explained the details of the new contract, telling of the advantages to the borough by the change.

The clerk was authorized to sign warrants for bills amounting to $2,147.28 and Judge Isaac P. Runyon, of special counsel in the borough's tax appeal, was allowed $75 to cover the cost of subpoenas and the serving of same as well as other incidental expenses. Borough Engineer H. C. Van Emburgh was instructed to make the necessary changes in the borough map to meet the requirements of the county and State tax boards.

Thomas Lindsey complained that stray dogs had killed several of his turkeys and he is seeking damages. This was referred to counsel. A certificate of exemption was granted William A. Wilson, as fireman and the New York Telephone Company notified the Council that it had appealed to the county tax board for a reduction of its 1913 assessment.

Interesting reports covering the past month were presented at the monthly meeting of the trustees of the Charity Organization Society, last night. Miss Mabelle Phillips, secretary for the society, who is in charge of this work, gave the following statistics showing the amount of work accomplished:

173 cases investigated and helped; 244 persons called on for aid, 343 applications for aid, 450 letters written, 43 families given relief, 18 persons placed in institutions, 9 of which were sent to tubercular institutions; 4 children sent to private homes, 5 children were furnished with glasses, 35 tubercular cases given help and relief, 35 persons investigated for the hospital clinics.

There was a total of $336.24 expended, of which $53.27 was for Thanksgiving dinners, $52 for board of children, $45 for clothing, $36 for milk, $28 for rent, $25 for provisions, $14 for transportation, while eighteen prescriptions were filled gratuitously by local druggists. They each contribute $5 a year and the work of filling prescriptions is divided among the druggists.

The trustees gave a vote of thanks to the Plainfield Daily Press for its assistance during the past year.

NON-UNION MEN HAD TO LEAVE THEIR JOBS

Trouble Caused When Labor Union Agent Found Them at Work at Ice Co.'s House.

Labor troubles developed at Watchung yesterday, when William Lunger, agent for the Building Trades' Council, found that two non-union men were working among a force of union men employed by William H. Kirch in the rebuilding of the ice company's houses. Lunger said that if the two men remained on the job he would call off all the union men. Andrew Wilson, representing the ice company, asked Lunger for permission to employ the men to sheath the inside of the buildings. The request was granted with the understanding, it is said, that when the work was finished they were to quit.

Lunger says he got a report this morning that the two men were working on the outside of the building and that he gave notice that he would call the union men off at once unless the non-union men left the job. His request was complied with and the union men continued at their work.

BIDS FAREWELL TO AN EFFICIENT SOLON

Mayor Clark Thanks Councilman Woolston for His Services to the Borough.

Councilman Lemuel B. Woolston last night attended his last meeting of the North Plainfield Council in an official capacity and he witnessed the taking of the oath of that office by his successor, Ulysses G. Tingley. When the new year arrives Mr. Woolston will have ended his third term as a "borough father." Elected councilman for the first time many years ago he served two years under Mayor Wilson and one year under Mayor Hegeman. Elected again in November, 1907, he assumed the responsibilities of office in January, 1908, and his able, efficient and earnest service earned for him an unsought for re-election and on January 1, 1911, he began the term which will end Wednesday, December 31.

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., and Councilman Alexander Milne, who were re-elected at the November election, also took the oath of office at last night's meeting of the Council, being sworn in by Judge Isaac P. Runyon. Mayor Clark made such an able executive and gave so much of his time to the duties of the office in 1912 and 1913, that no party placed a candidate in the field against him during the last campaign and he received the unanimous endorsement of the borough voters. The same can be said of Mr. Milne, who has shouldered the responsibilities of chairman of many important committees.

Previous to the adjournment of the Council, Mayor Clark in a short address thanked Mr. Woolston on behalf of the borough for his long service and the retiring member responded appropriately. The Mayor also welcomed Mr. Tingley.

TO SETTLE RIGHT TO FREE LIGHTING

City Will Appeal to Public Utilities Commission for a Decision.

GAS AND ELECTRIC

P. S. C. Serves Notice That After Feb. 1 Municipality Must Pay For Service—Corporation Counsel Instructed to Start Proceedings.

Following a detailed explanation by Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed of the negotiations that have been going on between the city and the Public Service Corporation regarding the new electric light contract for Plainfield and the installation of a new street lighting system, in which the company gave notice that in accordance with the Public Utilities Act it would not furnish any free lighting to the city after February 1 next, the Common Council at an adjourned meeting, last night, authorized Mr. Reed to institute such proceedings as were necessary to determine the city's rights.

This action was taken for the purpose of settling the question as to whether the company can be compelled to furnish the free lighting under the terms of the contract of 1898, when it agreed to do this as a part of the consideration for certain rights. Mr. Reed said that the company was of the opinion that by continuing to give the free lighting it was violating a State law, while he was of the opinion that there are two sides to the question.

Councilman Francis J. Blatz introduced the subject and then requested Mr. Reed to make the explanation. The latter said that negotiations had been going on for some time between the city and the company, in which the latter had agreed to make the changes in the street lighting system as requested, but that it contended that it was no longer lawful to furnish the free lighting under the Public Utilities Act.

Consequently the company had written Mayor Percy H. Stewart to the effect that on and after February 1, 1914, it would stop such service, both gas and electric. Mr. Reed thought it to be a matter for decision by the Public Utilities Commission, and if the city is entitled to this service it ought to have it, while on the other hand if it is unlawful the city should not expect to have it continued.

Mr. Reed cited the Perth Amboy case where the city fought for the right of having its firemen and policemen ride on trolley cars without showing a pass and being subject to certain restrictions. He said that the Public Utilities Commission gave a decision in favor of the city which afterwards was reversed by a higher court, but in that case he said the conditions were far different than those here.

Mr. Blatz then introduced the resolution, which was adopted, authorizing Mr. Reed to institute proceedings to determine the city's rights. In the meantime the company will go ahead and make changes, etc., for the new street lighting system. It was authorized to do this as the Council approved the map showing where the new lights are to be located in the business section. There will be twenty-seven 350 candle-power Tungsten lamps on Front street, between Central and Watchung avenues, North avenue, Park avenue from Front street to Fourth street. The incandescent lamps in the residential section will be replaced by higher candle-power Tungstens.

TO RELIEVE POVERTY $302 IS DONATED

For Particularly Distressing Cases the C. O. S. Asked for $350.

Today ends the campaign for the "Special Christmas Fund" of the Charity Organization Society. While the total raised up to noon—$302—closely approaches the minimum of $350 asked for, it will not adequately take care of the four cases selected for particular help. These four cases were chosen by the society as most pressingly in need of financial help. In two of them only a small sum would bring the relief sought. These of course can be provided for from the amount already in hand. The other two are different.

Case No. 2 called for the support of four helpless babies for many weeks. Case No. 4 demanded the support of an invalid girl during her treatment at Bonnie Burn for tuberculosis. Both mean a steady expense for long periods. The entire $350 could be spent on the first alone, though of course it will not be.

Nearly one-fourth of today's total is the result of two large subscriptions. Such generosity is appreciated deeply, but surely a Christmas offering from the people of the city and borough to these four distressed families should be composed of many contributions, and not merely represent the donations of a few who would give liberally to any charitable cause. Probably every one of our readers knows of some one who would welcome his aid at this time, and doubtless many are helping their less fortunate neighbors to the utmost of their ability. Still if each would give to this fund even a little, the amount required would be far exceeded.

For the last time, the society asks each reader of this article to send to its office at the Babcock building whatever he can for these four needy families. Those who have given have given generously, but many have not. Are you one? If so, won't you do it today?

Checks should be drawn to the Charity Organization Society, 323 Babcock building, telephone 103.

TO SELL REAL ESTATE OF THE INTERBOROUGH

William R. Wilcox, trustee in bankruptcy, will make application for an order to sell the real estate of the Interborough Realty Company at public or private sale and to fix the compensation of the appraisers. This application will be made on Tuesday, December 30, at 11 o'clock in the office of Peter B. Olney, referee in bankruptcy, at 68 William street, New York. Objections to this procedure can be made at that time.

The company, in which there are a number of Plainfield bondholders, went into bankruptcy several months ago and since then the local bondholders have been trying to raise their shtare of the total amount required to carry the mortgage on the property for a year or two. J. Fred MacDonald and Francis J. Blatz were appointed to represent the Plainfielders in the matter. The holdings of this company are said to be valued at one million dollars.

REPORTS PRESENTED

Court to Be Asked to Appoint Commissioners to Assess Benefits and Damages For Recent Street Improvement Work.

Through a resolution offered by Councilman F. E. Mygatt at last night's meeting of the Common Council, the court will be requested to appoint commissioners for the assessment of benefits in connection with the improvement of certain streets throughout the city. A map was also presented of Sumner and Emerson avenues with the idea of having the same accepted by the city.

Resolutions offered by Councilman C. C. Randolph and adopted, authorized the city treasurer, W. F. Arnold, to purchase $4,000 4 per cent. school bonds out of the sinking fund, at par with interest, and also authorized that the balance of the water investigation account, $7,423.61, be returned to the general fund and that the balance of the sewer maintenance account be carried over to 1914.

F. C. Langhorne, in a petition, objected to the cost of macadamizing the gutter in front of his property on East Seventh street, claiming that the expense was to be $5 a property, whereas a bill for double that amount had been rendered. This matter was referred.

J. S. Ellis petitioned for a light on Arlington avenue. This was referred and the bond of Constable George Yorke was recorded. Councilman-elect Charles C. Graves presented his resignation as a call man in the fire department and it was accepted. The usual form of notice was served on the city by the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company and A. M. Griffen in regard to their claims against Michael Garafone, the sewer contractor, and they were filed.

Overseer of the Poor Garret T. Dunham reported a total expenditure in his department of $83.827, $172.72 being for December. Horace G. Adams, clerk of the District Court, reported receipts for the past month of $193.27, expenditures of $53.67, with a balance of $139.60. Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett reported the granting of eleven sewer permits during the past month.

Councilman W. L. Gloak, who retires this year, reported back all communications regarding the municipal collection and disposal of garbage and ashes, with the explanation that he thought such a system would be an expensive luxury for Plainfield and did not favor it. He suggested that the city give the Board of Health a larger appropriation and let that body take care of this work.

Councilman Leighton Calkins wanted to know whether that was the report of the public affairs committee, to which Mr. Gloak said that it was his own personal opinion. In answer to a question, Mr. Gloak added that the committee had no report to make.

The Council adjourned to meet on Monday night, December 30, when all business for the year will be concluded preparatory to the 1914 body taking hold of the reins of city government. Reports from the various city departments will be presented at that time.

The soloists will be Miss Elizabeth St. Ives, soprano; Miss Leontine de Ahna, contralto; Miss Jessie Haynes, contralto; George H. Smith, tenor; William Holmes, baritone. Howard M. Case is the organist and choirmaster.

MIDNIGHT SERVICE.

Following the annual custom a midnight service will be held at St. Stephen's church, tomorrow night, which will be in charge of Rev. W. E. L. Ward, rector. The choir will be present and sing special selections and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

MET MISS GOUGH AT CHARMING DANCE

Delightful Social Event at the Park Club Attended by Some 200.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Gough, of Franklin place, gave a charming debutante dance at the Park Club, last night, in honor of their daughter, Miss Gwendolyn Gough, who recently was introduced at a reception held at her home. There were about two hundred guests, including a number from out of town. Mr. and Mrs. Gough and Miss Gough received their friends.

The clubhouse was elaborately decorated for the affair, the color scheme being appropriate to the holidays, with a profusion of cedars, evergreen roping and red poinsetta. The stage was arranged to represent a flower garden, behind which VanEps Brothers, who furnished the music, were seated.

The dance numbers were all of the popular kind and during an intermission near midnight supper was served by Henry Johnson, the club steward. The dancing was continued until a late hour.

LOCAL FIRE LADDIES ENJOYED PIG ROAST

Big Time at Headquarters When the Prize Shote was Carved up.

The spirit of Christmas prevailed at Fire Headquarters on East Second street, last night, when the members of the various companies housed in the building, together with a few friends, enjoyed a roast pig supper. Merriment of all kinds accompanied its disposal, affording the men whose work denies them the social freedom enjoyed by others. Chief T. O. Doane was the guest of honor.

The fine, fat, shote which was the "big noise" at the gathering, was purchased from "Mayor" Tune Melick, of Fluckemin. Tommy Timbo was given the contract to roast the young porker properly.

Assistan Chief Andrew Jennings officiated as carver. After the appetites of all had been satiated, and informal program whiled away a couple of hours. The contributors included Martin Connaughton, whose rich, baritone voice delighted all with two solos; Paul Adams, giving a recitation of "Fighting the Flames With the Brave Boys of Callicoon;" and James O'Keefe, who delighted all with fancy step-dancing. There were also speeches galore.

The affair was arranged and conducted by a committee composed of James Fitzpatrick, Harry Wierenga and David Keiderling.

ASKS EXEMPTION FROM TAXATION

Local Elks' Lodge Contends It's a Charitable Organization.

APPEAL IS DULY FILED

Total Taxes Amount to $381 and Union County Board is Requested to Exempt it of Payment—Other Lodges Take Same Action.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. Elks, through its counsel, V. W. Nash, Jr., has filed with the Union County Board of Taxation a notice of appeal from taxation on its property here, following the example of other Elk lodges in New Jersey. The basis for the appeal is that the lodge is a charitable organization and as such should be exempt from taxation according to the act under which it was incorporated in 1905.

The total tax assessed on the local lodge is $381.01, the assessments being $4,075 on land, $16,000 on building, and $300 personal. This assessment was levied at a time when the building was in course of construction during the summer.

The appeal is made in accordance with the act which exempts colleges, hospitals, churches, etc., which provide moral, mental improvement to man and which are established for religious, charitable and benevolent purposes. It is set forth in the lodge's certificate of incorporation that it was established to encourage and practice true charity and benevolence, encourage manly friendship and kindly intercourse and to protect and assist members and their families.

In order that a decision on the new law governing the exemption of the property of benevolent societies may be made by the State Board of the Equalization of Taxes, the County Board of Taxation has dismissed the appeal of Trenton Lodge, No. 105, B. P. O. E., for a cancellation of the assessment against the Elks' Home on North Warren street.

PASS ORDINANCE TO WIDEN MADISON AVE.

Thoroughfare to Be Broadened Between Front Street and the Bridge.

Final steps in the plans to widen Madison avenue from Front street to the railroad bridge, were taken at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night, when the ordinance calling for that improvement was adopted on third reading. It awaits the signature of Mayor Percy H. Stewart to become effective. This improvement has been planned in the face of opposition on the part of Harry Dreier and representatives of the Dreier estate, their objection being that it would materially reduce the value and income of the Dreier property at Front street and Madison avenue.

The plans call for a uniform width of twenty-five feet, exclusive of sidewalks, and is intended to relieve the congested traffic on that thoroughfare. It will mean the removal of a number of old shacks on the northside of the avenue and it is believe will result in a general improvement making it a much better business street. There was some talk of extending one of the trolley lines through the avenue to connect with Fourth street, thus bringing the local trolleys through the main street of the city and relieving the congestion at Front and Somerset streets, but whether that will be done is problematical. Charles H. Hand and others were among those who petitioned to have the improvement made.

ELKS' ENTERTAINMENT.

Plainfield lodge of Elks' annual entertainment for the poor children of the city will be held at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. ACCUSED OF MURDER, WILL SEEK TO PROVE AN ALIBI

Jersey City, Dec. 23.—On trial for his life before Judge Tennant, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Bernard Fagan of Tenth and Erie streets, who is charged with killing Joseph Crowley, ten years old, when he fired revolver shots into a crowd of boys in front of his home the night of October 21, will testify in his own behalf.

Fagan will try to establish an alibi that will show he was asleep in bed when the shooting occurred.

The first witness against Fagan yesterday was John O'Donnell, twelve years old, of 236 Tenth street, who positively identified the defendant as the man who did the shooting. He told how a crowd of boys, including young Crowley and himself, was playing around a bonfire when Fagan came out of his house and fired the shots. Olexand Sempson, counsel for Fagan, announced that an alibi would be the defense.

MO-JO White Chewing Gum

Talk No. 24

DAINTY, DELICIOUS MO-JOs are not merely white on the outside—they are white through and through.

Break one open and see how different it is from any other chewing gum.

It is white because it is clean. It was made from thoroughly clean crude gum.

It was made by a special process—the only one yet devised for taking the dirt out of the crude gum.

MO-JO's whiteness is the badge of its intrinsic wholesomeness and goodness.

It is the chewing gum that is dainty and different.

NEW MARKET SEES XMAS ENTERTAINMENT

The annual Christmas entertainment was given at the New Market Grammar School this afternoon. The first part of the program was a short two-act play, "Hilltop and Hillfoot," a dramatization by Nora Archibald Smith of an old German tale. Its preparation was directed by Walter Elwood. The cast:

Frida, Evelyn Dix; Katrina, Cora Elliott; the Mother, Adele Kroohs; the dog, Karo, Charles Meeker; Santa Claus, August Morris; Ebbo, Gladys Haight; Elsa, Frances Mitze.

A folk dance by Frida and Katrina, a quaint stage setting and a picturesque set of costumes contributed to the effectiveness of the play.

The second part of the program was a costume drill and a series of tableaux, "The Little Grandmothers," under the direction of Miss Edith V. GaNun. Old time knitting needles, tea-cups, etc., are used with good effect. The third part was another two-act play entitled "Kris Kringle's Workers," under the direction of Miss Harriet Gregory. The fourth part was a one-act playlet, "The Boastful Weathervane," under the direction of Miss Margaret M. Sickles.

The last part was a one-act play, "A Daughter of Dixie," presented by the graduating class. The scene is laid on a southern plantation. Special credit is due Fred vonMinden and Herman Bieler for working out the original idea from which the play had grown. Walter Elwood, principal, directed all the preparations for this play. The cast:

Virginia Fairview, "A Daughter of Dixie," Florence Curtis; June Layton, her cousin, Ida Walker; Capt. Robert Steele, of the Union Army, Fred von Minden; Vincent Colfax, a Confederate scout, Herman Bieler; Sambo, a slave, Walter Niemann; Serg. Cooper, of the Union Army, Arthur Slattery; Private Ferguson, Charles McMahon; other privates, Clifford Nagle, Ernest Moya.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McVoy, of West Fourth street, will be guests of honor this afternoon, at a dinner party to be given in honor of their thirteenth wedding anniversary by the latter's sister, Mrs. George W. Barlow, of 230 Riverside Drive, New York. Mr. and Mrs. David Shea, of Arcola, will also be guests. The dinner will be followed by a theatre party at Cohan's playhouse this afternoon, and Mr. and Mrs. Barlow will give a supper at the opening of the new Rector restaurant tonight.

THE CREATOR OF VAUDEVILLE.

B. F. Keith Inaugurated the Continuous Performance Thirty Years Ago.

The thirtieth anniversary of the foundation of vaudeville by B. F. Keith in Boston, in 1883, was celebrated at all of the Keith theaters early in December. The theater auditoriums were decorated, and special programs were presented.

Thirty years ago Mr. Keith opened a tiny store show in Boston. Today he is the president of the United Booking Offices, the greatest consolidation of money and power in the show world. It is estimated that the weekly payroll exceeds $500,000.

In his first venture, despite limited space, Mr. Keith introduced many of the first vaudeville artists of the day.

B. F. KEITH.

His success enabled him to enlarge the space of his first amusement place, which was called the Gayety Museum, and it was here that he inaugurated the continuous performance, an idea that he had in mind for same time. He conceived the idea that if a performance was begun at a stated hour and was continued without intermission through the day and evening there would be no waiting on the part of the patrons and they could choose their own time.

The idea proved an immediate success, and ere long Mr. Keith was enabled to move into larger and more suitable quarters. He secured a lease of the Bijou theater, almost next door to the site of the original enterprise. Mr. E. F. Albee, now Mr. Keith's manager in all his various enterprises, had become assistant to Mr. Keith in the winter of 1883, soon after the first opening. When Mr. Keith decided to build his Boston theater Mr. Albee was placed in full charge. When the Boston theater was opened in 1894, a theater of ample proportions, the value of the continuous vaudeville idea was finally proved. Mr. Keith is now the proprietor of theaters all over the east and middle west, and more people attend vaudeville performances today than any other kind of theatrical entertainment.

ACCEPTED DESIGN FOR THE SCHENLEY MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN.

Andrew Carnegie contributed $40,000, and the balance was raised by popular subscription.

The accepted design, as shown in the illustration, was submitted by Victor D. Brenner of New York city, who designed the Lincoln penny. He won out in a competition in which there were sixteen other contestants and was awarded a cash bonus of $1,000. The bronze sculptural group will rest on a base eight feet in diameter and will stand twenty-five feet high.

FIGHT!

No other course could be taken by the Common Council than to appeal to the Public Utilities Commission for a determination of the city's rights when the Public Service Corporation has served notice that it proposes to abrogate its agreement with the municipality whereby free lighting service be given for all public buildings. The company holds that it is unlawful to provide this service free, while the city contends that as it is a part of a contract for which there is a consideration the utility corporation cannot thus violate the city's rights.

XMAS SPIRIT.

As a result of its appeal through these columns, the Charity Organization Society has received contributions totalling $302 to be used in extending relief to a few poverty-stricken families at this season of the year. While the response is gratifying, it was hoped that at least $350 would be raised. Though the campaign is closed, still any who wish to follow the spirit of Christmas may do so by sending a check to the C. O. S. to be added to this fund.

WHY NOT TUTTLE?

Should James E. Martine decide that he does not desire re-election in 1916, the Union county Democrats might do well to support Congressman William E. Tuttle for the United States Senatorship. As a member of the House, the Westfield man has made an excellent record and as an United States Senator he would "fill the bill."

PLAINFIELD SAFE.

While the White Slave motion picture films may or may not be shown in other Jersey cities, there is one thing certain and that is they will never be on view here. Neither the people nor the authorities would tolerate them and a still better reason is that Proctor and Sanderson would not so degrade themselves.

TWO VACANCIES.

In his annual report to the State Board of Education, Commissioner Kendall urges the elmination of politics in public school affairs. Plainfield has been quite fortunate in this respect and we do not hesitate to say that party politics cuts no figure in appointments to the Board of Education. Why should it?

Glancing over the list of declared aspirants for the postmastership, we observe quite a number who have been keeping themselves in readiness for years to answer the people's call for public service.

The contributing editor for Saturday's issue will be Samuel B. Howe, Jr., professor of history at the Plainfield High School.

Don't consider your Christmas duty done until you have sent some small contribution to the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis League for the relief of the victims of the Great White Plague.

And will no taxpayer be thoughtful enough to express to the retiring members of the Common Council some word of appreciation of their valuable and self-sacrificing services?

Weather man says this is the shortest day of the year, but the chubby West End avenue sage insists that the Day after Christmas is the "shortest" for him.

If Mona Lisa could only come to life, she wouldn't have to worry about the high cost of living. In fact, she would make Hetty Green look like a piker.

There are sixty-four candidates for the postmastership, but there is only one job.

UNION CO.'S MONEY STRONGLY GUARDED

Under the guard of two husky detectives, the city's share of the million dollars paid over to County Collector Leavitt yesterday by the tax collectors and treasurers of the various county municipalities was delivered to his office. The amount was $390,213.28. Before the close of banking hours all of the other amounts will have been received. The law is very strict in its provisions about turning over this money each year on the date specified, and if any tardiness is shown by any of the municipal collectors, they are liable to severe censure or heavy fines.

The amounts received from the municipal collectors by Mr. Leavitt were as follows: Plainfield, $168,659.17; Summit, $71,959.04; Linden Township, $61,187.00; Rahway, $43,060.40; Westfield, $57,000; Cranford, $38,553.43; Clark Township, $6,002.28; Fanwood Township, $10,078.68; Fanwood Borough, $3,885.07; Garwood, $9,893.58; Kenilworth, $6,976.40; Hillside, $10,976.59; Mountinside, $2,904.19; Linden Borough, $7,765.49; New Providence Township, $2,551.47; New Providence Borough, $3,751.26; Roselle, $21,127.37; Roselle Park, $21,044.63; Springfield, $7,057.33; Union, $13,204.62.

BOROUGH POLICE HOLD ALLEGED BLACKHANDER

Antonio Rosa, the Italian, who was arrested in North Plainfield, yesterday by Chief Marshal Weiss, is held at police headquarters pending further investigation. The prisoner claims to be a wine salesman. Through Enrico Ivernizzi, of Hoboken, a man by the name of Monteforte, a friend of the prisoner, will come here today. He has engaged Robert Newton Crane to secure the release of the prisoner.

The police are of the opinion that Rosa is a member of a "blackhand" gang, and it was the suspicion aroused by him and his companion, who escaped, that led to his arrest in the borough. He speaks poor English. Peter Berry and Antonio Santo, who caused Rosa's arrest, claim that the stranger wanted to be directed to a "priest" on Watchung avenue, but it is now said they misunderstood the man.

PRISONER TAKES APPEAL.

Through his counsel, John P. Owens, Antonio Jarzabinski, of Cottage place, who was recently sentenced by City Judge DeMeza to spend 60 days in the county jail, on a charge of being intoxicated and disorderly and resisting arrest, has appealed. The case will be argued January 2 before Judge Connolly in the Court of Common Pleas in Elizabeth. The prisoner was arrested by Patrolman Muir and offered resistance, biting the policeman on the hand.

DINNER FOR DEBUTANTE.

Mrs. Francis deLacey Hyde, of Mountain avenue, the borough, will give a dinner tomorrow for Miss Katherine Ginna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ginna, of Watchung avenue, who was recently introduced to society. The guests to the number of about twenty will include intimate friends of Miss Ginna.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mulford, of Morristown, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Mulford, of Division street, have returned home.

Carl R Sebring, a blue jacket on the U. S. S. Constellation, is spending the Christmas holidays with relatives here.

ACT AUTHORIZES FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF WIRES.

Burleson Cites Statute In Telegraph and Telephone Recommendation.

Government ownership of the telegraph and telephone lines of the United States is urged in the annual report of Postmaster General Burleson, who now has the draft of a bill before him designed to bring about the transfer of these enormous interests from private to public hands.

The bill Mr. Burleson has under consideration has been drawn by Representative David J. Lewis of Maryland, the father of the parcel post legislation. His bill, however, provides only for the acquiring at first by the government of the telephone lines of the country, long distance and local.

The Lewis scheme is to equip the telephone lines of the country in such a way that they can be used also in a telegraph service. It proposes, then, to have the federal government undertake the conduct of a regular telegraph business as well as the management of the immense telephone system of the country. In other words, Mr. Lewis would have the government enter actively into competition with the existing telegraph lines.

The postmaster general contends that the government has legislative authority to take over the telegraph and telephone lines. He insists that this authority is contained in a statute passed by congress in 1886. Further action by congress would, of course, be necessary to authorize the immense bond issue that would be necessary to carry out this great undertaking.

"The indication of largely increased postal revenues," says Mr. Burleson, "justifies a serious consideration at this time of the subject of adding the telegraph and telephone as a part of our postal service."

BETTERMENT OF THE RACE.

Object of National Conference to Assemble Next Month.

The national conference on race betterment to be held at Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 8 to 12, has as its ultimate purpose the perfecting of the human race. Intermediately it contemplates gradual betterment of living conditions, the achievement of increased human efficiency and higher standards of physical and mental development.

The much discussed eugenics movement, the well defined feminist movement and correlated topics will also be considered. During the conference there will be a comprehensive mental and physical classification of several hundred school children, which will take into consideration the effect of heredity and environment.

The organization of a national body to continue the work inaugurated by the conference itself will be effected. This body, it is expected, will arrange for annual meetings.

WARNINGS OF FROST.

Telephones In Idaho Tell In Advance of Crop Dangers.

To guard against damage to its crops of fruit by sudden frosts a large orchard company in Idaho has installed a novel system for giving frost warnings by telephone. Thermometers are located north, east, south and west of the orchard area, and give a signal when the temperature drops to a certain predetermined point. This gives notice at the main office of the company, indicating not only the fact that a frost is imminent, but also from which direction it is coming.

Following this signal, the several orchard men in the affected district are immediately notified by telephone.

URGE FATHERS AND SONS TO BECOME ACQUAINTED.

Cleveland, O., announces a "father and son" movement. The object is to promote a closer understanding and a spirit of comradeship between fathers and their sons. The various aims of the movement are:

To help fathers and sons to understand each other.

To interest fathers in the outside influences their sons meet, so that they can help them to avoid evils.

To break down the barriers that often exist between fathers and sons.

To make fathers understand that they must go outside the home to best bring their ideas to bear upon their boys' minds.

LOCAL WOMEN VISIT INSTITUTIONS OF COUNTY

Mrs. Dexter Tiffany, Mrs. Francis deLacey Hyde and Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, of this city, members of the Union county committee of the State Board of Charities and Correction, made an inspection in Elizabeth yesterday of the county jail, police station and almhouse. They were met at the county jail by Sheriff Wright and Warden Charles Dood. They expressed their pleasure over the conditions.

At the police station the committee was met by Captain Murphy, in the absence of the police chief, and here they were given a cordial reception. They were gratified with conditions there and also at the almshouse. The women will visit the county hospitals at a later date as well as other public institutions.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS GIVE PLEASING CANTATA

The rendition of the cantata, "The Song In the Air," and a lecture by the pastor, Rev. Dr. H. L. Polan, were the features of the Christmas entertainment last night in the New Market Seventh-day Baptist church under the auspices of the Sunday-school.

Frank Burdick, as Bernard, the chief shepherd; Miss Edna Burdick, as Selena, his wife, and Forest Randolph, as Gerar, the son, took the principal solo parts. Others in the cast were: Miss Helen Whitford, as Olivet, the shepherd's daughter; Charles Whittier, as Hosea, an old prophet; Adelbert Whitford, as Tiberias, a Roman captain; Byron Burdick, as Timbra, a Roman orderly, and Miss Florence Curtis, as Bera, a bell-ringer. They were assisted by a chorus of Romans, dressed in purple; messengers, in white; and other shepherds in appropriate robes and white beards.

Dr. Polan sang the solo, "Jesus, the Light of the World." As he told in song of the growth of the Christian religion from country to country, a huge map prepared with electric lights, illuminated that portion of the map representing the country mentioned in the song.

The program follows: Song, by the school; Scripture reading, by Miss Jennie Durham; prayer, Jesse Burdick; exercise, by Miss Anna May and Stanley Ryno; recitation, "Grandma's Christmas Gift," by Miss Marion Wilson; recitation, "A Dream," by William Sneider; distribution of gifts; song by the school; cantata; lecture by Dr. Polan; song, "Jesus, the Light of the World," by Dr. Polan, and the school; benediction.

Charles Kennedy, of this city, who has been absent on an extended trip around the country in the interests of a carnival company, has returned home.

MAJOR MARTIN VISITS LOCAL CITIZEN-SOLDIERY

Major William B. Martin, of Elizabeth, made his regular monthly visit at the drill of Co. K, last night. Owing to the condition of the armory, which is undergoing repairs, there was but a short drill. The non-commissioned officers, under the command of Captain Charles A. Peterson, adjourned to the administration offices in the Babcock building, where the monthly school and examination was held.

The non-commissioned officers of Co. K will accompany their superior officers to Elizabeth, tonight, where they will witness the war game by the officers of the First Battalion. There will be no drill of the company next week as the holiday season is being observed by the guards throughout the State. On Friday, January 9, the local company will participate in the First Battalion review which is to be held in the Elizabeth armory under command of Major William B. Martin.

"CONCILATION" WON BEST ESSAY PRIZE

Charles D. Beckman's Paper Considered Best in N. P. H. S. Competition.

Charles D. Beckman, a member of the Senior Class of the North Plainfield High School, was awarded the $5 gold piece at the Christmas exercises last Friday afternoon, offered for the best essay on the subject of "International Conciliation." A number of essays were turned in by students of the High School and after a long session of judging the award committee finally agreed that Beckman's was the best and the composition in full is published below:

"By International Conciliation we mean, simply, that all the nations shall bring their differences to a court of arbitration, composed of representatives from every country, for settlement, just as a private citizen brings his grievances to a court of law and abides by its decision.

"Barbarians were wont to resort to force when settling their difficulties, and 'Might makes Right' was the Alpha and Omega of their law. However, as the ages passed, Man became more civilized, and was led to resort to the law court rather than to his brute strength. At the present time force has no weight in the court of justice and right is the only thing that can make right.

"But, although the plan of conciliation is almost universally adopted by citizens as individuals, the same citizens, collectively, wage war upon one another much as their ancestors did in the dark ages.

"Man, individually, is civilized, but man collectively is a barbarian, and will continue as such as long as might makes right in the settlement of international difficulties.

"Many authorities claim that the best way to keep peace is to be so conspicuously armed that no one will dare to attack you. The sum and substance of this prescription is a direct appeal to fear; the idea is to terrorize your neighbors into respect and friendship.

"Apply this theory to the private citizen's attitude and observe how ludicrous it becomes: For instance, a citizen desires to build a deep and lasting amity between his own home and that of his neighbor, across the way, and to this end, has at each of his windows a loaded gun trained on his neighbor's door—consider the expense and trouble he would be taking to gain something by force which might be much more easily and amiably gained by simply showing a confidence in his neighbor's good intentions. If a citizen should shake his fist in the face of each passer-by, and thus proclaim his desire to be left alone this attitude would appear most ludicrous, but when a body of citizens, under the name of a nation, does precisely the same thing, no one considers it ridiculous and but few consider it the abject folly which it is.

"The expense of the nations in maintaining their armies and navies, even in time of peace, is stupendous and if all the expenditures which are made during one year for the promotion of scientific slaughter should be spent in promoting the public welfare it would mean the dawn of the greatest era of prosperity and progress that man has ever witnessed.

"The annual expenditures of the United States alone, for the support of the army and navy is round numbers $300,000,000. To aid in the comprehension of the magnitude of this vast sum and the appalling waste and loss to the people which it represents I quote a list of some of the services it would give if diverted from the channels of militarism and employed in the arts of peace and civil life. This list was compiled by the Hon. Finly H. Gray, Representative from Indiana.

"'If available for education it would give $10,000,000 to establish and maintain a great national university three times as great as our largest university.

"'It would give $48,000,000 to establish a new university in each State supported annually by a million dollars each.

"'It would give $96,000,000 to establish 100 new public High Schools for each of the States supported annually by $100,000 each.

"'It would give $24,000,000 to establish five new normal schools for each of the States, supported annually by $100,000 each.

"'It would give $21,000,000 to establish thirty new agricultural schools for each of the States, supported annually by $15,000 each.

"'It would give $48,000,000 to the common-school fund, or $1,000,000 annually to the school fund of each of the States.

"'It would give a quarter of a million dollars to each of the States annually for public libraries.'

"The annual cost of the maintenance of the world's military is more than $2,250,000,000, a sum which bewilders the human mind and defies comprehension.

"But the enormous financial loss and the incalculable loss in property which the nations have sustained in war are of small importance compared with the human life sacrificed on the altar of our greatest social and moral evil—war.

"Sorrow has ever followed war and in innumerable homes, joy and sunshine have been dispelled forever by the cruel and relentless hand of war.

"Some have said that war is valuable because it eliminates the unfit. But the unfit, the physical and mental cripples are not the men who answer the call to war. On the contrary it is our choicest manhood, it is our most promising young men who give up their lives in the defense of their country. It is the elimination of the fit rather than the elimination of the unfit.

"Without a doubt the quality and calibre of American manhood was given a decided set-back by our great Civil War, when the young men who were the pride of the country and in whom the country's future was vested, spent five years in exterminating each other.

"The horrible lesson taught by our Civil War was a costly one, and to elucidate further on the horrors of war is out of place when that great national calamity has been history for but fifty years.

"In the mind of the average American no country had a better cause for war than the United States in 1898. And yet there was no issue at stake, no demand America might have made upon Spain that could not have been settled by arbitration. But the headlines of our yellow journals daily screamed for war and vengeance. War was declared and vengeance obtained, but at the cost of $1,000,000,000 and 20,000 lives. Leaving the stupendous financial loss out of consideration, what kind of a civilized or Christian policy is it that obtains vengeance for the loss of 260 lives at the cost of 20,000 lives, and which thirteen years after the war is ended holds an investigation to determine whether or not the war was justified.

"It is time for this wholesale carnage to end. It is time to call a halt to the training of armies and the building of navies. It is time for a great peace movement, and until International Conciliation is universally adopted, the nations of the world can by no means be called civilized."

Sensible Christmas Gifts

The real value of a gift cannot be computed in terms of money alone—utility, interest and lasting beauty are determining factors.

What gift could be more appropriate and acceptable than an Eastern Rug which, in weave and effect, is the same to-day as that carried by the traveller in the Holy Land centuries ago?

The association of locality, and the charm of the old designs, wrought in a fabric of extreme durability and utility, provide for the recipient a source of constant gratification for many years.

Dependable Rugs of the old designs can be supplied at prices ranging from $12.00 upward.

Other Suggestions

Tigers, Polar and Brown Bears, Leopards, Red Fox, Black Wolf, Black and White Goat, White Angora and English Sheepskin Rugs.

'TWAS BARNYARD NIGHT AT PROCTOR'S THEATRE

"Barnyard Night" was observed at Proctor's theatre on West Front street, last night, in connection with the "Country Store" events, specimens of the feathered tribe being the chief attraction for the occasion. The usual amount of amusement was provided by those who were lucky enough to win pigs, geese, ducks, chickens and turkeys and as each was called before the footlights to receive his or her trophies the audience enjoyed a laugh.

The awards last night for the most part were lively barnyard frequenters and some difficulty was experienced by the new owners in getting away with their purchases.

BERLIN IS IN MIDST OF XMAS FESTIVITIES

Berlin, Dec. 23.—Berlin is at the high tide of the Christmas season just now, and there is not, one can be quite sure, a more interesting city in Europe. There is no feature of German life which shows so little change as the Christmas celebration. Except, perhaps, that the givers of presents become more luxurious and the receivers more critical or exacting, one Christmas is precisely like another. Family piety and essential conservation still prevail everywhere, and however little definite religion may remain in the celebrations nothing is stranger than the contrast between the actual temper and occupation of the public and the railing and blasphemy of the Socialist press.

The return of the Crown Prince to Berlin is taken to mean that all differences in the imperial family, if any serious differences have existed are to be forgotten during the Yuletide festivities. The Emperor and his entire family will celebrate Christmas with all the traditional customs. For several weeks the leading shopkeepers of Berlin have been summoned to Potsdam almost every afternoon, in order that their Majesties might have opportunity to select their gifts. In addition to many valuable presents for the members of his family and his favorite relatives among European royalty, the Emperor has gathered together a regular Santa Klaus store of sporting guns, saddlery outfits, scarfpins, jewelled card cases and other appropriate articles to be presented at Christmas time to the many women and men attached to his household.

COLORED TEAMS WILL FIGHT FOR BASKETBALL SUPREMACY

The Oak Junior Club's basketball team and the representatives of the Nonpareil Club will meet in a championship game on Saengerbund Hall court tomorrow night. The two teams are made up of the best colored basketball material in this city and borough and the game will probably be a fast and interesting one.

The lineups:

OAK JUNIORS.		NONPAREIL.
Vaughn	right forward	McCrea
Mann	centre	Daniels
Warwick	right guard	Saunders

Lewis-Lyodd ..... Smith, Venerable substitutes.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 42.

"I'M TIRED of my job. I'm tired of being worked to death. My employers are heartless, and I see nothing to it but a daily grind, with no chance of anything better. Gee, I wish I could get another position!"

That is what a young man, who is a stenographer in the employ of a large corporation, said to me the other afternoon.

"Why don't you keep your eye on the CLASSIFIED columns of the newspapers," I said to him. "Or, better still, why don't you advertise in those columns for a position?"

"The CLASSIFIED?" he said, wonderingly. "What do you mean?" "I told him that I meant the WANT ADS. "The WANT ADS! What are they?"

Here is an instance (and I know of more) of a dissatisfied, disgruntled employe, working away his life in the service of employers whom he cordially dislikes and to whom he has never given and will never be able to give the kind of efficiency that is natural in the man who loves his work.

This young man is wishing for better things. He admitted that he does not read the advertising columns of newspapers, because he "believed that most advertising is a fake anyway and wasn't much use." He promised, however, before I left him, to read the "Help Wanted—Male" columns for a while and to answer any advertisements he might find there for the kind of service he is equipped to give.

Today, as I write this, there are four advertisements for stenographers in the "Help Wanted—Male" columns of one newspaper on my desk, to say nothing of a dozen or more advertisements for office assistants, salesmen, solicitors, etc. Here are at least four opportunities in one day for that young man to connect up with another position—and perhaps a much better one than he now has.

Opportunity, notwithstanding that famous poem by Mr. Ingalls, comes more than once to the man who keeps his eye on the WANT ads.

NAMES GLOUCESTER MAN AS SUPT. OF SALEM SCHOOLS

Trenton, Dec. 23.—With the approval of the State Board of Education Commissioner Calvin N. Kendall has appointed H. C. Dixon, supervising principal of schools in Woodbury, Gloucester county, to succeed Oscar Barr as county superintendent of Salem county. The commissioner has also re-appointed John Enright as county superintendent of Monmouth.

The selection of Mr. Dixon, a resident of Gloucester county, to the superintendency of Salem county was made in accordance with the provisions of the present law, which provides that county superintendents need not be residents of the county which they represent.

There has been some dissatisfaction with the management of school affairs in Salem county, where it has been charged that politics were allowed to influence educational appointments. By selecting a superintendent from another county, it is hoped that factional differences which have been more or less apparent will be eliminated.

They will be offered to you principally by street fakirs, peddlers and the candy departments of some 5 and 10 cent stores. IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Adv.

DANGEROUS RALLY CAUSED A SCARE

Leal School Quintet Annexed Briliant Victory on Y. M. C. A. Court.

DEFEATED CONQUERORS

Staten Island Academy Outfit, Which Trounced the Plainfielders a Week Ago, Were Outplayed by the Locals In Second Contest.

Exhibiting a calibre of basketball that surprised even those who are closely connected with the aggregation, the Leal School basketball team, of this city, defeated the Staten Island Academy team on the local Y. M. C. A. court yesterday afternoon by a count of 24 to 22. Coming back with a seemingly impossible flash of speed against a foe which triumphed the week before by a margin of twenty-eight points, the local private schoolboys played all around their opponents in the first half and when the period ended enjoyed an advantage of 18 to 5.

The visiting clan woke up in the second period of play and came within an ace of trimming the Plainfielders a second time. Fred Krom was the only Plainfielder to score in the second half while the Staten Island youths rang up six field goals and four fouls.

The game was featured by close guarding on the part of both teams and the forwards experienced difficulty in getting the ball away at times. So hard was the battling and so close the rivalry that unintentional fouling was frequent and each side had many opportunities to count from the foul line but wasted a majority of these throws.

Krom and Stewart were the chief scorers for the victors while Pannerly and McKay led the visitor's attack.

MANY YALE MEN ENJOY ATHLETICS.

According to data compiled at Yale 1,230 upper classmen participated in athletic activity during the autumn.

Lawn tennis led, with 145; wrestling was second, with 80; golf had 68 devotees; crew, 64, and football, 55.

It was estimated that 550 students used the gymnasium and swimming pool. About the same proportion was preserved in the freshman class, where 478 students were checked as training for eleven teams or sports.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Schoonmaker, who were recently married, returned home yesterday morning from Bermuda, where they spent their honeymoon.

ALBERT A. BRYNIARSKI.
Captain Y. M. C. A. Basketball Team.

One of the most popular athletes, and at the same time one of the most unassuming and quietest of stars, Bryanirski has become known principally because of his phenomenal work on the basketball court while sporting the Y. M. C. A. colors. Ushered into the athletic world in 1908 in the first annual field and track meet conducted under the auspices of the Stillman School Athletic Association, he has since become an effiecient performer in every branch of sport. In his first meet Brynairski took second prize in the junior all-around championship and this spurred him on to cast his lot in the meet held by the Plainfield High School Athletic Association when he was a freshman in that institution in 1910. In this meet he scored points that helped the freshman team to win the individual class championship of the meet.

While in high school he played on the class baseball team for four years and on the class basketball team for three years, being made a member of the varsity squad in his senior year. He was captain of the class basketball team which won the Interclass League championship in 1912 and his work at guard that year attracted the attention of the first team authorities with the result that he was added to the squad in 1913 and played the same steady, consistent game that he did with the class fives.

Brynairski's basketball career was inaugurated in the Y. M. C. A. in 1909 when Thomas Whitaker was the physical director and he played guard on the Ajax team for three years and is at present captain and guard on the Y. M. C. A. first team. He was elected captain of the Ajax crew as successor to William Peacock in 1912 and led the team last year when it captured the city championship from Hope Chapel.

This year Brynairski is putting up a wonderful game for his team and has rapidly mastered the shooting art so that he is now recognized as the peer of guards in this vicinity. While he is a star at goal prevention he can always be relied upon for needed points.

The first of a series of articles dealing with prominent local athletes is given above in a form that may easily be clipped out for insertion in a scrap book or for framing. One character will be described each day and if each story is filed away the reader will have in his possession a valuable and interesting stock of information concerning his friends when the series ends. Watch for tomorrow's article which will tell how another Plainfield athletic star entered the House of the Elect.

"MAC" SAYS

COLOR SCHEME.

The gents at Plainfield High have a team of varied hue,
Though red has been their color, they are feeling black and blue.

Despite the fact that the Plainfield High School basketball team tossers had been figured as sure losers by many dopester, the red and blue outfit put up a good fight against the more experienced boroughites and deserve all the credit that can be handed out.

Experience played a prominent part in Saturday night's interscholastic match and pointers the Canadians have gained while playing together in previous championship games proved a great help.

Captain Hetfield had a team of strangers on the floor and Peacock was the only man who had done service in a big match previous to Saturday night.

It's hard to imagine anything more lonesome than a Westfield referee crowded in among ten basketball fighters. Although he had to contend with much kicking and a noisy gallery, Martin handled the situation in excellent shape.

Every available inch of space in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. was filled Saturday night and at times the players experienced considerable difficulty in dodging long hat pins and flower gardens that decorated the benches on the "gym" floor. There was plenty of basketball going the rounds, however, and everyone went away with a satisfied look.

A basketball team in Indiana captured a maniac and handed him over to the constable. And yet they let those Plainfield and North Plainfield High School cheer-leaders carry on their work unmolested.

What became of that Plainfield High School cheering section that had been raising the rafters of the gymnasium on West Ninth street in preparation for that game Saturday night?

Captain Blatz has complained of the absence of bowling information in this column of "space fillers." Now that we know that someone reads the heart-to-heart talks herein disposed of we will keep him and his little Elks supplied.

Seriously, however, we have been trying to unearth records that will substantiate the theory that bowling is really a sport. We have thus far been able to ascertain that some sportsmen do the rolling and others have some sport figuring the averages.

Drop in and learn the conditions you have to fulfill in order to get your John Hancock at the head of the list of elect for one week. We can fix anyone up, ability to splinter the wood doesn't count in this game.

Until we engaged in the business of figuring averages we didn't really know what the jumbled-up mess of tabulated figures stood for but we have since learned that it represents that wonderful thing "work."

You have to hand it to those Plainfield "Bills" when it comes to exhibiting that virtue "modesty." Why, their isn't one of the whole quintet who would usurp the honor that goes with the holding of first place in the individual averages. Not even that wood-smashing phenom sporting the name of "Laing."

Plainfield is one place in the Elk's League circuit that the teams like to spend a night in. Seldom is a rival team stripped of all three games. The Queen City "Bills" always give a rival at least one victory to take home.

We, who supply the publicity stuff for those who trample the wooden chutes, have been invited to personally attend one of the League contests in the Watchung avenue home. There's more than one way of returning favors and there are also several methods of putting the soft pedal on nuisances.

The night we go pasturing with the "Hello Bill" herd our relatives will be doing a little impromptu shopping at the black suit counter. It's easy to fall heir to real estate lots of a certain area.

TEAM OF "SUBS" WILL FIGHT FOR A TITLE

Somerset County Basketball Championship Battle in North Plainfield.

The Somerville High School basketball team will appear in Saengerbund Hall tomorrow afternoon to play the North Plainfield High School five in the first game of the series for the championship of Somerset county. Although no league has been formed the title will go to the team that wins the largest percentage of games in the series. Bound Brook and Bernardsville High Schools will also figure in this race.

The borough team has not been defeated yet this year but with only two of the five first team men in the contest tomorrow they will have to go the limit. Van Mater and Dunning will be the only regulars to appear in uniform tomorrow as Burner, Love and Abrams are all working during the vacation. Van Mater, who is acting captain, will have to use Newkirk, Townley and Conroy during the entire game and this will materially weaken the team. The game will begin at 3:30 p. m.

A YOUTHFUL TRAVELER.

Miss Florence Kuhne, of Troy, N. Y., is visiting at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Wendell, of Arlington avenue. Miss Kuhne, who is but ten years old, made the trip from her home to this city, Sunday, without anyone occompanying her.

Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Fountain, who have been living in California for the past three years, returned to Plainfield on Saturday and they will make their home here in the future.

STRONG CAST FOR ALUMNI QUINTET

"Rick," "Shake," "Cupid," "Pidgy" and "Goodey" to Tackle Alma Mater.

A WEIGHTY CONTEST

Schoolboys Will Have to Fight Against Big Odds In Feature Event Thursday Afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. Gym.

A quintet of Plainfield High School Alumni basketball players that will outplay the present schoolboy eleven by a margin of ten pounds to the man has been organized by those interested in graduate athletics to do battle against the present P. H. S. in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, Christmas Day afternoon, as a preliminary to the Y. M. C. A.-Hope Chapel clash for the city championship.

Plainfield High School stars of bygone days have returned to their alma mater for this one contest and the cast of characters announced to take part in the fracas is the best put out in some time by the "has-been" element. Despite the fact that many of the graduate stars have become rusty with age, there is a handful remaining that looks like the real thing and the undergraduate performers will be forced to face great odds in the annual game this year. William Peacock, forward on the red and blue team, will be out of the game Christmas afternoon and Captain Hetfield will be forced to use a substitute in this all-important position.

Jack Ricketts and "Shake" Clarke will take care of the forward positions on the Alumni outfit. Ricketts has been playing regularly with the Scotch Plains Parish House aggregation and up to this year Clarke played with the Grace Church crew. The latter team has disbanded, however and Clarke has been idle for some time.

"Piggy" Bristol, a former P. H. S. guard, and Clifford Vail, otherwise known as "Cupid," will do the work of goal prevention and with these weighty individuals tagging at their heals the light undergraduate forwards will have to travel the limit in order to get in any field goals.

Monroe Good, centre on last year's team, will play the pivot position Snyder, who is light but fast.

LIVE TIPS

The basketball team of the New York University Law School, which was defeated by a one point margin by the local Y. M. C. A. team Thanksgiving Day, administered a 33 to 22 trimming to the Englewood High School quintet Saturday night. Captain Helfant, as usual, was the star, getting nine points from the foul line.

Speaking about the New York University outfit we might say that the Gothamites are due to appear on the Y. M. C. A. court again New Years Day. Captain Helfant and his men are coming here for sweet revenge and the game will probably be a corker.

The Kanway High School quintet, which was beaten by the Y. M. C. A. five Saturday night, won its first game of the season the night before it appeared here, trimming the Christ Church quintet, of New Brunswick, by a count of 35 to 26. George Schweitzer was elected as captain at that time and served in that capacity here Saturday night.

Montclair High School has turned out another fast team of basketball representatives and the quintet is cleaning up on everything that comes its way this season. Included in the list are two of George L. Listman's products, Sheldon Moora and Captain Slocum. Plainfield Y. M. C. A. boys who attended the State camp at Lake Wawayanda will remember these two athletes as a pair of the most prominent fellows at the camp.

Jack Martin's former pals, the Rochester International League baseball club, has again selected Anniston, Ala., as its spring training camp, and Manager John Ganzel will take his men south about March 12. Martin will go with Manager Stallings' Boston Braves this season.

Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, announced in Paris yesterday that the injury he sustained recently to his left arm would necessitate the postponement of his scheduled fight with Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, till March or June. Hard work never did agree with the big smoke.

While dwelling on the subject of colored pugilists we note that Sam Langford, of Boston, was awarded a decision on points over Joe Jeannette, of Hoboken, N. J., in Paris, Saturday night, at the end of a twenty round bout at Luna Park. The two negro scrappers are evidently pulling some of their money making schemes on the French public after being blackballed by American sport promoters. There is a strong bond of sympathy between Messrs. Langford and Jeannette. For instance, if one were to break his arm the other would starve to death.

Manager Colton Corter, of the Battin High School baseball team, has completed a schedule of fourteen games for next season. Westfield High School has been selected as one of the Elizabeth team's opponents.

Plainfield poultry raisers are taking an active interest in the big show which opens in Madison Square Garden next Friday night and many local exhibits will be shipped to the metropolis.

HOLY CROSS CLUB SURPRISED MANY

Football Warriors Held Meeting Last Night and Made Numerous Rewards.

SILVER CUPS FOR TWO

Coach P. V. Martin Awarded $25 In Gold For His Work—All of Those Connected with the Club Were Remembered.

Christmas spirit prevailed at the meeting of the Holy Cross football club held in the Frost building on Park avenue, last night, and numerous acknowledgements were given by the officials of the organization for assistance rendered the team by individuals during the season. The quality of sweaters to be purchased by the club for the members of the eleven came up for a general discussion last night and as a result the team will not be able to get its new sweaters until after the holidays. The style and quality has now been definitely decided upon and Manager Doyle has been authorized to make the purchase.

The committee selected to purchase the gifts decided upon by the club at a previous meeting had their purchases on hand last night and the presentations were made by Manager Doyle with appropriate speeches in each case. Coach P. V. Martin, to whom a large amount of the success of the team can be attributed, was given a $25 gold piece and responded with a short speech of acceptance.

George F. White, owner of Cricket Field, the gridiron on which the team has fought all of its battles during the past season, was present last night and Manager Doyle presented him with a handsome loving cup on behalf of the club. Edward J. Harding, Sr., was remembered with a Knights of Columbus card case, he having assisted the club in getting out printing matter and in various advertising schemes.

George Howe, the head linesman and timekeeper, was given a pair of golf cuff links, and the sporting editors of the two local papers received stick pins from the club members. Following the meeting in the Frost building the club went en masse to the office of Dr. French in Park avenue, where they serenaded the physician who has given medical attention to the eleven and rival players here during the past season. Dr. French invited the entire group into his office and Manager Doyle presented the physician with a silver loving cup in recognition of his work for the club.

GIFTS TO EPISCOPAL CHURCH WERE $20,000,000 IN YEAR

The annual report of the Episcopal Church in the United States, out yesterday, shows the year's gifts to the church in this country total $20,000,000, or an even $20 per member.

An unsatisfactory part of the year's showing is the small increase in the number of clergy, most of that increase coming from other Christian bodies, while there is an actual falling off in candidates.

With the death of Bishop Robinson last week, three missionary districts are now vacant, with the general convention adjourned only two months ago. Talk of a special meeting of the house of bishops, or election by the new provincial synods, is already heard. The vacancies are Nevada, Spokane and Cuba.

CENTRAL TRANSFER OPENED AT BRILLS

Improvement Will Greatly Facilitate Newark Passenger Traffic.

The Newark Transfer of the Central Railroad at Brills opened Sunday. The first train from Newark arrived there at 9:30 and connected with a Point Pleasant Express. The first train carried thirty-seven passengers.

The new transfer will greatly facilitate Newark's communication with the main line of the railroad. The long wait at Elizabethport, necessary under the old method, when persons wished to connect with the main line, is no longer necessary.

A shuttle train connects the new station with Broad street, East Ferry street and Ferry street. It is estimated that from fifteen to thirty minutes will be saved in making connections with Scranton and South New Jersey trains. Connection will be made with the hourly trains between New York and Philadelphia, but for the present this service will go by way of Elizabeth from the transfer.

The transfer is still in an unfinished condition. The cement walk for the station concourse has not yet been laid and will not be until the present rock foundation has been allowed to settle. The station is about a quarter of a mile in length. The long-distance trains to stop there are limited in number, but it is probable that they will be increased.

The Central has spent more than $2,000,000 in improving its tracks between Newark and Jersey City. The track has been elevated for the most part. The company is building in Jersey City a station with large trackage facilities. A large engine station is being erected near Communipaw station. A large proportion of the cost of the already completed improvement is represented in the raised tracks across the meadows and in the new steel bridges over the Passaic and Hackensack rivers.

TO REMOVE POLITICS FROM THE SCHOOLS

Commissioner Kendall Points to Great Drawback in the State's System.

Commissioner of Education Calvin N. Kendall presented to the State Board of Education his annual report, and in it he treats almost every phase of the school question in an analytical way.

Dr. Kendall also presented a report showing the increased cost of the schools for a period of ten years and giving his reasons for the increases.

The elemination of politics and favoritism from the appointment and promotion of teachers and principals, the annual report urges as one of the educational needs of the State. Dr. Kendall says there is no more reason for politics in school affairs than in the affairs of a great mercantile establishment, a well-regulated farm, a railroad or a factory. The superintendents of schools should have, he continues at least by custom and preferably by statute, the initiative in the appointment of teachers.

Other recommendations of the commissioners are for additional normal school facilities for the training of teachers; the development of summer schools for teachers; better salaries for teachers in some sections of the State; the use of good pictures and lantern slides in schools to aid in language exercises; better enforcement of the compsulory education laws, and adequate provision for the education of mentally defective children in country districts.

Dr. Kendall also points out the need for better medical inspection and the employment of school nurses in cities, as well as better school buildings and grounds. He also suggests more consolidated schools in rural districts and summer schools in the large cities of the State. The extension of play ground facliities in cities is also urged.

He also suggests the development of agricultural and industrial education and the wider use of schoolhouses as community centres. Mutiplicity of school libraries in the State and the teaching of New Jersey local history, high schools with courses of study that are better adapted in some respects to present day needs are also suggested in the report.

Dr. Kendall lays particular stress upon his recommendation for the higher education of women. "New Jersey is the only great American commonwealth in the northern half of the country, from the Atlantic to the Paci,c without a college or university open to women," he says. Other recommendations are: For special custodial schools for delinquent and wayward boys and girls; fewer children under the care of one teacher in many small municipalities and greater care in some districts in the choice of members of boards of education.

In his report showing the increase in the cost of schools, Dr. Kendall says it comes from the increased salaries received by teachers, janitors and other school employes, necessitated by the high cost of living, increases in the annual amount paid for building materials and supplies of fuel and the ever increasing number of pupils entering the schools.

The report states that it cost 98 cents more to educate a child in 1913 than it did in 1912. The average cost, per pupil, for current expenses for the school year ending June 30 1913, based upon school attendance in day schools, was $40.81. In 1912 this cost was $39.83 or 98 cents less than this year. The average yearly cost per pupil for the year ending June 30, 1913, was $32.21, while the previous year it was $31.17. The increase this year was $1.04.

Again the new features of the schools, such as night sessions, kindergartens, manual training departments, detention schools, summer schools, medical inspection courses and so on have all helped to bring the cost of the education of the children of the State to its present figures.

In his report, Dr. Kendall said:

"The figures indicate that the tobacco bill in this country is almost as great as the bill for public education; that the bill for candy is one-fourth as great: that the bill for automobiles is one-half as great. How much is spent in the aggregate for amusements—moving picture shows, vaudeville, the theatre, baseball—no one knows. But how far would the bill for these amusements fall short of the bill of education? Would it? It cost the national government more than $2,000 a day to maintain the battleship New Jersey.

"The schools of the State enrolled last year more than half a million pupils; this is in excess of one-tenth of the population of the State. This great number of pupils, equal to the total population of New Jersey in 1852, is not only supplied with books and apparatus for doing their work, but the pupils are housed, in the main, in safe, comfortable and convenient school buildings. They are taught by a fine body of men and women, nearly 14,000 in number. The expenses in the aggregate must be large, for the school is by far the greatest enterprise in mere magnitude, in which the State is engaged, to say nothing of other and substantial reasons why it is the greatest enterprise in the State."

FRANCES MARSHALL

Instead of a Goose.

The goose is the time-honored Christmas bird, but some of us, either because we do not care for goose at all or else like something else better, do not have a goose at Christmas.

Here are some recipes for cooking turkey and chicken in a way fit to grace the holiday table.

French Truffled Capon.

The French serve truffled capon on Christmas day and they prepare it in this way: Select a fine, rather fat fowl. Singe it, clean it and stuff it. For the stuffing peel two pounds of chestnuts and boil them tender in stock. Slice a pound of onions and two white onions and mix them with the chestnuts. Season with salt, pepper and a bay leaf. After the fowl is stuffed, lay a few slices of bacon over the breast and roast. Serve with a cream gravy to which a few chopped cooked oysters are added.

In a Casserole.

This is a hearty and wholesome dish that is a joy to the cook, for it needs none of the basting and watching that make roast fowls delicious. Joint a chicken and put in a casserole. Chop two or three pieces of celery, a small turnip and two or three carrots. A dozen tiny onions, peeled, may also be added. Season with a bay leaf and cover with boiling water. Cover and cook for an hour in a moderately hot oven. Season with salt and pepper, return to the oven and cook for half an hour longer. When the chicken is done it is slightly browned and crisp. Garnish with parsley and canned mushrooms.

If You Have a Turkey.

Roast turkey with oyster stuffing is a delicious dish. Rub the turkey, after it has been singed and cleaned, with salt and pepper inside and out and then rub butter on the inside. Rub the outside with butter after the stuffing is put in.

This is the stuffing: Mix four dozen oysters with two cupfuls of bread crumbs which have been soaked and then squeezed dry. Add a chopped onion, two tablespoonfuls of butter, some chopped parsley, sage, pepper, salt and a little thyme.

Some Cookery Suggestions

GRIDDLECAKES.

IN some households griddlecakes are almost indispensable for breakfast in the winter. They may be served with butter, maple or plain sirup, according to taste.

Sour Milk Cakes.

Sour Milk Griddle Cakes.—Take two and one-half cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of soda, mix and sift together. Add to this two cupfuls of sour milk and one egg well beaten. Drop on a greased hot griddle and bake. Serve with butter and maple sirup.

Graham Griddle Cakes.—Take one pint of graham flour, one-half pint of cornmeal, one-half pint of flour, two tablespoonfuls of molasses, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one egg, one pint of buttermilk and one teaspoonful of soda and mix together. Bake on a well greased griddle.

A Rich Batter.

Whole Wheat Griddle Cakes.—Take four cupfuls whole wheat flour, a teaspoonful of baking powder and an even teaspoonful salt and mix them together. Beat the whites and yolks of two eggs separately. Stir the beaten yolks into three cupfuls of milk. Add a tablespoonful of sugar and one of melted butter and, alternately, the prepared flour and frothed whites of eggs. Beat steadily for a minute and bake on a griddle.

Bread Griddle Cakes.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of scalded milk and add to it one and one-half cupfuls of fine, stale breadcrumbs. Soak until the crumbs are soft, then add two eggs well beaten, one-half cupful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt and four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, the last three sifted together. Cook like other griddle cakes.

A Popular Variety.

Buckwheat Griddle Cakes.—Take two cupfuls of buckwheat, half a cupful of cornmeal, two cupfuls of warm milk, one-half cupful of warm water, two tablespoonfuls of molasses, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one even teaspoonful of salt. Mix milk, water and molasses together, sift meal and flour three times with the baking powder and salt. Make a hole in the center of the flour, stir in the milk and water quickly and lightly until you have a batter, not too stiff, and bake.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Repentance Of Little Jim Crow.

Jim Crow Ducked Him in the Brook.

"LITTLE Jim Crow had been very naughty," began daddy. "He had been bullying Sammy Crow for some time past simply because Sammy was not so large and not so strong as he was. Jim Crow was quite a leader, too, in a very mean way, for he'd tried to influence a lot of other little crows to think it was smart to tease Sammy.

"Well, one day Jim got hold of Sammy and ducked his head into a brook with very cold water, where the ice had only recently melted out of it.

"Poor Sammy was so frightened he almost cried his eyes out, while Jim stood by and laughed and laughed. But Sammy was far from being strong, and the cold water made his head throb and ache, while his bones felt numb and his feathers lost their nice shiny look. He complained so much for several days of his head that his family sent for old Dr. Crow.

"Dr. Crow was a fine physician. He wore great big spectacles, and, oh, he was so kind! When he saw Sammy he became very much alarmed.

"'Why didn't you tell me of this sooner?' said he.

"'Oh, what's the matter?' asked Sammy's mother. 'Is he really very ill? We thought he had a little cold.'

"Dr. Crow took from his black medicine bag a little thermometer and put it in Sammy's mouth and at the same time felt his pulse. Then he pulled the thermometer out. He looked very grave.

"'Mrs. Crow,' said he to Sammy's mother, 'his temperature is very high, and he must be put right to bed. Put his feet in mustard and hot water and bathe his head every three hours with witch hazel, and I'll call around again this evening to see him.'

"'Oh, you don't think he is going to die, doctor?'

"'I think he'll live, but he is pretty sick and needs great care.'

"After Dr. Crow left Sammy he went to Jim Crow's mother and daddy. He was very angry at what had been done to Sammy. When Jim's mother and daddy saw Dr. Crow coming toward their nest they were afraid Jim had been doing something awfully naughty, for he had stayed home very little the past few days, and they suspected something had happened.

"At that moment Jim flew in boisterously, and the doctor told him how ill Sammy was and of what he had done.

"For some days Sammy lay at the point of death, but with Dr. Crow's skill he finally got well.

"And Jim Crow, who had felt like a murderer, became a good crow and realized it was very, very cruel to tease any one smaller and weaker than himself."

The large, all enveloping apron is a boon to the housewife, the little artist or the girl or woman who plays at housework. It is quickly and easily made and when the sleeves are used forms a practical house dress.

No. 7989 may be made with sleeves and a high neck or with a low round neck and sleeveless. The pockets may be omitted also if not fancied, although they are the handiest things imaginable.

If this apron or overall is to be made up in the dress form, blue chambray is a good material, as it launders well while it does not soil quickly. Blue gingham or any of the regulation apron materials may also be used to advantage.

The seams of such a garment may be bound with a bias strip of the material or of muslin or the edges of the seam themselves turned in and stitched on the machine. If this is done, however, they may pull after being washed.

This apron requires for size 36, 4⅞ yards of 36 inch material, using the sleeves, and with low neck and no sleeves 3¾ yards of 36 inch material.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Daily Christmas Hint

The Bride Will Think This Centerpiece Lovely

The bride who has just gone to housekeeping and is collecting a supply of table linen to add to her trousseau stock will appreciate the centerpiece shown in the cut.

The material used is a grayish tan crash of a soft pliable quality.

The conventional design, which is not unlike part of a poinsettia flower, is carried out in the present instance with shaded embroidery silks in delft blues, but to get the holiday spirit into the gift Christmas shades of red might be used with fine effect.

The lace edging of the centerpiece is of cluny colored to match the linen.

—Some store may be placing on "special sale" just now the article you have not felt like paying "regular" prices for.

Whitehouse.

Judge and Mrs. Daniel H. Beekman and children, of Somerville, were the guests Sunday of Mrs. Beekman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Hoffman, at New Germantown.

George Dilley, of Whitehouse Station, has just butchered two eight-months-old porkers that weighed over 300 pounds each. Mr. Dilley kept a record of the feed given these pigs, and states that his pork cost him only seven cents a pound, regardless of the high cost of meat.

The Sunday-school of the Methodist church at New Germantown held its Christmas entertainment in the lecture room there last evening. The Lutheran Sunday-school will hold its entertainment tomorrow night.

The funeral of John V.F. Wyckoff, eight-three years old, was held Saturday, with burial in Rural Hill cemetery here. Mr. Wyckoff had been a resident of this place nearly all his life, and formerly kept a store here. He leaves three daughters, Miss Ella Wyckoff, of Atlantic City; Miss Ratie Wyckoff, of Flemington, and Mrs. Abram Q. Disborough, of Trenton.

Mrs. John Luse, who has been ill at her home at Peapack, is able to be about again.

Mrs. John H. Penny, of Brooklyn, is spending a week with relatives at Gladstone.

Members of the Peapack Valley Fire Company are holding fire drills once a week for the purpose of acquainting the new officers with their duties.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Henrietta Crosman and "The Tongues of Men" will be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre Christmas afternoon and evening. Henrietta Crosman is always a success. Her plays have been good and bad in the past but in "The Tongues of Men" she is said to have the best play she has had in many seasons. To a man the New York critics were loud in their praise of Miss Crosman in this play and of the play they spoke in the highest terms. "The Tongues of Men" is a brightly written comedy with enough entertainment behind it to make one think. It affords an excellent entertainment and while starting off as a serious play it soon begins to create mirth and the last act is received with hilarity. The story that "The Tongues of Men" tells concerns the meeting of a minister and a famous grand opera singer. They do not fall in love but the minister from his pulpit condemns the opera and the singer that have aroused the public interest. In his tirade against the singer, however, the minister forgets the saying of St. Paul: "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels and have not charity, I am becoming as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal," and of this the singer reminds him. Possibly there are some ministers in this city who resemble the Rev. Penfield Sturgis in this play. Certainly there are many grand opera artists who resemble Jane Bartlett which is the part Miss Crosman plays. The original company and production as in Manhattan will come to the Plainfield Theatre, with Miss Crosman.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

One of the most interesting theatrical events of the season is "Hop O' My Thumb," the biggest, most elaborate and expensive pantomime-spectacles ever brought to this country from Drury Lane. This extravaganza is now playing to capacity audiences at the Manhattan Opera House, and at the conclusion of the run there, it is booked for a short season in Boston to be followed by an indefinite run in Chicago. Featured in "Hop O' My Thumb" which has been taken from the Grimm fairy story known wherever the English language is spoken is De Wolf Hopper, the comedian who needs no introduction or words of praise to the theatre-going people of two continents. Mr. Hopper is seen in the role of the King of Mnemonica, the beloved king who has lost his memory and which "Hop," with the aid of fairies, cavaliers and members of his court, help him to find through a story replete with fairy lore. Playing opposite Mr. Hopper is Miss Iris Hawkins, the sixty-inch English actress who was brought to this country especially for the role of "Hop." The rest of the caste,—the list of which fills two pages of a program, includes actors and actresses who have been known in stellar roles in both comic opera and grand opera. Among them are Albert Hart, who plays the role of the Ogre, Ada Deaves as the Baroness Chicot, Nan Brenna as Queen Zaza, Flavia Acaro as the Amber Witch, Austin and Willis as the two men birds, Tango and Trotter, Gladys Caldwell as Mirabelle, the daughter of the king who was stolen in her childhood by the ogre and Louise Le Baron, as the Earl of Hilario, who rescues her. Twenty scenes are one of the big features of the production including the statue scene for which the De Serries Troupe were especially imported.

A Charming Collar and Cuff Set.

Extremely simple is this smart collar and cuff set, which may be made of white or colored linen. The embroidery may be done in mercerized cotton, in white or a color to match the dress with which it is to be worn. The dots may be developed in either solid work or eyelets and the leaves in solid work Wallachian stitches or outline, combined with seed-stitch, and the edge of the set should be buttonholed in white or the color of the embroidery.

This collar would be particularly attractive with a pleated ruffle, of net or some soft material, standing up to give the Medici effect.

Pattern number 14430 comes in medium size only and will be supplied to readers for 15 cents.

THE CIRCUS IS HERE!
GET YOUR TICKETS

Eight hundred Plainfield girls took advantage of the offer made a few months ago by the Plainfield Daily Press through which they secured the "Mother's darling and Nurse Marie" paper dolls. The Press was complimented on all sides for furnishing that delightful family, and because of the great interest, the publishers have been seeking some other equally attractive cut-out for the young people. We have found it in the most original and attractive article of the kind that has ever been put on the market.

DING-A-LING CIRCUS comes on a big sheet of linen, and contains ALL OF THE WELL KNOWN ANIMALS found in the menagerie of the big circus, ready to cut out and paste so that they will practically be indestructible. Then there is a CIRCUS CAGE, drawn by two horses, TWO CLOWNS, and last but not least, TWO DOLLS, a boy and a girl, which can be cut out, sewed together, and then stuffed, so that they will stand up and view the animals which will make a

if they are spaced a foot apart. There are admission tickets, a big banner with the name of the circus, and natural history lectures telling all about everyone of the animals in the circus.

HOW TO GET THE CIRCUS

Cut out the admission ticket which will be found in today's Plainfield Daily Press, and bring it with only 48 cents, the actual cost of handling and distribution, to the Daily Press office, and get the two dolls, the parade wagon, all the animals, printed in life-like colors on everlasting cloth, all the admission tickets, lectures, and other things which go to make this the most remarkable offer ever made to the young folks by a Plainfield newspaper.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful— all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Adv.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS HOSTS AT A PARTY

The Sigma Gamma Kappa Club, of the North Plainfield High School, entertained about fifteen members of the High School at a Christmas party held in the Y. W. C. A. parlors, last evening. Refreshments were served at an early hour, which consisted of sandwiches, ice cream, cake and punch. MARTINE ASKED TO PROPOSE NEW WESTVILLE POSTMASTER

Washington, Dec. 24.—Following a request received from Postmaster-General Burleson, Senator Martine has recommended the appointment of George L. Barber, to succeed Postmaster J. O. Kirk at the Westville, Gloucester county, N. J., postoffice. Kirk's resignation has been requested because of "irregularities in office."

Just what the stock phrase means in Kirk's case has been kept under cover, following the usual custom of the department. The request for Kirk's resignation followed a visit to his office by postoffice inspectors. The charges against Kirk, however, did not reflect in any way, it is understood, on his integrity.

Since Westville is in the district represented by Representative Browning, of Camden, Republican, it was Senator Martine's prerogative to recommend Kirk's successor.

SUPPOSED BLACK HAND MAN PAYS THE FINES

Detective Joseph Cornelli, of Hoboken, appeared in North Plainfield this morning in an endeavor to identify Antonio Rosa, of that city, who was arrested Monday by Chief Marshal Weiss, as a member of a gang of "confidence" men who have been terrorizing the Italian colony in the seaport place. The detective said, however, that he had never seen Rosa before, but expressed the opinion that the borough chief had apprehended Rosa just in time to prevent him from starting his operations in this community.

Previous to being interviewed by Cornelli, who was in charge of Police Chief Patrick J. Kiely, Rosa was arraigned before Mayor Clark in the borough court, on charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He was fined $7 on the first count and $20 on the second charge. He paid both amounts, and left this city on a train bound for New York city.

Rosa was captured by Weiss after a chase of nearly a mile, during which six revolver shots were fired by the chief. Rosa was accompanied by another man who escaped.

The Jewish festival of Hanukkah, or the Feast of Lights, began at 6 o'clock last night and will continue for eight days, ending at sunset Wednesday, December 31. MUCH RIVALRY SHOWN FOR POSTMASTERSHIP

Washington, Dec. 24.—The appointment of postmasters at Raritan and Somerville, where the offices become vacant January 28 and March 8, respectively, presents a problem that is causing worry to Representative Allan B. Walsh. In both places the feeling runs bitter, and to judge from the pressure brought upon Mr. Walsh, nothing exceeds the postmastership question in interest for the townsfolk.

As yet Mr. Walsh has given no indication of his leaning regarding either post. He said Monday that he has not made up his mind, but is giving much thought to the situation. It is understood that Mr. Walsh intends making his recommendations in both places before the expiration of the incumbents' terms, so that the new postmasters may be confirmed in time to begin their terms from the first day.

In Raritan, where the salary is $1,400, there are several candidates. The contest in Somerville, where the office pays $2,600, has narrowed down to two men, U. J. McAleavy, a letter-carrier, and William E. Maxwell, a local business man. Local Democrats have taken sides, and have used many methods of forwarding their candidates' chances. Very few petitions have been gathered, but the campaigns have been conducted through personal appeal letters. Mr. Walsh believes that with the letters from Raritan, where the same scheme has been used, his "patronage" mail has totaled a thousand notes since the contests began.

In Raritan the candidates include William Slattery, Jerry J. Burke, John Burns and Cornelius D. Hickey. The incumbent at Raritan is George W. Hope, and at Somerville John G. Gaston.

IT WILL BE JERSEY DAY AT WHITE HOUSE FEB. 13

Washington, Dec. 24.—A special White House reception, in compliment to New Jersey, will be given by the President and Mrs. Wilson on Friday, February 13.

Governor-elect Fielder, Acting Governor Taylor, Judge Hudspeth, the Democratic national committeeman; the New Jersey delegation in Congress; the members of the Democratic State Committee; both those elected this year and those who served while Mr. Wilson was Governor; the New Jersey Presidential electors; the Democratic delegation to the Baltimore convention and their alternates, and a group of New Jersey editors, will be present. Invitations also will be sent to members of their families.

Besides the President and Mrs. Wilson, their daughters will be in the receiving line. There will be a concert by the Marine Band and a buffet supper. Secretary Tumulty is making arrangements to have the affair distinctly a reunion of New Jersey friends to the President.

FREEHOLDER CHANGES.

Three new members of the Board of Freeholders will assume their seats when the county governing body organizes on January 1, 1914. One of them will have the distinction of being the first freeholder to represent the new township of Hillside; another will succeed Freeholder Thomas J. Pierson, Democrat, of Elizabeth, and the third will succeed Freeholder Adolph Gruener, of Rahway.

DANIEL GINNA IMPROVING.

Daniel F. Ginna, who has been quite ill at his home on Watchung avenue, is reported as getting along nicely. Mr. and Mrs. Ginna have decided to recall the invitations for the dance which they had arranged to give for their daughter, Miss Katherine Ginna, on December 30, owing to Mr. Ginna's illness, as it is feared that he will not be able to be cut by that time.

SEEKS HOTEL LICENSE.

George Johnston, formerly manager for the Eastern Bottling Company, this city, will apply to the County Court for a wholesale license at Park avenue and Front street, Scotch Plains. Herman Frowery formerly conducted the place.

CONDITION UNCHANGED.

Andrew Dupont, of Newark, the motorcyclist, who was recently injured in this city, remains in about the same condition at the hospital. The second operation did not afford the anticipated relief.

HOLIDAY ATTRACTION.

Henrietta Crosman in "The Tongues of Men," will be the Christmas Day attraction at the Plainfield theatre, afternoon and evening.

NO PAPER TOMORROW.

As tomorrow, Christmas Day, will be a holiday, the Plainfield Daily Press will not be issued.

Mrs. J. S. Schoonmaker, of Park avenue, who is critically ill at the hospital, was reported today as slightly improved. There are four nurses in attendance.

Dr. Buchanan as Santa Claus Distributes Gifts From Community Xmas Club.

The Christmas celebration at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the "Community Christmas committee," was an enjoyable affair. Charles A. Rice, Arthur M. Harris, Dr. Frank T. Clawson, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, W. A. Garrigues and Mrs. Allen Cowperthwait volunteered the use of their automobiles and conveyed the choir of Grace church to the sanitorium.

The choir sang several carols and in addition there were interesting short talks by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, and Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, minister of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. A feature was the appearance of Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, as Santa Claus, who furnished lots of fun for everyone, especially the patients who were able to attend as well as the visitors.

Presents were supplied everyone at the sanitorium, and it was peculiarly touching to note the pleasure especially among the children. One little girl, hopeless and alone in the world without father or mother was made supremely happy by the gift of a large doll which she had expressed a wish for, which she said she hoped would be "as big as herself" and it was almost as large.

The committee appreciates the assistance of all who took part in the celebration.

HEAD-ON COLLISION OF WAGON AND AUTO

Two vehicles came together in a head-on collision in Fanwood last night, and Walter Slocum, of Fanwood, who was driving the wagon figuring in the accident, was seriously injured when thrown to the roadbed by the jolt his carriage received when struck by an automobile, owned by the Plainfield-Union Water Company and driven by Albert Meyer, of Scotch Plains. Meyer claimed that he was ignorant of any object ahead as the carriage bore no lights.

Mr. Slocum and three other occupants of the carriage were thrown a distance of several feet and landed in the road nearby but all escaped with a shaking-up except Mr. Slocum, who was removed to Dr. Westcott's office nearby. The horse took fright and ran away, later being found in the owner's stable.

HOME FOR HOLIDAYS.

Many pupils from Fanwood and Scotch Plains, enrolled in eastern colleges, have returned home for the Yuletide holidays. They include Miss Dorothy Beeken, Vassar; Miss Claire Hall and Miss Marion Johnston, Mt. St. Mary's College; Miss Viola Garda, Montclair Normal School; John Hastings, Springfield Training School; George Gifford, Ohio Northwestern University, and Edward Hetfield, Clifford Hall and Maurice Hall, from Stevens College.

CHILDREN'S XMAS PARTY.

The little folks of the Temple Baptist church Cunday-school had a party at the church this afternoon, when Santa Claus in the person of Rev. Evarts C. Conover, delighted their hearts with his jolly manner and distribution of gifts. The parents were also present and enjoyed the affair quite as much as the children. The program was an informal one and at its conclusion ice cream and cake were served by a committee of teachers.

IN THE TOILS AGAIN.

Martin Duffy, of Norwood avenue, arrested for acting disorderly yesterday afternoon, was fined $10 or sentenced to spend forty days in the county jail, when brought before City Judge DeMeza this morning. Chief Kiely testified that Duffy had caused the police department annoyance before and the court referred to him as a "loafer" when passing sentence. It is likely that he will be taken to the jail in Elizabeth today.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT.

The Sunday school of the German Reformed church will hold its Christmas exercises tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, an attractive program having been arranged by the committee. There will be the usual distribution of gifts and the serving of refreshments.

XMAS CELEBRATION.

Christmas will be celebrated Sunday afternoon and night by members of the Gesang and Turn Verein, the event to take place in the club's headquarters, Saengerbund Hall.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

Arthur S. Allen, arrested last night for being intoxicated and disorderly, received a suspended sentence when arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza.

'GIVING SERVICE' AT FIRST BAPTIST

Congregation's Bible School Makes Xmas Real for Families of the Poor.

FESTIVAL IS ENJOYED

Entertainment a Feature of the Event Held Under the Direction of the Superintendent, Arthur M. Harris.

The annual Christmas festival and giving service was held at the First Baptist church last night, under the auspices of the Bible School, and despite the rain there was a large attendance and the program was carried out under the direction of Arthur M. Harris, the superintendent.

Perhaps, the most interesting part of the program was the "giving service" when each class of the school contributed tons of coal, all sorts of provisions, etc., to be distributed among needy families, and in addition there was an offering of about $39 to be divided between the Children's Home and The Day Nursery. There was also contributed about $100 in cash by different classes for the "Community Celebration," $50 of which was given by Dr. N. H. Probasco's class.

The giving feature was greatly enjoyed. The distribution will be made today under the direction of a committee. The program for last night follows:

Strong; Scripture lesson, in concert, school; song, Bethlehem, chorus; recitation, Jesus a Little Child, Walter Bach; recitation, Two Little Babies, Emily Pilger; Chrisamas Songs of Long Ago, charus; recitation, Thoughts and Offerings for Others, Dorothy Lee; recitation, Room In My Heart; Harold Allen; song, The World Wide Christmas, Helen Roseberry; recitation, I'm so Glad, Marjorie Grannatt; recitation, The Missionary Box, Anna Sherwin; offertory, organ selection, Howard M. ANCHOR LODGE ELECTION.

The election of officers of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, A. and A. M., was held last night, with the following results: R. L. Giddis, W. M.; R. J. Fisher, Sr. W.; A. H. Osmun, Jr. W.; T. C. Vail, S. V.; Fred A. Dayton, J. D.; D. A. Deeling, S. M. C; Charles Johnson, J M. C.; H. Beebe, S. S.; F. A. Armstrong, J. S.; S. J. Higham, treasurer, and Stephen Joseph, secretary. Following the election, installation ceremonies were held.

WHITMAN'S CANDIES.

Schreiner Brothers, prescription druggists at Park avenue and Second street, are making a specialty of Whitman's famous candies, the display this year being larger than ever. A box of Whitman's will make an appreciated gift and will mean a lasting friendship. This is the only place in Plainfield that you can get Whitman's candies and the prices will suit every purse.

"THE SAD SHEPHERD."

A feature of the sunrise prayer meeting to be held at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church at 7:20 o'clock tomorrow morning will be the reading of Henry van Dyke's story, "The Sad Shepherd," by Rev. F. J. Hubach, the pastor. On Friday night the Christmas entertainment will be held when Austin E. Armstrong will recite Dicken's "Christmas Carol."

SUNRISE PRAYER MEETING.

Instead of the mid-week prayer meeting at the Temple Baptist church tonight, it has been decided to hold a sunrise prayer meeting tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock. Rev. Evarts C. Conover, the pastor, will be in charge.

Here's a Plainfield fact.

You can test it.

Mrs. O. C. Moore, 57 Manning avenue, Plainfield N. J. says. "I endured much misery from backache which was caused by my kidneys. Many nights I was unable to rest at all and when I got up in the morning, my limbs were so stiff and sore that I could hardly get out of bed. Whenever I caught the least cold, it settled on my kidneys and any strain on my back always made the aches and pains worse. I was treated by physicians but their medicine did not help me and it was not until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store, that I had any hope of getting rid of the trouble. They made me feel like a different person and I have never had any serious trouble since."

FEAST OF MACCABEES.

New York, Dec. 24.—Coincident with the celebration of Christmas by the Christian world, the Jewish communities in all countries tonight begin the celebration of their Feast of the Maccabees, which, like Christmas, is devoted to entertainments of special interest to children. The feast is celebrated annually to commemorate the victory of the Maccabees, a family of Jewish patriots, who headed a religious revolt in the reign of Antiochus IV., B. C. 175-164. The victory led to a period of freedom for Judea after a struggle lasting thirty-seven years.

DECEMBER 24TH IN HISTORY.

1802—Marriage of Jerome Bonaparte and Elizabeth Patterson, of Baltimore.

1814—Treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain signed at Ghent.

1838—London and Greenwhich Railway, the first in London, opened to traffic.

1864—Wilmington, N. C., bombarded by the Federal fleet.

1872—Barnum's Museum, in New York city, destroyed by fire.

1894—Business suspended in London because of dense fog.

Plainfield, N. J., December 24, 1913.

The Plainfield Daily Press wishes you a Merry Christmas.

WHY NOT HERE?

Happily Plainfield has not suffered to any considerable extent from fires originating in rubbish heaps, but the risk is just as great as in other cities for in the business section particularly piles of wooden boxes and other inflammable waste are littered about rear yards of stores and in basements, too, making a constant menace. It seems, however, that no official is vested with the power to have this condition rectified. At least no official claims to have the responsibility on his shoulders.

This should not be. The safety of the city demands that these fire risks should be removed and should be kept removed. The only question is as to whom to place in charge of this work. Many large municipalities have found that fire inspection by active firemen has proven very satisfactory. In Philadelphia, for instance, this is being done and according to the chairman of the Fire Prevention Commission in that place it is costing the city virtually nothing and it is educating its firemen to be more intelligent and better trained not only in stopping the cause of fires but in properly caring for fires when they do happen. In Cincinnati buildings and yards inspection by uniformed firemen has resulted in a virtually complete elimination of fires originating in cellars and in yards. Youngstown, Cleveland and Toledo may be cited as other cities where the fire hazard from such sources has been reduced to a minimum. To get nearer home, Newark, has steadily cut down its fire loss in the same way.

Would it not be well for Plainfield to follow the example of these cities?

COMMUNITY XMAS TREE.

The Community Christmas movement has proven a marked success for as a result of the combined efforts of the Federation of Church Men's Clubs and the Federation of Men's Bible Classes some 700 poor children will find that Santa Claus has brought them toys, candies and other gifts precious to the hearts of the youngsters.

Now that a committee has been appointed to arrange for a similar undertaking next Christmas, may we suggest that another feature may be added. It is that a huge Christmas tree be erected in City Park and that the Sunday school children gather there on Christmas eve to sing carols.

FAKE ADVERTISING.

More arrests of unscrupulous merchants charged with fake advertising have been caused by Trenton's Chamber of Commerce and the seriousness of the accusation as viewed by the magistrate is shown in the fact that the defendants have been held in $1,000 bail each for trail. By virtue of an act of the last Legislature, the prisoners, if convicted, are liable to a fine of $1,000 or to a year's imprisonment or both.

If chambers of commerce, boards of trade and like bodies in all our cities would do what is being done in Trenton to punish these dishonest merchants the practise would soon cease.

We beg to acknowledge the substantial sum contributed for the relief of a few poverty-stricken families. In response to our appeal, the Charity Organization Society has received $410. Four worthy families will be given substantial aid. A list of contributions, without names, and how the money will be spent will be told in Saturday's issue of the Plainfield Daily Press.

THE FORUM.

Editor of the Daily Press,

Dear Sir: Kindly permit me space to correct an entirely erroneous statement which appeared a short time ago, over the signature of Mrs. Lillian Feickert.

It was that a book entitled "Votes for Men" of anonymous authorship, was distributed among the members of Congress in Washington, by the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, previous to the hearings before the House and Rules Committee on December 3 and 4.

I now have authority from our Association to make an unqualified denial of this statement, and beg to add an equally strong denial to the impression, that it was published under the auspices of the Association.

No party can be responsible for every act of its friends, therefore our Association is not responsible if some friend sent this book to every member of Congress.

Regarding the character of the book, I will say it is distinctly not a woman's, but a man's book, as it truthfully claims to be, and is written in a style to appeal to men, as its cover declares in the words, "It's up to you, Son, says Uncle Sam."

Mrs. Feickert, in her criticism seems to fail to appreciate that since it thus openly declares itself, no woman needs to read it if she does not wish to do so, though there is no reason why any woman should avoid it.

To quote the criticism of it in "The Woman's Protest" by Grace Duffield Goodwin: "The author knows his own mind, and states his position in the language of the market place. It is vigorous, straightforward, slangy—yes, all of these—and as the stage people say, 'it gets over the footlights.' The man's standpoint is frankly stated: 'If you're only rather sore at the whole business' and there the author endeavors to put his case so all kinds of men will listen to him."

And again, "Rather slashingly is all this said, with small regard for the 'after you, Alphonse' idea of polite statement. But for all that it is true, and just now we are bitterly in need of the truth—the truth about women, even if it be not all sugar-coated, even if we as women, do not accept quite all the sweeping arraignments which with great moral earnestness, the author makes."

Mrs. Goodwin further says, "The author has not yet declared himself," and I take this opportunity to state most emphatically, that the conjecture in some quarters that it is from her pen is entirely incorrect. I am not only authorized to make this statement by National Headquarters, but it is corroborated by Mrs. Goodwin's own assurance that she "Never saw it until it was between covers."

In conclusion, I would express the personal opinion, that while "Votes for Men" is slashingly slangy, breezy, full of strong unpolished, plain statements, and in paragraphs might be considered to border vulgarity, it is in no way comparable to the open vulgarity combined with falseness of the statements of some suffrage speakers made before mixed audiences of old and young.

It need hardly shock the most sensitive members of the party whose leaders endorsed Mrs. Pankhurst, and sold her paper "The Suffragette" and whose National Association issues "The Bond-woman" by Dora Marsden, etc. The party whose most active leaders are now fighting to keep before the young of both sexes, in the form of amusement in the "movies" scenes of vice which every true woman, whether a mother or not, should pray they would never witness.

These women are thrusting such scenes upon them, under the false pretence of teaching them to abhor them.

In truth they are doing it as accompaniment to their teaching, that they form part of the life of all youth, the better to excite these young people to help them shout "Votes for Women," which they teach them is the great and only panacea for all forms of vice, and that they would prove an infallible one.

Yours very truly,
R. A. LAWRENCE.

BRINGING XMAS JOY.

"Peace on earth, goodwill to men"
How will your goodwill be shown?
Will you make some others happiness
Or will you only seek your own?

Is it counting what you have received
That Christmas means to you
Or seeking your own in other good
That the blessing will come to you?

There are children by the hundred
Whose stockings will be bare
Unless we should go and fill them
Do you want to do your share?

You may transform this Christmas
To many a girl and boy,
Your dollars may be the fairies,
Turning misery into joy.

YOUNG CORN GROWERS.

The Buckeye Boys' Corn Special Tour to Washington Was a Great Success.

The great success of the tour to the national capital arranged in the early part of December, 1st to 6th, by the Ohio Corn Growers' association for the winners in the Buckeye boys' corn contest demonstrates the great interest taken in agricultural affairs by Ohio people; also it illustrates how quickly a good idea, like a good seed, will grow and flourish.

The movement was inaugurated only a year ago by the Hon. A. P. Sandles, president of the agricultural commission of Ohio. Prizes of a free trip to

HON. A. P. SANDLES, WHO STARTED THE OHIO BOYS' CORN MOVEMENT.

Washington were offered as an inducement to the boys and girls of Ohio who won out in a corn raising contest. Last year a party of 372 prize winners visited Washington on a tour personally conducted by Mr. Sandles. It was the first special train excursion of the character ever run to the capital city. With a half dozen exceptions the prize winners last year were boys, so this year as a result of agitation by Ohio women the contest was broadened by arranging for contests in baking, sewing, canning, apple growing, gardening and lawn beautification.

Interest in the movement had reached such a pitch when the planting season opened last spring that more than 3,000 boys and girls scattered through every township in the state were working each his or her acre of ground or following one or more of the other lines of endeavor.

This year 1,200 boys and girls won the trip to Washington, and the Buckeye corn special tour, as it is called, was made an annual and public affair. A number of Ohio people joined the excursion, which was under the direction of T. P. Riddle and accompanied by the Hon. A. P. Sandles. Besides the visit to Washington, which occupied two days, stops were made at Pittsburgh, Harrisburg and Philadelphia. Attractive programs were arranged everywhere. In Washington the excursionists were received by Secretary Bryan and by Mrs. Wilson, the president being ill at the time. The tour offered pleasurable as well as educational advantages, and on many a farm in Ohio echoes and reminiscences of the tour are inciting embryo farmers to new efforts for next season.

"UPSIDE DOWN" BOY WHO INTERESTS DOCTORS

No one could possibly take a more upside down view of life than does Joseph W. Darling, a little boy who lives in Detroit, Mich., who has furnished what appears to be an unanswerable puzzle for physicians. He writes, draws and copies everything upside down, and can only make out the subject of a picture when it is held reversed before him. His peculiar vision is even more remarkable since he can see animate and inanimate objects in their normal position at a distance, and manifests his "reverse" only when something is held close to his eyes.

COMMISSIONER LA MONTE PRAISES CURRENCY BILL

Trenton, Dec. 24.—Discussing yesterday the new currency bill just passed by Congress, State Banking and Insurance Commissioner George M. La Monte, who is a Democrat, declared that the new bill was a good one, and in his opinion would be a help to the business of the country.

"The bill," he said, "passed, as it was by both Democratic and Republican votes, is one of the greatest achievements of a generation."

TO INSTALL AN ELECTRIC WASHER IN UNION JAIL

Elizabeth, Dec. 24.—The electric washing machine which is being installed in the county jail will be ready for operation in a few days. The machine is to be in the basement where is located the laundry of the institution.

At present most of the washing is being done by inmates of the jail.

LEGISLATION MAIN CONCERN OF TEACHERS' CONVENTION

Atlantic City, Dec. 24.—Because of attacks upon the teachers' tenure of office act and the hostility aroused by the efforts of teachers to obtain new legislation affecting the retirement fund, unusual interest is manifested among educators in the annual meeting of the State Teachers' Association which will open here Monday.

Chief interest, as usual, will centre in the report of the committee on legislation. A summary of this report is to the effect that the campaign waged by the committee at Trenton has resulted in the virtual acceptance of teachers' pensions as a State system instead of a local affair; all attacks on the retirement fund law were defeated; teachers' tenure of office was preserved inviolate; and for the first time in the history of school legislation in the State, all the educational elements are working together, including the State Teachers' Association, the State department of public instruction, the council of education, and practically every local teachers' organization.

Following the opening session of the convention a reception will be tendered the teachers in the evening at the Hotel Dennis. Governor-elect Fielder will be the guest of honor. Calvin N. Kendall, State commissioner of education, with his associate commissioners and other educational leaders of the State, will also be present.

PHILLIPSBURG PRESS TO SUSPEND PUBLICATION

Phillipsburg, Dec. 23.—Announcement is made by the Phillipsburg Press, the only daily paper remaining in Phillipsburg, which has a population of 16,000, that it will suspend publication Saturday of this week. The paper started out ambitiously not long ago and endeavored to build up a circulation not only in Phillipsburg but throughout Warren county.

It ascribes its financial difficulties to an inability to enlist advertising support from merchants of Easton, Pa., across the Delaware river.

ASK WILSON AND CONGRESS TO FIELDER'S INAUGURATION

Trenton, Dec. 24.—The Senate and House inaugural committees met here yesterday to perfect plans for the induction into office of Governor-elect James F. Fielder. The invitation list of the committees was gone over and revised. President Wilson, his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty; the United States Senators and Congressmen will be asked to attend the inaugural ceremonies.

Assemblyman Nutting, of Essex, was appointed by Chairman McGinnis to look after badges and printing. A Jersey City concern will decorate Taylor Opera House, where the inaugural ceremony will be held. Leo A. Griffin, of Jersey City, was selected as clerk of the committees.

NO DIVORCE FOR MAN WHO DIDN'T ASK WIFE TO RETURN

Trenton, Dec. 24.—If a husband does not make some attempt to have his wife live with him, he cannot obtain a decree of divorce in the Court of Chancery, according to a decision by Vice-Chancellor Backes in refusing the application of Frank T. Booze.

Booze said he was deserted, but on the stand he admitted that he made no overtures to his wife to return to him, and Vice-Chancellor Backes immediately dismissed the suit.

FEARING TIE IN COUNCIL DEMOCRATS NAME FOURTEEN

New Brunswick, Dec. 24.—With the possibility of the Common Council being tied after January 1, the Democrats got together Monday night and elected four patrolmen and ten paid firemen. The new patrolmen are: Elmer Henry, George Seiffert, Dennis Burns, Jr., and John O'Hara. The paid firemen are: Daniel J. Coyne, for Hibernia Firehouse; Joseph Pickering, Jr., Everett Goodwin and John Van Derveer, for the hook-and-ladder; John J. Kelley, George Van Derveer and Frank Ellridge, for the Phenix company, and John Ludwig, Charles Feaster and John V. Puerschuer, for Raritan Firehouse.

GOT 31 CENTS A DAY, QUITS.

Red Bank, Dec. 23.—Because for eighteen months his salary had averaged but thirty-four cents a day, Donald Rankin, supervisor of the roads in Fair Haven Borough, has tendered his resignation to the Mayor and Common Council of the borough at a meeting in the firehouse. The Mayor and Councilmen expressed surprise at his action. After deducting the amount of wages he paid workmen and the cost of keeping the horses shod and fed, Mr. Rankin concluded his report by saying: "My expenses for the eighteen months which this report covers were $1,246.50 and the receipts were $1,430.32, leaving a net profit on my investment of $182.82.

GEN. BARRY MAY BE THE CHIEF OF STAFF

Washington, D. C., Dec. 24.—Major Gen. Thomas H. Barry, U. S. A., who rose from a poor boy in the Irish quarter of New York city to the highest rank in the army, is likely to be the next Chief of Staff. No official announcement has been made that Gen. Barry has been selected to succeed Major Gen. Leonard Wood, whose term of duty as the head of the army will expire next April, but it is reported on seemingly high authority that the selection has been made and will be announced in due time.

Born in the old Greenwich Village section of New York city, he was forty odd years ago known as plain "Tom" Barry, who was distinguished in his immediate circles as one of the brightest boys in the public schools. His rise to fame and position is often pointed out as a brilliant example of how a poor boy, without fortune and influential friends, can go to the front in America.

When Gen. Barry was a boy the congressional district in which was located the public school that he attended was then represented in Washington by the late Robert B. Roosevelt, an uncle of Theodore Roosevelt. In 1872 Congressman Roosevelt found that he had an appointment to West Point waiting for some bright lad in his district. He looked about, and somebody suggested Thomas H. Barry. Young Barry got the appointment, and in 1873 he entered the military academy.

At West Point, Barry was one of the popular cadets of his class. He was a good student and a fine athlete and when he graduated in 1877 he was assigned as a second lieutenant in the Seventh Cavalry, Custer's old command. After three years in the Seventh Cavalry he was transferred to the First Infantry, and with that command he participated in various Indian campaigns in the Southwest being one of the officers who were prominent in the campaigns against Chief Geronimo and his Apaches from 1882 to 1886, and against the Sioux in South Dakota in the winter of 1890-1.

In the Pine Ridge campaign of 1891, Barry was promoted to a captaincy, and two years later he came to Washington for duty in the War Department, and up to the time of that appointment he had served for sixteen years West of the Mississippi always with troops.

When the Spanish War broke out, Gen. Barry was the adjutant general of the Department of the Columbia. He was relieved of that duty and went to the Philippines as the first adjutant general of the American forces in the islands. He was one of the officers who had a prominent part in the Boxer campaigns in China, and when the foreign troops were recalled from Peking he returned to Manila as Chief of Staff of that command.

In 1903, President Roosevelt sent Gen. Barry's name to the Senate for confirmation as a brigadier general. In 1907 Gen. Barry was sent to Cuba as the commander of the American troops in the second occupation of the island. In that capacity he did his work so thoroughly that he earned not only the gratitude of his own Government but that of Cuba as well and when the island was for a second time turned back to the control of its own people Gen. Barry was accorded when he left an ovation such as few officers has ever received at home or abroad.

On September 1, 1910, Gen. Barry succeeded Gen. Hugh L. Scott, of the Third Cavalry, as superintendent of the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Gen. Barry is a Catholic and a warm friend of Cardinal Farley, of New York. In this connection an address delivered by Gen. Barry at a dinner given several years ago is recalled. In the course of his remarks Gen. Barry said: "When I went to Washington to be made a major general, President Roosevelt said to me: 'Barry, you are not made a major general because you are a Catholic or because you are an Irishman, but you are made one for the same reason that I was made President—that is, because you are an American.'"

Officers who have been associated with Gen. Barry say that if he is selected to succeed Gen. Wood he will prove to be one of the greatest of the men who have been at the head of the United States Army, and the army has had many who deserve to be remembered among the truly great.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 44.

MERCHANTS there are who look upon advertising as an "expense." It seems to me it shouldn't be called that. It is really an investment—an investment that yields returns proportionate to the amount of energy and brains put into it.

Some of the "big fellows" today in the world of advertising started by using the CLASSIFIED columns in the right kind of newspapers. They didn't say, "Oh, no! I can't afford to advertise." No, sir; they just sailed in and advertised in the best way they could afford. You don't have to start big in order to be big.

The CLASSIFIED columns of a newspaper are mighty interesting. Newspaper readers read the news columns because the affairs of other people interest them. They read the advertising columns because they are interested in their own affairs. And in the CLASSIFIED—or WANT ADS., as they are popularly called, there are told each day little stories of domestic, social or business needs and opportunities that cover a very wide range.

You should be represented in the CLASSIFIED. Mr. Merchant. You will find the small cost of such advertising a profitable investment. Your business will be brought to the attention of thousands in those columns.

And attention—the attention of the great buying public—is the first step on the road to increased business.

Christmas Favors.

No matter how simple they are any sort of favors will help to make the Christmas table more festive. So put your wits to work, if you have not planned any favors, and decide on one which can be made of material you have on hand.

Bits of Christmas green can be effectively used. A tiny wreath, tied with a ribbon, can be placed in front of each plate. A little sprig from the Christmas tree can be put at each plate for a Christmas tree. Break off prettily shaped twigs for these little trees and put each in an empty spool to make it stand upright. Wind a bit of white cotton batting about the spool to look like a little mound of snow. On each tree put a tiny candle or a bright little glass ball or a few beads or three or four grains of popcorn or top each with a little star cut from gilt or silver paper.

Baskets and Boxes.

Any little boxes or baskets to hold nuts and raisins, bonbons or salted nuts can be used effectively for Christmas dinner favors. These can be made of red crepe paper, cut in strips, and gathered and pasted over small boxes cut from stiff paper or else over the little paper cases that are used by confectioners to hold ices.

These little paper baskets or boxes should be made gay with a sprig of holly or mistletoe, tied on with a bow of green or red ribbon.

If you still have time to buy something, buy Christmas post cards for place cards tomorrow. Address each to one of the guests, care of your address, and send them through the mail, if there is a delivery before dinner tomorrow and if you do not feel sorry to add to the carrier's burden. Or else simply write the names of the guests on them and put them at the places.

Quite as attractive as these post cards, rare small white cards or oblongs of stiff note paper, on each of which is tied a sprig of holly berries and leaves or some other bit of Christmas green. Use red ribbon to tie the green on with and write the name of the guest beneath the green.

Snowballs can be made of cotton batting, carefully pulled apart and then patted and pushed into a ball and bound together with a few strands of red ribbon or green or red or silver or gold cord. These balls can contain small gifts, or walnuts and pecans and other nuts in their shells or else they can be empty, simply used because they are attractive to look at. They can be mounted in the centre of the table, or put one at each plate.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

7844

An excellent modern formula for an afternoon gown is to combine a smart little blouse of chiffon or net with a cleverly draped skirt and add a sash. The effect is quite as good as if much time and money were expended on a regulation afternoon gown.

7844 is a two piece skirt showing a very graceful arrangement of drapery. The closing is at the side back under a wide stitched plait.

Fancy silks, brocaded and plain velvets, faille, wool poplin and moire velours are among the effective materials for these separate draped skirts.

To make this model in size 24 it requires 3 yards of 42 inch silk or velvet.

The pattern is cut in 5 sizes; 22 to 30.

This Is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to state right size, taking waist measure tightly, around the smallest part of the waist and hip measure loosely, around the fullest part of the hips.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

OYSTER DAINTIES.

THE favorite fish for the winter dinner seems to be the oyster. One reason for this is because oysters are so easy to digest and they may be served in so many attractive ways.

For the First Course.

Oyster Cocktails.—Stir in a glass two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice, two drops of tabasco sauce, half a teaspoonful of Worcestershire, two teaspoonfuls of tomato ketchup, a pinch of salt and a saltspoonful of paprika. Mix thoroughly, add five or six small, fresh oysters, let stand for five minutes and serve very cold.

Oyster Soup.—Take one pint of milk, one pint of oysters, one teaspoonful of salt, one-half pint of water, one tablespoonful of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour and one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper. Drain the oysters from the liquor and put the liquor into the kettle. Let it come to a boil, add the other ingredients and lastly oysters and milk.

Delicately Flavored.

Creamed Oysters.—Drain one quart of oysters. Put the liquor in a double boiler with an equal quantity of milk, boil, seasoning with salt to taste. Cream together two tablespoonfuls of butter and one of flour. Pour a little of the hot milk in until smooth like paste. Pour this into the boiling milk. Stir well to keep the flour from settling at the bottom of the boiler. Just before serving put into the boiling oysters and cover closely for a minute.

With Anchovy Paste.
